

Monroe Morning World

And NEWS-STAR

MONROE, LOUISIANA, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1933

THE WEATHER

LOUISIANA: Partly cloudy Sunday becoming unsettled with probable local showers at night or on Sunday in east portion; continued warm Sunday; colder Sunday night and Monday.
ARKANSAS: Partly cloudy to unsettled Sunday and Monday.
MONROE: Maximum, 76; minimum, 45. River, 15.4.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

WARD 7 CITIZEN SERIOUSLY HURT IN KNIFE BATTLE

J. C. Brooks Is Jailed for Slashing Reese Fuller Saturday

CONDITION IS CRITICAL
Four Men Stop at Vacant Lot in West Monroe and Begin Fight

As a result of a four-man fight in West Monroe, about 9 o'clock Saturday morning, Reese Fuller, 39, was in St. Francis sanitarium, where he was said to be in a critical condition from a knife wound in the left side, and J. C. Brooks, 19, was being held in the parish jail, with the filing of a formal charge being held up, pending the outcome of Fuller's wound.

Fuller's physician said he believed the man had better than a 50 per cent chance for recovery, but that he was far from being out of danger, although he had shown considerable improvement during the day. The knife entered Fuller's side about the sixth or seventh rib and penetrated his left lung, resulting in a considerable hemorrhage of the lung and pleural cavity.

Others said to have been involved in the fight were W. E. Brooks, 29, father of J. C. Brooks, and Hugo P. All of the men lived in ward seven and all had come to town together in a school bus, along with a number of other persons, including women and children. When they stopped at the vacant lot just west of the Ouachita Citizen building on Natchitoches street, the four men got out and began fighting. Witnesses said Fuller and the other Brooks had been quarreling on the way to town and that "bad blood" had existed between them for some time.

According to the story told to officers, when the other Brooks got out of the bus, he and Fuller followed him and jumped on him and began beating him. Young Brooks was said to have entered the fight. He told officers he attempted to pull Fuller off his father and that Fuller struck him and knocked him down. According to his story, he then pulled

(Continued on Second Page)

CUBAN EXILE IS SEVERELY BEATEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Armando Infante, wealthy Cuban described as a political exile from Havana, was beaten severely today in a struggle with two assailants who, police said, had been promised $5,000 to slay Infante.

The two men, one of whom carried a revolver, set upon Infante in his room in the Hotel McAlpin. He fought desperately and finally succeeded in repelling his attackers.

Shortly after the attack a man was arrested and admitted, detectives said, that he took part in the attempted killing. He was quoted as saying that he and his companion were to receive $5,000 to put Infante out of the way.

Infante was taken to French hospital suffering from severe head injuries. He is 38 years old and a real estate operator.

'Twas THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

VARIED WEATHER WILL GREET OLD SAINT NICHOLAS

Santa Comes Tonight Ready for All of Weather Man's Tricks

(By Associated Press)
When Santa rides his broad circuit tonight, Christmas eve, he must come prepared for every trick in the weather man's repertoire.

A blizzard blew down his path from the North Pole to the Montana gateway, and zero temperatures put the appropriate Christmas color on Santa's nose like a cherry.

Cold weather was on its way to the northern Pacific coast, where floods and storms have made 5,000 homeless and taken 13 lives this last week. Hip boots must be in Santa's park for his travels in Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

He'll find it fair, foggy and cold in spots down the long stretch of California.

Down around the gulf coast the fur coat will be checked, for it is mild, in the pleasant seventies, down south of the Mason and Dixon line. A slicker may come in handy in some southern spots.

By the time the Donner and Blitzen team reaches the north Atlantic seas—

(Continued on Second Page)

17 Marriage Licenses Issued Here Saturday

An all-time record for marriage licenses was set at the office of the clerk of court here Saturday, when licenses were issued to 17 couples, according to Henry Hamilton, deputy clerk. The previous high record for one day was said to be 15 licenses in a single day.

Not only was Saturday's record high, but a high record has been maintained throughout the month thus far, 44 having been issued this week, which ordinarily is a good record for a month, with 55 having been issued within the last eight days and 90 since December 1. Last Saturday 11 licenses were issued.

Striking Dock Workers Return to Unloading

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Charles H. Logan, secretary of the regional labor board, announced here today that after a strike of longshoremen at the Munson line steamship wharf had returned to work unloading the steamship Munplace. Mr. Logan said there had been a temporary settlement of a dispute involving about 75 longshoremen under which the steamship line paid the workers back wages for their work on two other ships. Complete settlement of the disagreement was expected shortly.

CITY TO OBSERVE HOLIDAY MONDAY

Christmas will be observed in Monroe and vicinity tomorrow in festive manner. Stores, banks, courts, the postoffice and most business houses will observe the day by closing.

The fact that many men idle for a long time, are now at work on either the CWA or levee construction has added a ray of cheer and enabled many to enjoy Christmas in better manner than in several years.

Stores were crowded up to closing time last night with throngs of last-minute shoppers and merchants everywhere expressed pleasure at the great increase in volume of sales made this holiday season over those of several previous years.

MAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Perry Anderson, 40, killed himself early today in the rooming house where he was living, police reported. He shot himself with a pistol after brooding over continued ill health, edly left by the man read: "Just to say goodbye to all my friends. If you think this is easy just try it once."

Long's Rule Is Most Costly to Taxpayers

No Other Regime Ever Piled Up Equal Burden on Taxpayers

The Huey P. Long administration of Louisiana's financial affairs, from June 30, 1928 to June 30, 1932, was the most costly in the history of democratic government in the state, Mr. Long was governor of Louisiana during that period except for a few months when President Pro Tem A. K. King, of the Louisiana senate, occupied the executive chair.

With $90,515,381.01 more to spend than Governors Henry L. Fuqua and O. H. Simpson, who administered the affairs of Louisiana from 1924 to 1928, Governor Long managed to eat up a healthy surplus and plunge the state hopelessly into debt. His administration revealed a deficit of $3,190,451.57 when the reins were passed to Oscar K. Allen (ostensibly, at least) in May, 1932.

Of this total, $1,805,378.34 represented excess appropriations of the legislature for 1931, to meet which loans were negotiated with the state's fiscal agents. At one time $1,305,378.34 was borrowed through the state board of liquidation and at another $500,000.

As is generally known, the state could not pay this money back, so it was included in the bond issue of $4,050,000 which the Allen administration was called upon to provide and which added greatly to the state's

(Continued on Eleventh Page)

130 PERSONS DIE AS TRAINS CRASH ON FRENCH ROAD

Scores of Bodies Found in Debris on Fogbound Rail Tracks

LAGNY, France, Dec. 23.—(AP)—At least 130 persons were crushed to death in a train collision tonight near Ponpanne, near here. As many more were known to have been injured.

By midnight, along the fogbound tracks which were declared responsible for the catastrophe, 130 bodies had been recovered from wreckage while rescue workers struggled to drag the injured from twisted and smoldering cars.

Most of the victims were passengers on the night express which had delayed its departure from Paris because of fog and stopped about two miles from Lagny.

At 8:15 p. m. (3:15 p. m. Eastern standard time) it was telephoned from the rear by the Paris-Strasbourg ex-

(Continued on Second Page)

3 Bitter Political Factions Square Away for Hot Battle For Orleans Mayoralty Pos

LOCAL POLITICAL BLAST RESOUNDS BACK AND FORTH

Citizens Wire Fournet Declaring Support for Hardy's Action

Reverberation from the political blast set off by Mayor George W. Hardy, Jr., of Shreveport, when he introduced a resolution at the fifth district mass meeting in Monroe Tuesday night demanding the resignation of United States Senators Huey P. Long and John H. Overton, Governor O. K. Allen, Lieutenant Governor John B. Fournet and three other high state officials, continued to rumble back and forth between north and south Louisiana Saturday.

The latest salvo was fired Friday night by a group of local citizens who wired Lieutenant Governor Fournet at Jennings, La., that they not only subscribed wholeheartedly to the resolutions passed at the mass meeting here, but commended twelve Monroe men who made additional charges against Fournet after he had termed Mayor Hardy a "malicious liar."

The second broadside against the lieutenant-governor was set off by wires sent the twelve men by Fournet from Jennings. In his telegram, he "branded" each with being like Mayor Hardy, "a most vicious, contemptible and malicious unit to associate with gentlemen and dignitaries to the community in which

(Continued on Second Page)

LIONS CLUB WILL COLLECT DAINTIES

Surplus Christmas Food-stuffs to Be Gathered Here Tonight

The Lions club of Monroe will tonight sponsor one of the most interesting efforts ever undertaken in the city to utilize "surplus" Christmas dainties, which in many homes have proved a problem in the past.

Members of the local club, carrying out a plan adopted at a recent meeting, will make collections of candies, nuts, toys and foodstuffs that might otherwise go to waste.

In order to effect their purpose and give every household in the city an opportunity to participate in the plan, a committee of the club has been designated to make telephone calls to each resident, asking that surplus Christmas "goodies" be turned over to the club. A "living squadron" will collect any such gifts as are reported and these will be taken to a central receiving station in the Frances hotel. Later to be turned over to some charitable organization for distribution to the needy families.

The city has been divided into districts to facilitate the gathering of the surplus Christmas things. A district headquarters has been established in each of 15 sections of the city. Telephone calls will advise householders where to call and report the amount of surplus such desires to contribute to the collection.

(Continued on Second Page)

Alleged Auto Thief Is Under Arrest in Texas

Accused of stealing an automobile here on W. P. Wainwright on the night of December 18, Odell Dowdy and a young woman companion were arrested Saturday at Houston, Texas.

Coverdale. The name of the young woman was withheld because of the fact that she was a juvenile.

Sheriff Coverdale sent a deputy to Houston Saturday night and he is expected to return to Monroe today with the pair, who could be charged with interstate transportation of a stolen automobile, white slavery or theft of an automobile, if the information received by the sheriff is correct. The first two offenses are violations of federal laws.

According to word received by the sheriff here, Dowdy admitted stealing the automobile and said he sold it in Bastrop, Texas.

ROGERS HAS HIS SAY

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 23.—(Special)—There is really not much new under the sun, 37 years ago a long-haired young man came riding a day coach out of the west, and said something about, "you can't crucify us on a cross of gold, we want the wealth on our brow to be studded with about sixteen silver dimes to one gold doubloon." In the meantime silver was used as the sole medium of exchange by over three-quarters of the earth's population. With us it was a money, but never official, it had a slot machine value. So long under Arlington's hallowed soil tonight must be a satisfied smile. For it's something to be 37 years ahead of your government.

Yours,

Phil Rogers
© 1934 McNeight Syndicate, Inc.

CHICAGO POLICE NAB MEMBER OF NOTORIOUS GANG

Hilton C. Crouch Confesses to Participation in Robbery

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Hilton C. Crouch, 29, member of the notorious Indiana gang headed by John Dillinger, was arrested here today and confessed, Police Capt. John Strong said, to participation in a bank robbery at Indianapolis, along with Dillinger and Harry Campbell, another member of the band, in which "about $25,000" was taken.

The robbery referred to, Steve said, was that of the Massachusetts Avenue bank last summer.

Steve said the confession followed less than an hour after Crouch's apprehension in front of an apartment as the "Dillinger squad" of police detailed with orders to kill or capture the gang chief in.

Alice, a woman, was taken as a woman giving the name of Mrs. Violet Barretto. She was taken as a woman in a taxi in front of a tavern. Steve said she lived at the same address as the Surf street apartment.

(Continued on Second Page)

Legal Liquor Returns To Ohio on Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Intoxicating liquors flowed legally in Ohio tonight for the first time in 11 years.

John Barthelme, quoted locally, during the long "dry" spell, denied formal office as long stars brought out the state started selling package liquors to all comers.

(Continued on Second Page)

MARJORIE DREXEL FOUND IN WOODS

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Drexel, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel of Philadelphia, missing since yesterday, was found exhausted and suffering from shock and exposure in a wooded area near here today.

Mrs. Drexel, who strayed into the woods while searching for her mother on a lonely road a mile west of the Drexel home, was found by a searching squad of police and volunteers.

Brought to her home in the arms of a policeman, she was then taken immediately to the Bahamas General hospital. A physician there said that while she was ill from the experience, her condition was not serious.

The searching party was led to the place where Mrs. Drexel was found by a charred branch which had been found by a searching squad of police and volunteers.

Brought to her home in the arms of a policeman, she was then taken immediately to the Bahamas General hospital. A physician there said that while she was ill from the experience, her condition was not serious.

The searching party was led to the place where Mrs. Drexel was found by a charred branch which had been found by a searching squad of police and volunteers.

Sleeping Sickness Victim Shows Signs of Improving

OAK PARK, Ill., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Bells, constantly ringing bells—telephone, front door, back door—were complicating busy affairs today in a little yellow home where an anxious family is watching for continued signs of possible returning consciousness in 28-year-old Patricia Maguire, a victim of sleeping sickness for nearly two years.

The constant nursing of the helpless girl, who is now stirred by increasing restlessness, is interrupted incessantly, now that news of her possible improvement has gotten about, by telephone calls.

Friends call to inquire the latest information. Many calls are from strangers to the family. Most express sympathy, a few curiosity, and others, oh, so many, the tired mother, Mrs. Peter Miley, said, have suggestions to make.

"We are having excellent medical care for Pat," she emphasized. And in the 22 months the attractive brunette has been ill, medical science has tried serum injections, blood transfusions, medicines, artificial fevers to restore the girl to normalcy. The front door bell rings—the postman stops with Christmas cards from friends and strangers, far and near. He leaves a load of presents from names known and unknown to the family.

The back door bell rings—a vendor of this or that that might be helpful wants to make a sale. "Pat's bath is two hours late now," moans Mrs. Charles W. Hansen, Pat's older sister. The front door rings again—a delivery boy with oranges from someone unknown. Again it rings—a messenger with flowers. "Pat received gorgeous flowers last Christmas," her sister said. Again it rings—this time a woman with an idea for a cure. There are things outside the rigorous sickroom routine to be done. There's a Christmas tree to be trimmed which will sit right outside Pat's door. There are toys to be wrapped, for there's a ten-year-old

(Continued on Eleventh Page)

Campaign of Good Fellows Ends to Glorious Finish

News-Star Fund, sponsored Saturday night, with donations of $640.61.

GOOD FELLOWS' FUND

(Final Donations)

Previously acknowledged	$576.76
Sig Mear	25.00
Violet Meyer	10.00
American Service Co.	5.00
News-Star-World Carrier
Salesman club	7.50
A friend	1.00
Cash	6.45
Harry Bell	1.00
Armstrong Renaud Dancing School	2.25
P. A. Pong, Jr.	1.00
Margaret Welsh Pong	1.00
Joe Hendricks CWA crew	2.00
C. A. Doyle crew	.65
Cash	2.00
Total	$640.61

OTHER GIFTS

Little Green Pecans
Friend Baby Doll Buggy

Monroe Morning World

And NEWS-STAR

MONROE, LOUISIANA, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1933

THE WEATHER

LOUISIANA: Partly cloudy Sunday becoming unsettled with probably local showers at night or on Sunday in east portion; continued warm Sunday; colder Sunday night and Monday.
ARKANSAS: Partly cloudy to unsettled Sunday and Monday.
MONROE: Maximum, 75; minimum, 45. River, 15.4.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

WARD 7 CITIZEN SERIOUSLY HURT IN KNIFE BATTLE

J. C. Brooks Is Jailed for Slashing Reese Fuller Saturday

CONDITION IS CRITICAL

Four Men Stop at Vacant Lot in West Monroe and Begin Fight

As a result of a four-man fight in West Monroe, about 9 o'clock Saturday morning, Reese Fuller last night was in St. Francis sanitarium, where he was said to be in a critical condition from a knife wound in the left side, and J. C. Brooks, 19, was being held in the parish jail, with the filing of a formal charge being held up, pending the outcome of Fuller's wound.

Fuller's physician said he believed the man had better than a 50 per cent chance for recovery, but that he was far from being out of danger, although he had shown considerable improvement during the day. The knife entered Fuller's side about the sixth or seventh rib and penetrated his left lung, resulting in a considerable hemorrhage of the lung and pleural cavity.

Others said to have been involved in the fight were W. E. Brooks, 29, father of J. C. Brooks, and Hugh Poe. All of the men lived in ward seven and all had come to town together in a school bus, along with a number of other persons, including women and children. When they stopped at the vacant lot just west of the Ouachita Citizen building on Natchitoches street, the four men got out and began fighting. Witnesses said Fuller and the older Brooks had been quarreling on the way to town and that "bad blood" had existed between them for some time.

According to the story told to officers, when the older Brooks got out of the bus, Poe and Fuller followed him and jumped on him and began beating him. Young Brooks was said then to have entered the fight. He told officers he attempted to pull Fuller off his father, but that Fuller struck him and knocked him down. According to his story, he then pulled

CUBAN EXILE IS SEVERELY BEATEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Armando Infante, wealthy Cuban described as a political exile from Havana, was beaten severely today in a struggle with two assailants who, police said, had been promised $5,000 to slay Infante.

The two men, one of whom carried a revolver, set upon Infante in his room in the Hotel McAlpin. He fought desperately and finally succeeded in repulsing the attackers.

Shortly after the attack a man was arrested and admitted, detectives said, that he took part in the attempted killing. He was caught as saying that he and his companion were to receive $5,000 to put Infante out of the way.

Infante was taken to French hospital suffering from severe head injuries. He is 38 years old and a real estate operator.

'Twas THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

VARIED WEATHER WILL GREET OLD SAINT NICHOLAS

Santa Comes Tonight Ready for All of Weather Man's Tricks

(By Associated Press)
When Santa rides his broad circuit tonight, Christmas eve, he must come prepared for every trick in the weather man's repertoire.

A blizzard blew down his path from the North Pole to the Montana gateway, and zero temperatures put the appropriate Christmas color on Santa's nose like a cherry.

Cold weather was on its way to the northern Pacific coast, where floods and storms have made 5,000 homeless and taken 13 lives this last week. Hip boots must be in Santa's pack for his travels in Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

He'll find it fair, foggy and cold in spots down the long stretch of California.

Down around the Gulf coast the fur coat will be checked, for it is mild, in the pleasant seventies, down south of the Mason and Dixon line. A slicker may come in handy in some southern spots.

By the time the Donner and Blitzen team reaches the north Atlantic sea-coast, it will be a different story.

17 Marriage Licenses Issued Here Saturday

An all-time record for marriage licenses was set at the office of the clerk of court here Saturday, when licenses were issued to 17 couples, according to Henry Hamilton, deputy clerk. The previous high record for one day was said to be 15 licenses in a single day.

Not only was Saturday's record high, but a high record has been maintained throughout the month thus far, 44 having been issued this week, which ordinarily is a good record for a month, with 55 having been issued within the last eight days and 90 since December 1. Last Saturday 11 licenses were issued.

Striking Dock Workers Return to Unloading

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Charles H. Logan, secretary of the regional labor board, announced here today that after a strike of longshoremen at the Munson line steamship wharf had returned to work unloading the steamship Munplace, Mr. Logan said there had been a temporary settlement of a dispute involving about 75 longshoremen under which the steamship line paid the workers back wages for their work on two other ships. Complete settlement of the disagreement was expected shortly.

CITY TO OBSERVE HOLIDAY MONDAY

Christmas will be observed in Monroe and vicinity tomorrow in festive manner. Stores, banks, courts, the postoffice and most business houses will observe the day by closing.

The fact that many men, idle for a long time, are now at work on either the CWA or levee construction has added a ray of cheer and enabled many to enjoy Christmas in better manner than in several years.

Stores were crowded up to closing time last night with throngs of last-minute shoppers and merchants everywhere expressed pleasure at the great increase in volume of sales made this holiday season over those of several previous years.

MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Perry Anderson, 40, killed himself early today in the rooming house where he was living, police reported. He shot himself with a pistol after brooding over continued ill health, edly left by the man read: "Just to say goodbye to all my friends. If you think this is easy just try it once."

Long's Rule Is Most Costly to Taxpayers

No Other Regime Ever Piled Up Equal Burden on Taxpayers

The Huey P. Long administration of Louisiana's financial affairs, from June 30, 1928 to June 30, 1932, was the most costly in the history of democratic government in the state, Mr. Long was governor of Louisiana during that period except for a few months when President Pro Tem A. K. King, of the Louisiana senate, occupied the executive chair.

With $90,515,381.01 more to spend than Governors Henry L. Fuqua and O. H. Simpson, who administered the affairs of Louisiana from 1924 to 1928, Governor Long managed to eat up a healthy surplus and plunge the state hopelessly into debt. His administration revealed a deficit of $3,190,451.57 when the reins were passed to Oscar K. Allen (ostensibly, at least) in May, 1932.

Of this total, $1,805,378.34 represented excess appropriations of the legislature for 1931, to meet which loans were negotiated with the state's fiscal agents. At one time $1,305,378.34 was borrowed through the state board of liquidation and at another $500,000.

As is generally known, the state could not pay this money back, so it was included in the bond issue—$4,000,000 which the Allen administration was called upon to provide and which added greatly to the state's

(Continued on Eleventh Page)

130 PERSONS DIE AS TRAINS CRASH ON FRENCH ROAD

Scores of Bodies Found in Debris on Fogbound Rail Tracks

LAGNY, France, Dec. 23.—(AP)—At least 130 persons were crushed to death in a train collision tonight near Pomponne, near here. As many more were known to have been injured. By midnight, along the fogbound tracks which were declared responsible for the catastrophe, 130 bodies had been recovered from wreckage while rescue workers struggled to drag the injured from twisted and smashed cars.

Most of the victims were passengers on the night express which had delayed its departure from Paris because of fog and stopped about two miles from Lagny.

At 8:15 p. m. (3:15 p. m. Eastern standard time) it was telephoned from the rear by the Paris-Strasbourg ex-

(Continued on Second Page)

3 Bitter Political Factions Square Away for Hot Battle For Orleans Mayoralty Post

LOCAL POLITICAL BLAST RESOUNDS BACK AND FORTH

Citizens Wire Fournet Declaring Support for Hardy's Action

Reverberation from the political blast set off by Mayor George W. Hardy, Jr., of Shreveport, when he introduced a resolution at the fifth district mass meeting in Monroe Tuesday night demanding the resignation of United States Senators Huey P. Long and John H. Overton, Governor O. K. Allen, Lieutenant Governor John B. Fournet and three other high state officials, continued to rumble back and forth between north and south Louisiana Saturday.

The latest salvo was fired Friday night by a group of local citizens who wired Lieutenant Governor Fournet at Jennings, La., that they not only subscribed wholeheartedly to the resolutions passed at the mass meeting here, but commended twelve Monroe men who made additional charges against Fournet after he had termed Mayor Hardy a "malicious liar."

The second broadside against the lieutenant-governor was set off by wires sent the twelve men by Fournet from Jennings. In his telegrams he "branded" each with being, like Mayor Hardy, "a most vicious, contemptible and malicious... unfit to associate with gentlemen and dangerous to the community in which

(Continued on Second Page)

LIONS CLUB WILL COLLECT DAINTIES

Surplus Christmas Food-stuffs to Be Gathered Here Tonight

The Lions club of Monroe will tonight sponsor one of the most interesting efforts ever undertaken in the city to utilize "surplus" Christmas dainties, which in many homes have proved a problem in the past.

Members of the local club, carrying out a plan adopted at a recent meeting will make collections of candies, nuts, toys and foodstuffs that might otherwise go to waste.

In order to effect their purpose and give every household in the city an opportunity to participate in the plan, a committee of the club has been designated to make telephone calls to each resident, asking that surplus Christmas "goodies" be turned over to the club. A "flying squadron" will collect any such gifts as are reported and these will be taken to a central receiving station in the Frances hotel, later to be turned over to some charitable organization for distribution to the needy families.

The city has been divided into districts to facilitate the gathering of the surplus Christmas things. A district headquarters has been established in each of 15 sections of the city. Telephone calls will advise householders where to call and report the amount of surplus such desires to contribute to the collection.

(Continued on Second Page)

Alleged Auto Thief Is Under Arrest in Texas

Accused of stealing an automobile here from W. P. Wainwright on the night of December 18, Odell Dowdy and a young woman companion were arrested Saturday at Houston, Texas, on a request from Sheriff Milton Coverdale. The name of the young woman was withheld because of the fact that she was a juvenile.

Sheriff Coverdale sent a deputy to Houston Saturday night and he is expected to return to Monroe today with the pair, who could be charged with interstate transportation of a stolen automobile, while slavery or theft of an automobile, if the information received by the sheriff is correct. The first two offenses are violations of federal laws.

According to word received by the sheriff here, Dowdy admitted stealing the automobile and said he sold it in Bastrop, Texas.

ROGERS HAS HIS SAY

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 23.—(Special)—There is really not much new under the sun, 37 years ago a long-haired young man came riding a day coach out of the west, and said something about, "you can't crucify us on a cross of gold, we want the wreath on our brow to be studded with about sixteen silver ducats, to one gold doubloon." In the meantime silver was used as the sole medium of exchange by over three-quarters of the earth's population. With us it was a money but never official, it just had a slot machine value. So lying under Arlington's hallowed soil tonight must be a satisfied smile. For it's something to be 37 years ahead of your government.

Yours,

W. H. Rogers

1936 McNaughton Syndicate, Inc.

CHICAGO POLICE

NAB MEMBER OF NOTORIOUS GANG

Hilton C. Crouch Confesses to Participation in Robbery

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Hilton C. Crouch, 29, member of the notorious Indiana gang headed by John Dillinger, was arrested here today and confessed, Police Capt. John Stege said, to participation in a bank robbery at Indianapolis along with Dillinger and Harry Campbell, another member of the band, in which "about $25,000" was taken.

The robbery referred to, Stege said, was that of the Massachusetts Avenue bank last summer.

Stege said the confession followed less than an hour after Crouch's apprehension in front of an apartment as the "Dillinger squad" of police detailed with orders to kill or capture the gang closed in.

Also seized for questioning was a woman giving the name of Miss Violet Barretta. She was taken as she sat in a taxi in front of a tavern.

Stege said she lived at the same address as the Surf street apartment

(Continued on Second Page)

Legal Liquor Returns To Ohio on Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Intoxicating liquors flowed legally in Ohio tonight for the first time in 14 years.

John Barleycorn, ousted socially during the long "dry" spell, donned formal attire as drug stores throughout the state started selling package liquors to all comers.

(Continued on Second Page)

Sleeping Sickness Victim Shows Signs of Improving

OAK PARK, Ill., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Bells, constantly ringing bells—telephone, front door, back door—were complicating busy affairs today in a little yellow home where an anxious family is watching for continued signs of possible returning consciousness in 28-year-old Patricia McGuire, a victim of sleeping sickness for nearly two years.

The constant nursing of the helpless girl, who is now stirred by increasing restlessness, is interrupted incessantly, now that news of her possible improvement has gotten about, by telephone calls.

Friends call to inquire the latest information. Many calls are from strangers to the family. Most express sympathy, a few curiosity, and others—oh, so many, the tired mother, Mrs. Peter Miley, said, have suggestions to make—

"We are having excellent medical care for Pat," she emphasized.

And in the 22 months the attractive brunette has been ill, medical science has tried serum injections, blood transfusions, medicines, artificial fevers to restore the girl to normalcy.

The front door bell rings—the postman stops with Christmas cards from friends and strangers, far and near. He leaves a load of presents from families known and unknown to the family.

The back door bell rings—a vendor of this or that that might be helpful wants to make a sale.

"Pat's bath is two hours late now," moans Mrs. Charles W. Hansen, Pat's older sister.

The front door rings again—a delivery boy with oranges from someone unknown. Again it rings—a messenger with flowers.

"Pat received gorgeous flowers last Christmas," her sister said.

Again it rings—this time a woman with an idea for a cure.

There are things outside the rigorous sickroom routine to be done. There's a Christmas tree to be trimmed which will sit right outside Pat's door. There are toys to be wrapped, for there's a ten-year-old

(Continued on Eleventh Page)

Campaign of Good Fellows Ends to Glorious Finish

Good Fellows' Fund, sponsored by News-Star, came to Saturday night, with donations of $640.61, more than $500 meats, clothing, contributed by a happy Monroe every part of the city.

GOOD FELLOWS' FUND

(Final Donations)

Previously acknowledged	$576.76
Sig Masur	25.00
Violet Meyer	10.00
American Service Co.	5.00
News-Star-World Carrier
Salesman club	7.50
A Friend	1.00
Cash	6.45
Harry Bell	1.00
Armstrong Renaud Dancing
School	2.25
P. A. Post Jr.	1.00
Margaret Welsh Pong	1.00
Joe Hendricks CWA crew	2.00
C. A. Doyle crew	.65
Cash	2.00
Total	$640.61

OTHER GIFTS

Miss Lillie Green	Pecans
Friend	Baby Doll Buggy

PERSONS DIE IN TRAINS CRASH ON FRENCH ROAD

(Continued from First Page)

which also left Paris an hour late. The accident was one of the gravest in the history of French railroad accidents. It was the first in which 15 miles due east of Paris, near the river Marne, Pomponne is by. The accident was one of the gravest in the history of French railroad accidents. It was the first in which 15 miles due east of Paris, near the river Marne, Pomponne is by. The accident was one of the gravest in the history of French railroad accidents. It was the first in which 15 miles due east of Paris, near the river Marne, Pomponne is by.

BATTAL FACTIONS READY TO BATTLE

(Continued from First Page)

few of the announced closure of stations today, 30 days before the elections, are being held only in the name of a postponement of primary by the Democratic committee. The committee's session January 2 will provide the first of strength between Senator Long and Mayor T. Semmes Wamsley, Old and New Orleans, since their open fight. Both claim to control the committee.

Long worked on his Kloran with his new allies of the Citizens and Jefferson Democratic clubs, joined his forces after his break with Wamsley. Old Regulars also had some new allies in the primary for the primary battle and friends of John P. Sullivan, bit-anti-Long leader who has dictated a federal patronage in Louisiana, would be included on the Old and New Orleans ticket.

The mass meeting movement sponsored by anti-Long groups continued out in the state and the day saw the East Baton Rouge parish Democratic committee, in the state capital, vote thanks to other parishes and congressional districts for condemning the method by which Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, Long's candidate, was declared elected sixth district congressman without a primary being held.

The committee gave its approval to the proposed election on December 27 when J. Y. Sanders, Jr., is slated for election for the annual election of contesting the seating of Mrs. Kemp.

EFFORT SEEN TO BAR MRS. KEMP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Speaker Rainey predicted today that an effort would be made on the opening day of congress to prevent Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp from assuming the seat from the sixth Louisiana district left vacant by the death of her husband.

Mrs. Kemp was elected early this month and her certificate has been received by the house clerk, South Trimble. However, another election is to be conducted December 27, and Rainey said the contest over the seat would be between the winner in the coming election and Mrs. Kemp.

"Someone will ask Mrs. Kemp to stand aside when several other new members of the house stand up to take their oath on January 3," Rainey said. "The Louisiana delegation in the house is divided over the election and in all probability one Louisiana member will introduce a resolution asking that she not be seated pending an investigation by an election committee."

A substitute resolution probably will be introduced by another member from Louisiana asking that she be allowed to take the oath pending the investigation.

Newspapermen asked the speaker if Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana would be on the house floor during the proceedings, and he smilingly replied: "In all probability he will be, since that's his privilege."

COMMITTEE THANKS PARISHES FOR FIGHT

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The East Baton Rouge parish Democratic executive committee unanimously voted thanks today to other parishes and districts of the state it said were assisting in the fight against the seating of Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp as sixth district representative.

John D. McGee proposed the vote and George Thompson seconded it. Meetings have been held and other action taken over the state outside the sixth district condemning the naming of Mrs. Kemp to congress by the Long-Allen administration without a Democratic primary. The committee also adopted resolutions asking East Baton Rouge voters to support the "citizens election" set for December 27 as protest against Mrs. Kemp's "election" and in which J. Y. Sanders, Jr., is the only candidate entered.

LOCAL POLITICAL BLAST RESOUNDS BACK AND FORTH

(Continued from First Page)

you reside." He said the charges made in the resolution and telegram were most cowardly, vicious and false.

Friday night's telegram retorted that the attempt to " malign Mayor Hardy" was a subterfuge, and that "his outbursts are intended only to attract attention." The wire read:

"We subscribe wholeheartedly to every word of the resolutions passed at the fifth district congressional mass meeting held in Monroe Tuesday of this week and we commend the twelve gentlemen who wired additional charges against you individually. The resolutions passed at Monroe embrace the sentiment of the majority of the people of north Louisiana. Your attempt to malign Mayor Hardy because he introduced the resolution is a subterfuge. Your subversion to Louisiana's rotten regime is well known and your outbursts are intended only to attract attention."

The wire was signed by Brunswick Sholars, I. A. Faulk, W. C. Bridges, James H. Dorman, J. S. Cruise, J. L. Powers, W. F. Patton, Sr., S. L. Digby, Dr. T. L. Hood, Sr., E. Huey, Dr. F. C. Bennett, L. E. Hayden, Jr., C. Theus, Jr., Hillier S. Parker, J. D. Porter, J. W. Brown of Houma, La., S. C. Wise, J. L. Russ and N. M. Hyde.

Dr. Hood is a former state senator. After serving one term in the lower house of the state legislature, Dr. Bennett did not stand for re-election.

The first group of citizens who telegraphed the lieutenant-governor were the Ouachita parish unit of the New Deal Democratic association and its organizing chairman for the fifth district, D. M. Doughty, who was ousted from Long's tax meeting here at the order of the senate, W. C. Foster, one of Ouachita parish's two state representatives; B. J. Breard; Allen Kimball, chairman of the protest mass meeting here; M. C. Redmond, former state senator from Ouachita; J. W. Smith, W. E. Martin, F. J. Cox, T. C. Estlin, Sander Berry, former staunch supporter of the Long regime in this parish, and J. G. Bell.

Mayor Hardy's resolution condemning what it described as corruption, graft and bribery practiced by the state administration and calling on the seven high officials to resign, was unanimously adopted by the 500 or more citizens of the fifth district who gathered here Tuesday night to protest against the seating of Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp in congress from the sixth district. R. P. Webb, director of the Monroe office of the division of the state department of conservation, and Barlow Inabnet, the only Long supporter noted in the audience, voted neither for nor against it.

In addition to passing Mayor Hardy's resolution, the assembly unanimously adopted a second one calling on congress to refuse to seat Mrs. Kemp, nominated to the house of representatives by the sixth district Democratic committee at a meeting in New Orleans and "elected" at a surprise election called for December 5 by Governor Allen, and requesting the seating of the candidate elected at the election called by citizens of the district for December 27 as the legally chosen representative.

Webb and Inabnet also remained silent when this resolution was voted on. The sixth district vacancy in congress occurred six months ago with the death of Representative Bolivar E. Kemp. Despite repeated petitions by citizens of the district to the governor, Allen refused to make any move until he suddenly called the election for December 5. The committee nomination of Mrs. Kemp was justified by the Long forces on the ground that there was insufficient time for a primary.

FRAMEUP CHARGED BY SPY SUSPECTS

PARIS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switz, young Americans, declared vigorously today that their arrest on suspicion of being "tools of an international spy ring" was a police "frame-up" and the result of a "plant."

They were heard separately by Magistrate Benon and during the grilling examination vigorously protested their innocence and asserted that supposedly incriminating documents found by police did not belong to them.

The 29-year-old native of East Orange, N. J., maintained that the affair "looked like a scenario well played." His four hour examination left him nearly exhausted.

Mrs. Switz told the American consul, Robert D. Murphy, that the evidence against them was "put there by a plant." Murphy, who was not present during the hearing of the husband, will make a report to Washington regarding the examination.

Permanent Buildings for Fair Being Considered

Plans are under consideration for the construction of permanent buildings for the Ouachita Valley Fair association in West Monroe, it was announced Saturday by George H. Dierlamm, manager.

Lack of proper housing facilities was the chief difficulty encountered last October when the fair was held and it is proposed to remedy this difficulty next fall when the second annual exhibition is held.

It is proposed to ask adjacent parishes having no fairs of their own to unite with Ouachita parish in the making of a large exhibition for this section and this will require that there be erected larger permanent buildings. Directors are hopeful of making the local fair the largest in the state outside of the Shreveport state fair.

A meeting is to be held in Baton Rouge in January, when dates will be determined for the holding of all fairs in Louisiana, Mr. Dierlamm stated. Also a pro rata share of the prize money allotted by the state will be apportioned to the various fairs to be conducted.

COMING TO PARAMOUNT VARIED WEATHER WILL GREET OLD SAINT NICHOLAS

(Continued from First Page)

board the sleigh runners will have to be installed for the dash along the Canadian border.

The middle and eastern states generally will have colder weather, but little snow for the youngsters' sleds. In the southeast and the lower Great Lakes regions Santa Claus will need umbrella and rubbers.

Back along the border, however, northern Michigan, northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas, a white Christmas is in order. Snow fell Saturday, and more was anticipated Sunday to smooch the way for Santa's slide back to the pole.

The sudden gale that came howling into Montana sent the mercury scurrying down into the bulb, the temperature dropping 25 degrees at Great Falls in ten minutes. The Olympian, transcontinental passenger train of the Milwaukee road, was marooned near Drexel in western Montana by a washout in front and mud slides behind, and food had to be packed to the isolated passengers from 53 miles away. Electric motors warmed the 150 or more on board, many of whom will have belated Christmas celebrations.

AS ONE READER points out, silver money would discourage bank robbers for they couldn't carry more than the worth the risk: $30,000 in silver would weigh more than a ton and a half. The strongest bank robber could not carry more than two thousand dollars worth.

And silver seems like real money. Asiatic workers when they get gold coin or bank notes, run to change it into silver, rupees in India, taels in China, and then feel that they have real money.

C. J. Israel, 65-year-old Civil war veteran, decided that he had lived long enough and would look for a better place. He was not poor, simply disappointed in life. Before shooting himself, the old man gave a Christmas dinner to more than one hundred children in Maxwell, Nebraska, and sent a box of candy to every child in the village.

Suicide is a very serious sin, but the Angel Gabriel, after he had written down "dinners for one hundred children, candy for all children" must have hesitated to write "suicide."

Perhaps both items were scratched off and the life-worn old man said: "I find a new, happy beginning in the life that lasts forever."

THE AIRPLANE in which Colonel Lindbergh has travelled with his wife 30,000 miles, touching three continents, goes to New York's museum of natural history.

Crowds of 1931 will look at it in awe as a marvelous proof of progress. Crowds of 2031, will look at it as today's crowds look at the first locomotive and wonder "how anybody dared to fly in such a thing." However, not time nor mechanical improvements will do away with the fact that Lindbergh made the first non-stop between New York and Paris.

SOME POETS ARE appreciated. Miss Bertha Gordon, of Washington, D. C. wrote an anthem in honor of the NRA, with these, for the severe last lines:

"Hip, hip hooray.
No more unemployment.
Clouds are disappearing, skies are clearing.
No more traces on sad face, hip, hip hooray!"

President Roosevelt and General Johnson wrote Miss Gordon thanking her for the poem. The poetess, who said "We are in a real war, and we can't have war without an anthem," is a versatile poet, having written "What is Life Without Love" she decided, needless to say that it does not amount to much without love. She also wrote "Sweet Sixteen." Juliette was only fourteen, hard on ladies that try to play the part at fifty.

YOUNG LADIES were arrested in New Orleans for "fan dancing" and what the police call "indecentcy." Thirty-seven men looking on were charged with "loitering." Why the more polite charge?

The so-called "fan dance" disgraces the dancer, the spectators and the promoters, but it proves the importance of clothing.

Without any fans the women would have been quite uninteresting, even to the 37 "loiterers."

WANTED
A man to buy half interest and manage lumber yard in a good size city. Business has been established for ten years and has made money every year. Not necessary to know lumber business but must have good business ability and be capable of handling records and finance. Investment required to obtain half interest would be $12,000 to $15,000. Address Box 40, care this paper.

CHICAGO POLICE NAB MEMBER OF NOTORIOUS GANG

(Continued from First Page)

where Crouch had been living. A tavern keeper who said Crouch had been his partner, stated that Crouch had married the girl, a waitress in the place.

In Crouch's possession, Stege said, was a .45 calibre pistol, a $10 counterfeit bill on the New York Federal Reserve bank, and a Christmas card reading "To my Dadde from your Babbe."

Dillinger, paroled from the Indiana prison on a robbery charge, is one of the most hunted men in the nation. He is accused as a bandit robber and killer and was said by Stege recently to have joined his forces strengthened last September by the escape of ten inmates of the Michigan City prison with the Chicago "Terrible Touth" gang.

Crouch, according to Captain Stege, said his share of the Indianapolis robbery was $8,300.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Captain Matt Leach of the state police said this evening that Hilton C. Crouch, arrested in Chicago this afternoon, is wanted in this state in connection with the robbery last summer of the State Bank of Massachusetts avenue in Indianapolis.

Crouch was sentenced from Marion county (Indianapolis) to 5 to 21 years in the state prison in February, 1933, for auto handiwork. He was paroled from the institution.

BONES OF SMALL
DINOSAUR FOUND
Bantam-Size Monster
Roamed Montana 120,-
000,000 Years Ago

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Discovery of a bantam-size monster which roamed Montana 120,000,000 years ago was announced by the American museum of natural history today.

The bantam was a dinosaur of new species. It stood upright on two hind legs probably as high as a mastiff. But it was light and fast, and judging by its hooked, saw-edged teeth, as dangerous as a pack of wolves.

The fossil bones were found in south central Montana, 12 miles southeast of Harlowton, last October. Only part of them have been chiseled out of the hard rock where they were mineralized and preserved so long.

But those fragments, brought here and fitted together, tell of his era. All the bones are hollow, like those of birds, suggesting lightness, agility and speed.

The hind legs were about 15 inches off the ground at the hips. The whole body, balancing a heavy tail at one end and at the other a big head on a shinning neck, was about two and a half feet long.

The skull bones are still misshapen in the Montana rock, and the announcement states: "At present one cannot visualize the skull, but it must have been unusually large, for the saw-bladed, recurved teeth are relatively larger than in any described carnivorous dinosaur."

"It walked upright on long hind legs, but the ratio of the hind leg elements differ greatly from described genera, while the front legs were powerful and relatively better developed than in the great tyrannosaurus and other carnivorous dinosaurs."

Irishman Faces Murder
Count in Military Court
DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Dec. 23.—(AP)—General Eoin O'Duffy, co-leader of the United Ireland party today was summoned to appear before a military tribunal on a charge of inciting to murder President Eamon de Valera.

The blue-shirted O'Duffy was released from jail only two days ago after a judge ruled that he and a follower, Capt. John Sullivan, had been illegally detained for the five days of their imprisonment after a clash with police at Westport, Mayo. The summons was served at midnight and the charge arose out of a speech O'Duffy was alleged to have made at Ballyshannon during his recent tour of County Donegal.

OBITUARY
WILL H. PIERSON
TALLULAH, La., Dec. 23.—(Special)—Will H. Pierson, 60, for a number of years a merchant of this city, died at his home on Friday night. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. H. W. Lee. He was a member of the Episcopal church of this city.

MRS. CELIA MARTIN
Mrs. Celia Martin, 43, died in a local hospital at an early hour Saturday morning. She leaves her husband, Eli Martin, and the following sons and daughters: Ray, James and G. W. Martin, Mrs. J. H. Baebec, Mrs. O. L. Weir, and Misses Audrey and Dorothy Martin.

The funeral is to be held at the residence at 108 Reagan street, West Monroe, at 2 p. m. today, with Rev. W. T. Hemphill officiating. The interment is to take place in Hasley cemetery.

Bank
The bank of the city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The bank of the city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

City
The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

Bank
The bank of the city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

City
The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

CHICAGO POLICE NAB MEMBER OF NOTORIOUS GANG

(Continued from First Page)

where Crouch had been living. A tavern keeper who said Crouch had been his partner, stated that Crouch had married the girl, a waitress in the place.

In Crouch's possession, Stege said, was a .45 calibre pistol, a $10 counterfeit bill on the New York Federal Reserve bank, and a Christmas card reading "To my Dadde from your Babbe."

Dillinger, paroled from the Indiana prison on a robbery charge, is one of the most hunted men in the nation. He is accused as a bandit robber and killer and was said by Stege recently to have joined his forces strengthened last September by the escape of ten inmates of the Michigan City prison with the Chicago "Terrible Touth" gang.

Crouch, according to Captain Stege, said his share of the Indianapolis robbery was $8,300.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Captain Matt Leach of the state police said this evening that Hilton C. Crouch, arrested in Chicago this afternoon, is wanted in this state in connection with the robbery last summer of the State Bank of Massachusetts avenue in Indianapolis.

Crouch was sentenced from Marion county (Indianapolis) to 5 to 21 years in the state prison in February, 1933, for auto handiwork. He was paroled from the institution.

BONES OF SMALL
DINOSAUR FOUND
Bantam-Size Monster
Roamed Montana 120,-
000,000 Years Ago

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Discovery of a bantam-size monster which roamed Montana 120,000,000 years ago was announced by the American museum of natural history today.

The bantam was a dinosaur of new species. It stood upright on two hind legs probably as high as a mastiff. But it was light and fast, and judging by its hooked, saw-edged teeth, as dangerous as a pack of wolves.

The fossil bones were found in south central Montana, 12 miles southeast of Harlowton, last October. Only part of them have been chiseled out of the hard rock where they were mineralized and preserved so long.

But those fragments, brought here and fitted together, tell of his era. All the bones are hollow, like those of birds, suggesting lightness, agility and speed.

The hind legs were about 15 inches off the ground at the hips. The whole body, balancing a heavy tail at one end and at the other a big head on a shinning neck, was about two and a half feet long.

The skull bones are still misshapen in the Montana rock, and the announcement states: "At present one cannot visualize the skull, but it must have been unusually large, for the saw-bladed, recurved teeth are relatively larger than in any described carnivorous dinosaur."

"It walked upright on long hind legs, but the ratio of the hind leg elements differ greatly from described genera, while the front legs were powerful and relatively better developed than in the great tyrannosaurus and other carnivorous dinosaurs."

Irishman Faces Murder
Count in Military Court
DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Dec. 23.—(AP)—General Eoin O'Duffy, co-leader of the United Ireland party today was summoned to appear before a military tribunal on a charge of inciting to murder President Eamon de Valera.

The blue-shirted O'Duffy was released from jail only two days ago after a judge ruled that he and a follower, Capt. John Sullivan, had been illegally detained for the five days of their imprisonment after a clash with police at Westport, Mayo. The summons was served at midnight and the charge arose out of a speech O'Duffy was alleged to have made at Ballyshannon during his recent tour of County Donegal.

OBITUARY
WILL H. PIERSON
TALLULAH, La., Dec. 23.—(Special)—Will H. Pierson, 60, for a number of years a merchant of this city, died at his home on Friday night. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. H. W. Lee. He was a member of the Episcopal church of this city.

MRS. CELIA MARTIN
Mrs. Celia Martin, 43, died in a local hospital at an early hour Saturday morning. She leaves her husband, Eli Martin, and the following sons and daughters: Ray, James and G. W. Martin, Mrs. J. H. Baebec, Mrs. O. L. Weir, and Misses Audrey and Dorothy Martin.

The funeral is to be held at the residence at 108 Reagan street, West Monroe, at 2 p. m. today, with Rev. W. T. Hemphill officiating. The interment is to take place in Hasley cemetery.

Bank
The bank of the city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

City
The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

Bank
The bank of the city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

City
The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

CHICAGO POLICE NAB MEMBER OF NOTORIOUS GANG

(Continued from First Page)

where Crouch had been living. A tavern keeper who said Crouch had been his partner, stated that Crouch had married the girl, a waitress in the place.

In Crouch's possession, Stege said, was a .45 calibre pistol, a $10 counterfeit bill on the New York Federal Reserve bank, and a Christmas card reading "To my Dadde from your Babbe."

Dillinger, paroled from the Indiana prison on a robbery charge, is one of the most hunted men in the nation. He is accused as a bandit robber and killer and was said by Stege recently to have joined his forces strengthened last September by the escape of ten inmates of the Michigan City prison with the Chicago "Terrible Touth" gang.

Crouch, according to Captain Stege, said his share of the Indianapolis robbery was $8,300.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Captain Matt Leach of the state police said this evening that Hilton C. Crouch, arrested in Chicago this afternoon, is wanted in this state in connection with the robbery last summer of the State Bank of Massachusetts avenue in Indianapolis.

Crouch was sentenced from Marion county (Indianapolis) to 5 to 21 years in the state prison in February, 1933, for auto handiwork. He was paroled from the institution.

BONES OF SMALL
DINOSAUR FOUND
Bantam-Size Monster
Roamed Montana 120,-
000,000 Years Ago

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Discovery of a bantam-size monster which roamed Montana 120,000,000 years ago was announced by the American museum of natural history today.

The bantam was a dinosaur of new species. It stood upright on two hind legs probably as high as a mastiff. But it was light and fast, and judging by its hooked, saw-edged teeth, as dangerous as a pack of wolves.

The fossil bones were found in south central Montana, 12 miles southeast of Harlowton, last October. Only part of them have been chiseled out of the hard rock where they were mineralized and preserved so long.

But those fragments, brought here and fitted together, tell of his era. All the bones are hollow, like those of birds, suggesting lightness, agility and speed.

The hind legs were about 15 inches off the ground at the hips. The whole body, balancing a heavy tail at one end and at the other a big head on a shinning neck, was about two and a half feet long.

The skull bones are still misshapen in the Montana rock, and the announcement states: "At present one cannot visualize the skull, but it must have been unusually large, for the saw-bladed, recurved teeth are relatively larger than in any described carnivorous dinosaur."

"It walked upright on long hind legs, but the ratio of the hind leg elements differ greatly from described genera, while the front legs were powerful and relatively better developed than in the great tyrannosaurus and other carnivorous dinosaurs."

Irishman Faces Murder
Count in Military Court
DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Dec. 23.—(AP)—General Eoin O'Duffy, co-leader of the United Ireland party today was summoned to appear before a military tribunal on a charge of inciting to murder President Eamon de Valera.

The blue-shirted O'Duffy was released from jail only two days ago after a judge ruled that he and a follower, Capt. John Sullivan, had been illegally detained for the five days of their imprisonment after a clash with police at Westport, Mayo. The summons was served at midnight and the charge arose out of a speech O'Duffy was alleged to have made at Ballyshannon during his recent tour of County Donegal.

OBITUARY
WILL H. PIERSON
TALLULAH, La., Dec. 23.—(Special)—Will H. Pierson, 60, for a number of years a merchant of this city, died at his home on Friday night. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. H. W. Lee. He was a member of the Episcopal church of this city.

MRS. CELIA MARTIN
Mrs. Celia Martin, 43, died in a local hospital at an early hour Saturday morning. She leaves her husband, Eli Martin, and the following sons and daughters: Ray, James and G. W. Martin, Mrs. J. H. Baebec, Mrs. O. L. Weir, and Misses Audrey and Dorothy Martin.

The funeral is to be held at the residence at 108 Reagan street, West Monroe, at 2 p. m. today, with Rev. W. T. Hemphill officiating. The interment is to take place in Hasley cemetery.

Bank
The bank of the city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

City
The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

Bank
The bank of the city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

City
The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

Bank
The bank of the city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school. The city high school is to be removed to the new building on the corner of the city high school.

OR LIVING'

pre-showing of this play will be held as a midnight attraction at the Capitol on Christmas eve (tonight). The show is to start promptly at 11:20 p. m. Harry W. Rice, manager of the Paramount, expresses much pleasure in that he has been able to give the public the benefit of this pre-view.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS

AT THE PARAMOUNT.—The same hand that cut the hair of Steve Brodie after he jumped the Brooklyn bridge, cut the hair of Hollywood's Steve Brodie—George Raft.

Raoul Walsh, who directed "The Bowery" and who was a fighter in days when the Bowery was the center of New York's night life, was dissatisfied with the style of haircut when Raft, portraying Brodie, showed up. The Raft sideburns had been eliminated, but Walsh felt there was something more to be done and sent for a research expert.

"I used to cut Steve Brodie's hair," volunteered a man among the 200 extras on the set. "I think I could do it again."

So Raft's hair was trimmed to the style of Gay 90's by Fred Grady, now a barber on the set, in his early youth. "I was a barber once myself," Raft admitted. "The first job I had as a kid was in my uncle's barber shop not far from the Bowery."

"That was after the time of Steve Brodie, who died in 1901. Grady opened that Raft was not unlike the man of his role before he became famous and fat."

"The Bowery" is the United Artists release that is providing laughs and excitement for audiences at the Paramount theater. Sunday is the last day here. Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper are starred with George Raft.

A midnight show is to be held tonight (Christmas eve) at the Paramount when a pre-showing of Noel Coward's "Design for Living" is to be presented.

Yuletide Greetings...

To wish our customers and many friends
A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year

D. MASUR & SONS
MEN'S AND BOYS' OUTFITTERS

The Palace owners employees wish you all
A Merry
Christmas
Peace
Happiness
Contentment
Good cheer

LEADERS SUGGEST FARM LICENSING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Licensing of farmers who do not cooperate with the government in its production control, in an effort to prevent them from increasing their output, was suggested today by the conference of 19 national farm leaders.

The plan was agreed upon in a resolution, adopted by the group and forwarded to Secretary Wallace. It was intended to prevent defeat of the administration's production adjustment program by farmers who would make huge increases in their production, members of the conference said.

The resolution, proposed by Clarence Poe of Raleigh, N. C., editor of the Progressive Farmer, would prohibit producers who do not sign production control contracts from sharing in advantages of the adjustment programs.

The conference also organized a committee to work for enactment of any amendments decided upon to strengthen the agricultural adjustment act.

Some members of the conference plan to be on hand during the forthcoming congressional session to work in support of legislation for agriculture.

The first meeting of the committee on amendments to the act will be in Washington the week of January.

City Briefs

A seven and one-half pound daughter was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Felix Roberts, who live on DeSiard road. They have named her Mary Beth.

Herbert Fink will leave tonight for the market in Chicago and St. Louis to select his new spring woolsens and furnishing goods.

Attention is again called by Capt. G. B. Cooley, president of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis and Public Health association, to the matter of making payment for Christmas seals. Many were mailed out and those who received these are expected to remit a dollar, at least, to pay for them. This is the only source of income of the association in this parish in its fight against tuberculosis, Captain Cooley said.

Many people have received the seals, used them on their outgoing letters and packages, but have forgotten to pay for them. The captain urges that all give the matter prompt attention.

President C. C. Colvert, of Ouachita Junior college, left last night with his family for Little Rock, where they are to spend the holidays with relatives. Many of the other faculty mem-

STATE WILL HAVE 233 ENUMERATORS

Ouachita Parish to Have 7 Working on CWA Census Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Louisiana will have 233 and Mississippi will have 166 enumerators in the various parishes and counties of the two states working on the civil works census program of the commerce department.

Included in the allotment of enumerators are the following:

Louisiana: First district, Caddo 11, Bossier 2, Webster 3, Claiborne 2, Lincoln 2, Jackson 1, Bienville 2, Red River 1, DeSoto 2, Sabine 1, Natchitoches 2.

Second district, Union 2, Morehouse 2, West Carroll 1, East Carroll 1, Madison 1, Richland 2, Ouachita 1, Caldwell 1, Franklin 2, Tensas 1, LaSalle 1, Winn 1, Grant 2, Catahoula 1, Concordia 1, Rapides 6, Avoyelles 4.

Third district, Vernon 2, Beauregard 2, Allen 2, Calcasieu 6, Jefferson Davis 2, Cameron 1.

Fourth district, Evangeline 2, St. Landry 6, Pointe Coupee 1, Acadia 4, Lafayette 5, St. Martin 3, West Baton Rouge 1, Iberville 3, Iberia 3, Vermilion 3, Assumption 1, St. Mary 4, Terrebonne 2.

Fifth district, West Feliciana 1, East Feliciana 1, St. Helena 1, Washington 3, Tangipahoa 3, St. Tammany 3, Livingston 2, East Baton Rouge 7, Ascension 2, St. James 2.

Sixth district, St. John the Baptist 1, St. Charles 2, Lafourche 2, Jefferson 5, Plaquemines 1, St. Bernard 1, Orleans 7.

Supervisors for the districts who will appoint the enumerators are: First district, Leon I. Kahn, Shreveport; second, H. B. Bozeman, Alexandria; third, William Alex Robertson, Lake Charles; fourth, W. A. Montgomery, Lafayette; fifth, Newton A. Sanders, Baton Rouge; sixth, Dr. Florin Dirrman, New Orleans. Charles E. Kingery also had been recommended for the Lake Charles office but the post went to Robertson.

POPE CONDEMNS STERILIZATION

Pius Pleads With Leaders 'to Pray and Persist in Prayers'

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Pope Pius today assailed a German program for the sterilization of the unfit and exhorted those who seek the peace and welfare of the world "to pray and persist in their prayers."

In his account of the joys and sorrows of the past year, he described as "inconsistent" the proposal of the German government to deny parenthood to thousands of persons suffering incurable ailments.

He listed as one of the joys the success so far of the holy year and as one of the sorrows a world situation characterized by "conflicts and contradictions" and bound up "with uncertainties and distrust by the clinging interests of selfish nations."

His holiness, clad in sumptuous white, gave his annual Christmas address to the deeply-robed college of cardinals and the Roman prelates who gathered in the consistory hall to wish him "sanctus in nos" many years of life.

"All those," he said, "who wish for the welfare, peace, and concord of the world and the general good of the whole Christian family, but who are in the same situation as we, namely, obliged to judge events by that which is done or, better said, that which is not done, for all those our word is this:

"They must, firstly, pray, secondly, pray, and thirdly, continue to pray. These are the things, Pius went on, "that we feel in our heart, but cannot say," and explained that the church's attitude on the German sterilization program was clearly set forth in a papal decree of 1931 and in the encyclical, "Casti Connubii."

Mankind until now, he asserted, "has talked too much and too uselessly" and other courses, save prayer, derived from efforts at negotiation and even generosity "seem to us to be really unfounded."

"Prayers, prayers, prayers," are needed in world affairs, he went on, "money, money, money is needed to wage war."

Before his speech, Cardinal Pignatelli di Belmonte, dean of the College of Cardinals, felicitated Pius on the completion of another year of work as head of the Roman Catholic church and declared that the holy year has "been a magnificent success."

Pius spoke of "fruitless negotiations" to solve world problems and said his best comment on the outcome was, "nobody knows."

"This year has been a year of redemption most just, of redemption recalled and commemorated after 19 centuries but all renewed redemption, working anew in so many souls and over such a vast scale," his holiness said.

"To those things said and all the others that we have in our hearts and we cannot say, we can perhaps add only the fervent benediction which you await and desire—for that expectation of the news has also reached us—that great expectations of an important pontifical speech is destined to be disappointed."

bers are to spend the Christmas vacation at their homes located at a distance from Monroe. The college is to re-open on Wednesday, January 3.

Sam Wheadon, manager of Hotel Monroe, left last night for Alexandria to spend Christmas with relatives there. Mrs. Wheadon and daughter also accompanied him.

Sam Turner, advertising manager of The Palace store, is spending Christmas in Shreveport.

SPARRING PARTNERS RETURN

James Cagney and Mae Clarke who first achieved fame together in "Public Enemy" are reunited in Warner Brothers' latest production, "Lady Killer," playing at the Capitol theater today only.

Tallulah

Mrs. Hugh Montgomery was hostess to her bridge club, entertaining at her attractive home on Mulberry street, Mrs. E. B. Strubling was the fortunate winner of the high score award. The guests enjoying the games and delightful refreshments at the close were Mrs. G. E. McNitt, Mrs. E. B. Strubling, Miss Elizabeth Cammack, Mrs. Will Adams, Mrs. Will Sevier, Jr., Miss Katherine Ward, Miss Carrie Ruth Williamson.

The Eveready Circle of the Methodist Missionary Society met in the community room of the church with Mrs. Charles Birkle as hostess. Mrs. E. S. Moberley presided and gave an interesting talk on her recent visit to New Orleans, including a description of churches in the city and the St. Mark's community center. The following Christmas program was well rendered: Devotional, Mrs. Davis Whitfield; vocal solo, "Dear Little Stranger," Mrs. E. W. Jones; "The Holy Three Christmas," Mrs. J. R. Medlin; Reading, "Christmas 1932," Mrs. W. S. Hale. A novelty contest directed by Mrs. George C. Purvis was enjoyed. During the social hour which followed delicious refreshments were served.

The Wednesday club was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. A. G. Bray with Mrs. A. T. Palmer, Mrs. W. R. Gilfoil, Mrs. Frank Thomas and Mrs. D. H. Allen as additional guests. Tables were arranged for bridge in the reception rooms, the games resulting in Mrs. Gilfoil winning the high score prize. Mrs. Palmer presided and Mrs. Thomas, booby.

Each received a pretty potted plant. A delicious plate lunch was served at the conclusion of the games. Other guests were Mrs. A. J. Sevier, Mrs. Alex Blumne, Mrs. A. L. Sevier, Mrs. Mason Spencer, Mrs. W. C. Starnett, Mrs. J. A. Gilbert, Mrs. R. E. Gilbert and Mrs. Neal T. Holt.

Little Katherine Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hale entertained a large group of her young friends, celebrating her sixth birthday anniversary.

The Justamere Bridge club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Wray Bowie with Mrs. H. C. Brown winning the high score prize. Mrs. E. S. Moberley presided and Mrs. E. S. Moberley presided and gave an interesting talk on her recent visit to New Orleans, including a description of churches in the city and the St. Mark's community center. The following Christmas program was well rendered: Devotional, Mrs. Davis Whitfield; vocal solo, "Dear Little Stranger," Mrs. E. W. Jones; "The Holy Three Christmas," Mrs. J. R. Medlin; Reading, "Christmas 1932," Mrs. W. S. Hale. A novelty contest directed by Mrs. George C. Purvis was enjoyed. During the social hour which followed delicious refreshments were served.

The Tuesday club met with Mrs. J. K. Post at her home with Mrs. Howard Castele as an additional guest. Mrs. A. H. Hurd was winner of the high score award. A delicious salad was served to Mrs. E. S. Moberley, Mrs. J. A. Gilbert, Mrs. L. Stevens, Mrs. J. R. Medlin, Mrs. R. A. Tate, Mrs. A. H. Hurd, Mrs. F. H. Tucker and Mrs. Castele.

Mrs. J. L. Colman entertained the members of Circle one of the Methodist Missionary at her home with fifteen members and several visitors in attendance. A program from the official organ, "The World Outlook" was given with Mrs. J. A. Moberley, Mrs. A. H. Kelly and Mrs. J. L. Buttk contributing interesting numbers. A delicious plate was served.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hurd were hosts to their bridge club, entertaining with a lovely supper bridge. Winners in the tournament were Mr. A. H. Hurd and Mrs. J. R. Medlin.

KILLS TAGGED DUCK
Hays Trechele, living on motor route A, south, when hunting in Lafourche swamp Friday, killed a duck which had a band on one leg on which was the notation: "Notified Biological Survey, Washington, D. C. B-69122." Mr. Trechele is going to send in the information to the government at Washington.

NEGRO ARRESTED
Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

WORLD OBSERVES BIRTH OF CHRIST

Spirit of Christmas Holds Sway Today Over Civilized Nations

(By Associated Press)

The spirit of Christmas held sway today. In far off Bethlehem, where 1,934 years ago three wise men followed a star to give adoration and gifts to a new spiritual king, pilgrims gathered solemnly to celebrate the birth of the Christ.

In all Christendom, nations paused, ready to give thanks. Gifts and attend worship at the custom of their homeland.

The pope, head of the Catholic church, gave out in Vatican City his Christmas message, a plea for prayer to solve the troubles of the world.

In the United States, the Yuletide took on a brighter tint than in recent pocketbook-pinched years. Apparently the Christmas trees of the nation were to sag under loads of presents. New jobs were stuffed into stockings of the unemployed; pay checks for the penniless cheered homes lately objects of charity; department stores reported sales exceeding recent years.

Still, the unemployed were present—but not forgotten. The big cities—New York, Chicago, San Francisco and others—from coast to coast obtained from private sources and welfare organizations funds to fill food baskets and provide presents for the unfortunate.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the nation's first lady, set an example of Christmas spirit by standing between her two grandchildren—Sister and Buzze—to give gifts to poor children. Following a family tradition, the president will read a Christmas story to the Roosevelt family—"A Christmas Carol"—by Charles Dickens, tonight.

But not all was solemn. Cafes, night clubs, and restaurants last night experienced the first rush of Yuletide fun. Celebrants had a new present in many places over the land of an old custom—the feasting of the season in local beverages prohibition had denied for more than 12 years.

A tragic note was struck in France. There more than 120 happy Christmas travelers were killed in a disastrous train wreck and as many more injured.

Five State Distillers Issued Federal Permits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The federal alcohol control administration announced today that on Dec. 20 permits had been issued to five Louisiana distillers.

Those granted permits were: American Commercial Alcohol Corp., Gretna; Rosville Commercial Alcohol Corp., Harvey; Rosville Commercial Alcohol Corp., Westwego; U. S. Industrial Alcohol Co., New Orleans; and U. S. Industrial Alcohol Co., Westwego.

KILLS TAGGED DUCK
Hays Trechele, living on motor route A, south, when hunting in Lafourche swamp Friday, killed a duck which had a band on one leg on which was the notation: "Notified Biological Survey, Washington, D. C. B-69122." Mr. Trechele is going to send in the information to the government at Washington.

NEGRO ARRESTED
Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

COMMERCE GROUP GIVES CHALLENGE

Questions Right of Congress to Correct Ills With Taxation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the nation's largest business organization, today challenged the right of congress to attempt to correct social defects or economic abuses through taxation.

Fred H. Clausen, Horicon, Wis., manufacturer, chairman of the committee on federal taxation of the chamber, today submitted this belief to the house ways and means committee as the "business viewpoint" on taxation.

Before stating the chamber's opinion on specific points, opposing additional taxes on dividends, maintenance of depreciation deductions and reduction of capital gains and losses rates among other things, Clausen said:

"The object of taxation is to produce revenue. The penalizing of particular methods of doing business, or the accomplishment of social reforms are not within its legitimate sphere, nor should it be influenced by prejudice or a spirit of punishment."

"Any deviation from these fundamental principles is not only an abuse of a sovereign right that carries with it the power to destroy but also operates to defeat the proper purpose of tax legislation, namely, the production of revenues."

"The correction of economic abuses or social defects should not be sought through a revenue measure."

"During and since the war the income tax has been a tremendous revenue producer, bringing in far more money than any other tax."

"This tax is self-assessed. The cooperation of the taxpayer is consequently essential if the tax is to be administered in a satisfactory manner. Even though rates may be high, this cooperation can be maintained provided the taxpayer is convinced that the tax is applied fairly and without discrimination."

"If, however, the taxpayers of the country become convinced that some provisions are essentially unfair, that the tax is applied in a very discriminatory manner or in a spirit of punishment, cooperation will be alienated, administration made increasingly difficult, the revenue meantime reduced, and the tax eventually discredited."

TODAY ONLY

whose story is it?
He showed a grapefruit in a film queen's kisser and Hollywood hailed him as a genius!

Cagney
in
'Lady Killer'

WARNER BROS. Screen Story by the V.I.D.
Mae Clarke
and MARGARET LINDSAY

CHRISTMAS DAY SPECIAL
MONDAY
A Sparkling Comedy of Mixed Loves!

BY CANDLELIGHT with ELISSA LANDI
PAUL LUKAS
Mills Author
A UNIVERSAL PICTURE

CAPITOL
15c UNTIL 5 O'CLOCK 15c

TODAY AND MONDAY
A GLORIOUS LOVE STORY!

Janet GAYNOR
Warner BAXTER
in PADDY
THE NEXT BEST THING Directed by HARRY LACHMAN Screen play by EDWIN BURKE
From the novel by Gustav Fagge

RIALTO
WEST MONROE
CHILDREN . . . 5c
ADULTS . . . 10c

ALICE
in WONDERLAND CHARLOTTE HENRY
as Alice
RICHARD ARLEN
ROSCO ATE GARY COOPER
LEON ERROL
LOUISE FAZENDA
W. C. FIELDS
SKEETS GALLAGHER
CARY GRANT
RAYMOND HATTON
EDWARD HORTON
ROSCOE KARNs
BABY LEROY
MAE MARSH
POLLY MORAN
JACK OAKIE
EDNA MAY OLIVER
MAY ROBSON
CHARLIE RUGGLES
ALISON SKIPWORTH
NED SPARKS
FORD STERLING
Directed by Norman Krasna
A Paramount Picture

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

Five Louisianans Get Reserve Corps P

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The war department announced today that five Louisianans had been pointed to the reserve corps.

They were: James Stuart D. Camp Beauregard, first lieutenant, military intelligence department; Eugene Mailhos, Elizabeth and lieutenant, coast artillery; Reynold McCrory, Shreveport, second lieutenant, infantry; Percy Arnold Sharp, Jr., Mobile, second lieutenant, infantry.

CAR STRIKES WOMAN

May Hood, negro woman, was by an automobile driven by J. Lerman, white man, about 10 Saturday night, in front of store on DeSiard street, according to a report to police headquarters. The woman was taken to St. Francis hospital, where it was said she did not appear to be seriously hurt, but that she probably would be able to return home Sunday.

Wishing You and Yours a Merry Xmas

Last Times Today
Liberty gave it four stars, and it's worth it

BEERY RAFT
COOPER
BOWERY

Added Units
"SPITE FLIGHT"
"WHERE'S THAT TIGER"
25c Till 6 P. M.

MIDNIGHT SHOW TONIGHT
Starting at 11:20
Pre-Release Showing
Monroe Will See It First

It Will Give New Ideas on Love

Noel Coward's
"DESIGN for LIVING" with the 4 star Paramount cast
FREDRIC MARCH
GARY COOPER
MIRIAM HOPKINS
Edw. Ev. HORTON
on ERNST LUBITSCH production

TONIGHT
ONE SHOWING ONLY
Starts at 11:20

Three Big Days
Monday, Tuesday
Wednesday
Special for Christmas

ALICE
in WONDERLAND CHARLOTTE HENRY
as Alice
RICHARD ARLEN
ROSCO ATE
GARY COOPER
LEON ERROL
LOUISE FAZENDA
W. C. FIELDS
SKEETS GALLAGHER
CARY GRANT
RAYMOND HATTON
EDWARD HORTON
ROSCOE KARNs
BABY LEROY
MAE MARSH
POLLY MORAN
JACK OAKIE
EDNA MAY OLIVER
MAY ROBSON
CHARLIE RUGGLES
ALISON SKIPWORTH
NED SPARKS
FORD STERLING
Directed by Norman Krasna
A Paramount Picture

Added Units
CHAS. CHASE
in
"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"
KRAZY KAT
CARTOON
LATE NEWS
EVENTS
KIDDIES, 10c
Paramount
Home of Pictures

OR LIVING'

pre-showing of this play will be held as a midnight attraction at the Capitol on Christmas eve (tonight). The show is to start promptly at 11:20 p. m. Harry W. Rice, manager of the Paramount, expresses much pleasure in that he has been able to give the public the benefit of this pre-view.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS

AT THE PARAMOUNT.—The same hand that cut the hair of Steve Brodie after he jumped the Brooklyn bridge, cut the hair of Hollywood's Steve Brodie—George Raft.

Raoul Walsh, who directed "The Bowery" and who was a fighter in days when the Bowery was the center of New York's night life, was dissatisfied with the style of haircut when Raft, portraying Brodie, showed up. The Raft side-burns had been eliminated, but Walsh felt there was something more to be done and sent for a research expert.

"I used to cut Steve Brodie's hair," volunteered a man among the 200 extras on the set. "I think I could do it again."

So Raft's hair was trimmed to the style of Gay 90's by Fred Grady, now a film extra but, in his early youth, a barber on the old Bowery.

"I was a barber once myself," Raft admitted. "The first job I had as a kid was in my uncle's barber shop not far from the Bowery."

That was after the time of Steve Brodie, who died in 1901. Grady opined that Raft was not unlike the man of his role before he became famous and fat.

"The Bowery" is the United Artists release that is providing laughs and excitement for audiences at the Paramount theater. Sunday is the last day here. Wallace Berry and Jackie Cooper are starred with George Raft.

A midnight show is to be held tonight (Christmas eve) at the Paramount when a pre-showing of Noel Coward's "Design for Living" is to be presented.

Yuletide Greetings...
To wish our customers and many friends
A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year

D. MASUR & SONS
MEN'S AND BOYS' OUTFITTERS

The Palace owners employes wish you all
A Merry Christmas
Peace
Happiness
Contentment
Wood cheer

City Briefs

A seven and one-half pound daughter was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Felix Roberts, who live on DeSiard road. They have named her Mary Beth.

Herbert Fink will leave tonight for the market in Chicago and St. Louis to select his new spring woolsens and furnishing goods.

Attention is again called by Capt. G. B. Cooley, president of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis and Public Health association, to the matter of making payment for Christmas seals. Many were mailed out and those who received these are expected to remit a dollar, at least, to pay for them. This is the only source of income of the association in this parish in its fight against tuberculosis, Captain Cooley said.

Many people have received the seals, used them on their outgoing letters and packages, but have forgotten to pay for them. The captain urges that all give the matter prompt attention.

President C. C. Colvert, of Ouachita junior college, left last night with his family for Little Rock, where they are to spend the holidays with relatives. Many of the other faculty members are to spend the Christmas vacation at their homes located at a distance from Monroe. The college is to re-open on Wednesday, January 3.

Sam Wheaton, manager of Hotel Monroe, left last night for Alexandria to spend Christmas with relatives there. Mrs. Wheaton and daughter also accompanied him.

Sam Turner, advertising manager of The Palace store, is spending Christmas in Shreveport.

STATE WILL HAVE 233 ENUMERATORS

Ouachita Parish to Have 7 Working on CWA Census Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(P)—Louisiana will have 233 and Mississippi will have 166 enumerators in the various parishes and counties of the two states working on the civil works census program of the commerce department.

Included in the allotment of enumerators are the following:

Louisiana: First district, Caddo 11, Bossier 2, Webster 3, Calcasieu 7, Lincoln 2, Jackson 1, Bienville 2, Red River 1, DeSoto 2, Sabine 1, Natchitoches 2.

Second district, Union 2, Morehouse 2, West Carroll 1, East Carroll 1, Madison 1, Richland 2, Ouachita 7, Caldwell 1, Franklin 2, Tensas 1, LaSalle 1, Winn 1, Grant 2, Catahoula 1, Concordia 1, Rapides 6, Avoyelles 4.

Third district, Vernon 2, Beauregard 2, Allen 2, Calcasieu 6, Jefferson Davis 2, Cameron 1.

Fourth district, Evangeline 2, St. Landry 6, Pointe Coupee 1, Acadia 4, Lafayette 5, St. Martin 3, West Baton Rouge 1, Iberville 3, Iberia 3, Vermilion 3, Assumption 1, St. Mary 4, Terrebonne 2.

Fifth district, West Feliciana 1, East Feliciana 1, St. Helena 1, Washington 3, Tangipahoa 5, St. Tammany 3, Livingston 2, East Baton Rouge 7, Ascension 2, St. James 2.

Sixth district, St. John the Baptist 1, St. Charles 2, Lafourche 2, Jefferson 3, Plaquemines 1, St. Bernard 1, Orleans 7.

Supervisors for the districts who will appoint the enumerators are: First district, Leon I. Kahn, Shreveport; second, H. B. Bozeman, Alexandria; third, William Alex Robertson, Lake Charles; fourth, W. A. Montgomery, Lafayette; fifth, Newton A. Sanders, Baton Rouge; sixth, Dr. Florau Dirmann, New Orleans. Charles E. Kinyard also had been recommended for the Lake Charles office but the post went to Robertson.

POPE CONDEMNS STERILIZATION

Pius Pleads With Leaders 'to Pray and Persist in Prayers'

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 23.—(P)—Pope Pius today assailed a German program for the sterilization of the unfit and exhorted those who seek the peace and welfare of the world "to pray and persist in their prayers."

In his account of the joys and sorrows of the past year, he described as "inconsistent" the proposal of the German government to deny parenthood to thousands of persons suffering incurable ailments.

He listed as one of the joys the success so far of the holy year and as one of the sorrows a world situation characterized by "conflicts and contradictions" and bound up "with uncertainties and distrust by the clashing interests of fruitless negotiations."

His holiness, clad in shimmering white, gave his annual Christmas address to the richly-robed college of cardinals and the Roman prelates who gathered in the consistory hall to wish him "multos annos"—many years of life.

"All those," he said, "who wish for the welfare, peace, and concord of the world and the general good of the whole Christian family, but who are in the same situation as we are, namely, obliged to judge events by that which is done or, better said, that which is not done, for all those our word is this:

"They must, firstly, pray, secondly, pray, and thirdly, continue to pray."

There are other things, Pius went on, "that we feel in our heart, but cannot say," and explained that the church's attitude on the German sterilization program was clearly set forth in a papal decree of 1931 and in the encyclical, "Casti Connubii."

Mankind until now, he asserted, "has talked too much and too uselessly" and other courses, save prayer, derived from efforts at negotiation, and even generosity "seem to us to be really unfounded."

"Prayers, prayers, prayers," are needed in world affairs, he went on, "money, money, money is needed to wage war."

Before his speech, Cardinal Pignatelli di Belmonte, dean of the College of Cardinals, felicitated Pius on the completion of another year of work as head of the Roman Catholic church and declared that the holy year has "been a magnificent success."

Pius spoke of "fruitless negotiations" to solve world problems and said his best comment on the outcome was, "nobody knows."

"This year has been a year of redemption most just, of redemption recalled and commemorated after 19 centuries but all renewed redemption, working anew in so many souls and over such a vast scale," his holiness said.

"To those things said and all the others that we have in our hearts and we cannot say, we can perhaps add only the fatherly benediction which you await and desire—for that expectation of which the news has also reached us—that great expectations of an important pontifical speech is destined to be disappointed."

LEADERS SUGGEST FARM LICENSING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(P)—Licensing of farmers who do not cooperate with the government in its production control, in an effort to prevent them from increasing their output, was suggested today by the conference of 19 national farm leaders.

The plan was agreed upon in a resolution, adopted by the group and forwarded to Secretary Wallace. It was intended to prevent defeat of the administration's production adjustment program by farmers who would make huge increases in their production, members of the conference said.

The resolution, proposed by Clarence Poe of Raleigh, N. C., editor of the Progressive Farmer, would prohibit producers who do not sign production control contracts from sharing in advantages of the adjustment programs.

The conference also organized a committee to work for enactment of any amendments decided upon to strengthen the agricultural adjustment act.

Some members of the conference plan to be on hand during the forthcoming congressional session to work in support of legislation for agriculture.

The first meeting of the committee on amendments to the act will be in Washington in week of January.

SPARRING PARTNERS RETURN

James Cagney and Mae Clarke who first achieved fame together in "Public Enemy" are reunited in Warner Brothers' latest production, "Lady Killer," playing at the Capitol theater today only.

WORLD OBSERVES BIRTH OF CHRIST

The spirit of Christmas held sway today in far off Bethlehem, where 1,934 years ago three wise men followed a star to give adoration and gifts to a newborn spiritual king, pilgrims gathered solemnly to celebrate the birth of the Christ.

In all Christendom, nations paused, ready to give thanks. Gifts and attend worship after the custom of their homeland.

The pope, head of the Catholic church, gave out in Vatican City his Christmas message, a plea for prayer to solve the troubles of the world.

In the United States, the Yuletide took on a brighter tint than in recent pocketbook-pinched years. Apparently the Christmas trees of the nation were to sag under loads of presents. New jobs were stuffed into stockings for the unemployed; pay checks for the penniless cheered homes lately objects of charity; department stores reported sales exceeding recent years.

Still, the unemployed were present—but not forgotten. The big cities—New York, Chicago, San Francisco and others—from coast to coast obtained from private sources and welfare organizations funds to fill food baskets and provide presents for the unfortunate.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the nation's first lady, set an example of Christmas spirit by standing between her two grandchildren—Sister and Buzze—to give gifts to poor children. Following a family tradition, the president will read a Christmas story to the Roosevelt family—"A Christmas Carol"—by Charles Dickens, tonight.

But not all was solemn. Cafes, night clubs, theaters, and restaurants last night experienced the first rush of Yuletide fun. Celebrants had a new present in many places over the land of an old custom—the toasting of the season in legal beverages prohibition had denied for more than 13 years. There more than 120 happy Christmas travelers were killed in a disastrous train wreck and as many more injured.

Five State Distillers Issued Federal Permits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(P)—The federal alcohol control administration announced today that on Dec. 20 permits had been issued to five Louisiana distillers.

Those granted permits were: American Commercial Alcohol Corp., Gretna; Rossville Commercial Alcohol Corp., Harvey; Rossville Commercial Alcohol Corp., Westwego; U. S. Industrial Alcohol Co., New Orleans; and U. S. Industrial Alcohol Co., Westwego.

KILLS TAGGED DUCK

Hays Trechelle, living on motor route A, south, when hunting in Lafourche swamp Friday, killed a duck which had a band on one leg on which was the notation: "Notify Biological Survey, Washington, D. C., B-631322." Mr. Trechelle is going to send in the information to the government at Washington.

NEGRO ARRESTED

Following a fight in which Henry Rauls, negro, was severely stabbed with a knife, Ladell Watson, negro, was placed in the city jail Saturday night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Rauls was arrested, but was released on account of the fact that he had been stabbed.

Five Louisianans Get Reserve Corps P

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The war department announced today that five Louisianans had been pointed to the reserve corps. They were: James Stuart D. Camp Beauregard, first lieutenant, military intelligence department; Eugene Mailhos, Elizabeth and lieutenant, coast artillery; gene Reynold McCrory, Shreveport, second lieutenant, infantry; Percy Arnold Sharp, Jr., M. J. port, second lieutenant, infantry.

CAR STRIKES WOMAN

May Hood, negro woman, was by an automobile driven by J. Herman, white man, about 10 Saturday night, in front of store on DeSiard street, according to a report to police headquarters. The woman was taken to St. Francis hospital, where it was said she did not appear to be seriously hurt, but that she probably would be able to return home Sunday.

Wishing You and Yours a Merry Xmas

Last Times Today

Liberty gave it four stars, and it's worth it

BEERY-RAFT

COOPER-BOWERY

Added Units—

"SPITE FLIGHT"

"WHERE'S THAT TIGER?"

25c Till 6 P. M.

MIDNIGHT SHOW TONIGHT

Starting at 11:20

Pre-Release Showing

Monroe Will See It First

It Will Give Women New Ideas on Love

Noel Coward's "DESIGN for LIVING" with the Paramount cast

FREDRIC MARCH

GARY COOPER

MIRIAM HOPKINS

Edw. Ev. HORTON

on ERNST LUBITSCH production

TONIGHT

ONE SHOWING ONLY

Starts at 11:20

Three Big Days

Monday, Tuesday

Wednesday

Special for Christmas

LEWIS CARROLL'S ALICE in WONDERLAND

CHARLOTTE HENRY

RICHARD ARLEN

ROSCO ATE

GARY COOPER

LEON ERROL

LOUISE FAZENDA

W. C. FIELDS

SKEETS GALLAGHER

CARY GRANT

RAYMOND HATTON

EDWARD L. HORTON

ROSCOE KARN

MAE MARSH

POLLY MORAN

JACK OAKIE

EDNA MAY OLIVER

MAY ROBSON

CHARLIE RUGGLES

ALISON SKIPWORTH

NED SPARKS

FORD STERLING

Directed by Norman MacLean
A Paramount Picture

Added Units

CHAS. CHASE

"LUNCHEON AT TWELVE"

KRAZY KAT

CARTOON

LATE NEWS

EVENTS

KIDDIES, 10c

Paramount

Home of the Picture

Janet GAYNOR

Warner BAXTER

PADDY

THE NEXT BEST THING

Directed by HARRY LACHMAN

Screen play by EDWIN RUSSELL

From the novel by Gertrude Page

RIALTO

WEST MONROE

CHILDREN . . . 5c

ADULTS . . . 10c

HOME FURNITURE CO.

501-507 DeSiard St.

We Wish Our Many Friends and Patrons a MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR

BEST WISHES HAPPY CHRISTMAS

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE MORNING

Monroe Morning World

AND NEWS-STAR
FOUNDED OCTOBER 26, 1929, BY ROBERT EWING Published Every Morning Except Monday by NEWS-STAR-WORLD PUBLISHING COMPANY
110-114 North Second Street

IN D. EWING Publisher
ROBERT EWING Associate Publisher
W. MYATT General Manager

	SUBSCRIPTION RATES
	Daily and Sun.	Daily and Sun.	Daily and Sun.
One Year	$20.00	$20.00	$20.00
Six Months	12.00	12.00	12.00
Three Months	7.00	7.00	7.00
One Month	2.50	2.50	2.50

THE BRANHAM CO., National Advertising Representative Offices: New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Dallas, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco and Los Angeles
Entered as second-class matter at the Monroe (La.) postoffice, December 10, 1929, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published herein.

HOW TO CALL THE NEWS-STAR OR MORNING WORLD

By Telephone
Local Departments (daily except Sunday) 4800
After 8 p. m.
Business Office 3233
Editorial Room 3235 or 47.3 All day Sunday 3233

The Monroe Morning World is an independent newspaper. It prints the news impartially. It supports what it believes to be right. It opposes what it believes to be wrong without regard to party politics.

The Christmas Story

The best Christmas story is in the Bible. It tells, in beautiful simplicity, a changeless story. There is the star moving across the heavens and fixing itself finally as a familar above a Bethlehem stable. There are the wise men of the East, first of hundreds of millions to bend before the power and beauty of the Christian ideal. There are the shepherds in the fields, for whom the veil of eternity lifts so that the mortal sees the immortal choirs pouring "good tidings" upon him. There is, in fact, for the Christian, the most beautiful, the most significant and the most necessary story of all history.

In its crowning moment the narrative pronounces this superb, matchless benediction:

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace..."

The sentence epitomizes the Christian faith and sums up Christ-like living. Glory to God is exemplified in an upright life, peace on earth is the expression of a sublime and sensitive humanity. The world struggles bravely toward the goal, and each passing age sees the spreading consciousness of generous conduct. "Man's inhumanity to man" yields to the mellowing grace of civilized society.

Civilized society is most intense in the family group, focused Christmas day around a common remembrance, however far scattered its members may be. It is of the genius of the Christmas season that men far away from the hearthstone can sense the odors of the past, and snatch from the vanished years a wisp of experience, a flavor of recollection, that holds the heart steady and the mind clear to those affections which irrevocably bind us together.

The home at Christmas is the symbol of that peace and open-hearted living for which the world so wistfully seeks. The gifts, the gay cries of happiness, the sweet union of kindness together form the cradle of mankind's better destiny.

It is a wonderful story, whose words ring down the corridors of time reclaiming and inspiring countless generations. No other narrative has unlocked so swiftly the door to the human heart; none other is able to lift our imagination so tenderly into universal communion.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS

College boys and girls are home for the holidays—and demanding more liberties than they did in their high school days—much to the consternation of worried parents.

Fathers pretend to be hard-boiled. When mothers worry about the children, they put on a wise and unconcerned mask and say, "Oh, they'll be all right. Nothing will happen to those kids. And if anything could happen, we can't prevent it by worrying." Fathers like to make people believe they are strong, silent characters who hold the world in their hands and shape it to their wills.

Let others worry, they will not fear life. Not they. It's all a bluff. When mothers worry they put their apprehensions into words. But when fathers worry, they fake and pretend to be unconcerned. But inside of themselves they worry a plenty.

They may not worry about their sons. They have been boys themselves, and they like to boast about what tough little rascals they were, a scandal in the neighborhood, a tornado in the family. But they came through all right, didn't they, and so will their sons. But as for the daughters—well, that's another matter.

Fathers are afraid of their daughters, and afraid for them. They don't know what to say to them or how to resist them. They know that a boy shouldn't be spoiled, but they think a little spoiling can't hurt a girl. They know a daughter is twisting her father about her finger, and they're proud of her ability to do so. They'll not stand for impudence from a son, but they chuckle when a daughter is flip. But they worry.

They look ahead and they worry about impossible danger. They wonder what they'll do, what they'll say, how they'll handle the situation when daughter goes out with the boys. What kind of boys will she like? Will she have sense enough to know good boys from bad ones? And suppose she falls in love with some worthless fellow and insists on spoiling her life by marrying him? What on earth will he be able to do about it if she does?

What if daughter wants to give a dance party on Christmas eve, when it happens to be on Sunday? Mother is struck dumb with horror at the thought, because she knows that the implications of such a defiance of home training are not only disturbing but a deliberate overstepping of bounds that she had thought were solidly fixed be-

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES A. MONTAGUE

THE OUTSIDERS

When snow is softly settling down
And winds blow sharp and shrill,
When almost every child in town
Is sliding down the hill,
Behind a tree or fence post hid,
With teary eyes and red,
You'll almost always find a kid
Who hasn't any sled.

In early spring, when many eyes
Are cast upon the sky,
Where paper phantoms fall and rise,
The stranger passing by,
While echoes ring with childish joy
And murmurs of delight
Is sure to find some luckless boy
Who hasn't any kite.

Perhaps we grown-ups understand
That only here and there,
In any clime or any land,
Can we be free from care,
Perhaps we've learned enough to know
Through years of grief and strife
To bear our burdens as we go
And make the best of life.

But always it seems wrong to me
That sorrow and distress
The portion of a child should be Instead of happiness.
Man's vaunted wisdom shall I doubt Until he finds a way
That never child shall be left out While other children play.

POOR LO!

Now it is legal for every American to buy liquor except the Indians.

HERE'S HOPING

We trust that bank directors did not think they had to play Santa Claus to their presidents this year.

WATCHFUL WAITING

We're looking forward to spring. Maybe it will thaw out some of our assets.

(Copyright 1933, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

A Changing Era

By BRUCE CATTON

This seems to be a day in which nearly all the old certainties are getting wobbly on their bases.

So far this year we have been trying to get inured to the idea that the things we used to be sure of in economics and politics are only partly true. Now, just to symbolize the perplexity of the era, comes the report that the last certainty of science likewise has gone by the board.

The famous Michelson speed-of-light measurements have been finished at Pasadena, Calif., by two scientists who have been working on them ever since Professor Michelson's death in 1931; and these men have made the amazing discovery that the speed of light is not constant, but fluctuates.

Now the interesting thing about this is that modern physics has considered the velocity of light about the only thing in the universe which never changes. Even Einstein's relativity theory assumes that this speed is a factor which is absolute.

But the painstaking experiments at Pasadena have shown variations ranging through a margin of some 12 miles a second—and the lone certainty in modern physics is a certainty no longer.

Most of us, of course, not being physicists and neither understanding nor caring very much about such things, will live out our lives quite unworried by this discovery.

And yet the thing has an aptness, a peculiar and ironic timeliness, that makes it stand as an illustration of the perplexities of our times in all walks of life.

Ever since the stock market crash of 1929 we have been discovering that most of the old rules and standards by which we made our society work are not functioning any more. The framework of modern society has become enormously complex and involved; and most of our troubles arise from the fact that we have no blueprints showing us how the thing can be fitted together and made to work smoothly.

Russia is trying one stunt, Germany another, England another, and America still another. All of us are experimenting, and we are doing so because we have discovered suddenly that there are no hard and fast rules about it. There are no certainties in this modern world—or, if there are, we haven't found them.

Now comes this upsetting of the last scientific constant, to complete the story. It is a fitting symbol of an era that has to figure everything out anew.

So They Say

The United States is a natural surplus-producing country. No government can deny or defy the laws of nature. We can't compel our people to cease producing, nor can we deny the fertility of the soil.—Representative James W. Wadsworth of New York.

I would emphasize the importance of rest and preach the gospel of fatness, which in the earlier periods of life, at any rate, is nearly always accompanied by mental fatness.—Dr. H. R. C. Rutherford of Dublin, Ireland.

We're entering the great non-shop area of the world, and whatever is wasted or lost can't be replaced. Down here waste is a felony.—Admiral Richard E. Byrd, on entering the Antarctic.

I owe my long life to exercise and shower baths.—August Hecksher, New York realtor.

BARBS

A 15-mile railroad in Ohio is believed to be the shortest in the country. Humph. There are other railroads so short they can't pay the interest on their bonds.

Two Russian balloonists report oxygen in the stratosphere almost as plentiful as on earth. That's a reserve supply for our lecturers and politicians.

Some scientists still believe that perpetual motion is possible. The perpetual attempt at it is proof enough.

tween right and wrong. Father tries to seem strong and serene and confident and he conceals even from mother what he is thinking about the future. But he worries—more often, more profoundly, than he will confess to anybody—and don't let him tell you that he doesn't.

Howe About Everything

By E. W. HOWE

At one time Silerius was in effect dictator of old Rome. Silerius nowhere says this in his writing, but the introduction to the memoirs says Silerius was head of the army, and close adviser and friend of the emperor, a weaker man. In that ancient time Silerius was in the position of the modern Mussolini in Italy, or Hitler in Germany, although not an equally great brawler.

Silerius confesses in his memoirs that he was free to completely order the affairs of the people, he could not think of a plan better than the plan they had worked out for themselves. He often thought he said of an ideal world, but the old human nature always intruded, and he could agree on no plan that would probably work better.

Silerius was a vigorous, adventurous man with women, and thought much of better relations between the sexes, but concluded at last that a new and better way, offering less quarreling and suffering, could not be devised. "The charges of the men and women against each other are true," he said, "but I can think of no remedy."

In his time the political parties were distinguished by color; the radicals were called blues, the conservatives, greens, etc. He sided with neither; charges of both were true, he decided, as were the charges of the poor against the rich, the charges of the rich against the poor, but he did not bankrupt his government trying relief plans, as he could think of no remedy promising success.

I have received an unusual letter from a man I do not know, and who lives in a distant state. He says "You once wrote that a book entitled 'The Autobiography of a Failure' might meet public favor. I enclose an attempt at such writing, and, as a preliminary, tell you my qualifications. I spent ten years in an insane asylum, but was never discharged as cured. At present I am in a poor house, and half blind, in addition to being somewhat palsied and rheumatic. I am sixty-four years old, and have never married. My manuscript was typed by another inmate of the poor house where I live."

Probably no editor would consider this writing for publication, as it is carelessly written and arranged, but I believe any of them would read it, as I did. Curiously enough, this author is a conservative, and quotes with approval some of the most noted writers of history who have denounced radicalism. He grumbles at the rich a good deal, but admits the ordinary facts of life with considerable intelligence.

Altogether, I do not believe this man is insane, or ever has been. He displays, indeed, more than average sense in his thinking. I think his trouble is failure to properly manage his mind and his body, which is the fault of millions of other unfortunate. I have not been more interested in a writer in many years. At times he is almost brilliant in his observations; nowhere is he vulgar or foolish; but frequently commonplace as all are outside or inside of one house or insane asylum.

In the unexpurgated edition of the Memoirs is printed a letter Silerius once wrote. Apparently the correspondent had written that he was handicapped in life because of his having been divorced, of his drinking a good deal, and being known as an atheist. In his reply Silerius said: "I have been divorced twice, but long after I am as well thought of by my neighbors as either of the women I divorced; and both are good women. I am an atheist, but neither has that injured me. I have experimented freely with liquor, and solved the problem by quitting both drinking and talking about the subject. I do not believe you state your real problem in writing, and I think you always been to better manage my own mind and body, and thus gain the respect of those with whom I associate in small and great things."

Every morning I feel fine and energetic and determined to do a lot that day on the great book I am engaged in writing, but after looking over the mail, scribbling a few things of no importance, and attending to the usual complications that arise in a life between seven and ten o'clock of a usual morning, I am worn out, and put it off again until tomorrow.

"Give me one more day, month or year," a man usually says to God in his prayers. And I will become great, I feel I have it in me, if given time to get it out. I know the trouble is with the world, but somehow I have not yet convincingly framed and pointed it out. I love the higher life, but somehow the lower has swamped me; give me until tomorrow again, and I again promise to do better."

We are commanded to love all alike, including our enemies, but I often sin, and confess I have favorites. Some people annoy me so much and unnecessarily I cannot love them; a few others treat me well, and I specially like them. . . . And I think I'm right about it; I do not believe the command that I love my enemies as well as my friends had any great authority back of it.

A noted big man lately appeared at an airport with his wife, a son of fourteen and a daughter of seventeen. The big man was rushing from one important duty to another, and chafing at the delay of forty minutes, when a reporter found him. The big man loved publicity, and talked freely. He had enormous ideas, very much better than professional writers put in his talk. "Start fanning," said the impudent boy; "dad's turned on the hot air." The wife and daughter expressed almost equal impudence and disapproval of the big man's talk. . . . I recall that, when a child, we were

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

Robert Louis Stevenson

LEGALLY GAVE HIS OWN BIRTHDAY AS AN XMAS PRESENT!

TO A LITTLE GIRL WHO COMPLAINED THAT SHE RECEIVED NO BIRTHDAY PRESENTS BECAUSE HER BIRTHDAY FELL ON CHRISTMAS. (She is now Mrs. Bourke Cockran)

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

74 YEARS ON THE SAME JOB—Mr. William C. Cramer, who was born in 1849, entered the employ of Constable and Company as an errand boy at the age of 10. Seventy-four years have passed a nice that day. Cramer still continues to work with the same firm. During these 74 years, he was never absent from work for a day. The great likelihood of his could not deter Mr. Cramer from being among the small number who reported for work on that day.

TOMORROW—THE MARATHON KISS

(Copyright 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAM

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 24 (Central and Eastern Standard Time)

Notes: All programs to be broadcast unless otherwise indicated. All times are approximate and subject to change. Programs subject to change. P. M. Cent. East.

NBC-WEAF NETWORK

4:00—4:15—East Coast newscast with news and weather reports.
4:15—4:30—Smiling Ed McConnell.
4:30—4:45—The English Singers.
4:45—5:00—The English Singers.
5:00—5:15—The English Singers.
5:15—5:30—The English Singers.
5:30—5:45—The English Singers.
5:45—6:00—The English Singers.
6:00—6:15—The English Singers.
6:15—6:30—The English Singers.
6:30—6:45—The English Singers.
6:45—7:00—The English Singers.
7:00—7:15—The English Singers.
7:15—7:30—The English Singers.
7:30—7:45—The English Singers.
7:45—8:00—The English Singers.
8:00—8:15—The English Singers.
8:15—8:30—The English Singers.
8:30—8:45—The English Singers.
8:45—9:00—The English Singers.
9:00—9:15—The English Singers.
9:15—9:30—The English Singers.
9:30—9:45—The English Singers.
9:45—10:00—The English Singers.
10:00—10:15—The English Singers.
10:15—10:30—The English Singers.
10:30—10:45—The English Singers.
10:45—11:00—The English Singers.
11:00—11:15—The English Singers.
11:15—11:30—The English Singers.
11:30—11:45—The English Singers.
11:45—12:00—The English Singers.

NBC-WJZ NETWORK

4:00—4:15—East Coast newscast with news and weather reports.
4:15—4:30—Smiling Ed McConnell.
4:30—4:45—The English Singers.
4:45—5:00—The English Singers.
5:00—5:15—The English Singers.
5:15—5:30—The English Singers.
5:30—5:45—The English Singers.
5:45—6:00—The English Singers.
6:00—6:15—The English Singers.
6:15—6:30—The English Singers.
6:30—6:45—The English Singers.
6:45—7:00—The English Singers.
7:00—7:15—The English Singers.
7:15—7:30—The English Singers.
7:30—7:45—The English Singers.
7:45—8:00—The English Singers.
8:00—8:15—The English Singers.
8:15—8:30—The English Singers.
8:30—8:45—The English Singers.
8:45—9:00—The English Singers.
9:00—9:15—The English Singers.
9:15—9:30—The English Singers.
9:30—9:45—The English Singers.
9:45—10:00—The English Singers.
10:00—10:15—The English Singers.
10:15—10:30—The English Singers.
10:30—10:45—The English Singers.
10:45—11:00—The English Singers.
11:00—11:15—The English Singers.
11:15—11:30—The English Singers.
11:30—11:45—The English Singers.
11:45—12:00—The English Singers.

CBS-WABC NETWORK

4:00—4:15—East Coast newscast with news and weather reports.
4:15—4:30—Smiling Ed McConnell.
4:30—4:45—The English Singers.
4:45—5:00—The English Singers.
5:00—5:15—The English Singers.
5:15—5:30—The English Singers.
5:30—5:45—The English Singers.
5:45—6:00—The English Singers.
6:00—6:15—The English Singers.
6:15—6:30—The English Singers.
6:30—6:45—The English Singers.
6:45—7:00—The English Singers.
7:00—7:15—The English Singers.
7:15—7:30—The English Singers.
7:30—7:45—The English Singers.
7:45—8:00—The English Singers.
8:00—8:15—The English Singers.
8:15—8:30—The English Singers.
8:30—8:45—The English Singers.
8:45—9:00—The English Singers.
9:00—9:15—The English Singers.
9:15—9:30—The English Singers.
9:30—9:45—The English Singers.
9:45—10:00—The English Singers.
10:00—10:15—The English Singers.
10:15—10:30—The English Singers.
10:30—10:45—The English Singers.
10:45—11:00—The English Singers.
11:00—11:15—The English Singers.
11:15—11:30—The English Singers.
11:30—11:45—The English Singers.
11:45—12:00—The English Singers.

CBS-WEAF NETWORK

4:00—4:15—East Coast newscast with news and weather reports.
4:15—4:30—Smiling Ed McConnell.
4:30—4:45—The English Singers.
4:45—5:00—The English Singers.
5:00—5:15—The English Singers.
5:15—5:30—The English Singers.
5:30—5:45—The English Singers.
5:45—6:00—The English Singers.
6:00—6:15—The English Singers.
6:15—6:30—The English Singers.
6:30—6:45—The English Singers.
6:45—7:00—The English Singers.
7:00—7:15—The English Singers.
7:15—7:30—The English Singers.
7:30—7:45—The English Singers.
7:45—8:00—The English Singers.
8:00—8:15—The English Singers.
8:15—8:30—The English Singers.
8:30—8:45—The English Singers.
8:45—9:00—The English Singers.
9:00—9:15—The English Singers.
9:15—9:30—The English Singers.
9:30—9:45—The English Singers.
9:45—10:00—The English Singers.
10:00—10:15—The English Singers.
10:15—10:30—The English Singers.
10:30—10:45—The English Singers.
10:45—11:00—The English Singers.
11:00—11:15—The English Singers.
11:15—11:30—The English Singers.
11:30—11:45—The English Singers.
11:45—12:00—The English Singers.

Lights of New York

By Paul Harrison

NEW YORK—For many uneasy

weeks the night-club proprietors had just one question on their lips.

After coming over to one's table to observe the little amenities, to agree that there was a pretty nice crowd there that night, and to suggest a singer, each one would bend down to ask confidentially: "Say, do you think they're going to like these little, intimate spots after repeal? Or will they go for the big crowds in the big restaurants and dining rooms?"

Well, their anxiety is ended now. The customers like the big spots and the little spots and the in-between establishments. The hey-day makers, as well as their money, are in circulation, and the current idea seems to be to see how many places one can go to before the curfew hour of 3 a. m.

Hundreds dined at small and intimate ex-speakeasies the other evening before going over to cavort at the County Fair ball at the Waldorf-Astoria. And from there they spread out again for a few nightcaps at the clubs.

The return of such transitory night life is due largely to the general abolition of the cover charge. Virtually all the sizzling saloons used to have a cover charge, or at least a minimum charge, to circumvent the folk who'd bring their own liquor and order nothing more than ice and glasses. . . .

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

By J. P. Alley

DAT DOCTUH 'LOW TAIN'
NO SENSE O' FOLKS
RUNNIN' FUM ONE DOCTUH TO 'NOTHER;—NOSSAH, DA'S RIGHT
DEY JES' WELL WALK.

(Copyright, 1933, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

KENNEL DER CASE

S. V. A. N. D. I. N. E.

Cornwall show, and after that Texado. And a week later was the Camden show, which was followed by Westbury, and also the Englewood show.

"It sounds like shooting into the dark."

"You're right, to a certain extent," Vance agreed. "But there's a simple way of determining the dog's ownership—and I shall try that first."

Vance stood looking down at the bandaged Scottie as she ate her milk and toast.

"The more I see of her, Markham, the more I'm convinced that there are only about five men in this part of the country who could have done such a perfect job of trimming. It takes a profound knowledge of the Scottish terrier and long years of experience to produce a contour and a balance of coat like this one. William Prentice could have done it, and George Wimberly, and Jimmy McNab, and Elery Burke, and Steve Parton."

Vance walked round the dog several times, studying her.

"Wimberly is in Boston, so we may eliminate him on the grounds of distance. McNab is working in a private capacity for a kennel on Long Island, and I hardly think he would qualify. Both Burke and Parton are fairly distant from New York, although they are certainly possibilities."

He knelt down and ran his hand over the contour of the dog's neck and lifted the hair along the spine. Then he stood up.

"William Prentice, that's the chap. That outline of the neck and the back has been achieved by a master hand, and there's no greater master at that in this country than Prentice. Furthermore, he's only a short distance from New York. . . . I think I'll try him first."

As soon as Markham had left us that morning, we drove to Mr. Prentice's Barle Kennels at Haworth, New Jersey. Mr. Prentice, a middle-aged Scotsman with a dour demeanor but a twinkle in his blue eyes, stepped out of the main kennel as we alighted from the car. He took one look at the dog in Vance's arms.

"How'd ye do, Mr. Vance," was his greeting. "Vance had known him for years; Prentice had handled many of his dogs in the ring. 'A good one, son Scottie.'"

"You know her then?" asked Vance eagerly.

"Ay."

"And you trimmed her?"

"Ay."

"And about how long ago might that be?"

"I couldn't say exactly, but it was after the first of September."

"Whose Scottie is it?"

"That I couldn't say. A lady and a gentleman drove up one afternoon and asked me if I could trim the dog at once. I said 'ay,' and I trimmed it."

Vance seemed disappointed.

"Was anything else said?" he asked.

"The gentleman said he wanted her put in show condition."

"Ah! And have you seen her at any of the shows since then?"

Prentice shook his head thoughtfully. "I've been showing mostly Cairns this fall."

"What sort of man brought the dog to you? Could you describe him?"

"Ay. He was a large man, around fifty, and he had little enough to say."

"And the woman?"

"She was young and not difficult to look at."

"A blonde?"

"Ay."

"His daughter perhaps?"

A shrewd twinkle came into the Scotsman's eyes.

"I have me doubts," was all he vouchsafed.

Vance remained at the Barle kennels for perhaps half an hour, discussing dogs. On the way home he seemed in better spirits.

"In any event," he said, "we can now go ahead with a certain assurance of success. If only Prentice had taken the owner's name and address, how simple everything would have been."

Returning to his apartment, he telephoned to the American Kennel club and obtained the names of the Scottish terrier judges in the six shows he had selected as the most likely ones where the Scottie might have been exhibited.

Vance glanced down the list of names he had made.

He turned to the telephone and kept it busy for the best part of half an hour. Then he rose and took the dog in his arms.

"Come, Van, our itinerary begins." (To Be Continued)

SUITCASE IS STOLEN

Theft of her suitcase, containing clothing, was reported to police headquarters late Saturday by Mrs. Allie Holloway, living on route one out of Calhoun. The suitcase was said to have been taken from an automobile while it was parked on DeSiard street, near Five Points. It was described as being black and having large brass coverings on the corners.

The thick, silky skins of the sea-otter often sell for as much as $2,500 each.

SOUTH'S FARMERS MORE PROSPEROUS

Labor Rewarded Almost Twofold Compared
With Last Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. — (AP) — The man who stirred the soil in the cotton country this year was described by the department of agriculture as having been rewarded almost twofold for his labor as compared with 1932.

The department said 1933 figures showed the farm value of the 64 principal crops of the 10 leading cotton states totaled $1,352,415,000, while last year the same crops brought $846,412,000.

The 1933 farm value of these crops was exclusive of approximately $125,000,000 paid by the government to southern cotton and tobacco growers in benefits and profits on cotton options, which the department said, brought the farmers' total income this year to $1,537,415,000.

This is how the 1933 farm value of the 64 crops compared with 1932 in the 10 states, as shown by the department's figures:

State	1932	1933
N. Carolina	$104,167,000	$192,595,000
S. Carolina	51,822,000	86,347,000
Georgia	67,029,000	182,863,000
Tennessee	63,413,000	101,091,000
Alabama	62,083,000	100,025,000
Mississippi	66,637,000	101,456,000
Arkansas	63,511,000	97,933,000
Louisiana	54,356,000	67,982,000
Oklahoma	78,890,000	122,755,000
Texas	251,164,000	353,378,000

Benefits and option profits were not included in the 1932 column. On cotton they amounted to $4,924,735 in North Carolina, $7,371,443 in South Carolina, $12,272,988 for Georgia, $4,665,404 for Tennessee, $13,621,892 for Alabama, $15,235,791 for Mississippi, $14,555,616 for Arkansas, $7,220,938 for Louisiana, $15,308,561 for Oklahoma, and $57,748,402 in Texas. The agricultural department has not yet given out figures on tobacco benefits by states.

Cully Cobb, government cotton chief and prominent southern farm editor, has estimated the farmer income from lint cotton this year, including the benefits and option profits, at $187,000,000 as contrasted with $397,000,000 he said producers received for lint last year.

His comparison by states of the 1933 farmer income from lint cotton, including benefits for acreage plowings and option profits, as against the 1932 income follows:

State	1932	1933
N. Carolina	$20,130,000	$38,389,735
S. Carolina	21,835,000	44,358,443
Georgia	24,766,000	64,442,598
Tennessee	12,960,000	26,265,404
Alabama	26,990,000	50,681,892
Mississippi	33,590,000	73,053,791
Arkansas	37,156,000	65,673,616
Louisiana	18,320,000	29,576,938
Oklahoma	25,726,000	11,848,561
Texas	126,000,000	263,598,402

The 1933 farm value was based on the December 1 farm price.

Admiral Byrd Makes Flight Over Iceland

ABOARD BYRD FLAGSHIP, ANTARCTICA, Dec. 23.—By MacKay Radio: A flight over the uncharted vastness of the Ross sea has convinced Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd that he will be able to push his ship much farther toward Little America than he first expected.

When his flagship, ploughing along the 15th meridian, encountered what seemed to be an impenetrable ice pack, Admiral Byrd ordered the ship back to open water, lowered his huge seaplane over the side and took off yesterday in a surprise flight over the unknown spaces lying ahead.

He returned four hours later with the report that the ice was no heavier ice pack ahead, contrary to the usual belief. There was supposed to be an impenetrable pack extending far across the Ross sea, backed by a mass of land, somewhat of an archipelago. After what he observed on his flight, however, Admiral Byrd was not so sure of this.

Christmas Dinner at Samaritan Home Planned

Christmas dinner will be served to about 35 persons at the Home of the Good Samaritan, Rev. J. R. Downs, superintendent, said Saturday night. This group will include 27 inmates of the home and a number of invited guests.

Food and other gifts for the home have been coming in during the last few days, although somewhat slowly, the superintendent said, but he expressed thanks for the donations that have been received.

Rev. Downs called to mind the fact that if his wife were living they would celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Christmas day this year. She died seven years ago, when they had been married 43 years. He also recalled that he bought his wedding suit 50 years ago from Sig Haas, who was then employed by Myers Brothers' store.

Bastrop Man Is Injured When Struck by Truck

When struck by a truck at the intersection of DeSiard and Eighteenth streets Saturday afternoon, Bill Gannill of Bastrop received bruises on the right leg and left arm, wrist and hand and probably internal injuries. He was taken to St. Francis sanitarium for treatment.

Gannill said the accident occurred as he was walking out DeSiard road on his way to Bastrop, and while the truck was being driven toward Monroe. The truck suddenly made a turn at the street intersection, striking him as he was crossing the street, Gannill said. According to the injured man, he was struck by a Ouachita parish highway truck, driven by a negro. No report had been made at police headquarters.

Long hair for co-eds is reported gaining in favor at the University of Texas, but a count showed about 80 per cent still clung to bobbed tresses.

Business and Industrial Review of Twin Cities

STORY TELLS OF PULP 'WASHING'

Interesting Process at Brown Paper Mill Described in Article

Another interesting article of the series concerning mill operation is contained in this week's issue of Little Brown Jug, published weekly at the Brown Paper mill. The article has to do with the operation of the washer room, and is as follows:

"In order to obtain a pulp free of the undesirable cooking chemical, and to economically recover the chemical so that it may be reused, it is necessary to actually filter the pulp chemical solution after it leaves the digester.

"A filter consists of a drum around which has been placed a fine mesh screen. This screen, by the way, must be kept in perfect condition, otherwise, part of the pulp will go with the chemical and be completely lost. The filters rotate, thereby making the process continuous.

"A huge vacuum pump is connected to the inner side of the filter and a vacuum as high as possible is maintained at all times on the inner face of the wire.

"With a vacuum on the inner face of the wire the pulp and chemical solution is pulled to the face of the wire. The chemical passes through the wire, leaving the pulp behind to be removed mechanically as the rotating drum passes a certain point.

"Due to not being able to completely remove all the chemical from the pulp by vacuum alone, it is necessary to add hot water into the filter as it rotates. The water displaces the chemical, thereby leaving the pulp practically clean as it leaves the filter.

"The pulp as it leaves the primary filter, is mixed with water and passed over a secondary filter and is completely washed by the addition of more water. The pulp is now ready for the refining process prior to being made into paper.

"The chemical as it leaves the filters is ready to start on its recovery process. This recovery process is very complicated and requires many skilled operators. A large part of the mill is devoted to the chemical recovery alone."

WESTINGHOUSE IS EXPERTS' CHOICE

Master Series Refrigerators Have Many Modern Refinements

Men who know electricity are best qualified to build electrical conveniences for the home. That is why every house needs Westinghouse, why leading home economists and kitchen-wise housewives everywhere choose the famous Westinghouse dual-automatic refrigerator.

This time-tested, trouble-free refrigerator, backed by 12 years of research and the reputation of one of the greatest names in electricity, offers you the safest, most economical means of food preservation you can obtain at any price.

In the new Westinghouse Master Series refrigerators you will find practically every modern refinement. Extra-thick, super-efficient insulation with the hermetically-sealed mechanism provides abundant cold at remarkably low operating cost. New economical operating position maintains safe refrigeration at a 25 per cent saving in current. Exclusive dual-automatic control offers double reliability. Tubelless, all-porcelain frosters make more ice faster. All-porcelain interiors are acid resisting and scientifically arranged for more useful food storage space. Interior electric floodlighting, the ingenious new handy-latch door opener together with scores of other important features are provided on even the smaller models.

What's more, you can obtain Westinghouse refrigeration at prices exactly suited to your needs and budget. A complete line of 12 beautiful models is provided, and even the smallest, lowest priced model gives you genuine first line, first quality Master Series refrigeration. Let the Monroe Hardware Company demonstrate the model suited to your home.

Chrysler Executive Sees Radical Changes in Cars

A motor car that is built closer to the road than any standard car yet produced, that runs without wind roar and is completely dustless even on gravel roads. An automobile as comfortable as the living room in your own home. These are some of the attributes that can be looked for in the car of 1934, forecasts J. E. Fields, president of Chrysler Sales corporation.

Fields also offered comments on other new developments that could be expected during the forthcoming year. "I believe that there will be startling changes in the principle of weight distribution and in spring action. These new developments will give motor car passengers a ride free from tremors, jolts and nerve fatigue. Radical changes in the appearance of the car of tomorrow are inevitable. Appearance will be adapted to the essential utilities of the motor car. The car of 1934 will be beautiful because it serves a purpose."

Celebrating the twenty-third anniversary of its offer to give away its own edition every day the sun failed to shine, the St. Petersburg, Fla., Independent says there have been 112 free editions.

PILCHER OPERATES MODERN NEW SHOP

Pilcher's Barber shop located across from the Paramount theater, solicits your patronage on a basis of expert barber service, plus a new, modern and sanitary shop.

There are four chairs in this new shop, and all the equipment is of the latest design. Pilcher's shop is always kept in a spic and span condition and barbers employed are thoroughly experienced.

The new shop glistens in its cleanliness and residents of the Twin Cities have found it both pleasant and profitable to visit Pilcher's shop. Hair cuts are 25 cents and other work is done at correspondingly reasonable prices.

Mr. Pilcher is well known to the trade in Monroe. He enjoys an enviable reputation for high class work and hundreds of his customers have found his new shop exactly to their liking. Other barbers at Pilcher's also are experienced and render the same high class service.

Monroe residents are invited to visit the new Pilcher Barber shop, across the street from the Paramount theater. Your satisfaction is their highest aim.

AUTO DEALERS TO SEE NEW DESOTO

Louisiana Men Go to Detroit for Showing of Airflow Model

In private Pullmans which will later connect with three special trains, a large contingent of Louisiana motor car dealers will go to Detroit soon to attend what is expected to be one of America's largest automobile dealer meetings.

Word to this effect was received here today in a wire from L. G. Peed, general sales manager of the DeSoto Motor corporation. The company is sponsoring the giant convention, which will be held in Detroit on December 23, when the revolutionary new Airflow DeSoto car will be shown to dealers for the first time.

Arrangements have been made for three special "all DeSoto" trains, which will arrive at the Michigan central station in Detroit within a few minutes of each other on the day of the convention, from the east, the south and the west, it was revealed.

Local dealers of the organization today received further details of the coming Airflow DeSoto car, in a personal communication from Byron Fox, president of the DeSoto Motor corporation.

Mr. Fox said in part:

"Our engineers have been working at full speed to develop for DeSoto dealers a type of car that would not only meet with their approbation, but a car that would be so modern in style, so outstanding in performance that it would immediately establish new standards in the low price field."

"Our engineers have long known that there are only two ways by which present standards of performance in automobiles can be improved. One is by increasing the size of the engine, giving it greater piston displacement with resultant reduction in gasoline economy."

"In view of the high gas taxes prevailing in many states and the remote possibility of their early reduction, we are all agreed that the public is not ready to accept in quantities, cars that do not offer economical operation costs."

"The other direction through which may be achieved greater acceleration, faster top speed and better all round performance, is through the reduction of parasitic resistance to the air, resistance which have offered air resistance and have, therefore, absorbed a large portion of the developed horsepower in overcoming the resistance of the air."

"Our engineers have been convinced for some time, that the greatest advance that could be made in increasing the performance factor of cars, must come through the reduction of air resistance by applying aerodynamic design to the car and body. As far back as five years ago Chrysler Motors engineers started their research and tests in this direction. The 1934 DeSoto will embody the fruits of five years of development along aerodynamic lines."

1934 Oldsmobile Features New 'Knee-Action' Springs

MILFORD, Mich., Dec. 23.—(Special)—Anyone who has ever driven or ridden over a cobblestone street in an automobile, for even a block or two, will have a feeling of sympathy for the test driver who ever since the Belgian block test roads were installed here at the General Motors proving grounds, have been pounding over them in the conducting of durability tests. For the famous Belgian block road is about five times as severe as the roughest road the average motorist will ever encounter.

Up to this year, this sympathy would not have been wasted for those men who drove the stiff front axle cars over the cobbles, found the strain so great that after an hour and a half of driving they had to be replaced by relief drivers. But this year it is different, for the test drivers who handled the new "knee-action" Oldsmobile on the Belgian block roads drove their regular eight-hour shift without any sign of fatigue.

In the first year that Oldsmobiles were tested on the Belgian block road, the cars would on the average stand about 1,000 miles of this gruelling punishment before it was necessary to "pull them" for adjustments. However, the new "knee-action" 1934 Oldsmobiles, soon to be announced, have shown so little sign of wear after 7,500 miles steady driving under the same punishing conditions that Oldsmobile engineers decided there was no practical advantage to be gained by prolonging this arduous test.

BARGAIN OFFER AT ALBRIGHT - BURDEN

Modern Garage Places Car in Shape for Winter at Low Cost

The Albright-Burden garage is making an exceptionally attractive price for making your car, no matter what make, ready for winter weather.

Quick starting is sometimes difficult in cold weather. But after Albright-Burden completes the job, your car will start immediately upon pressing the starter button. They will clean and space spark plugs, clean and adjust ignition points, clean and tighten battery connections, adjust carburetor and retune ignition so that the motor is functioning perfectly. In addition to this, they will inspect and tighten water pump, and inspect and tighten all water hose, thus making the radiator and connections ready for anti-freeze. Albright-Burden will do all this for only $2, plus whatever charge is necessary for parts.

Rarely is there a chance to have your car placed in good running condition for this low price. Many Monroe motorists already have taken advantage of this bargain offer and no doubt, hundreds more will avail themselves of the opportunity to place their cars in tip-top shape for winter weather.

Albright-Burden employ on skilled mechanics. Every employee thoroughly trained to do his job right and their patrons are taking chance of a slip-shod piece of work. This modern garage is equipped with the latest tools and equipment to render extraordinary service to the motoring public. Experienced mechanics, equipped with good tools, your guarantee of satisfaction.

Motorists are invited to call at Albright-Burden for a further explanation of this $2 job. It's the biggest repair bargain in town.

If you are in need of wrecker service, just call 3027 and Albright-Burden will be with you in a jiffy.

PILCHER BARBER SHOP
Across from Paramount
4 Chairs—New and Modern HAIRCUTS A SPECIALTY 25c

DOWNES BROKERAGE
INCORPORATED
GENERAL INSURANCE
209 Ouachita Nat'l Bank Bldg.
PHONE 605
R. DOWNES, JR., President
T. C. DOWNES, Secretary-Treas.

The Popularity of this cigar due to high Quality

EL CUBO
Phil D. Mayer & Son, Ltd. Mfrs. New Orleans, La.

Accident and Health Protection a Specialty

McREYNOLDS AND COMPANY
GENERAL INSURANCE
Let Us AETNA-IZE YOU
Bank Building 816 Ouachita Phone 377

Bond Service a Specialty

SEYMOUR
INSURANCE AGENCY, Incorporated
E. J. SEYMOUR P. M. ATKINS
We Insure Against Any Risk
Suite 411-12 Bernhardt Building Phone 2973

The Monroe Hardware Company
WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS

Westinghouse ELECTRIC PRODUCTS

COMPLETE AUTOMOBILE SERVICE

LEE-ROGERS CHEVROLET CO.
Incorporated
221-223 Walnut St.

INTERURBAN Transportation Co.
Monroe Alexandria and all intermediate points
3 BUSES EACH WAY, EVERY DAY
Union Bus Station 206 S. Grand St. Phone 772

WE WILL
Clean and space spark plugs, clean and adjust ignition points, clean and tighten battery connections, inspect and tighten water pump, inspect and tighten all water hose, adjust carburetor, retune ignition.

For $2.00; Parts Extra
ALBRIGHT-BURDEN GARAGE
15 Years in the Business Telephone 3027

Everything For Your Car At COSGROVE-ITTER
We Work 'Em
Plate Glass Windshields
At A Big Discount
Cosgrove-itter Auto Parts Co.
1515 DeSiard St. Phone 2330

The BROWN PAPER MILL Co.
Manufacturers of KRAFT WRAPPING
BAG PAPER SULPHATE BOARD

Lloyd Walters Radio Service
Monroe's Radio Headquarters
402 Wood St. Phone 463

MAX H. KULCKE
PIANO TECHNICIAN
Piano Rebuilding and Refinishing
Phones 700 and 2122—128 S. Grand

BUS FARES REDUCED
NEW LOW FARES NOW IN EFFECT
1 1/2c TO 2c PER MILE
Convenient Schedules Everywhere Via
TRI-STATE COACHES
DEPOT 200 SOUTH GRAND STREET PHONE 772

Wishing All . . .

A MERRY XMAS

and a Happy, Prosperous

NEW YEAR

May and Mrs. Arnold Bernstein

FOUND THE CORNER by Gene Carr

"Err-r Jane, My Deah, will you kindly hang his from the mantel?"

Supply Co. wishes to extend to each and every one the season's greetings. May your be the best and merriest ever!

AKS SUPPLY COMPANY
PHONE 22

ament and Personnel Join in Wishing all of you a Very

MERRY CHRISTMAS

and a Happy, Prosperous

NEW YEAR

C. Penney Co. Inc.

KENNEL DER CASE

S. VAN DINE

31 9 a. m.)
it morning.
an hour, Van,
ut, but gave no

ter Markham ar-waited but ten came in. He was tish terrier in his a dressing on her ce by adhesive tape, seemed alert and dog down and rang for the man came he ord-east and a dish of warm

breakfast for the lass," he
"I've a feelin' she's going to of travellin' today."

will think you can trace the we want through that dog?"
about our only hope," Vance im seriously.

at how do you intend to go at it?"

ance studied the terrier for a few ments as he crumbled the Melba into the dish of milk.

"As I told you, Markham, this little dog is in perfect show condition. She's been trimmed and conditioned by an expert. She's a show dog, and her stripping is that of a professional handler. My guess is from her condition, that she's been shown within the last month. And it's simple enough to find what shows have been held within a reasonable radius of New York during that period."

He went into the library and returned with his file of Popular Dogs.
Sitting down in his easy chair he placed the file across his knees and began running his finger down the calendar of official dog shows.

"Now, let's see," he murmured.
"During the past month there has been held around New York the show at Syracuse—make a note of these will you, Van? Then came the Wishing All . . .

A MERRY XMAS
and a Happy, Prosperous
NEW YEAR

Mayor and Mrs.
Arnold Bernstein

OUND THE CORNER by Gene Carr

"Er-r Jane,
My Deah, will you kindly hang his from the hantel?"

Supply Co. wishes to extend to each and every one the season's greetings. May your be the best and merriest ever!

AKS SUPPLY COMPANY
PHONE 22

ment and Personnel Join in Wishing all of you a Very MERRY CHRISTMAS
and a Happy, Prosperous
NEW YEAR

C. Penney Co. Inc.

SOUTH'S FARMERS MORE PROSPEROUS

Labor Rewarded Almost Twofold Compared
With Last Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. — (AP) —
The man who stirred the soil in the cotton country this year was described by the department of agriculture as having been rewarded almost twofold for his labor as compared with 1932.

The department said 1933 figures showed the farm value of the 64 principal crops of the 10 leading cotton states totaled $1,352,415,000, while last year the same crops brought $846,412,- 000.

The 1933 farm value of these crops was exclusive of approximately $185,- 000,000 paid by the government to southern cotton and tobacco growers in benefits and profits on cotton options, which the department said, brought the farmers' total income this year to $1,537,415,000.

This is how the 1933 farm value of the 64 crops compared with 1932 in the 10 states, as shown by the department's figures:

State	1932	1933
N. Carolina	$104,167,000	$192,595,000
S. Carolina	51,622,000	86,347,000
Georgia	67,029,000	132,863,000
Tennessee	63,413,000	101,091,000
Alabama	62,083,000	100,025,000
Mississippi	66,637,000	101,456,000
Arkansas	63,651,000	97,933,000
Louisiana	54,556,000	67,982,000
Oklahoma	78,890,000	122,755,000
Texas	233,164,000	353,378,000

Benefits and option profits were not included in the 1933 column. On cotton they amounted to $4,924,735 in North Carolina, $7,371,443 in South Carolina, $12,272,598 for Georgia, $4,665,404 for Tennessee, $13,621,892 for Alabama, $15,235,791 for Mississippi, $14,553,616 for Arkansas, $7,220,938 for Louisiana, $15,308,561 for Oklahoma, and $57,748,402 in Texas. The agricultural department has not yet given out figures on tobacco benefits by states.

Cully Cobb, government cotton chief and prominent southern farm editor, has estimated the farmer income from lint cotton this year, including the benefits and option profits, at $787,- 000,000 as contrasted with $397,000,000 he said producers received for lint last year.

His comparison by states of the 1933 farmer income from lint cotton, including benefits for acreage plowups and option profits, as against the 1932 income follows:

State	1932	1933
N. Carolina	$20,130,000	$38,589,735
S. Carolina	21,838,000	44,358,443
Georgia	24,766,000	64,442,598
Tennessee	12,960,000	26,285,404
Alabama	26,990,000	59,681,892
Mississippi	35,990,000	73,055,791
Arkansas	37,156,000	65,673,616
Louisiana	18,330,000	29,576,938
Oklahoma	28,726,000	71,848,561
Texas	126,000,000	263,598,402

The 1933 farm value was based on the December 1 farm price.

Admiral Byrd Makes Flight Over Iceland

ABOARD BYRD FLAGSHIP, AN-TARCTICA, Dec. 23.—(AP)—(By Mac-Kay Radio)—A flight over the uncharted vastness of the Ross sea has convinced Rear Admiral Richard E.
Byrd that he will be able to push his ship much farther toward Little America than he first expected.

When his flagship, ploughing along the 150th Meridian, encountered what seemed to be an impenetrable ice pack, Admiral Byrd ordered the ship back to open water, lowered his huge seaplane over the side and took off yesterday in a surprise flight over the unknown spaces lying ahead.

He returned four hours later with the report that there was no heavy ice pack ahead, contrary to the usual belief. There was supposed to be an impenetrable pack extending far across the Ross sea, backed by a mass of land, somewhat of an archipelago.
After what he observed on his flight, however, Admiral Byrd was not so sure of this.

Christmas Dinner at Samaritan Home Planned

Christmas dinner will be served to about 35 persons at the Home of the Good Samaritan, Rev. J. R. Downs, superintendent, said Saturday night.
This group will include 27 inmates of the home and a number of invited guests.

Food and other gifts for the home have been coming in during the last few days, although somewhat slowly.
The superintendent said, but he expressed thanks for the donations that have been received.

Rev. Downs called to mind the fact that if his wife were living they would celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Christmas day this year. She died seven years ago, when they had been married 43 years. He also recalled that he bought his wedding suit 50 years ago from Sig Haas, who was then employed by Myers Brothers' store.

Bastrop Man Is Injured When Struck by Truck

When struck by a truck at the intersection of DeSiard and Eighteenth streets Saturday afternoon, Bill Gan-nill of Bastrop received bruises on the right leg and left arm, wrist and hand and probably internal injuries.
He was taken to St. Francis sanitarium for treatment.

Gannill said the accident occurred as he was walking on DeSiard road on his way to Bastrop, and while the truck was being driven toward Monroe. The truck suddenly made a turn at the street intersection, striking him as he was crossing the street, Gannill said. According to the injured man, he was struck by a Ouachita parish highway truck, driven by a negro. No report had been made at police headquarters.

Long hair for co-eds is reported gaining in favor at the University of Texas, but a count showed about 80 per cent still clung to bobbed tresses.

Business and Industrial Review of Twin Cities

STORY TELLS OF PULP 'WASHING'

Interesting Process at Brown Paper Mill Described in Article

Another interesting article of the series concerning mill operation is contained in this week's issue of Little Brown Jug, published weekly at the Brown Paper mill. The article has to do with the operation of the washer room, and is as follows:

"In order to obtain a pulp free of the undesirable cooking chemical, and to economically recover the chemical so that it may be reused, it is necessary to actually filter the pulp chemical solution after it leaves the di-gester.

"A filter consists of a drum around which has been placed a fine mesh screen. This screen, by the way, must be kept in perfect condition, otherwise, part of the pulp will go with the chemical and be completely lost.
The filters rotate, thereby making the process continuous.

"A huge vacuum pump is connected to the inner side of the filter and a vacuum as high as possible is maintained at all times on the inner face of the wire.

"With a vacuum on the inner face of the wire the pulp and chemical solution is pulled to the face of the wire.
The chemical passes through the wire, leaving the pulp behind to be removed mechanically as the rotating drum passes a certain point.

"Due to not being able to completely remove all the chemical from the pulp by vacuum alone, it is necessary to add hot water onto the filter as it is rotated. The water displaces the chemical, thereby leaving the pulp practically clean as it leaves the filter.

"The pulp as it leaves the primary filter, is mixed with water and passed over a secondary filter and is completely washed by the addition of more water. The pulp is now ready for the refining process prior to being made into paper.

"The chemical as it leaves the filters is ready to start on its recovery process. This recovery process is very complicated and requires many skilled operators. A large part of the mill is devoted to the chemical recovery alone."

WESTINGHOUSE IS EXPERTS' CHOICE

Master Series Refrigerators Have Many Modern Refinements

Men who know electricity are best qualified to build electrical conveniences for the home. That is why every house needs Westinghouse, why leading home economists and kitchen-wise housewives everywhere choose the famous Westinghouse dual-automatic refrigerator.

This time-tested, trouble-free refrigerator, backed by 12 years of research and the reputation of one of the greatest names in electricity, offers you the safest, most economical means of food preservation you can obtain at any price.

In the new Westinghouse Master Series refrigerators you will find practically every modern refinement. Extra-thick, super efficient insulation with the hermetically-sealed mechanism provides abundant cold at remarkably low operating cost. New economical operating position maintains safe refrigeration at a 25 per cent saving in current. Exclusive dual-automatic control offers double reliability. Tubeless, all-porcelain frosters make more ice faster. All-porcelain interiors are acid resisting and scientifically arranged for more useful food storage space. Interior electric floodlighting, the ingenious new handy-latch door opener together with scores of other important features are provided on even the smaller models.

What's more, you can obtain Westinghouse refrigeration at prices exactly suited to your needs and budget requirements. A complete line of 12 beautiful models is provided, and even the smallest, lowest priced model gives you genuine first line, first quality Master Series refrigeration. Let the Monroe Hardware company demonstrate the model suited to your home.

Chrysler Executive Sees Radical Changes in Cars

A motor car that is built closer to the road than any standard car yet produced, that runs without wind roar and is completely dustless even on gravel roads. An automobile as comfortable as the living room in your own home. These are some of the attributes that can be looked for in the car of 1934, forecasts J. E. Fields, president of Chrysler Sales corporation.

Fields also offered comments on other new developments that could be expected during the forthcoming year. "I believe that there will be starting changes in the principle of weight distribution and in spring action. These new developments will give motor car passengers a ride free from tremors, jolts and nerve fatigue.
Radical changes in the appearance of the car of tomorrow are inevitable.
Appearance will be adapted to the essential utilities of the motor car.
The car of 1934 will be beautiful because it serves a purpose."

Celebrating the twenty-third anniversary of its offer to give away its home edition every day the sun failed to shine the St. Petersburg, Fla., Independent says there have been 112 free editions.

PILCHER OPERATES MODERN NEW SHOP

Pilcher's Barber shop, located across from the Paramount theater, solicits your patronage on a basis of expert barber service, plus a new, modern and sanitary shop.

There are four chairs in this new shop, and all the equipment is of the latest design. Pilcher's shop is always kept in a spic and span condition and barbers employed are thoroughly experienced.

The new shop glistens in its cleanliness and residents of the Twin Cities have found it both pleasant and profitable to visit Pilcher's shop. Hair cuts are 25 cents and other work is done at correspondingly reasonable prices.

Mr. Pilcher is well known to the trade in Monroe. He enjoys an enviable reputation for high class work and hundreds of his customers have found his new shop exactly to their liking. Other barbers at Pilcher's also are experienced and render the same high class service.

Monroe residents are invited to visit the new Pilcher Barber shop, across the street from the Paramount theater.
Your satisfaction is their highest aim.

AUTO DEALERS TO SEE NEW DESOTO

Louisiana Men Go to Detroit for Showing of Airflow Model

In private Pullmans which will later connect with three special trains, a large contingent of Louisiana motor car dealers will go to Detroit soon to attend what is expected to be one of America's largest automobile dealer meetings.

Word to this effect was received here today, in a wire from L. G. Peed, general sales manager of the DeSoto Motor corporation. The company is sponsoring the giant convocation, which will be held in Detroit on December 29, when the revolutionary new Airflow DeSoto car will be shown to dealers for the first time.

Arrangements have been made for three special "all DeSoto" trains, which will arrive at the Michigan central station in Detroit within a few minutes of each other on the day of the convention, from the east, the south and the west, it was revealed.

Local dealers of the organization today received further details of the coming Airflow DeSoto car, in a personal communication from Byron Foy, president of the DeSoto Motor corporation.

Mr. Foy said in part:
"Our engineers have been working at full speed to develop DeSoto dealers a type of car that would not only meet with their approbation, but a car that would be so modern in style, so outstanding in performance that it would immediately establish new standards in the low price field.

"Our engineers have long known that there are only two ways by which present standards of performance in automobiles can be improved. One is by increasing the size of the engine, giving it greater piston displacement with resultant reduction in gasoline economy.

"In view of the high gas taxes prevailing in many states and the remote possibility of their early reduction, we are all agreed that the public is not ready to accept in quantities, cars that do not offer economical operation costs.

"The other direction through which may be achieved greater acceleration, faster top speed and better all round performance, is through the reduction or partial elimination of those features of design which have offered air resistance and have, therefore, absorbed a large portion of the developed horsepower in overcoming the resistance of the air.

"Our engineers have been convinced for some time, that the greatest advance that could be made in increasing the performance factor of cars, must come through the reduction of air resistance by applying aero-dynamic design to the car and body. As far back as five years ago Chrysler Motors engineers started their research and tests in this direction. The 1934 DeSoto will embody the fruits of five years of development along aero-dynamic lines."

1934 Oldsmobile Features New 'Knee-Action' Springs

MILFORD, Mich., Dec. 23.—(Special)—Anyone who has ever driven or ridden over a cobblestone street in an automobile, for even a block or two, will have a feeling of sympathy for the test driver who ever since the Belgian block test roads were installed here at the General Motors proving grounds, have been pounding over them in the conducting of durability tests. For the famous Belgian block road is about five times as severe as the roughest road the average motorist will ever encounter.

Up to this year, this sympathy would not have been wasted for those men who drove the stiff front axle cars over the cobbles, found the strain so great that after an hour and a half of driving they had to be replaced by relief drivers. But this year it is different, for the test drivers who handled the new "knee-action" Oldsmobile on the Belgian block roads drove their regular eight-hour shift without any sign of fatigue.

In the first year that Oldsmobiles were tested on the Belgian block road, the cars would on the average stand about 1,000 miles of this gruelling punishment before it was necessary to "pull them" for adjustments.
However, the new "knee-action" 1934
Oldsmobiles, soon to be announced, have shown so little sign of wear after 7,500 miles steady driving under the same punishing conditions that Oldsmobile engineers decided there was no practical advantage to be gained by prolonging this arduous test.

BARGAIN OFFER AT ALBRIGHT - BURDEN

Modern Garage Places Car in Shape for Winter at Low Cost

The Albright-Burden garage is making an exceptionally attractive price for making your car, no matter what make, ready for winter weather.

Quick starting is sometimes difficult in cold weather. But after Albright-Burden completes the job, your car will start immediately upon pressing the starter button. They will clean and space spark plugs, clean and adjust ignition points, clean and tighten battery connections, adjust carburetor and retune ignition so that the motor is functioning perfectly. In addition to this, they will inspect and tighten water pump, and inspect and tighten all water hose, thus making the radiator and connections ready for anti-freeze, Albright-Burden will do all this for only $2, plus whatever charge is necessary for parts.

Rarely is there a chance to have your car placed in good running condition for this low price. Many Monroe motorists already have taken advantage of this bargain offer and no doubt, hundreds more will avail themselves of the opportunity to place their cars in tip-top shape for winter weather.

Albright-Burden employ on skilled mechanics. Every employee thoroughly trained to do his job right and their patrons are taking chance of a slip-shod piece of work.

This modern garage is equipped with the latest tools and equipment, to render extraordinary service to motoring public. Experienced mechanics, equipped with good tools, your guarantee of satisfaction.

Motorists are invited to call at Albright-Burden for a further explanation of this $2 job. It's the biggest repair bargain in town.

If you are in need of wrecker service, just call 3927 and Albright-Burden will be with you in a jiffy.

DOWNES BROKERAGE

INCORPORATED
GENERAL INSURANCE
209 Ouachita
Nat'l Bank Bldg.
PHONE
605
R. DOWNES, JR., President
T. C. DOWNES, Secretary-Treas.

EL CUBO

Phil D. Mayer & Son, Ltd. Mfrs. New Orleans, La.

McREYNOLDS AND COMPANY

GENERAL INSURANCE
Let Us AETNA-IZE YOU
Bank Building
816 Ouachita
Phone
377

SEYMOUR

INSURANCE AGENCY,
Incorporated
E. J. SEYMOUR P. M. ATKINS
We Insure Against Any Risk
Suite 411-12 Bernhardt Building
Phone 2973

The Monroe Hardware Company

WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS
Westinghouse
ELECTRIC PRODUCTS

COMPLETE AUTOMOBILE SERVICE

LEE-ROGERS CHEVROLET CO.
Incorporated
221-223 Walnut St.

INTERURBAN Transportation Co.

Monroe Alexandria and all intermediate points
3 BUSES EACH WAY
EVERY DAY
Union Bus Station
209 S. Grand St. Phone 772

WE WILL

Clean and space spark plugs, clean and adjust ignition points, clean and tighten battery connections, inspect and tighten water pump, inspect and tighten all water hose, adjust carburetor, retune ignition—
For $2.00; Parts Extra
ALBRIGHT-BURDEN GARAGE
15 Years in the Business Telephone 3027

PAPER MILL Co.

Manufacturers of KRAFT WRAPPING
BAG PAPER SULPHATE BOARD

Lloyd Walters Radio Service

Monroe's Radio Headquarters
402 Wood St. Phone 463

MAX H. KULCKE PIANO TECHNICIAN

Piano Rebuilding and Refinishing
Phones 700 and 2122—128 S. Grand

BUS FARES REDUCED

NEW LOW FARES NOW IN EFFECT
1 1/2c TO 2c PER MILE
Convenient Schedules Everywhere Via
TRI-STATE COACHES
DEPOT 200 SOUTH GRAND STREET PHONE 172

of new...
column shot...
city editor, 404...
or brought to...
Monroe News-Stat... of 7:30 a. m. and

JOYEUX NOEL! Gluchliche Weihnachten! Schtastlive vianoe! Merry Christmas!
Say it in any language you please but it all means the same... joyous things which we wish every family in Monroe... abundant health, steadily increasing serenity, new friends and, above all and crowning all, a love for the adventure of living which as no year has ever brought before.

Today, the world over, millions of hearts are filled with an emotion peculiar to Christmas eve... Our feeling of the simple one of worship of a little Child... of One who, destined to become a spiritual King, was born in a humble manger... No fairy tale of ancient splendor can rival the mystery and the beauty of the lovely birth... the otherworldly legends repeat it, narrow-eyed, for children's under-standings, poets through the years have tried to tell it, but none can tell it more beautifully and majestically than Matthew and Luke... Christmas is not complete without the story of the birth of the glorious Child... "Fear not for behold I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be unto all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord"—are they not beautiful words? Tonight we celebrate the simple beauty of life newborn. Wealth, grandeur, prestige and position is all swept aside and we are re-created in proportion as we can become: gain the child we were... Christmas eve is such an ecstatic time... the magic of anticipation with that touch of mystery that comes with the darkness and the thought of Santa in the star-spangled sky, holding in his champing reindeer who are just farin' to go... looking at the stars overhead our mind just naturally travels to that night long ago when the Three Kings of the East traveled toward a bright and distant

Miss Eleanor Faulk Who Is Encircling the Globe Tells Of Night in Japanese Hotel

Let Miss Eleanor Faulk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Faulk of the West Side, who is making a tour of the world, tell you in her own words of her visit in Nara, Japan, where she spent a night in a high-class Japanese hotel.

"Arriving at the hotel we were met by numerous maids all bowing to the floor and giggling. After leaving our shoes at the door and being given felt slippers to put on, we went up the stairs which are as steep as a ladder. There is no lobby, desk or clerk. At the door of our room we left the slippers.

"Everywhere are thick mat carpets. Our room was very large, about fourteen mats. They measure rooms that way. The mats are about six by three feet, and are tightly joined together. "On one side of the room was the alcove or 'Honorable Place' in which hung the 'Kokomono,' ours was some kind of poem in Japanese. The flower arrangement is also placed in that alcove. In the center of the room was a table about twelve inches high, three feet wide, and six feet long. Generally they use several individual tables. A cushion was placed on each side of the table. Also an arm rest about six inches high and ten inches long. By the side of the cushion was a large brass pot filled with ashes and three small pieces of burning charcoal in the middle. That was the only heat in the room. In the corner was a small, low, writing table.

"The first thing we were instructed to do after entering the room was to take off our clothes and put on a fresh cotton kimono, which the maids bring. Over that goes a padded kimono, so that you are quite warm. "Next tea is brought in. It is pale green and poured into cups with no handles, you drink it without sugar, lemon, or cream. After sitting for some time dinner comes. Our guide was very apologetic over the fact he felt he should eat with us. Each person's meal is on a separate tray. First is brought clear soup, with fish in it, served in a lacquered bowl. You drink from the bowl. Then you are served a succession of different kinds of fish, all in different bowls. One very fine kind we were served was the best part, the head. The maid constantly refills your bowl of rice. Nothing has any salt in it. The raw fish was too much for me. The bird was rather indistinguishable except for the feet and legs being attached to the meaty part. A kind of egg custard contained several different fish, shrimp, oysters and lily root. Pickled white radish was served. All this was served on individual trays. We ate with chop-sticks, and I ate a good meal, though some neither smelled or looked very appetizing. After the bath was cleared we were served more green tea, also 'sake,' the Japanese drink. It is served in little dishes the size of salt cellars, poured out of a peculiarly shaped jug. It is served hot and has a peppery taste.

"The guide had warned us against their baths, but I insisted and was escorted to a room where you disrobe. The maid left me, because, I am sure the guide told her to, as she stayed and scrubbed my companion. However, you go into a large tile room and 'scrub' with soap and cold water, then after rinsing, get into a large tile tub of steaming hot water; I am sure something over one hundred degrees. You dry with the same towel just used as a wash rag, and surprising to say it is very effective. In the homes the bathroom is not so elaborate and the tub looks like a rain barrel.

"After the bath, to bed, on a couple of mats, which had been brought in and put on the floor. A rough sheet covers the upper mat and the heavy quilt has a sheet sewn to the under side. The pillow is a couple of hard little sacks, apparently stuffed with rock and with a small cloth over them. I didn't use the pillow. After the maid tucked us in she closed all the doors, but we opened one, for ventilation. Someone in the hotel was talking very loudly and playing on their stringed instrument and singing those high-pitched eerie songs. But it didn't deprive us of much sleep as we had been left for the night at about eight o'clock. I slept very well. "In the morning breakfast consisted of, soup, radish pickles, spinach, fish and specially ordered soft boiled eggs, I ate the latter. Had rice too then more green tea.

"We had hardly gotten out of bed before they were moved out of sight, and a tiny dresser brought in. It had about three feet of mirror sitting on a few tiny drawers on the floor. It was quite all right when you got on your knees in front of it. "When we left the hotel they gave us a present of post cards and a handkerchief each. Our shoes were waiting at the door downstairs. "The night spent in a Japanese hotel proved an experience I will treasure as long as I live.

Miss Renaud Entertains Her Dancing Pupils With A Christmas Tree Party

A group of starry-eyed children encircled the towering Christmas tree laden with sparkling baubles and myriad twinkling lights in the studio of Miss Armandine Renaud, Saturday night when she entertained her dancing pupils with her tenth annual Christmas tree party.

The tree was also laden with interesting little packages gayly wrapped in Santa Claus paper and tied with silver and gold cords which Miss Renaud, assisted by Miss Irene Quinn Renaud, presented to each pupil with a wish for the merriest kind of a Christmas. After the gifts had been admired, games were played and dancing enjoyed. The serving of a confectionery course brought the happy party to conclusion for the following: Thelma Young, Mary Ann Wilda, Martha Hopson, Sibyl Renaud, Lorraine Peedy, Mary Turk, Patsy Dryburgh, Virginia Cox, Jane Dames, Mildred Carroll, Gay Noe, Martha

Renaud, Mary Eleanor Coverdale, Betty Jane Pierce, Jo Ann Guerriero, Mary Edith Beard, Ann Burgess, Evelyn Jane Smith, Betty Ann Taylor, Ann Soebbing, Veronica Wilda, Satchie Cooper, Mary Anna Garelick, Patsy Dames, Mary Lyn O'Kelly, Martha Ann Roddy, Betty Louise Roddy, Pauline Beard, Sally Foster, Ida Sophia Davidson, Bennie Garelick, Betty Jane Wilda, Beverly Peavy, Jackie Voorhees, Joy Annise Bernhardt, June Griffin, Mary Lou Young, Barbara Jean West, Velma Louise Harris, Mary Annita Lemmon, Vettey Yvonne Bernhardt, Janet Voorhees, Nora Marie Lennon, Dottie Sue Young, Helen Tipton, Margaret Warren, Sara Jean Young, Joan Rella Weingarden, Dixie Carroll, Jacquelyn Warren, Scottie Young, Joe Rogers, Harry Fraser, Jr., Jackie Pierce, Gene Wilder, Bobby O'Donnell, Edward Dantzer, Prentice Cox, Jack Rogers, Richard Rosenbaum, Frank Cline, Jr., Lloyd Voorhees, Jr. and Bobby Voorhees.

Lights streamed from Riverside club Friday night... what a sight it was with those glorified girls dancing in the arms of Tuxedo clad males... pressing their heads together like little parakeets on a perch they glided by the side lines... Lights again streamed across the bayou at Riverside late yesterday with Helen Sherrouse, brown eyes shining, proudly introducing that trio of beautiful nieces... tea dances are certainly intriguing with the twilight descending upon the dimly lighted ball room where entrancing music, gay laughter and the rhythmic tapping of feet is heard... Christmas day will find society tasting of that marvelous hospitality only Clarence and Belle Oakley could possibly dish up... These two friendly souls are perhaps the most generally beloved in all Monroe... Belle with the cultured, soft-spoken voice and melting brown eyes welcomes her guests with the same depth of sincerity that she characterizes every action and deed... Mrs. A. L. Smith, one of Monroe's most gracious hostesses, whose home has long been a favorite rendezvous for young and old, will introduce three interesting house guests to friends to-night when eggnog will be lavishly dispensed... Mrs. Smith still clings to the spacious hospitality associated with life on a large plantation where she reigned like a queen in days gone by... guests in Mrs. Smith's home today are often haunted by memories of the gay hospitality of other days when doors were thrown wide as a matter of course... our constricted mode of living today does not permit such a lavish scale of hospitality... Scotty and Charlotte Hamilton have arrived to grace the John Beard home during Christmas... the fatted calf has been killed, the tree lighted and the larch string hung on the outside so that friends can walk in and share with John and Lottie these two delightful persons... Minna Lee Walker is the radiant soul these days, her handsome brother from Memphis is toasting his toes before the cheerful fire in her home and meeting all those charming people, Minna Lee claims as personal friends... Saw Caroline Stubbs, home from Shorter college, hurrying down the aisle of a department store yesterday... and is she good looking... my word, she has developed into a regular beauty—but of course she was destined to inherit the loveliness and charm of her mother, who walks so gracefully through the years... saw a handsome, red-checked boy walking briskly through the traffic the other day, with blue uniform and shining brass buttons... home from military school and how proud his parents must be of him, whoever he might be... The Julius Lemle home radiates happiness these days with that splendid son-in-law of theirs, Dr. W. W. Wagoner of Detroit, and that precious granddaughter Joan Rella, and of course the lovely Rosina, all under the same roof... a high tide of the year also in the Thomas Sholars family with Standifer, absent for three years, home for Christmas... Of course you are admiring our pictures today... the three beautiful Cole sisters are such charming young things... and so closely identified with Monroe... their grandfather you know was one of the pioneer settlers and to the Cole family still belong great tracts of land in the north section of the city... Where Riverside club stands, where the road around the loop now runs and as far as eye can reach in Fairview was once a vast cotton field, known as the Cole plantation... Acres and acres of their land is still under cultivation... We heard someone remark the other day that about the futility and the nonsense of sending Christmas cards... We would like to take the opportunity to say that we believe in Christmas cards, down to the last coach-and-four stopping before the English tavern, down to the final shred of holly and mistletoe... they are the expression of the one season when the hard-boiled modern can drop his mask of brittleness without embarrassment and admit his possession of a softer side... they are an expression of all the kindly things which our curious twentieth century sense of shame prevents us from showing on the 364 other days of the year.

We came across such a beautiful bit of verse the other day... let us hand it on to you for today's thought. The period of life is brief. 'Tis the red in a red rose leaf, 'Tis the gold of a sunset sky, 'Tis the flight of a bird on high; But we may fill that space With such infinite grace That the red shall tinge all time And the gold through the ages shine And the bird fly swift and straight To the portal of God's own gate.

In the Pictures

Today we have the three beautiful Cole sisters, Misses Georgine, Minnie and Frances Cole, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cole of this city. Georgine is a student at the Ouachita Parish Junior college, Minnie is attending Whitworth college, Brookhaven, Miss., and Frances is a student at Louisiana State university. The Cole family has long been identified with the social and civic life of this city where the late Mr. John Cole, one of the early pioneers, owned extensive plantation lands just north of Monroe. The Misses Cole were born in the ancestral home of their father and have spent their entire life in this city where they are popular members of the younger set.

Christmas

Sunday
Musical Coterie will repeat their program of traditional Christmas Carols at Grace church, 4:30 o'clock p. m. The public is invited.
Miss Bertha Alyce Masur will keep open house at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Masur on North Third street, 9:30 to 11:30. Friends are invited through this medium.
Mrs. A. L. Smith will keep open house Christmas eve in honor of her house guests, Colonel and Mrs. George Stuart and Mrs. R. B. Taylor. Annual Christmas Eve frolic at the Virginia hotel. Music by the famous Clouquot Eskimos, 11 to 3 a. m.
Pageant "Still The Sweetest Story" presented at First Methodist church under the direction of Mrs. Emma Alexander, 7 p. m. The public is invited.
Pageant "He Came to Bethlehem" presented at the First Presbyterian church under the direction of Mrs. Vivian Harper, 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited.
Monday
Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Oakley will keep open house for their friends during the evening hours.
Tuesday, December 26
Delta Sigma fraternity and Delta Beta Sigma sorority annual Christmas banquet at the Virginia hotel at 8 p. m.
Delta Sigma fraternity dance at Riverside country club, 11 to 3.
Delta Beta Sigma sorority will en-

Christmas Eve Will Find Happy Families Gathered Around Firesides

Christmas eve! The same stars that looked down on the lowly manger back in the long ago are looking down upon us tonight as we gather around our shining Christmas trees in the midst of loved ones. People hurrying homeward with gifts are not unlike those Three Wise Men of the East who, guided by a star, carried gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh to the newborn babe.

It is nice to know that in every country throughout the world, some form of celebration is taking place tonight. You've doubtless heard it said that Christmas is a tremendously old custom—far older than the opening of the Christian era. That is partly true. However, as a generally celebrated ecclesiastical festival, Christmas is less than 1,600 years old, having been brought with it the midnight mass which is still the center of the people's celebration in all the Latin countries of Europe and South America. However, tonight, too, the home-made croche of the infant, first worshipped in the middle ages, and still later brought by the Carol singing and the gift giving by St. Nicholas, the children's saint.

But the other side of our Christmas gaiety—the purely secular merry-making—began to accompany the cards and religious services while England was still in the middle ages, and it was these ceremonies of the boar's head, the Yule log, and the evergreen tree, the wassailing and the feasting and the masking and mummery which found their start back in far-off pagan times and which, though now much changed in meaning and practice, still cling to our holiday merry-making and speak of hospitality, good will, and renewal of old friendships.

All this while, Yuletide gaiety in Merrie England grew faster and faster, until, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth and King James it reached a sort of frenzied peak, to drop almost at once quite out of sight with the advent of Cromwell and the Puritans, who rigorously banned Christmas by law. But before the ban at Christmas time every Saxon table boasted wasail—the spiced hot ale swimming with roasted apples and drunk with toasts to health, happiness, and long life. But the more the years the more the fure! By the end of the fifteenth century the tables groaned indeed while Henry VII ate his astounding feast of one hundred and twenty dishes. It opened by the ceremonial entrance of the boar's head on a golden platter and was climaxed by a

Tea Dance at Riverside Club Brings Members of Society Together on Saturday

Riverside Country club with its garlands of holly and mistletoe encircling the ball room offered a colorful Christmas setting for the tea dance Saturday evening with Mrs. John Sherrouse, the charming hostess in honor of her three beautiful nieces, Misses Dorothy and Corintha Sherrouse and Miss Julia Gilbert of Gilbert, La. The tea dances are most intriguing with beautiful girls, grand orchestral fanfare, gay laughter, inconsequential chatter and the fragrance of orange pekoe wafted from the tea table where a dazzling array of sandwiches engage the attention of the guests from time to time. Last night's tea dance paved the way for next week's long line of social affairs that will take the dancing set completely around the clock. Two hundred members of Monroe's beau monde paid their respects to Mrs. Sherrouse and the during the hour. The Ouachita on December 26. Ouachita is a forty-three year old ship paid for by the club. An was gay "The Out club." Friends Elizabeth E. Elizabeth E. Elizabeth E.

JOYEUX NOEL! Gluchliche Weihnachten! Schtastlive viancoe! Merry Christmas!
Say it in any language you please but it all means the same . . . joyous things which we wish every family in Monroe . . . abundant health, steadily increasing serenity, new friends and, above all and crowning all, a love for the adventure of living such as no year has ever brought before.

Today, the world over, millions of hearts are filled with an emotion peculiar to Christmas eve. . . Our feeling is the simple one of worship of a little Child . . . of One who, destined to become a spiritual King, was born in an humble manger. . . No fairy tale of ancient splendor can rival the mystery and the beauty of the lowly birth. . . The angels sing it, legends repeat it, narrators retell it for children's understanding, poets through the years have said it in their own way but none can tell it more beautifully and majestically than Matthew and Luke. . .

Christmas is not complete without reading from the Bible the glorious story of old. . . "Fear not for behold I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be unto all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord"—are they not beautiful words?

Tonight we celebrate the simple beauty of life newborn. Wealth, grandeur, prestige and position is all swept aside and we are re-created in proportion to what we can become. . . gain the child we were . . . Christmas eve is such an ecstatic time . . . the magic of anticipation with that touch of mystery that comes with the darkness and the thought of Santa in the star-spangled sky, holding in his champing reindeer who are just 'arlin' to go . . . looking at the stars overhead our mind just naturally travels to that night long ago when the Three Kings of the East traveled toward a bright and distant

Miss Eleanor Faulk Who Is Encircling the Globe Tells Of Night in Japanese Hotel

Let Miss Eleanor Faulk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Faulk of the West Side, who is making a tour of the world, tell you in her own words of her visit in Nara, Japan, where she spent a night in a high-class Japanese hotel.

"Arriving at the hotel we were met by numerous maids all bowing to the floor and giggling. After leaving our shoes at the door and being given felt slippers to put on, we went up the stairs which are as steep as a ladder. There is no lobby, desk or clerk. At the door of our room we left the slippers.

"Everywhere are thick mat carpets. Our room was very large, about fourteen mats. They measure rooms that way. The mats are about six by three feet, and are tightly joined together.

"On one side of the room was the alcove or 'Honorable Place' in which hung the 'Kokomono,' ours was some kind of poem in Japanese. The flower arrangement is also placed in that alcove. In the center of the room was a table about twelve inches high, three feet wide, and six feet long. Generally they use several individual tables. A cushion was placed on each side of the table. Also an arm rest about six inches high and ten inches long. By the side of the cushion was a large brass pot filled with ashes and three small pieces of burning charcoal in the middle. That was the only heat in the room. In the corner was a small, low, writing table.

"The first thing we were instructed to do after entering the room was to take off our clothes and put on a fresh cotton kimono, which the maid brings. Over that goes a padded kimono, so that you are quite warm.

"Next tea is brought in. It is pale green and poured into cups with no handles, you drink it without sugar, lemon, or cream. After sitting for some time dinner comes. Our guide was very apologetic over the fact he felt he should eat with us. Each person's meal is on a separate tray. First is brought clear soup, with fish in it, served in a lacquered bowl. You drink from the bowl. Then you are served a succession of different kinds of fish, all in different bowls. One 'very fine' kind. We were served the best part, the head. The maid constantly refills your bowl of rice. Nothing has any salt in it. The raw fish was too much for me. The bird was rather indistinguishable except for the feet and legs being attached to the meaty part. A kind of egg custard contained several different

Miss Renaud Entertains Her Dancing Pupils With A Christmas Tree Party

A group of starry-eyed children encircled the towering Christmas tree laden with sparkling baubles and myriad twinkling lights in the studio of Miss Armandine Renaud, Saturday night when she entertained her dancing pupils with her tenth annual Christmas tree party.

The tree was also laden with interesting little packages gayly wrapped in Santa Claus paper and tied with silver and gold cords which Miss Renaud, assisted by Miss Irene Quinn Renaud, presented to each pupil with a wish for the merriest kind of a Christmas. After the gifts had been admired, games were played and dancing enjoyed. The serving of a confectionery course brought the happy hours to conclusion for the following: Lucille Young, Mary Ann Wilds, Martha Hopson, Sibyl Renaud, Lorraine Peddy, Mary Turk, Patsy Dryburgh, Virginia Cox, Jane Danes, Mildred Carroll, Gay Noe, Martha fish, shrimp, oysters and lilly root. Pickled white radish was served. All this was served on individual trays. We ate with chop-sticks, and I ate a good meal, though some neither smelled or looked very appetizing. After the table was cleared we were served more green tea, also 'sake,' the Japanese drink. It is served in little dishes the size of salt cellars, poured out of a peculiarly shaped jug. It is served hot and has a peppery taste.

"The guide had warned us against their baths, but I insisted and was escorted to a room where you disrobe. The maid left me, because, I am sure the guide told her to, as she stayed and scrubbed my companion. However, you go into a large tile room and 'scrub' with soap and cold water, then after rinsing, get into a large tile tub of steaming hot water; I am sure something over one hundred degrees. You dry with the same towel just used as a wash rag, and surprising to say it is very effective. In the homes the bathroom is not so elaborate and the tub looks like a rain barrel.

"After the bath, to bed, on a couple of mats, which had been brought in and put on the floor. A rough sheet covers the upper mat and the heavy quilt has a sheet sewn to the under side. The pillow is a couple of hard little sacks, apparently stuffed with rock and with a small cloth over them. I didn't use the pillow. After the maid tucked us in she closed all the doors, but we opened one, for ventilation. Someone in the hotel was talking very loudly and playing on their stringed instrument and singing those high-pitched eerie songs. But it didn't deprive us of much sleep as we had been left for the night at about eight o'clock. I slept very well.

"In the morning breakfast consisted of, soup, radish pickles, spinach, fish and specially ordered soft boiled eggs, I ate the latter. Had rice too then more green tea.

"We had hardly gotten out of bed before they were moved out of sight, and a tiny dresser brought in. It had about three feet of mirror sitting on a few tiny drawers on the floor. It was quite all right when you got on your knees in front of it.

"When we left the hotel they gave us a present of post cards and a handkerchief each. Our shoes were waiting at the door downstairs.

"The night spent in a Japanese hotel proved an experience I will treasure as long as I live.

In the Pictures

Today we have the three beautiful Cole sisters, Misses Georgine, Minnie and Frances Cole, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cole of this city. Georgine is a student at the Ouachita Parish Junior college, Minnie is attending Whitworth college, Brookhaven, Miss., and Frances is a student at Louisiana State university. The Cole family has long been identified with the social and civic life of this city where the late Mr. John Cole, one of the early pioneers, owned extensive plantation lands just north of Monroe. The Misses Cole were born in the ancestral home of their father and have spent their entire life in this city where they are popular members of the younger set.

Christmas

Sunday
Musical Coterie will repeat their program of traditional Christmas Carols at Grace church, 4:30 o'clock p. m. The public is invited.

Miss Bertha Alyce Masur will keep open house at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Masur on North Third street, 9:30 to 11:30. Friends are invited through this medium.

Mrs. A. L. Smith will keep open house Christmas eve in honor of her house guests, Colonel and Mrs. George Stuart and Mrs. R. B. Trabue.

Annual Christmas Eve frolic at the Virginia hotel, music by the famous Cluquot Eskimos, 11 to 3 a. m.

Pageant "Still The Sweetest Story" presented at First Methodist church under the direction of Mrs. Emma Alexander, 7 p. m. The public is invited.

Pageant "He Came to Bethlehem," presented at the First Presbyterian church under the direction of Mrs. Vivian Harper, 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

Monday
Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Oakley will keep open house for their friends during the evening hours.

Tuesday, December 25
Delta Sigma fraternity and Delta Beta Sigma sorority annual Christmas banquet at the Virginia hotel at 8 p. m.

Delta Sigma fraternity dance at Riverside country club, 11 to 3.

Delta Beta Sigma sorority will entertain

Christmas Eve Will Find Happy Families Gathered Around Firesides

Christmas eve! The same stars that looked down on the lowly manger back in the long ago are looking down upon us tonight as we gather around our shining Christmas trees in the midst of loved ones. People hurrying homeward with gifts are not unlike those Three Wise Men of the East who, guided by a star, carried gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh to the new-born babe.

It is nice to know that in every country throughout the whole world, some form of celebration is taking place tonight.

You've doubtless heard it said that Christmas is a tremendously old custom—far older than the opening of the Christian era. That is partly true. However, as a generally celebrated ecclesiastical festival, Christmas is less than 1,600 years old, having brought with it the midnight mass which is still the center of the people's celebration in all the Latin countries of Europe and South America, having brought, too, the homelike creche of the infant, first worshipped in the middle ages, and still later brought the carol singing and the gift giving by St. Nicholas, the children's saint.

But the other side of our Christmas gaiety—the purely secular merry-making—began to accompany the carols and religious services while England was still in the middle ages, and it was these ceremonies of the boar's head, the Yule log, and the evergreen tree, the wassailing and the feasting and the masking and mummery which found their start back in far-off pagan times and which, though now much changed in meaning and practice, still cling to our holiday merry-making and speak of hospitality, good will, and renewal of old friendships.

All this while, Yuletide gaiety in Merrie England grew faster and faster, until, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth and King James it reached a sort of frenzied peak, to drop almost at once quite out of sight with the advent of Cromwell and the Puritans, who rigorously banned Christmas by law.

But before the ban at Christmas time every Saxon table boasted wasail—the spiced hot ale swimming with roasted apples and drunk with toasts to health, happiness, and long life. But the more the years the more the fare! By the end of the fifteenth century the tables groaned indeed while Henry VII ate his astounding feast of one hundred and twenty dishes. It opened by the ceremonial entrance of the boar's head on a golden platter and was climaxed by a roasted peacock with tail feathers fanned. But while early England, Germany, passing through the transition, added two more pleasures to the Christmas tradition—the tree and the children's caroling.

Tea Dance at Riverside Club Brings Members of Soc Together on Saturday

Riverside Country club with its garlands of holly and mistletoe encircling the ball room offered a colorful Christmas setting for the tea dance Saturday evening with Mrs. John Sherrouse, the charming hostess in honor of her three beautiful nieces, Misses Dorothy and Corin Sherrouse and Miss Julia Gilbert of Gilbert, La. The tea dances are most intriguing with beautiful girls, grand orchestral fanfare, gay laughter, inconsequential chatter and the fragrance of orange pekoe wafted from the tea table where a dazzling array of sandwiches engage the attention of the guests from time to time.

Last night's tea dance paved the way for next week's long line of social affairs that will take the dancing set completely around the clock. Two hundred members of Monroe's beau monde paid their respects to Mrs.

At the same time, in Holland, Dutch boys and girls, if they been good, found in the early December that St. Nicholas had their wooden shoes with clogs, gifts as those small sabot shoes scrubbed and immaculate chimney corner. And so it was the St. Nicholas tradition of America with the early Dutch colonists and that, broadening and moving his generous gift giving to the season of religious faith, St. Nicholas or Santa Claus has in the last century become the saint of the modern American child.

Then Scotland! Once upon a time in Scotland people scarcely when Christmas came and were taken up were they with great for New Year's day the time of mid-winter festivities. New Year's day in Scotland is a public holiday and on New Year's eve, "Hogmanay" to the Scottish, gifts called "New Year's day" are presented by householders to those who served them during the year past, messenger boys and the like. In England this gift giving comes the day following Christmas, "Boxing day," at which time "mas boxes" are given in the same way.

The Scots, having now quite up the Christmas custom, and to have two "Christmas" dinners these modern days—one on Christmas day and one on New Year's day. But in Scotland the first day of the year is still the big day of the young and exuberant of the community come to the public squares and, as a ring in the new year, all gathered in singing "Auld Lang Syne" with really amazing fervor this one will see respect shaking hands with downy and everybody looking a better year.

Ireland at Christmas of its mild soft climate where the "Emerald Isle" is into a paradise for holiday makers. On Christmas night, a will burn in every white washed farmhouse farmers' children will the number of candles.

(Continued on Seven)

News-Star--World Pattern

PATTERNS 1691 AND 1692

Here's a grand suggestion for young things—take the Xmas money you receive, hie yourself to your favorite fabric counters—and there, the irresistible yards of fabrics will make your fingers itch to start sewing immediately. Something for your wardrobe is just the thing—and you know that a warm, good-looking robe, and some utterly fetching pajamas are really indispensable. We've sketched such captivating ones today.

The robe, Pattern 1691, would be a knockout in flannel or corduroy, choosing your favorite college colors as a theme, and combine with satin or velvet for contrast. It's awfully easy to tailor for the sewing instructor that is given with the pattern will show you just how to do it. As for pajamas, hang your head in shame if you don't make Pattern 1692 for yourself. Note especially the fetching revers—it can be fastened up of course—the perky sleeve flares and wide trousers legs. (they measure a yard at the hemline). Either monotonous or prints in washable silks or cottons are just what you should choose.

Miss Inabnet Becomes Bride of Mr. Riffin

The interest of many friends is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lula Inabnet, attractive daughter of Mrs. W. B. Inabnet, Sr., of West Monroe, and Mr. Carl Riffin of West Monroe, on the twenty-second of December, at the Methodist parsonage, West Monroe, with the pastor, Rev. Martin Hubert, performing the ceremony in the presence of a few friends and relatives.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hendrix of Alto, and the bride's mother.

The bride is a valuable member of the faculty of the Crosley school in West Monroe. Mr. Riffin is associated with the Twin City Paint & Wallpaper company.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Riffin motored to points in Arkansas, and upon their return will be at home to their friends in West Monroe.

Miss Elizabeth Drew, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Drew, is home from L. S. U. for the holidays.

Paul Fudickar, Jr., student at the University of Texas is visiting his parents during the holidays.

Mrs. H. G. Cooper and daughter of Little Rock are also members of the house party.

A group of young people met Thursday night in the home of Marguerite McCoy where "open house" was held. Colorful Christmas floral baskets were placed in the living and dining rooms where dancing was enjoyed.

Punch and sandwiches were served. Among those present on this occasion were: Jean French, Nelson Bland, Tommy Zeagler, Diana Powers, Geneva Castles, Martha Garrison, Clyde French, John Jones, Mildred Broad, Aline Freest, Jane Gregory, Dot Bennett, Kathleen Rolfe, Mack McCoy, Spick Medaries, Jimmy Guerrero, Buddy Bobb, Billy Reagan, A. L. Peters, Louis Guerrero, Ralph Stovell.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tenore motored to Helena, Ark., to spend the holidays with their parents and were accompanied as far as Greenville, Miss., by Misses Allene and Amy Tenore and Messrs. George and Floyd Serman, who will join a party of friends and motor to Jackson to attend the Sigma Beta Gamma Christmas ball.

Mr. J. S. Daniels, Jr., student at Springhill college, Mobile, Ala., is spending the Yuletide with his parents.

The little friends and class mates of Harvie Jasper, Jr., will regret to learn that he continues ill at the home of his parents.

On Christmas Eve

By Elizabeth Badley Read

Dear old house, your memory, in a garden set,
Always blooms again for me in the mignonette;
You are drowsing in the dew with the purple phlox,
You are always nodding through rows of hollyhocks.
But at Christmas, haunting me like a wistful ghost,
You are always taunting me with the things I've lost—
Are your windows, all aglow—candles on each sill—
Lighting neighbors as they go whistling up the hill?
Are there stockings hanging where mine used to be?
Spruce and holly everywhere—and a Christmas tree?
Will the carolers go by looking for your light?
Dear old house—I wish that I were sleeping there tonight!

TO ALL

MULHEARN'S

Extends

Sincere Christmas Greetings

The Home of Dignified and Sympathetic Service

Mulhearn's Funeral Home

Phone 66, Monroe, La.

Phone 68, Rayville, La.

A beautiful Christmas pageant "Still the Sweetest Story" will be presented at the First Methodist church tonight at seven o'clock. The pageant has been arranged and directed by Mrs. Emma Alexander. Mrs. John Sholars, the organist and Mrs. Clyde Sanders, choir leader have worked diligently in assisting the committee on arrangements in their effort to make this pageant one of the most impressive ever given in an effort to tell to its audience the story of the birth of the Christ Child.

The opening scene of the pageant is in the living room of Mrs. Lawrence. The second scene of on Judean hills and the third scene again takes you to the living room.

The characters are as follows: Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Emma Alexander; Baby Mary, Patricia Snelling; Sue Johnson, Sadie Ruth Buckner; Ann Vaughn, Elizabeth Cudd; Joseph, Mr. Walter Rhodes; Mary, Mrs. Austin Miller; Reader, Mr. V. S. Garnett; Angels, Mrs. Art Woodruff, Misses Berta Gilliland, Margaret Cudd, Sara Florence Coon, Katherine May, Neva Worthington and Bonnie Burge; Shepherds, Bob Pollard, Robert Cahn and Garland Knox; Wise Men, Messrs. Louis Hullum, Sam Collins and Dave Caldwell.

In the last scene Mr. Sam Collins and children of the Sunday school lead in presenting a love gift on the altar to the Methodist orphanage at Ruston.

The public is cordially invited to witness this program.

The Georgia Tucker P-T. A. held its monthly meeting Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium. The financial report of the supper held December 7 showed a total of $150 cleared.

Very interesting was the report on percentages of underweight children, honor roll, and failures, all of which showed a large improvement.

Due to the absence of Miss Rodgers, who is in New Orleans, only a short business session was held. The musical number for the afternoon was a chorus, "The Big Bad Wolf" which was sung by fifteen charming little girls, dressed in red gingham.

The Study Hour under the direction of Mrs. Palmer Hardie was postponed until the January meeting because of the rush of the holiday season. Mrs. Hardie, at that time, will discuss "Mental Health."

Miss Beverly Gimbler has returned from Kilgore, Tex., where she has been visiting in the home of Mrs. Lewton Croom for the past three weeks. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Croom and three children, who are dividing their time between Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gimbler and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Jones.

Miss Katherine Powell, student at L. S. U., is spending Christmas with her parents in Marion, La.

C. E. Maroney, Jr., arrived home yesterday from the University of Northwestern, Evanston, Ill., to spend his Christmas vacation with his parents.

Alvah Learned, student at the University of Texas, is spending his vacation with his mother, Mrs. Marion Learned.

Miss Dorothy Lewman arrived home yesterday from Eastern Illinois State Teacher's college to spend the holidays with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lewman on Rochelle avenue. She was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. A. G. Coombs and Miss Louis McNeill of Charleston, Ill., who will be the guests in the Lewman home.

Miss Jane Anne Shaw of Bastrop is the week-end guest of Miss Joel Nichols at Wilkwood, the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Renwick.

Mrs. W. P. Lavin of Gulfport, Miss., is enjoying the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Joseph Amman and sister, Miss Evelyn Amman.

Fred Amman student at Tulane Medical school arrived home Friday to visit his mother, Mrs. F. Amman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

We Will Find Lilies Tonight

From Sixth Page

me their own home, set in sod or a tundra, will burn in each every night until the New Year's Eve. The wandering souls from who may visit their old remembered, cups and saucers laid for them on the table of the homes.

Russia the typical Christmas starts in the morning and continues all day. (What havoc to the diners!) Roast pig's head, stuffed with boiled buckwheat, is to those states what roast turkey is to us. There is also likely to be a "koushche," a kind of cake stuffed full of raisins, and a dish of brightly colored eggs resembling our own Easter eggs.

The big holiday moment in Sweden is Christmas eve—the hour for their feasting. Pig's head used to be a great favorite. Today there is more dining on other cuts of pork or even on corn beef. Instead of roasting the meat, it is boiled in a big pot which is then set in the center of the table and before the meat is served, every member of the household, servants included, is expected to dip a piece of bread in the broth to be eaten later with his meat. Supposedly this is a reminder of the "Last Supper" and also represents the unity of the family.

A lovely affair of Friday was the 6 o'clock dinner given for members of the Louise McGuire Benevolent club at the home of Mrs. J. B. Swanson. The reception rooms were adorned with an artistic arrangement of red radiance roses and holly branches.

At the conclusion of the dinner gifts were presented to the following guests: Mrs. Key, Fuqua, Kersh, Johnson, Roberts, Culver, Dodd, Mulhearn, Hales, Hudson, Copes, Bell, Hamilton, Thompson, Jones, Holmes, Hart, Monroe, Pussman and Perhonnus.

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

of the delicious Miss Henrietta West to Santa Claus. Miss Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walker to the old year, Miss gave a vocal number. Anna Alexander entertained readings. Present were Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucile Hyde, Joe Worthington, Geneva Cas-

The Junior Catholic Daughters met Monday afternoon with Marguerite McCoy, hostess.

The Yuletide spirit was reflected in the interesting games and contests held on this occasion.

A lovely "Sugar Plum" tree was the centerpiece on the tea table where the following members were served luscious refreshments: Katherine Rivoire, Lily Belle Glen, Kathleen Rolfe, Clara Virginia Cornett, Mary Elizabeth Shaughnessy, Mary Elizabeth Mahr, Margaret Devereaux, Marguerite McCoy.

Boyd Grant, student at L. S. U., is enjoying the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grant.

Mrs. Betty Smelser is spending the Yuletide with relatives in south Louisiana.

Delivery of All Parcel Post Packages Is Made

Delivery of all packages of holiday parcel post mail was made last night. Acting Postmaster J. R. Wooten said Saturday. He further added if a person failed to receive his mail it would be because there was no one at home to receive it when delivered there.

The volume of parcel post mail this season has been two and a half times that of the holiday season of 1932, he said, and indicates a healthy gain.

The parcel post department, which has been temporarily housed in the new federal building, will be removed to the old postoffice, where it will be conducted as formerly, the acting postmaster stated. He did not give any indication as to the day when the new federal building will be permanently occupied by the post office, but it is believed that removal will be made soon after New Year's.

Thompson Wood Lee Camp Will Install Its Officers

Thompson Wood Lee camp No. 9, Spanish War veterans, will hold its annual installation of officers at their first meeting in January. The auxiliary officers will also be installed at the same time.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the guard, Charles Eastman; officer of the day, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ros

News-Star--World Pattern

PATTERNS 1691 AND 1692

Here's a grand suggestion for young things—take the Xmas money you receive, hie yourself to your favorite fabric counters—and there, the irrefragable yards of fabrics will make your fingers itch to start sewing immediately. Something for your wardrobe is just the thing—and you know that a warm, good-looking robe, and some utterly fetching pajamas are really indispensable. We've sketched such captivating ones today.

The robe, Pattern 1691, would be a knockout in flannel or corduroy, choosing your favorite college colors as a theme, and combine with satin or velvet for contrast. It's awfully easy to tailor for the sewing instructor that is given with the pattern will show you just how to do it.

As for pajamas, hang your head in shame if you don't make Pattern 1692 for yourself. Note especially the fetching rever—it can be fastened up, of course—the perky sleeve flares and wide trousers legs. (They measure a yard at the hemline). Either monotonous or prints in washable silks or cottons are just what you should choose.

Pattern 1691 is available in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 2 5/8 yards 34-inch fabric and 7-8 yard contrasting.

Pattern 1692 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 3/4 yards 34-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

The smartest, newest styles are in the CURRENT EDITION of the ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK. Order your copy today! PRICE OF BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to The News-Star and Morning World Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

A group of young people met Thursday night in the home of Marguerite McCoy where "open house" was held. Colorful Christmas floral baskets were placed in the living and dining rooms where dancing was enjoyed.

Punch and sandwiches were served. Among those present on this occasion were: Jean French, Nelson Bland, Tommy Zeigler, Diana Powers, Geneva Castles, Martha Garrison, Clyde French, John Jones, Mildred Beard, Aline Freret, Jane Gregory, Dot Bennett, Kathleen Rolfe, Mack McCoy, Spick Medeiros, Jimmy Guerriero, Buddy Bubbs, Billy Reagan, A. L. Peters, Louis Guerriero, Ralph Stowell.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tonore motored to Helena, Ark., to spend the holidays with their parents and were accompanied as far as Greenville, Miss., by Misses Allene and Amy Tonore and Messrs. George and Floyd Serman, who will join a party of friends and motor to Jackson to attend the Sigma Beta Gamma Christmas ball.

Mr. J. S. Daniels, Jr., student at Springhill college, Mobile, Ala., is spending the Yuletide with his parents.

The little friends and class mates of Harvie Jasper, Jr., will regret to learn that he continues ill at the home of his parents.

On Christmas Eve

By Elizabeth Badley Read

Dear old house, your memory, in a garden set, Always blooms again for me in the mignonette; You are growing in the dew with the purple phlox, You are always nodding through rows of hollyhocks. But at Christmas, haunting me like a wistful ghost, You are always taunting me with the things I've lost—Are your windows, all aglow—candles on each sill—Lighting neighbors as they go whistling up the hill? Are there stockings hanging where mine used to be? Spruce and holly everywhere—and a Christmas tree? Will the carolers go by looking for your light? Dear old house—I wish that I were sleeping there tonight!

TO ALL

MULHEARN'S

Extends

Sincere Christmas Greetings

The Home of Dignified and Sympathetic Service

Mulhearn's Funeral Home

Phone 66, Monroe, La.
Phone 68, Rayville, La.

A beautiful Christmas pageant "Still the Sweetest Story" will be presented at the First Methodist church tonight at seven o'clock. The pageant has been arranged and directed by Mrs. Emma Alexander. Mrs. John Sholars, the organist and Mrs. Clyde Sanders, choir leader have worked diligently in assisting the committee on arrangements in their effort to make this pageant one of the most impressive ever given in an effort to tell to its audience the story of the birth of the Christ Child.

The opening scene of the pageant is in the living room of Mrs. Lawrence. The second scene of on Judean hills and the third scene again takes you to the living room.

The characters are as follows: Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Emma Alexander; Baby Marjorie, Patricia Snelling; Sue Johnson, Sadie Ruth Buckner; Ann Vaughn, Elizabeth Cudd; Joseph, Mr. Walter Rhodes; Mary, Mrs. Austin Miller; Reader, Mr. V. S. Garnett; Angels, Mrs. Art Woodruff; Misses Berta Gilliland, Margaret Cudd, Sara Florence Coon, Katherine May, Neva Worthington and Bonnie Borge; Shepherds, Bob Pollard, Robert Cain and Garland Knox; Wise Men, Messrs. Louis Hultum, Sam Collins and Dave Caldwell.

In the last scene Mr. Sam Collins and children of the Sunday school lead in presenting a love gift on the altar to the Methodist orphanage at Ruston.

The public is cordially invited to witness this program.

The Georgia Tucker P-T. A. held its monthly meeting Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium. The financial report of the supper held December 7 showed a total of $150 cleared.

Very interesting was the report on percentages of underweight children, honor roll, and failures, all of which showed a large improvement.

Due to the absence of Miss Rodgers, who is in New Orleans, only a short business session was held. The musical number for the afternoon was a chorus, "The Big Bad Wolf," which was sung by fifteen charming little girls, dressed in red gingham.

The Study Hour under the direction of Mrs. Palmer Hardie was postponed until the January meeting because of the rush of the holiday season. Mrs. Hardie, at that time, will discuss "Mental Health."

Miss Beverly Gimber has returned from Kilgore, Tex., where she has been visiting in the home of Mrs. Lawton Croom for the past three weeks. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Croom and three children, who are dividing their time between Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gimber and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Jones.

Miss Katherine Powell, student at L. S. U., is spending Christmas with her parents in Marion, La.

C. E. Maroney, Jr., arrived home yesterday from the University of Northwestern, Evanston, Ill., to spend his Christmas vacation with his parents.

Alvah Learned, student at the University of Texas, is spending his vacation with his mother, Mrs. Marion Learned.

Miss Dorothy Lewman arrived home yesterday from Eastern Illinois State Teacher's college to spend the holidays with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lewman on Rochelle avenue. She was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. A. G. Coombs and Miss Louis McNutt of Charleston, Ill., who will be the guests in the Lewman home.

Miss Jane Anne Shaw of Bastrop is the weekend guest of Miss Joel Nichols at Wildwood, the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Renwick.

Mrs. W. P. Lavin of Gulfport, Miss., is enjoying the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Joseph Amman and sister, Miss Evelyn Amman.

Fred Amman student at Tulane Medical school arrived home Friday to visit his mother, Mrs. F. Amman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Waring and son, Edward Graham Waring, formerly of Oklahoma City have taken up residence in this city and are comfortably established at 1103 North Third street. Mr. Waring is associated with the Missouri Pacific.

Miss Rebecca Cassel is spending Christmas with friends in Dallas, Tex.

KNOW THE FUTURE

The Hindus Seer the Master Clairvoyant and Palmist

Dr. LaRose points out the sure road to success in business, love, marriage, health, happiness, domestic and personal affairs, teaches power of control and influence; knows what is best to do and how and when to do it. Business confidential; fee in reach of all.

Hours 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.
STUDIO: 1704 JACKSON ST.
APT. NO. 1
Take Lee Ave. Car to Door

You Will Find Illies Tonight

From Sixth Page

in their own home. He, set in sod or a tur-older, will burn in each every night until the New the wandering souls from who may revisit their old remembered, cups and sauc-laid for them on the table of the homes.

Russia the typical Christmas stars in the morning and con- all day. (What havoc to the dines!) Roast pig's head, stuffed a boiled buckwheat, is to those sters what roast turkey is to us. ere is also likely to be a "kou- sche," a kind of cake stuffed full raisins, and a dish of brightly col-ored eggs resembling our own Easter eggs.

The big holiday moment in Sweden is Christmas eve—the hour for their feasting. Pig's head used to be a great favorite. Today there is more dining on other cuts of pork or even on corn beef. Instead of roasting the meat, it is boiled in a big pot which is then set in the center of the table and before the meat is served, every member of the household, servants in-cluded, is expected to dip a piece of bread in the broth to be eaten later with his meat. Supposedly this rite is a reminder of the "Last Supper" and also represents the unity of the family.

A lovely affair of Friday was the 6 o'clock dinner given for members of the Louise McGuire Benevolent club at the home of Mrs. J. B. Swanson. The reception rooms were adorned with an artistic arrangement of red Radiance roses and holly branches.

At the conclusion of the dinner gifts were presented to the following guests: Mrs. Key, Fuqua, Kersh, Johnson, Roberts, Culver, Deid, Mulhearn, Hales, Hudson, Copes, Bell, Hamilton, Thompson, Jones, Hodges, Hart, Mon-rore, Passman and Perhomus.

of the delicious Miss Henrietta est to Santa Claus Mae Smith gave a Mr. Herbert Walk- to the old year, Miss ama Alexander enter-cleaver readings. Pres-ent Sadie Ruth Buckner, Swayze, Lucille Hyde, Jos- Worthington, Geneva Cas-

MERRY CHRISTMAS
And A Happy, Prosperous
NEW YEAR
To Our Friends and Patrons
CULP
MUSIC SHOP
124 South Grand St.
Phone 4719

For an Old-Time CHRISTMAS FEAST

Christmas Dinner
SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS
12 M. TO 8:30 P. M.

Celery Mixed Olives Salted Pecans
Catawba Grapejuice Fresh Shrimp Cocktail
Chicken a la Reine Consomme Chantilly
Baked Fresh Oysters, Casino
Omelette with Fresh Turkey Livers
Young Tom Turkey, Dressing, Cranberry Jelly
Broiled Filet Mignon, a la Richelieu
Milkfed Chicken, Home Style, Banana Fritter
Baked Sugar Cured Ham, Westphalian
Broiled Baby Lamb Chop, with Bacon
Cauliflower New String Beans
Au Gratin Virginia Sweets
Cider Sauce Hot Mince Pie
Apple Pie with Cheese
Home Made Fruit Cake, Hard Sauce
Devils Food Cake
Tuffins Coffee, Tea or Milk

GINIA
OTEL
Free Shop

The Junior Catholic Daughters met Monday afternoon with Marguerite McCoy, hostess.

The Yuletide spirit was reflected in the interesting games and contests held on this occasion.

A lovely "Sugar Plum" tree was the centerpiece on the tea table where the following members: Kathleen Rivoire, Lily Belle Glen, Kathleen Rolfe, Clara Virginia Cornett, Mary Elizabeth Shaugnessy, Mary Elizabeth Mahr, Margaret Devereaux, Marguerite McCoy.

Boyd Grant, student at L. S. U., is enjoying the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grant.

Mrs. Betty Smelser is spending the Yuletide with relatives in south Louisiana.

Delivery of All Parcel Post Packages Is Made

Delivery of all packages of holiday parcel post mail was made last night, Acting Postmaster J. R. Wooten said Saturday. He further added if a person failed to receive his mail it would be because there was no one at home to receive it when delivered there.

The volume of parcel post mail this season has been two and a half times that of the holiday season of 1932, he said, and indicates a healthy gain.

The parcel post department, which has been temporarily housed in the new federal building, will be removed to the old postoffice, where it will be conducted as formerly, the acting postmaster stated. He did not give any indication as to the date when the new federal building will be permanently occupied by the post-office, but it is believed that removal will be made soon after New Year's.

Thompson Wood Lee Camp Will Install Its Officers

Thompson Wood Lee camp No. 9, Spanish War veterans, will hold its annual installation of officers at their first meeting in January. The auxiliary officers will also be installed at the same time.

The officers of the camp to be installed are: Commander, J. F. Block; senior vice-commander, F. C. Brees; junior vice-commander, E. W. Ro; quartermaster, W. B. Mangham; a jutant, P. M. Gayle; trustee, M. Munholland; patriotic instructor, G. Courtney; historian, R. N. Slater; chaplain, J. T. Shell; officer of the day, Charles Eastman; officer of the guard, E. B. Naylor; sergeant major, W. J. Vinson; quartermaster sergeant, Elmer Webb.

and in soliciting your business for the New Year, we will give the same courteous treatment.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS to My Customers and Friends

MRS. ROWENA JENKINS
Delta Hide and Metal Co.

We Wish You All A MERRY XMAS And A Prosperous NEW YEAR

SEASON'S GREETINGS

Ferd Levi Stationery Co., Inc.
107 DeSiard, Corner Walnut
Phone 208

Onachita Baking Co.

TAKES THIS OPPORTUNITY TO WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A NEW YEAR FILLED WITH HAPPINESS

May We Wish You A Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

WOLFF BROS.
Corner 4th and DeSiard Sts.

ANOTHER ELABORATE PARTY REPLETE WITH MERRIMENT HAS BEEN PLANNED TO CELEBRATE

New Year's Eve

AT THE HOTEL FRANCES

CHEROKEE TERRACE THIS YEAR

A restricted reservation list will assure ample space for dining and dancing in an atmosphere of that combined dignity and gaiety for which the Hotel Frances and the Cherokee Terrace is famous. Beautiful favors and souvenirs for everyone. Dancing from 11 P. M. until 5 A. M. A delicious breakfast has been planned by the Frances chef, which will be served at 4 o'clock.

EDDIE JACOBS
And His New Yorkers, Entertainers DeLuxe

Sponsored by Junior Charity League

$1.50 Per Person includes Dining, Dancing, Favors and Fun.

EDITED
BY GEORGE V. LOFTON

SPORTS of the WORLD

JESUIT WINS TITLE ON PENETRATIONS; GAME

NEITHER TEAM IS ABLE TO SCORE IN CLASS 'A' BATTLEPenetrate Twice Beyond Byrd 20-Yard Line to Win CrownNEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—A tense game between the high school of New Orleans and Byrd high of Shreveport ended in a scoreless tie here this afternoon to decide the state high school football championship on two penetrations past their opponents' 20-yard line to none for Byrd high.In deciding the championship on merits of play, the officials followed a ruling adopted for the state high school teams in the event of a 0-0 game.Both teams played a cautious game until well in the second half, when the Byrd eleven began to take long chances on passes. Few were completed for gains, however.The Jesuit squad advanced the ball for 10 first downs to six for the visitors.Both lines played good defensive football. The Byrd linemen stopped a brief Jesuit advance one time in the third quarter on the Byrd five-yard line, holding their opponents for downs.The game was a plugging affair with little of the spectacular about it.
The Jesuits victory on penetration was due chiefly to trick double-reverse plays which enabled hard-hitting backs to circle ends for short but continued gains.McDaniel, substituting for O'Brien at right end, was an outstanding player for the Byrd team in both offensive and defensive work. Stone, at left half position, was a hard-driving ball carrier. Dean, fullback, was hand-capped by heavily-handled head injuries, but was in the thick of many plays.For the Jesuits, Wischer was an alert defensive player at right guard, while Friedrichs and Calhoun, quarterback and fullback, respectively, were serious threats at all times to the Byrd team.

Lineups and summary:

Byrd	Pos.	Jesuits
Puryear	LT	Childress
Trickett	LT	Egan
Smith	LG	Juge
Bush	RG	Edwards
Farmer	RT	Casey
O'Brien	RB	Loker
Ellis	QB	Friedrichs
Stone	LB	Antonini
Anderson	LB	Calhoun
Dean	FB	Calhoun
Byrd	0	0
Jesuits	0	0

Officials: Referee, Ted Bane (Au-laine); umpire, "Moon" Dunote (Auburn); head linesman, Pete Leonard (Michigan); field judge, W. J. Lech-singer (Tulane).ARKANSAS SQUAD REPORTS MONDAYRazorbacks Start Practice Christmas for Game
With CentenaryFAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 23.— (AP)—Even if it is Christmas, the University of Arkansas football team—uncrowned champions of the Southwest conference—reports for training
Monday afternoon on the Arkansas Centenary college Dixie classic at New Year's day.Coach Fred C. Thompson expects 28 red and white players to answer the call for practice, donning the uniforms they laid aside nearly a month ago after the university's most successful conference football season. The Razorbacks were denied the official title because of failure of an ineligible substitute player.Some of the best known gridiron figures of the southwest are members of the rival squads which meet in the Dixie classic for the benefit of charity.Among these are Tom Murphy, Paul Rucker, Ralph LaForge, Bill Benton, John Messel, the Jordan twins and Jack Newby of the Razorbacks and Paul Geisler, Manning, Smith, "Shorty"
Olin and B. Parker of the Centenary Gentlemen.Centenary had a record for the past season comparable with the Razorbacks. It defeated Louisiana State Normal, Henderson (Ark.) Teachers,
Baylor, Texas A. and M., Union, S.
M. U., Mississippi and Loyola (New Orleans).The Gentlemen were undefeated but were tied by L. S. U., T. C. U., and Texas.The Razorbacks will leave for Dallas either Thursday or Friday.Sicily Island Cagers Win
Two Games From UraniaSICILY ISLAND, Dec. 23.—(Special) —In spite of being rated the underdogs, the senior boys and girls of Sicily Island nosed out the mighty Urania squads here Thursday night in the boys' game; Sicily Island won 24-15.Expanding their record of having lost only two games out of 15 this season, the local girls downed the Urania squad 10-0 in a tight game.Sarazen Selects Second All-American Golf TeamDenny Shute Rated Best
Golfer in Nation;
Craig Wood NextMIAMI, Dec. 23.—(Special)—The rising young giants of a new generation in American golf are finally sounding the death knell of the mighty men of the past, in the opinion of Craig Sarazen who today announced his second annual all-American golf team.As Johnny McDermott, Tommy Mc-Namara, Jack Hutchinson and the other pioneer winners strode from the center of the competitive stage, and Jim Barnes, Cyril Walker, and other later monarchs withdrew into the shadows, so now the twin indestructibles of golf, Walter Hagen and Macdonald Smith, are facing the twight of their competitive careers.
Sarazen finds in making public his selections of the nation's best golfers for the year.His all-American team for 1933 follows: No. 1, Denny Shute; No. 2, Craig
Wood; No. 3, Joe Kirkwood; No. 4,
Paul Runyan; No. 5, Leo Diegel; No.
6, Macdonald Smith; No. 7, Walter Hagen; No. 8, Ralph Guldahl; No. 9, Willie Gorgin; No. 10, Willie Macfarlane.The 1933 array named by Sarazen sounds the keynote of the onrush of youth. Hagen and Mac Smith, second and third in Sarazen's first big ten, have dropped back to seventh and sixth places, and for the second successive year, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell, Al Espinosa, Joe Turnesa, Bill Melhorn and other big names, once familiar in the roll-call of champions, are missing. Sarazen, who traded in his two open crowns of 1932 for the 1933 P. G. A. title, does not rank himself in this rating, which is based solely on the tournament showings made by the professionals during the year now closing.Wiry Denny Shute leads the pack solely because of his victory in the British open, the best first showing ever made by an American on his first crossing of the Atlantic.Says Sarazen: "Denny carried four 73s at St. Andrews, stood off Wood in a play-off, and then clinched his claim by beating Johnny Goodman, the national open champion, in a 72-hole match for the world's title and the Col. Henry L. Doherty gold cup at the Miami Biltmore Country club here. Shute's progress has been slow but sure. He ranked fourth last year, and all three of those rated above him, Olin Dutra, Hagen and Mac Smith, have fallen back." Gene and Denny are teammates this winter as members with Mike Brady, Louis Costello and Ned Everhart, of the pro staff of the Miami Biltmore Country club, a unit of the Florida Tour Round clubs of which Col. Henry L.
Doherty is president.Wood is a strong second, Sarazen says, rating the powerful blonde from Deal, N. J., the most consistent player of the year. "He ran over the opposition all year long, and lacks only a major title to be the unchallenged king of them all," Gene explains. "He has stopped forcing his clubs and slugging for distance, and I like Wood's chances for success in the next five years better than those of any other golfer.""I place Kirkwood on the third step for his smashing victories in the Canadian and North and South opens, and his consistent play in both the American and British classics. Kirkwood is the one golfer who has been play day in and day out to play well, so he is one man who never has to fear going stale. I toured 20,000 miles with Kirkwood last summer and I can testify that the big Australian has improved around the greens, now knows how to play the sand trap, and that he is without a peer in playing from the traps, and has decided to play the old Vardon game, using sponkshots instead of forcing the long irons."The banlam Runyan puzzles Sarazen, to whom Paul is the Mickey Walker of golf—just a whisker away from the heavyweight championship class.
"In my mind," Gene explains, "Runyan suffers from wobbly mental attitude in major championship play, which prevents him from doing the scoring that wins for him in regular open tournaments. In 1933 Paul won the Agua Caliente, Florida Year-

(Continued on Ninth Page)

Wisner and Central Split Pair of Basketball GamesWISNER, Dec. 23.—(Special)—In a doubleheader tilt here with Central high, the Wisner senior girls won 23 to 21 in a close game. A much improved squad was seen in the Wisner girls since last week when they were defeated by Natchez high. McGee and with 20 points was high scorer for Wisner while Williams scored 12 points for Central.The Central boys downed the local boys 37 to 31 with the perfect goal shooting of Rogers, who scored 14 of his team's points, and Moore scored 12 points. For Wisner, T. Wells scored 10 points and Robertson tallied eight.Army and Navy to Play
In Philadelphia AgainANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 23.—(AP)—
The United States Naval academy athletic authorities today announced that the 1934 army-navy football game again would be played in Philadelphia.NO WRESTLING AT STADIUM THURSDAYThere will be no wrestling show at Roosevelt stadium Thursday night, Promoter Guy Owen having decided that there will be too many side attractions incident to Christmas holidays to occupy the time of local mat fans. However, the shows will be resumed next week and the promoter said he will line up an all-star card for the first program of 1934.On the SIDELINES
By Edward J. NeilAt the close of each football season
Professor Frank Dickinson of Illinois, gets out the logarithm book, takes a final slant at the stars, sets the records down and by pure mathematics, comes up with the national rating of all major teams.Last year Michigan headed the list and this year Michigan also leads the field. Nebraska, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, Ohio State, Southern California, Princeton, Oregon, Army and Purdue follow in that order.The Rose Bowl elections, Stanford and Columbia, are not in sight among the first ten.

Squirrel Cage

As a means of stirring up trouble
Prof. Dickinson has developed a plan that was better than the league of nations. Michigan, eh? Held to a draw with Nebraska, only beat Illinois 10 to 6 and Iowa 10 to 6.
Second place Nebraska? Beaten by
No. 4 Pittsburgh, just managed to beat Iowa 7 to 6. And by the way, where's Iowa on the list? Nowhere.Third place Minnesota? Tied four times, by Indiana, Purdue, Northwestern and Michigan; beat Wisconsin by three points, Pittsburgh by four.So what do you draw from all this?
Well, this is a scientific calculation.
Therefore points should mean something. The professor isn't just a fellow who forms opinions. He uses slide rules and things.So let's draw a line on these top four through Minnesota. There's a team that was as good as Michigan on paper, because it held Michigan scoreless. Northwestern held Minnesota scoreless, so Northwestern is as good as Michigan. Indiana wasn't beaten by Minnesota and scored six points on the Gophers. So Indiana naturally is six points better than Michigan. By the same reasoning
Purdue is seven points stronger.
Pittsburgh is three points better, Iowa is seven and even South Dakota is six.If you aren't following me it's probably just as well.

There'll Be Days

But the point I'd like to make is this, that there's absolutely no way of saying with any certainty, by any system, that one major team outranks all others on the basis of a season's play. You simply can't put down the team that came out of the top of your choices with any hope of success.After seeing a lot of big eleven play all fall, you can form an opinion. You can base it on fairly sound reasoning. Your choice you know from watching has strong points and weak ones. They've had bad days you can't laugh off, good ones when it appeared to you they could whip anything in the land.Then your first choice were to play some fellow's first choice, what do you think would happen? Just this. If your team had a good day it might win. But your star halfback might break a leg on the first play, your best tackle get the flu, the other fellow's strength just meet your weaknesses. Or maybe it rains, or snows, or something.No team can keep a peak throughout eight or ten games. If you happen to be playing a weak team on your off day, the record is saved. Princeton was the only major team to go through 1933 unbeaten. But little Washington and Lee held them 6 to 0, almost beat them.

(Continued on Ninth Page)

Jekyll, Or Hyde?

Personally, the best team I saw all year was the Princeton team the days it beat Columbia and Yale. That outfit had everything, and used it.
Luck was with them, too. That combination made them, to my mind, unbeatable those two days.But I can't prove it and I won't try. How do I know, if they tackled Michigan tomorrow, whether they'd play as they did against Yale and Columbia, or the way they did against Washington and Lee and Navy?Cage Tourney to Be Held At Winnsboro High SchoolWINNSBORO, Dec. 23.—(Special)—
The Winnsboro high school is sponsoring a senior boys' basketball tournament to be held here February 2 and 3. The principals and coaches of the high schools in all the neighboring parishes have been extended invitations to enter their teams.There are a number of strong teams in this section and the tournament should be filled with many thrills and close contests.
A trophy will be awarded the winning team.

TOURNEY QUEEN

Ruler of a vast realm is Miss Treva
Scott, 19, above—"Queen of the Seven Seas." A Pasadena junior college student, Miss Scott has been selected to reign at the annual Tournament of Roses in the California city on New Year's Day.MACK OBSERVES
71ST BIRTHDAYVeteran Philadelphia
Manager Takes First
Airplane RidePHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—(AP)— Connie Mack, veteran of half a century of baseball, passed the 71st milestone on his trail of life today by eagerly venturing into a new field for him.The diamond dean, who said they'd never get him off the ground, took his first airplane flight as part of his birthday celebration, riding in a cabin monoplane for 45 minutes with his nephew, Dick Birchler, at the controls.
"Say, that's great," was his exclamation after alighting in an airfield north of the city. "Now I can understand why everybody who ever goes up once wants to be in the air all the time."He soared over Philadelphia and its suburbs with his daughter, Ruth, and the wife of his nephew, picking out the two major league baseball parks, his home and other points of interest to him.Characteristically, he launched into the new field, his eyes sparkling with a youthful gleam, despite his entrance into the second extra year beyond the Biblical three-score-and-ten.
But of more moment are his coming baseball days—the command of a new and young aggregation of ball players.
He's looking forward to starting the rebuilding job on his Athletics, with aims and ambitions pointed toward the goals set by his powerful diamond squads of the past.As for retiring, he says the thought hasn't entered his mind, and anyone who asks gets an emphatic denial.Morris Is Named Head of Regional Baseball BureauDALLAS, Tex., Dec. 23.—(AP)—J.
Walter Morris, former president of the Texas baseball league, and for most of the 1932 season business manager of the Fort Worth ball club, today was designated head of the regional promotion bureau for the southern states by Joe Carr of Indianapolis, chairman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.The subordinate organization was formed this year by the national board as the framework for a general effort to re-stimulate baseball organization in minor leagues. Morris will maintain headquarters here.Morris already was at work today and planned to leave next Tuesday to promote the formation of the new class D leagues out of the class C makeup of the 1933 Dixie circuit, another in the Rio Grande valley and possibly small towns in the Panhandle, central Texas and southeast gulf coast,
as well as in Oklahoma.HUNT FIVE STOPS
TEXAS U., 28-22Improved Oiler Quintet Deals First Defeat to Longhorn TeamURANIA, Dec. 23.—(Special)—The Hunt Oilers put an end to Texas university's winning streak tonight, defeating the barnstorming Longhorns 28 to 22 in a fast, close game.The Oilers clicked smoothly to beat the Texans, who trimmed Brown Paper mill at Monroe in two games this week. The Hunt club continued to show improvement under their new coach, Bert Hann, former New York Nationals mentor, and the club gives promise of developing into one of the best quintets in this section.The Texans got off to an early lead, and after five minutes of play, they led 7 to 3. However, the Oilers rallied and after taking the lead midway in the first half, they were never headed. The score a time half was 17 to 13 for Hunt.Hunt kept the ball during most of the game and with Tanking keeping Joe Gray, Texans' star forward, well guarded, the Steers were fairly well stopped. The game was fast and cleanly played.Gray and Rooney, Hunt forward, were tied for individual scoring honors, each chalking up 10 points.The Texans' starting line-up began to show the strain of travel tonight and 13 players were used by the Longhorns.

The box score:	E.G.	F.T.	P.F.
Texas (24):	2	2	0
Gray, forward	4	0	0
Pringle, forward	0	1	0
Thompson, forward	0	1	4
Taylor, forward	0	0	0
Francis, center	3	2	0
Paulk, center	0	0	0
Fagan, guard	1	0	2
Allen, guard	0	0	0
Pennington, guard	0	0	0
Whitman, guard	0	0	1
Harris, guard	0	0	0
Lawson, guard	0	0	0
Edwards, guard	0	0	0

Totals 8 | 6 | 9 |Hunt (28): F.T. | P.F. |

Rooney, forward	5	0	1
Trammel, forward	0	2	0
Johns, center	1	0	1
Blevens, center	1	0	1
Hann, guard	1	2	1
Tomkins, guard	3	2	2

Totals 11 | 6 | 2 |Half-time score: Hunt Oilers 17,
Texas 12.

Referee, Garahan, L. S. U.

DUKE ASSISTANT
MAY GO TO TEXASC. M. Voyles Confers With Longhorn Officials
Concerning JobAUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 23.—(AP)—C.
M. Voyles, assistant coach at Duke university, left here today following a conference with athletic officials of the University of Texas concerning the position of head football coach."They sounded me out and I sounded them out," Voyles said.
"Things here look good and I would like to have the coaching position provided everything could be arranged to the mutual satisfaction of the athletic council and of myself."Voyles said he gave the athletic council a salary budget for himself, varsity assistants and freshman coach. He also asked to be allowed to name his own assistants. He declined to state the amount for which he offered to serve or the salaries sought for assistants.Voyles played football at Oklahoma
A. and M. He coached at the Weatherford (Oklahoma) Teachers college and was an assistant under Bob Zupke at Illinois before becoming an assistant at Duke.He visited the request of W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the athletic council, he said.Metzenthin and other athletic officials of the University of Texas will attend the national collegiate athletic association meeting in Chicago next week. Metzenthin said he expected to look over other prospects for the Texas coaching job at the meeting.SPORTS MATTER
By
George V. Lofton

STANFORD'S PLIGHT

Although they'll enter the Rose Bowl classic as overwhelming favorites to trounce Columbia's slightly mud-eaten Lions, Coach Tiny Thornhill's Stanford team will be on the well known spot.Stanford and Southern California, arch rivals, are arch rivals and Trojan supporters are of the opinion that Southern Cal should be in there upholding the honor of the west. The Cardinals will be playing in the Trojan's back-yard, so to speak, and the crowd will include thousands of fans who would prefer to watch Mister Jones' crew perform against the Lions. Therefore it will be a most critical audience.For that reason, the Cardinals will want to make a good impression.
On the other hand, if Thornhill's troupe turns it into a rout, the "I told you so" boys will remind you again that Stanford picked Columbia as its opponent just to run up a big score and make itself look good.Consequently, a fairly good guess is that Stanford will win by a couple of touchdowns. That would satisfy the lads who want to show Southern California that the Cardinals have just as good a club as the Trojans, and on the other hand, it wouldn't make Columbia look so terribly bad.Incidentally, we are just the least bit suspicious of these last-minute predictions that Columbia will make it tough for the Cardinals. Lou Little says his club will beat Stanford if the boys play as well as they did in November. "Hunk" Anderson comes along with the statement that the Lions are more ferocious than people give them credit for being, and he wouldn't be surprised if Columbia wins. Other coaches have joined the chorus of sudden-converted Columbia enthusiasts.Personally, we're inclined to believe the boys have one eye on the gate when they give out those kind of interviews.

THE WOES OF PRIMO

The heavyweight champion of the world used to be somebody, but not Mr. Primo Carnera seems to find the title something of a liability, according to the gents in the know. Primo has been having lots of trouble with the courts lately, and when the judges and his fan of five managers get through dividing him into equal shares, there won't be much left for Carnera, much less Mussolini.The woes of Primo are numerous.
Listen to Bill Braucher, sports editor of NEA Service, as he enumerates 'em."The troubles of your heavyweight champion of the world are just beginning. In a recent bankruptcy hear-ing, Primo Carnera testified that he had received $360 for his knockout of Jack Sharkey. The Moving Mountain went on to say that he could not recall what he had received for his part in the motion picture, "The Prizefighter and the Lady." Maybe he did it merely for the publicity, with perhaps an NRA label thrown in.There are those who can remember back a few years to Dempsey and they will say that if Primo got $360 for knocking out Jack Sharkey the way he did, he was overpaid. Then again, there must have been many in the house that night who would have given da Preem $360 personally to see the Frenzied Fishwife punched into a coma.This corner, not having that much at hand, would strike the man off the generous gesture of Mussolini.The story is outlandish, of course, but could easily be true. Those familiar with the grim endurance Primo carries along as members of the cast—
Bill Duffy, Owen Madden, Charlie Friedman and Abe Attell—will think that when Primo says he actually got $360 from that fight he is just going around bragging.Carnera's woes promise to multiply now that he's champ. He may come to the point of harassment Dempsey knew when training for his first Tunney fight. Wherever he goes somebody will leap out at him with a judgment or attachment. Creditors with demands will be just around every corner.One of his advisory board, Bill Duffy, is preparing even now to defend a suit concerning income tax matters, and Primo will have to say all over again that he doesn't know.
Substitutes: North—Steele, negotiate Tech; Sixth, Temple, Conell; Maloney, Boston
Ranger; Villanova; Calio, B.
South—Lacey, Georgia Tech;
Zell, Georgia Tech; Barclay
Carolina; Olsson, Mercer; Georgia Tech.STAR TEAMS IN FIRST WORKSquads for East-V Game New Year
Gather at FriscoSAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—(AP)— Football stars from practically every section of the country assembled today and planned into preparation for the charity game that announces the pick of the east game west on New Year's day.The eastern squad of 22 players arrived, but during the day they rushed through a brisk to iron out travel kinks and customized to feel of Kezar sta-Andy Kerr of Colgate, ad-Hanley of Northwestern, co-coaching the delegation from the eastern country, last no time in the two backfields. In one they Joe Laws of Iowa, Charley Sator, Colgate, Nick Lukats of Notre and Beattie Feathers of Tennessee were Paul Pardo, Purdue, Mike Herman Everhardt of Michigan and Ed Donowski of Fordham.Coach Hanley emphasized the fact that the game was for the benefit of the Red Cross and around to gain the most effec-Linesmen were started on and other fundamentals. Every tempt was made to select forward walls. The work about an hour.The western squad, co-Hillingberry of Washington Perry Leroy of Denver practice this morning.
After a round of en-morrow the two squaheadquarters, the east and the west in Berkeley ern players will practice ford university field an-ers at the University ofThey're working their way through school and are glad of the chance. The jobs are legitimate. The boys actually work.One is a landscape gardener, five are waiters and three more work for gasoline companies.Bob O'Connor of Bakersfield, left guard, puts in his spare time as a landscape gardener.
Bill Corbus of Vallejo, captain and right guard, is the regional representative of an oil company. He has to produce or somebody else will get the job. Despite the demands on his time, Corbus, for his brilliant student activities was accorded the honor of being elected president of the student body last year, and this year came close to winning the Phi Beta Kappa key.Wes Muller of Glendale, center, and Bob Maentz of Palo Alto, left half, are gas service station employes.
Maentz has added responsibility in that he is married.Claude Callaway of Fresno, right tackle; Jim Moscrip of Adena, O., left end; Bob Hamilton, Sewickley, Pa.,

EDITED
BY GEORGE V. LOFTON

SPORTS of the WORLD

JESUIT WINS TITLE ON PENETRATIONS; GAME

NEITHER TEAM IS ABLE TO SCORE IN CLASS 'A' BATTLE

By Penetrations Twice Behind Byrd 20-Yard Line to Win Crown

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—A closely played game between the Jesuit high school of New Orleans and Byrd high of Shreveport ended in a scoreless tie here this afternoon to give the Jesuits the state high school football championship on two penetrations past their opponents' 20-yard line to none for Byrd high.

In deciding the championship on merits of play, the officials followed a ruling adopted for the state high school teams in the event of a 0-0 game.

Both teams played a cautious game until well in the second half, when the Byrd eleven began to take long chances on passes. Few were completed for gains, however.

The Jesuit squad advanced the ball for 10 first downs to six for the visitors.

Both lines played good defensive football. The Byrd linemen stopped a brief Jesuit advance one time in the third quarter on the Byrd five-yard line, holding their opponents for downs.

The game was a plugging affair with little of the spectacular about it. The Jesuits victory on penetration was due chiefly to trick double-reverse plays which enabled hard-hitting backs to circle ends for short but continued gains.

McDaniels, substituting for O'Brien at right end, was an outstanding player for the Byrd team in both offensive and defensive work. Stone, at left half position, was a hard-driving ball carrier. Dean, fullback, was handicapped by heavily bandaged head injuries, but was in the thick of many plays.

For the Jesuits, Wischer was an alert defensive player at right guard, while Friedrichs and Calhoun, quarterback and fullback, respectively, were serious threats at all times to the Byrd team.

Lineups and summary:

Byrd	Pos.	Jesuits
Puryear	LT	Childress
Trickett	LG	Egan
Smith	LT	Juge
Larsen	C	Edwards
Bush	RG	Wischer
Farmer	RT	Casey
O'Brien	RE	Loker
Ellis	QB	Friedrichs
Stone	LH	Antonini
Anderson	RH	Schulte
Dean	FB	Calhoun
Jesuits
Byrd
0	0	0-0
0	0	0-0
0	0	0-0

Officials: Referee, Ted Bank (Tulane); umpire, "Moon" Ducote (Auburn); head linesman, Pete Leonard (Michigan); field judge, W. J. Luch-singer (Tulane).

ARKANSAS SQUAD REPORTS MONDAY

Razorbacks Start Practice Christmas for Game
With Centenary

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Even if it is Christmas, the University of Arkansas football team—uncrowned champions of the South-west conference—reports for training Monday afternoon or the Arkansas-Centenary college Dixie classic at New Year's day.

Coach Fred C. Thomsen expects 28 red and white players to answer the call for practice, donning the uniforms they laid aside nearly a month ago after the university's most successful conference football season. The Razorbacks were denied the official title because of the use of an ineligible substitute player.

Some of the best known gridiron figures of the southwest are members of the rival squads which meet in the Dixie classic for the benefit of charity.

Among these are Tom Murphy, Paul Rucker, Ralph LaForge, Bill Benton, John Measel, the Jordan twins and Jack Newby of the Razorbacks and Paul Geisler, Manning Smith, "Shorty" Oslin and B. Parker of the Centenary Gentlemen.

Centenary had a record for the past season comparable with the Razorbacks. It defeated Louisiana State Normal, Henderson (Ark.) Teachers, Baylor, Texas A. and M., Union, S. M. U., Mississippi and Loyola (New Orleans).

The Gentlemen were undefeated but were tied by L. S. U., T. C. U., and Texas.

The Razorbacks will leave for Dallas either Thursday or Friday.

Sicily Island Cagers Win Two Games From Urania

SICILY ISLAND, Dec. 23.—(Special)—In spite of being rated the underdogs, the senior boys and girls of Sicily Island nosed out the mighty Urania squads here Thursday night. In the boys' game, Sicily Island won 21-19.

Keeping their record of having lost only two games out of 15 this season, the local girls downed the Urania girls 20 to 25 in a tight game.

Sarazen Selects Second All-American Golf Team

Denny Shute Rated Best
Golfer in Nation;
Craig Wood Next

MIAMI, Dec. 23.—(Special)—The rising young giants of a new generation in American golf are finally sounding the death knell of the mighty men of the past, in the opinion of Gene Sarazen who today announced his second annual all-American golf team.

As Johnny McDermott, Tommy McNamara, Jack Hutchinson and the other pioneer winners strode from the center of the competitive stage, and Jim Barnes, Cyril Walker, and other later monarchs withdrew into the shadows, so now the twin indestructibles of golf, Walter Hagen and Macdonald Smith, are facing the twilight of their competitive careers. Sarazen finds in making public his selections of the nation's best golfers for the year.

His all-American team for 1933 follows: No. 1, Denny Shute; No. 2, Craig Wood; No. 3, Joe Kirkwood; No. 4, Paul Runyan; No. 5, Leo Diegel; No. 6, Macdonald Smith; No. 7, Walter Hagen; No. 8, Ralph Guldahl; No. 9, Willie Goggin; No. 10, Willie Macfarlane.

The 1933 array named by Sarazen sounds the keynote of the onrush of youth. Hagen and Mac Smith, second and third in Sarazen's first list, have dropped back to seventh and sixth places, and for the second successive year, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell, Al Espinosa, Joe Turnesa, Bill McIlhorm and other big names, once familiar in the roll-call of champions, are missing. Sarazen, who traded in his two open crowns of 1932 for the 1933 P. G. A. title, does not rank himself in this rating which is based solely on the tournament showings made by the professionals during the year now closing.

Why Denny Shute leads the pack solely because of his victory in the British open, the best first showing ever made by an American on his first crossing of the Atlantic.

Says Sarazen: "Denny carded four 73's at St. Andrews, stood off Wood in a play-off, and then clinched his claim by beating Johnny Goodman, the national open champion, in a 72-hole match for the world's title and the Col. Henry L. Doherty gold cup at the Miami Biltmore Country club here. Shute's progress has been slow but sure. He ranked fourth last year, and all three of those rated above him, Olin Dutra, Hagen and Mac Smith, have fallen back." Gene and Denny are teammates this winter as members, with Mike Brady, Louis Costello and Ned Everhart, of the pro staff of the Miami Biltmore Country club, a unit of the Florida Year-Round club of which Col. Henry L. Doherty is president.

Wood is a strong second, Sarazen says, rating the powerful blonde from Deal, N. J., the most consistent player of the year. "He ran over the opposition all year long, and lacks only a major title to be the unchallenged king of them all," Gene explains. "He has stopped forcing his clubs and slugging for distance, and I like Wood's chances for success in the next five years better than those of any other golfer."

"I place Kirkwood on the third step for his smashing victories in the Canadian and North and South opens, and his consistent play in both the American and British classics. Kirkwood is the one golfer who has to play day in and day out to play well, so he is one man who never has to fear going stale. I toured 20,000 miles with Kirkwood last summer and I can testify that the big Australian has improved around the greens, now knows how to play the sandiron so that he is without a peer in playing from the traps, and has decided to play the old Vardon game, using spoonshots instead of forcing the long irons."

The bantam Runyan puzzles Sarazen, to whom Paul is the Mickey Walker of golf—just a whisker away from the heavyweight championship class. "In my mind," Gene explains, "Runyan suffers from wobbly mental attitude in major championship play, which prevents him from doing the scoring that wins for him in regular open tournaments. In 1933 Paul won the Agua Caliente, Florida Year-Round."

(Continued on Ninth Page)

Wisner and Central Split Pair of Basketball Games

WISNER, Dec. 23.—(Special)—In a doubleheader tied here with Central high, the Wisner senior girls won 23 to 21 in a close game. A much improved squad was seen in the Wisner girls since last week when they were defeated by Natchez high. McGee with 20 points was high scorer for Wisner while Williams scored 12 points for Central.

The Central boys downed the local boys 37 to 31 with the perfect goal shooting of Rogers, who scored 14 of his team's points, and Moore scored 12 points. For Wisner, T. Wells scored 10 points and Robertson tallied eight.

Army and Navy to Play In Philadelphia Again

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The United States Naval academy athletic authorities today announced that the 1934 army-navy football game again would be played in Philadelphia.

NO WRESTLING AT STADIUM THURSDAY

There will be no wrestling show at Roosevelt stadium Thursday night, Promoter Guy Owen having decided that there will be too many side attractions incident to Christmas holidays to occupy the time of local mat fans. However, the shows will be resumed next week and the promoter said he will line up an all-star card for the first program of 1934.

On the SIDELINES By Edward J. Neil

At the close of each football season Professor Frank Dickinson of Illinois, gets out the logarithm book, takes a final slant at the stars, sets the records down and by pure mathematics, comes up with the national rating of all major teams.

Last year Michigan headed the list and this year Michigan also leads the field. Nebraska, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, Ohio State, Southern California, Princeton, Oregon, Army and Purdue follow in that order.

The Rose Bowl elections, Stanford and Columbia, are not in sight among the first ten.

Squirrel Cage

As a means of stirring up trouble Prof. Dickinson has developed a plan that was better than the league of nations. Michigan, eh? Held to a scoreless tie by Minnesota, only beat Illinois 7 to 6 and Iowa 10 to 6.

Second place Nebraska? Beaten by No. 4 Pittsburgh, just managed to beat Iowa 7 to 6. And by the way, where's Iowa on the list? Nowhere.

Third place Minnesota? Tied four times, by Indiana, Purdue, Northwestern and Michigan; beat Wisconsin by three points, Pittsburgh by four.

So what do you draw from all this? Well, this is a scientific calculation. Therefore points should mean something. The professor isn't just a fellow who forms opinions. He uses slide rules and things.

So let's draw a line on these top four through Minnesota. There's a team that was as good as Michigan on paper, because it held Michigan scoreless. Northwestern held Minnesota scoreless, so Northwestern is as good as Michigan. Indiana wasn't beaten by Minnesota and scored six points on the Gophers. So Indiana naturally is six points better than Michigan. By the same reasoning Purdue is seven points stronger. Pittsburgh is three points better, Iowa is seven and even South Dakota is six.

If you aren't following me it's probably just as well.

There'll Be Days

But the point I'd like to make is this, that there's absolutely no way of saying with any certainty, by any system, that one major team outranks all others on the basis of a season's play. You simply can't put down ten teams, rate them, and then defend your choices with any hope of success. After seeing a lot of big eleven's play all fall, you can form an opinion. You can base it on fairly sound reasoning. Your choice you know from watching has strong points and weak ones. They've had bad days you can't laugh off, good ones when it appeared to you they could whip anything in the land.

Then if your first choice were to play some other fellow's first choice, what do you think would happen? Just this. If your team had a good day it might win. But your star half-back might break a leg on the first play, your best tackle get the flu, the other fellow's strength just meet your weaknesses. Or maybe it rains, or snows, or something.

No team can keep a peak through eight or ten games. If you happen to be playing a weak team on your off day, the record is saved. Princeton was the only major team to go through 1933 unbeaten. But little Washington and Lee held them 6 to 0, almost beat them.

Jekyll, Or Hyde?

Personally, the best team I saw all year was the Princeton team the days it beat Columbia and Yale. That outfit had everything, and used it. Luck was with them, too. That combination made them, to my mind, unbeatable those two days. But I can't prove it and I won't try. How do I know, if they tackled Michigan tomorrow, whether they'd play as they did against Yale and Columbia, or the way they did against Washington and Lee and Navy?

Cage Tourney to Be Held At Winnsboro High School

WINNSBORO, Dec. 23.—(Special)—The Winnsboro high school is sponsoring a senior boys' basketball tournament to be held here February 2 and 3. The principals and coaches of the high schools in all the neighboring parishes have been extended invitations to enter their teams.

There are a number of strong teams in this section and the tournament should be filled with many thrills and close contests.

A trophy will be awarded the winning team.

TOURNEY QUEEN

Ruler of a vast realm is Miss Treva Scott, 19 above—"Queen of the Seven Seas." A Pasadena junior college student, Miss Scott has been selected to reign at the annual Tournament of Roses in the California city on New Year's Day.

MACK OBSERVES 71ST BIRTHDAY

Veteran Philadelphia
Manager Takes First
Airplane Ride

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Connie Mack, veteran of half a century of baseball, passed the 71st milestone on his trail of life today by eagerly venturing into a new field for him.

The diamond dean, who said they'd never get him off the ground, took his first airplane flight as part of his birthday celebration, riding in a cabin monoplane for 45 minutes with his nephew, Dick Birchler, at the controls. "Say, that's great," was his exclamation after alighting in an airfield north of the city. "Now I can understand why everybody who ever goes up once wants to be in the air all the time."

He soared over Philadelphia and its suburbs with his daughter, Ruth, and the wife of his nephew, picking out the two major league baseball parks, his home and other points of interest to him.

Characteristically, he launched into the new field, his eyes sparkling with a youthful gleam, despite his entrance into the second extra year beyond the Biblical three-score-and-ten.

But of more moment are his coming baseball days—the command of a new and young aggregation of ball players. He's looking forward to starting the rebuilding job on his Athletics, with aims and ambitions pointed toward the goals set by his powerful diamond squads of the past.

As for retiring, he says the thought hasn't entered his mind, and anyone who asks gets an emphatic denial.

Morris Is Named Head of Regional Baseball Bureau

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 23.—(AP)—J. Walter Morris, former president of the Texas baseball league, and for most of the 1932 season business manager of the Fort Worth ball club, today was designated head of the regional promotion bureau for the southern states by Joe Carr of Indianapolis, chairman of the National League of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The subordinate organization was formed this year by the national board as the framework for a general effort to re-stimulate baseball organization in minor leagues. Morris will maintain headquarters here.

Morris already was at work today and planned to leave next Tuesday to promote the formation of two class D leagues out of the class C makeup of the 1933 Dixie circuit, another in the Rio Grande valley and possibly small loops in the Panhandle, central Texas and southeast golf coast, as well as in Oklahoma.

Smiles in SPORTS

(By NEA Service)

STALLINGS STOOPS WHILE HIS BRAVES TAKE 27 MINUTES TO CONQUER

When George Stallings, one of the most superstitious of ball players, was managing the Braves in 1914, he hired Oscar Duguey as coach. And from Oscar comes the following story about George:

"George had one pet superstition that nearly gave him a stroke that year."

Duguey recalls.

"If the Braves started to hit, he wouldn't move. Well, on this day the Braves started a rally just as Stallings was stooping to tie a shoe lace. The half inning lasted almost 27 minutes, during which time the boys scored six runs and George continued to stoop.

"At the end of the inning he was so bent up that he had to be helped off the bench."

HUNT FIVE STOPS TEXAS U., 28-22

Improved Oiler Quintet Deals First Defeat to Longhorn Team

URANIA, Dec. 23.—(Special)—The Hunt Oilers put an end to Texas university's winning streak tonight, defeating the barnstorming Longhorns 28 to 22 in a fast, close game.

The Oilers clicked smoothly to beat the Texans, who trimmed Brown Paper mill at Monroe in two games this week. The Hunt club continued to show improvement under their new coach, Bert Hann, former New York Nationals mentor, and the club gives promise of developing into one of the best quintets in this section.

The Texans got off to an early lead, and after five minutes of play, they led 7 to 3. However, the Oilers rallied and after taking the lead midway in the first half, they were never headed. The score at the half was 17 to 13 for Hunt.

Hunt kept the ball during most of the game and with Tomkins keeping Jack Gray, Texas' star forward, well guarded, the Steers were fairly well stopped. The game was fast and cleanly played.

Gray and Rooney, Hunt forward, were tied for individual scoring honors, each chalking up 10 points.

The Texans' starting line-up began to show the strain of travel tonight and 13 players were used by the Longhorns.

The box score:

Texas (22)	F.G.	F.T.	P.F.
Gray, forward	4	2	2
Prigmore, forward	0	1	0
Thompson, forward	0	1	4
Taylor, forward	0	0	0
Francis, center	3	2	0
Paulk, center	0	0	0
Fagan, guard	1	0	2
Allen, guard	0	0	0
Pennington, guard	0	0	0
Whitman, guard	0	0	1
Harris, guard	0	0	0
Lawson, guard	0	0	0
Edwards, guard	0	0	0
Totals	8	6	9

Hunt (28)

F.T.	F.T.	P.F.
Rooney, forward	5	0
Trammel, forward	0	2
Johns, center	1	0
Blevens, center	1	0
Hann, center	1	2
Tomkins, guard	3	2
Totals	11	6

Half-time score: Hunt Oilers 17, Texas 13.

Referee, Garahan, L. S. U.

DUKE ASSISTANT MAY GO TO TEXAS

C. M. Voyles Confers With Longhorn Officials
Concerning Job

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 23.—(AP)—C. M. Voyles, assistant coach at Duke university, left here today following a conference with athletic officials of the University of Texas concerning the position of head football coach.

"They sounded me out and I sounded them out," Voyles said. "Things here look good and I would like to have the coaching position provided everything could be arranged to the mutual satisfaction of the athletic council and of myself."

Voyles said he gave the athletic council a salary budget for himself, variety assistants and freshman coach. He also asked to be allowed to name his own assistants. He declined to state the amount for which he offered to serve or the salaries sought for assistants.

Voyles played football at Oklahoma A. and M. He coached at the Weatherford (Oklahoma) Teachers college and was an assistant under Bob Zuppke at Illinois before becoming an assistant at Duke.

He visited here at the request of W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the athletic council, he said.

Metzenthin and other athletic officials of the University of Texas will attend the national collegiate athletic association meeting in Chicago next week. Metzenthin said he expected to look over other prospects for the Texas coaching job at the meeting.

SPORTS MATTER

By
George V. Lofton

STANFORD'S PLIGHT

Although they'll enter the Rose Bowl classic as overwhelming favorites to trounce Columbia's slightly moth-eaten Lions, Coach Tiny Thornhill's Stanford team will be on the well known spot.

Tiny Thornhill

Stanford and Southern California, of course, are arch rivals and Trojan s-u-p-ports are of the opinion that Southern Cal should be in there upholding the honor of the west. The Cardinals will be playing in the Trojan's back-yard, so to speak, and the crowd will include thousands of fans who would prefer to watch Mister Jones' crew perform against the Lions. Therefore it will be a most critical audience.

For that reason, the Cardinals will want to make a good impression.

On the other hand, if Thornhill's troupe turns it into a rout, the "I told you so" boys will remind you again that Stanford picked Columbia as its opponent just to run up a big score and make itself look good.

Consequently, a fairly good guess is that Stanford will win by a couple of touchdowns. That would satisfy the lads who want to show Southern California that the Cardinals have just as good a club as the Trojans, and on the other hand, it wouldn't make Columbia look so terribly bad.

Incidentally, we are just the least bit suspicious of these last-minute predictions that Columbia will make it tough for the Cardinals. Lou Little says his club will beat Stanford if the boys play as well as they did in November. "Hunk" Anderson comes along with the statement that the Lions are more ferocious than people give them credit for being and he wouldn't be surprised if Columbia wins. Other coaches have joined the chorus of suddenly-converted Columbia enthusiasts.

Personally, we're inclined to believe the boys have one eye on the gate when they give out those kind of interviews.

THE WOES OF PRIMO

The heavyweight champion of the world used to be somebody but one Mr. Primo Carnera seems to find the title something of a liability, according to the gents in the know. Primo has been having lots of trouble with the courts lately, and when the judges and his four or five managers get through dividing him into equal shares, there won't be much left for Carnera, much less Mussolini.

The woes of Primo are numerous. Listen to Bill Braucher, sports editor of NEA Service, as he enumerates 'em:

"The troubles of your heavyweight champion of the world are just beginning. In a recent bankruptcy hear-

Mississippi College Cage Card for 1934 Announced

CLINTON, Miss., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Calling for games with some of the section's scrappiest quintets, the Mississippi college basketball schedule for the 1933-34 season was announced by athletic officials here.

Among the teams that will be met this season by the Choctaws are the squads of Michigan State, Purdue, Murray State, Centenary, Millsaps, Louisiana Tech and Mississippi State.

The schedule:

Dec. 29—Illinois college at Jacksonville, Ill.

Jan. 1—Loyola university at Chicago.

Jan. 2—Michigan State college at Lansing.

Jan. 3—Western State teachers at Kalamazoo, Mich.

Jan. 4—Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind.

Jan. 5—Oakland City college, Oakland City, Ind.

Jan. 5—Murray State teachers, Murray, Ky.

Jan. 9—Louisiana State normal at Clinton, Miss.

Jan. 12-13—Miss. State college at Clinton, Miss.

Jan. 18—Millsaps at Clinton.

Jan. 19—Millsaps at Jackson.

Jan. 20—Celtics at Jackson.

Jan. 26—Louisiana college at Pineville, La.

Jan. 26—Louisiana normal at Natchitoches.

Jan. 29—Centenary at Shreveport.

Jan. 30—Louisiana Tech at Ruston.

Feb. 2-3—Southwestern of Memphis at Clinton.

Feb. 10—Louisiana Tech at Clinton.

Feb. 16—Millsaps at Jackson.

Feb. 17—Millsaps at Clinton.

Feb. 20—Southwestern Louisiana institute at Clinton.

KES LEAD IN PASADENA OPEN WITH 136

—By Lanning

SARAZEN SELECTS AN ALL-AMERICAN

(Continued From Eighth Page)

Round clubs, New England and Washington open titles, and shared the Mid-South laurels with Willie Macfarlane at Pinehurst. Personally, I think Runyan may lengthen out his game, but even now he has the length and accuracy to win in major competition if only he can muster the confidence he shows each winter in California and Florida.

"Diegel, forever balked in his championship-seeking, nevertheless rates fifth place for his showing at St. Andrews where he could have tied for the British open if he hadn't three-putted the last green. He won the strenuous Timber Point invitation open and the recent California open, and his pace in the national open and the P. G. A. championship.

"Mac Smith clung to his rating in the all-American galaxy by snatching the old established Western open title, but it was from a sub-normal field, lacking the winners of the year's major titles.

Sarazen's grand old enemy, Hagen, had a strange year. He won the open at Savannah, and had the lowest rounds in both the National and British open championships, but bogged down in the crises. "I am afraid Hagen's knell is sounded in his inability to score in the pinches," Gene says, but he quickly adds that when relaxed, the Hag can still burn up the course, as he proved with his sensational 66 for the last round of the National open.

Sarazen rates Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis in eighth place for his bold bid in the National open where he stamped all the pros. He believes Guldahl will some day be a great player, when he learns how to putt.

"I think he is one of the worst putters I have ever seen," says Gene. "He has too many theories and thinks more about bringing the putter back than he does about putting the ball in the hole. However, Guldahl has a fine temperament, is long with all his clubs, and lacks only the dash and fire to grasp the opportunity which is presented once in a lifetime, when he failed to overtake Goodman at Chicago."

Willie Cargill of San Francisco gets ninth rank for his rush at Milwaukee, where he was runner-up to Sarazen for the P. G. A. championship. With power, physique, and most important of all, the temperament to be a great player, Cargill shows great promise, Sarazen believes. "Macfarlane breaks into the select circle as tenth man only because he won the richest tournament in golf, the Miami Biltmore $10,000 open here this month. Sarazen feels that the Turkish pro would otherwise have forfeited ranking through his withdrawal from the national events. He did not participate in either the National or British open, or the P. G. A. championship.

Persons with normal eyesight are forbidden by a Los Angeles ordinance from carrying white and red walking sticks, officially recognized for use by the blind.

Give Maxie a chance. Camera trains and takes care of himself—they see to that. And the big fellow is no sap. He's working while Baer is having a good time and by next year he'll be a tough egg to beat. But Baer is young—only 24, and if he gets down to hard work now it isn't too late. Put one back to 21, and give me just what Baer's got, and how I would clean up."

So there you have Dempsey's expert opinion on both Baer and Camera. If the expected bout comes off next summer, and if Baer doesn't go too many night club turns or go back to Hollywood instead of working seriously to get that championship title, likely to be a battle.

(Copyright, 1933, by Robert Edgren.)

"LEFTY" GROVE ASSUMED A RELIEF ROLE THIS YEAR WHICH DIDN'T HURT HIS REPUTATION A BIT. WON 24-LOST 8 AVERAGE .750

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

By Robert Edgren

Carnera and Baer next summer. Well, why not?

There isn't another heavyweight match in sight that can keep the "million dollar asset" from going off the grid standard entirely.

When it was announced that Primo Carnera was heading the first boat from Italy to New York, and that Angel Robinson and Max Baer had deserted the delights of the Hoffman ranch for the same destination at the call of Col. John Kilpatrick it looked like the beginning of a ballyhoo. Carnera wasn't coming over and going back in a week just for a sea voyage. Hoffman's statement that Max Baer was going to New York to do a salary "turn" at the night clubs didn't fool anybody. Max will do a turn at the night club any time, for nothing.

It was hinted that Madison Square Garden was ready to "declare Dempsey in" for his next fight and the Garden having Carnera under a similar contract. Dempsey was up in Oregon refereeing fight shows for fifty per cent of the gate—doing two or three a week. He's been doing that for several months, which is his way of making time while waiting for something bigger to pay up. It's about time for something to pay Dempsey sent out no word from Oregon, which was characteristic of Dempsey. He doesn't talk until he's ready to act.

The situation that is driving Carnera into a fight with Baer is quite simple. Carnera's flock of managers have been holding off on a Baer match. They were willing to wait as long as Baer was in Hollywood—being "softened up" and made an easier mark for their champ. But Baer had left Hollywood. Waiting without getting any money is no business, and Carnera's managers are essentially business men. To date Carnera as champion has been nearly a dead loss.

Different Kind of Purse Carnera has had one fight, and it drew a great crowd and more or less gate money. That was the Paolino affair in Rome, arranged by order of Mussolini to show the big Italian champion to the rest of the Italians. Paolino was paid a purse, but all Primo got out of it was a medal of honor.

Dempsey was Disgusted Since Carnera can't be matched profitably with anyone who can't give him a fight that naturally eliminates everyone but Baer. Jack Dempsey ought to know who can give Carnera a fight. Dempsey promoted Baer's fight with Paolino in '31, which went 20 rounds. Baer spent the last four rounds posing and smiling at the crowd and holding out his hands to stop Paolino's rushes, instead of socking him as he came in, which so annoyed Dempsey that he held up Paolino's hand as winner. He was disgusted with Baer and wouldn't use him again for a year, but relented when Baer whipped King Levinsky for him at Reno. Baer later knocked out Ernie Schaaf just before the bell in the last round in Chicago—unofficial but enough to show that he was becoming serious, and then knocked out Tuffy Griffith. So Dempsey gave him the chance with Schmeling in New York. That was Baer's one top-class fight. He clowned through most of the others. Promoting the bout, Jack watched Baer's training and made him work. He put the gloves on with Baer, socked him and told him he was a rotten fighter and Schmeling would kill him. He scared Baer into hard training, got him into condition, and sent Max into the ring in such an unusually serious state of mind that he wasted no time fooling around and knocked German Max out in a hurry. Dempsey had Baer under agreement for another fight and expected to get Sharkey for him next, figuring Baer an easy winner, but Carnera spoiled that by getting Sharkey first. Dempsey tried hard to get Carnera for Baer, but Max got a movie contract and "went Hollywood." After a few poses as a "great lover"—which suited his taste better than the grind of training camps and fighting—Baer decided that he was one of the most remarkable actors that ever graced the screen, and that he'd be degrading his art if he went back to the sordid life of a mere prizefighter. When Dempsey talked of putting him through a couple of bouts a month to force Carnera into the ring Baer only talked grandly of movie offers and how he was much better than Doug Fairbanks. For the time being Dempsey gave Baer up.

Future Up To Baer About this time I met Dempsey and got his line on Baer. "I'm interested in Baer because I think I can make money with him," said Jack. "He and Schmeling outdid Sharkey and Carnera, and Sharkey a champion. He has the stuff to make a good fighter if he ever gets his mind on the job. He's big and strong, fast enough, hits hard and isn't afraid of being hit. He can give it and take it. What more do you want—except maybe a little brains? But the way he can sock he can get by without a lot of brains at that. I'd have picked him to knock Carnera out if they'd fought two or three months after the Schmeling fight. In another year Carnera might beat him. Baer thinks he's an actor and he won't work. I'd bet he hasn't done a good day's work in the gym since the Schmeling fight. You name the fighters who have gone Hollywood and I'll count the fighters they've licked afterward—on my fingers. The guys behind Carnera are smart. They figure a year of Hollywood will soften Baer so he'll be easy picking, so they're in no hurry to scared Baer into hard training, got him into condition, and sent Max into the ring in such an unusually serious state of mind that he wasted no time fooling around and knocked German Max out in a hurry. Dempsey had Baer under agreement for another fight and expected to get Sharkey for him next, figuring Baer an easy winner, but Carnera spoiled that by getting Sharkey first. Dempsey tried hard to get Carnera for Baer, but Max got a movie contract and "went Hollywood." After a few poses as a "great lover"—which suited his taste better than the grind of training camps and fighting—Baer decided that he was one of the most remarkable actors that ever graced the screen, and that he'd be degrading his art if he went back to the sordid life of a mere prizefighter. When Dempsey talked of putting him through a couple of bouts a month to force Carnera into the ring Baer only talked grandly of movie offers and how he was much better than Doug Fairbanks. For the time being Dempsey gave Baer up.

About this time I met Dempsey and got his line on Baer. "I'm interested in Baer because I think I can make money with him," said Jack. "He and Schmeling outdid Sharkey and Carnera, and Sharkey a champion. He has the stuff to make a good fighter if he ever gets his mind on the job. He's big and strong, fast enough, hits hard and isn't afraid of being hit. He can give it and take it. What more do you want—except maybe a little brains? But the way he can sock he can get by without a lot of brains at that. I'd have picked him to knock Carnera out if they'd fought two or three months after the Schmeling fight. In another year Carnera might beat him. Baer thinks he's an actor and he won't work. I'd bet he hasn't done a good day's work in the gym since the Schmeling fight. You name the fighters who have gone Hollywood and I'll count the fighters they've licked afterward—on my fingers. The guys behind Carnera are smart. They figure a year of Hollywood will soften Baer so he'll be easy picking, so they're in no hurry to scared Baer into hard training, got him into condition, and sent Max into the ring in such an unusually serious state of mind that he wasted no time fooling around and knocked German Max out in a hurry. Dempsey had Baer under agreement for another fight and expected to get Sharkey for him next, figuring Baer an easy winner, but Carnera spoiled that by getting Sharkey first. Dempsey tried hard to get Carnera for Baer, but Max got a movie contract and "went Hollywood." After a few poses as a "great lover"—which suited his taste better than the grind of training camps and fighting—Baer decided that he was one of the most remarkable actors that ever graced the screen, and that he'd be degrading his art if he went back to the sordid life of a mere prizefighter. When Dempsey talked of putting him through a couple of bouts a month to force Carnera into the ring Baer only talked grandly of movie offers and how he was much better than Doug Fairbanks. For the time being Dempsey gave Baer up.

About this time I met Dempsey and got his line on Baer. "I'm interested in Baer because I think I can make money with him," said Jack. "He and Schmeling outdid Sharkey and Carnera, and Sharkey a champion. He has the stuff to make a good fighter if he ever gets his mind on the job. He's big and strong, fast enough, hits hard and isn't afraid of being hit. He can give it and take it. What more do you want—except maybe a little brains? But the way he can sock he can get by without a lot of brains at that. I'd have picked him to knock Carnera out if they'd fought two or three months after the Schmeling fight. In another year Carnera might beat him. Baer thinks he's an actor and he won't work. I'd bet he hasn't done a good day's work in the gym since the Schmeling fight. You name the fighters who have gone Hollywood and I'll count the fighters they've licked afterward—on my fingers. The guys behind Carnera are smart. They figure a year of Hollywood will soften Baer so he'll be easy picking, so they're in no hurry to

About this time I met Dempsey and got his line on Baer. "I'm interested in Baer because I think I can make money with him," said Jack. "He and Schmeling outdid Sharkey and Carnera, and Sharkey a champion. He has the stuff to make a good fighter if he ever gets his mind on the job. He's big and strong, fast enough, hits hard and isn't afraid of being hit. He can give it and take it. What more do you want—except maybe a little brains? But the way he can sock he can get by without a lot of brains at that. I'd have picked him to knock Carnera out if they'd fought two or three months after the Schmeling fight. In another year Carnera might beat him. Baer thinks he's an actor and he won't work. I'd bet he hasn't done a good day's work in the gym since the Schmeling fight. You name the fighters who have gone Hollywood and I'll count the fighters they've licked afterward—on my fingers. The guys behind Carnera are smart. They figure a year of Hollywood will soften Baer so he'll be easy picking, so they're in no hurry to

About this time I met Dempsey and got his line on Baer. "I'm interested in Baer because I think I can make money with him," said Jack. "He and Schmeling outdid Sharkey and Carnera, and Sharkey a champion. He has the stuff to make a good fighter if he ever gets his mind on the job. He's big and strong, fast enough, hits hard and isn't afraid of being hit. He can give it and take it. What more do you want—except maybe a little brains? But the way he can sock he can get by without a lot of brains at that. I'd have picked him to knock Carnera out if they'd fought two or three months after the Schmeling fight. In another year Carnera might beat him. Baer thinks he's an actor and he won't work. I'd bet he hasn't done a good day's work in the gym since the Schmeling fight. You name the fighters who have gone Hollywood and I'll count the fighters they've licked afterward—on my fingers. The guys behind Carnera are smart. They figure a year of Hollywood will soften Baer so he'll be easy picking, so they're in no hurry to

About this time I met Dempsey and got his line on Baer. "I'm interested in Baer because I think I can make money with him," said Jack. "He and Schmeling outdid Sharkey and Carnera, and Sharkey a champion. He has the stuff to make a good fighter if he ever gets his mind on the job. He's big and strong, fast enough, hits hard and isn't afraid of being hit. He can give it and take it. What more do you want—except maybe a little brains? But the way he can sock he can get by without a lot of brains at that. I'd have picked him to knock Carnera out if they'd fought two or three months after the Schmeling fight. In another year Carnera might beat him. Baer thinks he's an actor and he won't work. I'd bet he hasn't done a good day's work in the gym since the Schmeling fight. You name the fighters who have gone Hollywood and I'll count the fighters they've licked afterward—on my fingers. The guys behind Carnera are smart. They figure a year of Hollywood will soften Baer so he'll be easy picking, so they're in no hurry to

CHUCK KLEIN WITH NEW BOSSES

Chuck Klein, leading batsman of the National league last year, recently traded by the Phillies to the Chicago Cubs, met his new bosses at the big baseball meeting in Chicago. Here he's talking things over with Philip Wrigley (left), owner of the Cubs, and Charley Grimm (right), manager. (Associated Press Photo.)

COLUMBIA SQUAD REACHES TUCSON

Lions Will Remain Arizona for Practice Until Saturday

By Paul Zimmerman

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The travel weary Columbia gridders shook the trans-continental dust from their feet here today and immediately set about conjuring some football tricks for the edification of Stanford in the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, New Year's day.

Worn out from their hard trip, a siege of banqueting at all stopping points and a stiff scrimmage against the Texas college of mines team yesterday, the Lions welcomed a light workout today and a promise of complete rest tomorrow.

"The boys are all worn out right now," said Coach Lou Little in pessimistic fashion, and then polished the remark with the statement:

"We'll have a thing or two up our sleeves," adding with emphasis:

"From now on this banqueting business is out. We're here to get ready for a tough football game and we'll be ready."

The players, with an attendant party of 30 others, arrived at Tucson at 8:15 o'clock, mountain time.

Included among the zealous Columbia alumni present was one who brought a dun-colored Javalina Mexican wild boar, a present to the team for mascot purposes.

The boar was not in the best of humor and bared his three-inch tusks. Then Coach Little shouted:

"A growling mountain lion, yes, but this wild hog, no. He might lose his temper and take a bite out of Cliff Montgomery or some other player." So the alumnus went on a search in the mountains for a lion.

The Columbia team shaped up small by California standards of weights and measures. It starts out well with half a dozen heavyweights, but tapers down sharply to the welterweight division.

"They'll make up for it in fight," a Columbia follower insisted. "We're going to beat Stanford, you know."

After the light workout today Coach Little said he would keep the team here until next Saturday.

CARDINALS WORK HARD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Knocking each other about like ten pins in an intensive scrimmage, Stanford's Cardinals completed their "at home" practice today before leaving for Pasadena to meet Columbia in the Rose Bowl football classic, New Year's day.

In the second workoutline examinations were finished, Coach Claude "Tony" Thornhill let down the bars and sent his charges through a session as lively as any mid-season preparation.

The scrimmage lasted an hour and players appeared to have found themselves after a rather loose workout yesterday.

Keith Topping, 179 pound youth from Pasadena, and Harry Carlson, 192-pounder from San Francisco, alternated at the end and position in place of Lyle Smith, who was sent to the sidelines when hard work started.

Smith, slated to be the starter at the right flank since Al Norgrad, veteran, was declared ineligible last Wednesday suffered a bruised shoulder in the opening drill yesterday.

Aside from Smith, the others on the squad are in perfect condition. Stanford's next workout will be held Monday in Pasadena. A rigorous training schedule has been mapped out for next week, including double workouts Tuesday and Wednesday.

BOBBY JONES SAYS

James S. Eyre, of New York, writes:

"For some time past, I have been a student of your 'Theories of Golf.' They have been very helpful. There is one point on which I am not clear. It is with regard to the start of the downswing. You say it is a distinct pull of the left side so the left hip is out of the way when the left arm is coming through. Now at the start when the hips turn to the left, do the shoulders also start turning at the same time? Or is there a conscious effort to hold the shoulders back during the forward swing? I have never seen a picture of you, while in the act of striking the ball, directly from the rear.

"I should appreciate greatly an expression from you on this point, which I believe to be the core of my slice. I think I can see what is behind this letter. The reference to slicing indicates that my correspondent is guilty of the common mistake of emitting the shift forward in beginning the downswing, and of turning his hips and shoulders as one piece, approximately in a horizontal plane. The object is to force his swing immediately outside its proper arc so that he must cut across the intended line of flight, and thus the ball is sliced. He must produce a slice or another of back, depending upon whether the face of his club is open or closed at contact.

It is exceedingly difficult to set down any exact order of movement for a complicated function in which there are many moving parts beginning or changing the direction of their motion at so nearly the same time. But the high speed camera sees, and the eye may not, that in the expert swing the hips begin to unwind, in initiating their movement toward the ball, while the club is still going back. This action produces a stretch up the left side, completes the final straightening of the left arm and the ultimate cocking of the wrists. The feeling is that the pull from the left hip produces a stretch by acting against the momentum acquired by the club-head during the backswing.

Stretches Left Side

Are you ever in doubt when to choose between the heavy iron and the spoon, Bobby Jones will help you to decide. Send for one of his latest leaflets, "Choosing Between the Heavy Iron and the Spoon," just enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WATCH THE GRIP

Much of the success of the entire golf swing depends upon the grip. Without a good grip the player faces a handicap that seems bound to effect him play sooner or later. The left hand plays the most important part in the actual stroke itself but unless the right hand is aligned correctly in conjunction with it it is highly probable that the whole mechanics of the stroke will be thrown out of gear. All great golfers have grips that appear to be welded together that do not change throughout the swing. In Bobby Jones' case this is particularly noticeable. Here the V between the first finger and the thumb of the right hand is on top of the shaft at address and beneath the shaft at the top of the swing. This shows that there has been no deviation in the grip and the position of the clubhead at address, which is pointing directly away from Jones at address and square to the ball will return to this position on the downswing. (Copyright 1933, the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

baseball, Hank Leibert, hard-hitting outfielder, also will be back for another trial.

McCarthy's chief concern when the Yankees settle into training will be the re-building of his infield and it looks like now as if "Maize Joe" will have to find his replacements from among the farm-hands he recalled from Newark of the International league.

Although Yankee officials have decried that unconditional releases were handed to Herb Pennock and Joe Sewell during the Chicago meetings, there seems no doubt that both will go. Lyn Lary and Doc Farrell, infielders, also are reported on the block.

"Hungry Lou" Gehrig, of course, will be back at his customary first base post but otherwise the Yankee inner-works are unsettled. If Don Heffner, purchased from Baltimore, can make the grade at second base, Tony Lazzeri may be shifted to third.

Either Frank Cossutti or Bob Rolfe, recalled from Newark, probably will get the call at shortstop. Rolfe has been pronounced ready for the big leagues, a clever fielder and a hard-hitting hitter.

Except for Van Mungo and Al Lopez, virtually every other member of the Brooklyn Dodger cast has been declared trading material but there have been few offers and no takers. Carey has snared a few young pitchers of whom Leslie Munns of St. Paul looks like the best bet, and a few infielders and outfielders from the minors but, barring future deals, the Dodgers probably will line up much as they did last season. Mungo, Ray Bengie, Elmer Beck and Owen Carroll probably will be the "big four" of the pitching staff unless Munns or Charley Perkins, clever southpaw, can break through to win a starting berth.

baseball, Hank Leibert, hard-hitting outfielder, also will be back for another trial.

McCarthy's chief concern when the Yankees settle into training will be the re-building of his infield and it looks like now as if "Maize Joe" will have to find his replacements from among the farm-hands he recalled from Newark of the International league.

Although Yankee officials have decried that unconditional releases were handed to Herb Pennock and Joe Sewell during the Chicago meetings, there seems no doubt that both will go. Lyn Lary and Doc Farrell, infielders, also are reported on the block.

"Hungry Lou" Gehrig, of course, will be back at his customary first base post but otherwise the Yankee inner-works are unsettled. If Don Heffner, purchased from Baltimore, can make the grade at second base, Tony Lazzeri may be shifted to third.

Either Frank Cossutti or Bob Rolfe, recalled from Newark, probably will get the call at shortstop. Rolfe has been pronounced ready for the big leagues, a clever fielder and a hard-hitting hitter.

Except for Van Mungo and Al Lopez, virtually every other member of the Brooklyn Dodger cast has been declared trading material but there have been few offers and no takers. Carey has snared a few young pitchers of whom Leslie Munns of St. Paul looks like the best bet, and a few infielders and outfielders from the minors but, barring future deals, the Dodgers probably will line up much as they did last season. Mungo, Ray Bengie, Elmer Beck and Owen Carroll probably will be the "big four" of the pitching staff unless Munns or Charley Perkins, clever southpaw, can break through to win a starting berth.

baseball, Hank Leibert, hard-hitting outfielder, also will be back for another trial.

McCarthy's chief concern when the Yankees settle into training will be the re-building of his infield and it looks like now as if "Maize Joe" will have to find his replacements from among the farm-hands he recalled from Newark of the International league.

Although Yankee officials have decried that unconditional releases were handed to Herb Pennock and Joe Sewell during the Chicago meetings, there seems no doubt that both will go. Lyn Lary and Doc Farrell, infielders, also are reported on the block.

"Hungry Lou" Gehrig, of course, will be back at his customary first base post but otherwise the Yankee inner-works are unsettled. If Don Heffner, purchased from Baltimore, can make the grade at second base, Tony Lazzeri may be shifted to third.

Either Frank Cossutti or Bob Rolfe, recalled from Newark, probably will get the call at shortstop. Rolfe has been pronounced ready for the big leagues, a clever fielder and a hard-hitting hitter.

Except for Van Mungo and Al Lopez, virtually every other member of the Brooklyn Dodger cast has been declared trading material but there have been few offers and no takers. Carey has snared a few young pitchers of whom Leslie Munns of St. Paul looks like the best bet, and a few infielders and outfielders from the minors but, barring future deals, the Dodgers probably will line up much as they did last season. Mungo, Ray Bengie, Elmer Beck and Owen Carroll probably will be the "big four" of the pitching staff unless Munns or Charley Perkins, clever southpaw, can break through to win a starting berth.

New York Clubs Fail to Profit by Winter Trades

Giants Stand Pat But Yankees and Brooklyn Could Use Talent

By Herbert W. Barker

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—In a baseball offseason marked by an unexpected turn-over in players, metropolitan New York's three major league representatives have remained conspicuously aloof from the ivory markets, unable or unwilling to buy or sell.

For Bill Terry's New York Giants there is an adequate excuse. Custom, as well as common sense, says there's small need for extensive alterations in a world championship club, especially when it's as young an outfit as that which swept through the National league last summer and then beat the Washington Senators in the world series.

Neither the New York Yankees nor the Brooklyn Dodgers, however, have any such reason for standing pat. Both Joe McCarthy of the Yankees and Max Carey of the Dodgers are eager to bolster the weak spots which developed during the 1933 campaign but neither has been able to swing a single player deal since the close of the season.

The Giants have bolstered their infield reserves by the trade which sent Glenn Spencer, right handed pitcher, to Cincinnati for the veteran George Grantham. In his 12 years with the Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and the Reds, Grantham has played first, second and third base. Pittsburgh even used him in the outfield in a few games in 1929. From the minors the Giants have recalled or purchased a dozen or so players including Fresco Thompson, former big league second

baseball, Hank Leibert, hard-hitting outfielder, also will be back for another trial.

McCarthy's chief concern when the Yankees settle into training will be the re-building of his infield and it looks like now as if "Maize Joe" will have to find his replacements from among the farm-hands he recalled from Newark of the International league.

Although Yankee officials have decried that unconditional releases were handed to Herb Pennock and Joe Sewell during the Chicago meetings, there seems no doubt that both will go. Lyn Lary and Doc Farrell, infielders, also are reported on the block.

"Hungry Lou" Gehrig, of course, will be back at his customary first base post but otherwise the Yankee inner-works are unsettled. If Don Heffner, purchased from Baltimore, can make the grade at second base, Tony Lazzeri may be shifted to third.

Either Frank Cossutti or Bob Rolfe, recalled from Newark, probably will get the call at shortstop. Rolfe has been pronounced ready for the big leagues, a clever fielder and a hard-hitting hitter.

Except for Van Mungo and Al Lopez, virtually every other member of the Brooklyn Dodger cast has been declared trading material but there have been few offers and no takers. Carey has snared a few young pitchers of whom Leslie Munns of St. Paul looks like the best bet, and a few infielders and outfielders from the minors but, barring future deals, the Dodgers probably will line up much as they did last season. Mungo, Ray Bengie, Elmer Beck and Owen Carroll probably will be the "big four" of the pitching staff unless Munns or Charley Perkins, clever southpaw, can break through to win a starting berth.

GRAPHIC GOLF

WATCH THE GRIP

Much of the success of the entire golf swing depends upon the grip. Without a good grip the player faces a handicap that seems bound to effect him play sooner or later. The left hand plays the most important part in the actual stroke itself but unless the right hand is aligned correctly in conjunction with it it is highly probable that the whole mechanics of the stroke will be thrown out of gear. All great golfers have grips that appear to be welded together that do not change throughout the swing. In Bobby Jones' case this is particularly noticeable. Here the V between the first finger and the thumb of the right hand is on top of the shaft at address and beneath the shaft at the top of the swing. This shows that there has been no deviation in the grip and the position of the clubhead at address, which is pointing directly away from Jones at address and square to the ball will return to this position on the downswing. (Copyright 1933, the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

baseball, Hank Leibert, hard-hitting outfielder, also will be back for another trial.

McCarthy's chief concern when the Yankees settle into training will be the re-building of his infield and it looks like now as if "Maize Joe" will have to find his replacements from among the farm-hands he recalled from Newark of the International league.

Although Yankee officials have decried that unconditional releases were handed to Herb Pennock and Joe Sewell during the Chicago meetings, there seems no doubt that both will go. Lyn Lary and Doc Farrell, infielders, also are reported on the block.

"Hungry Lou" Gehrig, of course, will be back at his customary first base post but otherwise the Yankee inner-works are unsettled. If Don Heffner, purchased from Baltimore, can make the grade at second base, Tony Lazzeri may be shifted to third.

Either Frank Cossutti or Bob Rolfe, recalled from Newark, probably will get the call at shortstop. Rolfe has been pronounced ready for the big leagues, a clever fielder and a hard-hitting hitter.

Except for Van Mungo and Al Lopez, virtually every other member of the Brooklyn Dodger cast has been declared trading material but there have been few offers and no takers. Carey has snared a few young pitchers of whom Leslie Munns of St. Paul looks like the best bet, and a few infielders and outfielders from the minors but, barring future deals, the Dodgers probably will line up much as they did last season. Mungo, Ray Bengie, Elmer Beck and Owen Carroll probably will be the "big four" of the pitching staff unless Munns or Charley Perkins, clever southpaw, can break through to win a starting berth.

baseball, Hank Leibert, hard-hitting outfielder, also will be back for another trial.

McCarthy's chief concern when the Yankees settle into training will be the re-building of his infield and it looks like now as if "Maize Joe" will have to find his replacements from among the farm-hands he recalled from Newark of the International league.

Although Yankee officials have decried that unconditional releases were handed to Herb Pennock and Joe Sewell during the Chicago meetings, there seems no doubt that both will go. Lyn Lary and Doc Farrell, infielders, also are reported on the block.

"Hungry Lou" Gehrig, of course, will be back at his customary first base post but otherwise the Yankee inner-works are unsettled. If Don Heffner, purchased from Baltimore, can make the grade at second base, Tony Lazzeri may be shifted to third.

Either Frank Cossutti or Bob Rolfe, recalled from Newark, probably will get the call at shortstop. Rolfe has been pronounced ready for the big leagues, a clever fielder and a hard-hitting hitter.

Except for Van Mungo and Al Lopez, virtually every other member of the Brooklyn Dodger cast has been declared trading material but there have been few offers and no takers. Carey has snared a few young pitchers of whom Leslie Munns of St. Paul looks like the best bet, and a

KES LEAD IN PASADENA OPEN WITH 136

—By Lanning

SARAZEN SELECTS AN ALL-AMERICAN

(Continued From Eighth Page)

Round clubs, New England and Washington open titles, and shared the Mid-South laurels with Willie Macfarlane at Pinehurst. Personally, I think Runyan may lengthen out his game, but even now he has the length and accuracy to win in major competition if only he can muster the confidence he shows each winter in California and Florida.

"Diegel, forever balked in his championship-seeking, nevertheless rates fifth place for his showing at St. Andrews where he could have tied for the British open if he hadn't three-putted the last green. He won the strenuous Timber Point invitation open and the recent California open, and hit a pace in the national open and the P. G. A. championship.

"Mac Smith clung to his rating in the all-American galaxy by snatching the old established Western open title, but it was from a sub-normal field, lacking the winners of the year's major titles."

Sarazen's grand old enemy, Hagen, had a strange year. He won the open at Savannah, and had the lowest rounds in both the National and British open championships, but bogged down in the crises. "I am afraid Hagen's knell is sounded in his inability to score in the pinches," Gene says, but he quickly adds that when relaxed, the Haig can still turn up the course, as he proved with his sensational 66 for the last round of the National open.

Sarazen rates Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis in eighth place for his bold bid in the National open where he stamped all the pros. He believes Guldahl will some day be a great player, when he learns how to putt. "I think he is one of the worst putters I have ever seen," says Gene. "He has too many theories and thinks more about bringing the putter back than he does about putting the ball in the hole. However, Guldahl has a fine temperament, is long with all his clubs, and lacked only the dash and fire to grasp the opportunity which is presented once in a lifetime, when he failed to overtake Goodman at Chicago."

Willie Goggin of San Francisco gets ninth rating for his rush at Milwaukee, where he was runner-up to Sarazen for the P. G. A. championship. With power, physique, and most important of all, the temperament to be a great player, Goggin shows great promise, Sarazen believes.

Macfarlane breaks into the select circle as tenth man only because he won the richest tournament in golf, the Miami Biltmore $10,000 open here this month. Sarazen feels that the Tuckahoe pro would otherwise have forfeited ranking through his withdrawal from the national events. He did not participate in either the National or British open, or the P. G. A. championship.

Persons with normal eyesight are forbidden by a Los Angeles ordinance from carrying white and red walking sticks, officially recognized for use by the blind.

Give Maxie a chance. Carnera trains and takes care of himself—they see to that. And the big fellow is no sap. He's working while Baer is having a good time and by next year he'll be a tough egg to beat. But Baer is young—only 24, and if he gets down to hard work now it isn't too late. Put me back to 24, and give me just what Baer's got, and how I would clean up!"

So there you have Dempsey's expert opinion on both Baer and Carnera. If the expected bout comes off next summer, and if Baer doesn't do too many night club turns or go back to Hollywood instead of working seriously to get that championship it's likely to be a battle.

(Copyright, 1933, by Robert Edgren.)

New York Clubs Fail to Profit by Winter Trades

Giants Stand Pat But Yanks and Brooklyn Could Use Talent

By Herbert W. Barker

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—In a baseball off-season marked by an unprecedented turn-over in players, metropolitan New York's three major league representatives have remained conspicuously aloof from the ivory markets, unable or unwilling to buy or sell.

For Bill Terry's New York Giants there is an adequate excuse. Custom, as well as common sense, says there's small need for extensive alterations in a world championship club, especially when it's as young an outfit as that which swept through the National league last summer and then beat the Washington Senators in the world series.

Neither the New York Yankees nor the Brooklyn Dodgers, however, have any such reason for standing pat. Both Joe McCarthy of the Yankees and Max Carey of the Dodgers are eager to bolster the weak spots which developed during the 1933 campaign but neither has been able to swing a single player deal since the close of the season.

The Giants have bolstered their infield reserves by the trade which sent Glenn Spencer, right handed pitcher, to Cincinnati for the veteran George Grantham. In his 12 years with the Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and the Reds, Grantham has played first, second and third base. Pittsburgh even used him in the outfield in a few games in 1929. From the minors the Giants have recalled or purchased a dozen or so players including Fresco Thompson, former big league second

CHUCK KLEIN WITH NEW BOSSES

Church Klein, leading batsman of the National league last year, recently traded by the Phillies to the Chicago Cubs, met his new bosses at the big baseball meeting in Chicago. Here he's talking things over with Philip Wrigley (left), owner of the Cubs, and Charley Grimm (right), manager. (Associated Press Photo).

BOBBY JONES SAYS

James S. Eyre, of New York, writes: "For some time past, I have been a student of your 'Theories of Golf.' They have been very helpful. There is one point on which I am not clear. It is with regard to the start of the down swing. You say it is a distinct pull of the left side so the left hip is out of the way when the left arm is coming through. Now at the start when the hips turn to the left, do the shoulders also start turning at the same time? Or is there a conscious effort to hold the shoulders back during the forward swing? I have never seen a picture of you, while in the act of striking the ball, directly from the rear.

"I should appreciate greatly an expression from you on this point, which I believe to be the cause of my slice. I think I can see what is behind this letter. The reference to slicing indicates that my correspondent is guilty of the common mistake of omitting the shift forward in beginning the downswing, and of turning his hips and shoulders as one piece, approximately in a horizontal plane. The effect is to force his swing immediately outside its proper arc so that he must cut across the intended line of flight as he hits the ball. In doing this he must produce a slice or smothered hook, depending upon whether the face of his club is open or closed at contact.

Stretches Left Side

It is exceedingly difficult to set down any exact order of movement for a complicated function in which there are many moving parts beginning or changing the direction of their motion at so nearly the same time. But the high speed camera sees, as the eye may not, that in the expert swing the hips begin to unwind, in initiating their movement toward the ball, while the club is still going back. This action produces a stretch up the left side, completes the final straightening of the left arm and the ultimate cocking of the wrists. The feeling is that the pull from the left hip produces this stretch by acting against the momentum acquired by the club-head during the backswing.

GRAPHIC GOLF

WATCH THE GRIP

Much of the success of the entire golf swing depends upon the grip. Without a good grip the player faces a handicap that seems bound to effect his play sooner or later. The left hand plays the most important part in the actual stroke itself but unless the right hand is aligned correctly in conjunction with it it is highly probable that the whole mechanics of the stroke will be thrown out of gear. All great golfers have grips that appear to be welded together that do not change throughout the swing. In Bobby Jones' case this is particularly noticeable. Here the V between the first finger and the thumb of the right hand is on top of the shaft at address and beneath the shaft at the top of the swing. This shows that there has been no deviation in the grip and the position of the clubhead at address, which is pointing directly away from Jones at address and square to the ball will return to this position on the downswing. (Copyright 1933, the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

COLUMBIA SQUAD REACHES TUCSON

Lions Will Remain Arizona for Practice Until Saturday

By Paul Zimmerman

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 23.—(P)—They travel weary Columbia gridders shook the trans-continental dust from their feet here today and immediately set about conjuring some football tricks for the edification of Stanford in the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, New Year's day.

Worn out from their hard trip, a siege of banqueting at all stopping points and a stiff scrimmage against the Texas college of mines team yesterday, the Lions welcomed a light workout today and a promise of complete rest tomorrow.

"The boys are all worn out right now," said Coach Lou Little in pessimistic fashion, and then polished the remark with the statement: "We'll have a thing or two up our sleeves," adding with emphasis:

"From now on this banqueting business is out. We're here to get ready for a tough football game and we'll be ready."

The players, with an attendant party of 30 others, arrived at Tucson at 8:15 o'clock, mountain time.

Included among the zealous Columbia alumni present was one who brought a dun-colored Javalina Mexican wild boar, a present to the team for mascot purposes.

The boar was not in the best of humor and bared his three-inch tusks. Then Coach Little shouted:

"A growling mountain lion, yes, but this wild hog, no. He might lose his temper and take a bite out of Cliff Montgomery or some other player." So the alumnus went on a search in the mountains for a lion.

The Columbia team shaped up small by California standards of weights and measures. It starts out well with half a dozen heavyweights, but tapers down sharply to the welterweight division.

"They'll make up for it in fight," a Columbia follower insisted. "We're going to beat Stanford, you know."

After the light workout today Coach Little said he would keep the team here until next Saturday.

CARDINALS WORK HARD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Dec. 23.—(P)—Knocking each other about like ten pins in an intensive scrimmage, Stanford's Cardinals completed their "at home" practice today before leaving for Pasadena to meet Columbia in the Rose Bowl football classic, New Year's day.

In the second workout examinations were finished, Coach Claude "Tony" Thornhill let down the bars and sent his charges through a session as lively as any mid-season preparation.

The scrimmage lasted an hour and players appeared to have found themselves after a rather loose workout yesterday.

Keith Topping, 179 pound youth from Pasadena, and Harry Carlson, 193-pounder from San Francisco, alternated at the right end position in place of Lyle Smith, who was sent to the sidelines when hard work started.

Smith, slated to be the starter at the right flank since Al Norgard, veteran, was declared ineligible last Wednesday suffered a bruised shoulder in the opening drill yesterday.

Aside from Smith, the others on the squad are in perfect condition. Stanford's next workout will be held Monday in Pasadena. A rigorous training schedule has been mapped out for next week, including double workouts Tuesday and Wednesday.

RUSSELL VAN ATTA
YANKEE ROOKIE
EQUALLED GROVE'S AVERAGE
WON 12-LOST 4

"LEFTY" GROVE
ASSUMED A RELIEF ROLE THIS YEAR WHICH DIDN'T HURT HIS REPUTATION A BIT.
WON 24-LOST 8
AVERAGE .750

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

By Robert Edgren

Carnera and Baer next summer. Well, why not?

There isn't another heavyweight match in sight that can keep the "million dollar asset" from going off the gold standard entirely.

When it was announced that Primo Carnera was hopping the first boat from Italy to New York, and that Ancil Hoffman and Max Baer had deserted the delights of the Hoffman ranch for the same destination at the call of Col. John Kilpatrick it looked like the beginning of a ballyhoo. Carnera wasn't coming over and going back in a week just for a sea voyage. Hoffman's statement that Max Baer was going to New York to do a salary "turn" at the night clubs didn't fool anybody. Max will do a turn at the night club any time, for nothing.

It was hinted that Madison Square Garden was ready to "declare Dempsey in" Dempsey having Baer tied up for his next fight and the Garden having Carnera under a similar contract. Dempsey was up in Oregon refereeing fight shows for fifty per cent of the gate—doing two or three a week. He's been doing that for several months, which is his way of marking time while waiting for something bigger to pop up. It's about time for something to pop. Dempsey sent out no word from Oregon, which was characteristic of Dempsey. He doesn't talk until he's ready to act.

The situation that is driving Carnera into a fight with Baer is quite simple. Carnera's flock of managers have been holding off on a Baer match. They were willing to wait as long as Baer was in Hollywood—being "softened up" and made an easier mark for their champ. But Baer had left Hollywood. Waiting without getting any money is no business, and Carnera's managers are essentially business men. To date Carnera as champion has been nearly a dead loss.

Different Kind of Purse

Carnera has had one fight, and it drew a great crowd and more or less money. That was the Paolino affair in Rome, arranged by order of Mussolini to show the big Italian champion to the rest of the Italians. Paolino was paid a purse, but all Primo got out of it was a medal of honor.

Since Carnera can't be matched profitably with anyone who can't give him a fight that naturally eliminates everyone but Baer. Jack Dempsey ought to know who can give Carnera a fight. Dempsey promoted Baer's fight with Paolino in '31, which went 20 rounds. Baer spent the last four rounds posing and smiling at the crowd and holding out his hands to stop Paolino's rushes, instead of socking Paolino as he came in, which so annoyed Dempsey that he held up Paolino's hand as winner. He was disgusted with Baer and wouldn't use him again for a year, but relented when Baer whipped King Levinsky for him at Reno. Baer later knocked out Ernie Schaefer just before the bell in the last round in Chicago—unofficial but enough to show that he was becoming serious, and then knocked out Tuffy Griffith. So Dempsey gave him the chance with Schmeling in New York. That was Baer's one top-class fight. He clowned through most of the others. Promoting the bout, Jack watched Baer's training and made him work. He put the gloves on with Baer, socked him and told him he was a rotten fighter and Schmeling would kill him. He

Wish Everybody
Happy Christmas and New Year
FOR CO., Inc.
PLYMOUTH DEALER
1934 Chrysler and Plymouth
Buy.

... and so we wish you again, as we have wished you so many times before, a joyous and happy holiday season and a very

Merry Christmas

E. Jack Selig
INCORPORATED
The Store for Men

E. Jack Selig

R. B. Christman

Merrill K. Hamm

Nanette Selig

E. Jack Selig, Jr.

Frank Jackson (porter)

WITH THE CHILDREN

Published Every Sunday

Edited by Eve C. Bradford

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The Holy Supper is kept, indeed, what we share with another's need; not what we give, but what we share— for the gift without the giver is bare; Who gives himself with his alms feeds three: Himself, his hungry neighbor, and Me.

—LOWELL.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

At last, the long-awaited day has arrived and tonight children all over the world will hang up their stockings with a prayer that Santa Claus will bring the shining treasures they would like to have for their very own. Because dreams die so hard in disappointed children, our sincere wish today is that there will be dolls and toys for every little boy and girl in Monroe on Christmas morning.

Yes, this is certainly the glad time of the year with the house filled with mystery and magic, the sound of snapping scissors and whispering as the gifts are being tied in crimson paper. There is always a hustle and bustle and a sound of scampering feet every time you open a door. And you never mind how much the grown ups whisper at the table because you know that it concerns you and means that something nice is going to happen on Christmas Day!

And now there is left just room enough for us to tuck in our Christmas wish in a free rendering of a jolly old carol:

God bless the master of your house,
And his mistress, also,
And all the little children
That round your table go.

God bless your kin and kinsmen
That dwell both far and near;
I wish you Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year!

So, welcome Christmas! And in the words of Tiny Tim, "God bless us, every one."

(The Editor)

HE LIVES

Little girl, little boy, with the questioning eyes,
I believe that he lives today.
Though he may not drive down the midnight skies
With reindeer hitched to a sleigh.
Wise folks will say, as they said to me,
That there's no little man who brings
The wonderful gifts for your Christmas tree—
The dolls and skates and things
You asked him for when your faith held true—
But this, little friends, I know:
That you can not tell when he visits you.

For the twinkling stars swirl low
While you are away in the land of dreams,
And the spirit of Christmas joy
Comes down to earth for a time, it seems.
To you, little girl, little boy!

Little girl, little boy, let them doubt
If they will,
They have not understood, you see,
That he lives in the laughter of children
And in the lights on each Christmas tree;
In all of our gifts, in our Christmas cheer,
In the joy that a kindness gives,
In the gladness he brings to the world
Each year;

Little girl, little boy, he lives!
—MAY STAMFORD.

ORIGIN OF CHRISTMAS SEALS

Mr. Holboell was a postal clerk in Denmark and he loved children. At Christmas time he saw all the letters and packages. He thought if he would put a one-cent stamp on each one of the letters and packages he could build a hospital for the children that had tuberculosis. He had no money but something better, an idea. He went to the king and queen and told them about his idea. The king and queen helped him print the first Christmas Seals.

Louis Robin,
3B Sherrouse school.

CHRISTMAS SEALS UNDER WAY

The sale of Christmas Seals is getting well under way. The public schools of Monroe have produced some fine salesmen. The children have proved valuable help to the T. B. Association. The Barkdull Faulk school has sold many dollars worth of Christmas Seals and expect to sell many more as in the years past.

Nelson Abel.

ORIGIN OF CHRISTMAS SEALS

There was once a postal clerk of Denmark who loved children. One day he was going through the mail. He thought that if he had one cent on each letter and package that soon he would have enough money to build a hospital for the children who had tuberculosis. He went to the king and queen with his idea. He got the Christmas Seals and built the hospital for the children who had tuberculosis.

Robert Bell,
3B Sherrouse school.

SANTA CLAUS

Have you ever seen Santa Claus? He is a jolly old fellow; I like to see him. For he looks gay and mellow.

He has a long white beard,
It is white as snow,
And when you see him,
You'll never want him to go.

KATIE MAE LEDBETTER,
6b, Central Grammar.

A DEAD DOG

This morning when we were waiting for the dog, we saw a dead dog lying on the road. I thought it was the dog for she had been missing for a long time and I was glad.

Betty Thomas.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Miss Johnnie Lou McCarthy was privileged to celebrate her fifth birthday last Tuesday with games on the lawn and later cutting the beautiful pink and white birthday cake with five tiny candles which was presented to her by her Grandfather McCarthy.

The living room where the little guests assembled for the games, was decorated in the beautiful Christmas colors. Favors were presented to each child from a Christmas tree.

Prizes were won by Bobby Kelly, Jackie James, Barbara Jean Wallace and Barbara Trotter.

Ice cream in pink cones were served with cake. The little hostess was also presented with a nice cake by her Aunt Eloise Miller.

Those present to enjoy the happy occasion were: Bettye Anne Miller, Jimmie Hamilton, Louise Tisdale, Mary Evelyn Johnson, Bobby Kelly, Helen and Barbara Anne Trotter, June Griffin, Bobby, Eva Ruth and Neva Beth Kilpatrick, Lydell Wilson, Barbara Jean Wallace, Kathryn Winters, Ronald Petagna, Evon Fisher, Jackie James and the little hostess.

CHRISTMAS

The little boy hung up his socks,
On the floor he placed a great big box.
Old Santa was coming that very night,
And the little boy's eyes were very bright.
He slipped to one bed to kiss his mother,
Then to the next bed to kiss his brother.
He got on his knees so he could pray.
For on Christmas night he would only play.

Ida Gallien,
6B Central Grammar.

SANTA CLAUS

I hear Santa Claus coming,
As his reindeer pull him,
From house to house.

Over the house-top,
Through the chimney he goes,
Filling the stockings,
From top to toe.

Dolls for the girls,
Cans for the boys,
For baby there's nuts,
Tree too, and toys.

As we hear old Santa,
Drive out of sight,
We hear him holler,
With all his might,
"Merry Christmas to all,
And to all a good night."

Hilda Bond,
5-B Barkdull Faulk School.

MAGIC EARS

Last night I sat by the fire and I looked at a shield I had hanging on the wall. It had a dragon on it. I thought it said, "I will fight for my country." I looked out the window and saw the birds. I thought they said they would sing a song for the dragon. This is what they sang:

The dragon is brave,
He lives in a cave,
The cave is deep,
But he's not asleep.

Dewey Cottingham,
Barkdull Faulk.

CHRISTMAS CHEER

Christmas day will soon be here,
Bringing with it Christmas cheer.
All the little girls and boys
Will be happy with their toys.
Think of all the gifts for you and me,
That will hang on the Christmas tree.

Can't you hear the children say?
"Come on out and with us play."
So with a happy, happy shout,
With your toys you will all be out.

Edna Mae Stone.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Once there was a little boy and girl named Jack and Jane. They had everything they wanted and were not selfish with any of their things. One day as it was very near Christmas they went out shopping and they saw a poor little boy. He was very cold. They saw that he would have no Christmas. So they went into a store and bought a whole basket of nice things. A week had passed and it was Christmas morning. The little poor boy woke up and found the things and he was very happy.

BETTY RUTH MEER,
5a, Central Grammar.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

December the fifteenth was a happy day for Frances Pryor Baldwin as she reached the interesting age of nine years and was privileged to invite her most cherished friends to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baldwin for a typical Christmas party. Holly wreaths, sprigs of mistletoe and worlds of red balloons were everywhere in evidence. The merriest games imaginable were introduced for the pleasure of the guests, the merriest of all being the "Spider game." A big spider made of black velvet with a web of silver threads was hung on the wall and every guest permitted to play the game.

The cutting of the gorgeous birthday cake was still another pleasure enjoyed. It was embossed with silver icing and decorated with silver holly leaves. Candles in red and green rose-bud holders outlined the surface. Little cakes sprinkled with candies and sweetmeats and fruit was served with hot chocolate.

Miss Virginia Baldwin directed the games which kept everyone happily amused until the hour of departure. Wishing the little celebrant many happy returns were: Nan Drew, Mary Steward Kellogg, Wharton Brown, Jr., Thelma Callender, Geo. Chatham, Mary Nastasey, Albert Petty, Joe Nastasey, Dalton Joan Miller, Chas. Logan Russell, Buddy Miller, Barbara Simmons, Billy Armstrong, Roy Fay Russell, Opal Cummins, Florence Goza, Doris Cummins, Bobbie Ray Russell, B. F. Cummins, Dallas Waler, Mattie Joe Armstrong, Betty Tucker, Bernice Bernstein, Dorothy Ann Bynum, Sara Jane Baldwin, Polly Burdow, Dorothy Burdow, Mona Lisa Newman, Annette Johert, Billy Temple, Rosalie Joan Sorasqua, W. G. Mangham, Jr., Mildred Wales, Virginia Baldwin, Naomi Speakman, Kathleen Baldwin, Mrs. W. B. Temple, Mrs. Geo. Emery, "Wolf" and "Toughy" Emery.

THE STARRY MESSAGE

The hazy roads are thronged on this old earth,
As eager hearts go homeward—Christ, mass night
Comes on, to bring a gleaming star to birth.
Swift moments, then warm splendor if its light,
And men will clasp a tiny, toddling son,
While mother eyes rest always on the pair
In dreamy thought; and when each task is done,
Two sing a song, and chant a whispered prayer.

The years have drifted down a misty way,
Since Magi came along Judean hills;
But love and loyalty live on today,
Like shining wreaths upon our window sills.

O homing hearts, how tenderly you bring
To earth the starlit message of a King!

THE FIREPLACE

I sat by the fireplace
Watching the flames go,
And wondering all the time
Where the smoke went.

One day I sat by the fire
Watching the flames go,
I could see the Indians
Dancing around the fire.

I kept sitting by the fire
Watching the flames go
I can see some white
People captured by Indians.

JOHN PAUL PARSONS,
5a, Central Grammar.

SANTA

Some kids believe in Santa Claus,
And some kids think it is false.
But he lives at the far North Pole.
Where there are no rats and moles;
And he helps children with his big bank roll.
But there is a really Santa Claus,
So don't you think he is false.
I hope you have a very jolly time,
I wonder if any of the toys are mine.
There are polar bears
And seals and whales live there.

Lenard Guice,
6-b, Central Grammar.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas days are here,
We welcome them with right good cheer.
Santa comes with his reindeer bright,
To bring toys to girls and boys at night.

Then we will have fun and cheer,
For Santa has remembered us this year.
But best of all Christ our King
Remembers us each day he brings.

Vera Broughton,
5th Grade, Dubach Grammar School.

CHRISTMAS POEM

Christmas comes but once a year,
And when it comes it brings good cheer,
Take out your purse, with a tear,
And help the poor folk that are here.

Christmas is a day of blessing,
When all good folk eat turkey and dressing,
Pies, cakes, peas, turkey, and rice,
It makes you want to fill your plate twice.

Christ was born on Christmas day,
In a stable in Bethlehem,
Which is very far away,
And all good people on their knees do pray.

ANTHONY MACK,
7-B, Central Grammar School.

ANIMAL CRACKERS

Animal crackers, and cocoa to drink,
That is the finest of suppers, I think;
When I'm grown up and can have what I please,
I think I shall always insist upon these.

What do you choose when you're offered a treat?
When mother says, "What would you like best to eat?"
Is it waffles and syrup, or cinnamon toast?
It's cocoa and animals that I love the most!

The kitchen's the coziest place that I know;
The kettle is singing, the stove is aglow,
And there in the twilight, how jolly to see
The cocoa and animals waiting for me.

Daddy and mother dine later in state,
With Mary to cook for them, Susan to wait;
But they don't have nearly as much fun as I,
Who eat in the kitchen with nurse standing by;
And daddy once said he would like to be me
Having cocoa and animals once more for tea!

—Christopher Morley.

MY CHRISTMAS DOLL

Once I went to town on Christmas.
I went into the store and saw a doll.
It was as big as a baby, I told daddy I liked it. So he bought it for me.
He bought me a sack of apples, too.
That night was Christmas. When we went home my mother told me she liked the doll very much.

OPELIA POLAND,
4th grade, Liggins school.

RAIN
Pitter, patter goes the silvery rain
Against my shining window pane.
Like a hundred dancing feet
Dancing to the tune that brownies beat.

I love to curl up in a cozy nook
And lose myself in a fairy book
I read and read the hours away,
I like to read on a rainy day.

William Thompson,
6-a, Central Grammar.

LOOKING AT A CHRISTMAS WINDOW
One day near Christmas I went to town.
As I was passing by a window I noticed it was decorated with holly and holly berries both. It had holly all over the door. We went in and bought a Christmas present. I had a very pleasant day.

Kathleen Norris,
Liggins School, 4th grade.

KISSES
I kiss my mother kinda slow
And kiss my daddy quickly
Cause mother's face is soft you know,
And daddy's face is prickly.

I try to be polite and not
To show how much it tickles
But gee! I'm glad she hasn't got
A kiss that's full of prickles.

Beverly Jean Endom,
4-b grade Central Grammar,
8 years old.

FACTS, AND A WISH

1933 has fled;
1933 is dead;
1934 is here,
I wish all a happy New Year
And, if I am still alive,
Happy 1935.

MAUDEAN LYONS,
7th Grade, Crosley school.

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas, and all was gay,
The cricket with his band all ready to play.
A mouse in the house was guarding some cheese,
Another standing by asked, "May I have some, please?"

A cat coming down the stair steps flight,
Looked for a mouse but not a one was in sight.
The Christmas tree that was shabby was trimmed in lace,
And before the night was over was put into place.

The children in bed were going to dreamland for the night,
While outside the moon gave a silvery light.
The children got up in the morning With the ring of the bells,
And at the sight of the toys Their hearts did swell.

Jimmie Banfield,
Central Grammar
Central School.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas day is drawing near,
Soon Santa will be here.
Upon the roof with his reindeer and sled,
When he's sure the children are in bed.

Down the chimney with a baffling noise,
And he laughs when he picks up the toys:
A scooter for Jimmy, a top for Jack,
A toy aeroplane for Tillie and Mac;
He fills the stockings with nuts and candy,
And many other things that will come in handy.

Then up through the chimney and into the night—
To visit some more children during the night.

JOHN OSBORNE,
7B, Central Grammar.

CHRISTMAS EVE NIGHT
On Christmas eve night
Old Santa will come
And bring many toys and candy,
yum, yum.

He goes away quickly,
And is soon out of sight.
While the moon is still shining
And the stars are still bright.

MARGIE ALLBRITTON,
5A Central Grammar school.

CHRISTMAS

The white, white, snow covered the ground,
And just sleds were sliding around.
The wind was blowing hard
But that couldn't stop me from bringing in wood from the yard.

The scents from the kitchen smelled very good.
But I couldn't stop getting wood.
That night I was full of joy.
For all I had was one little toy.

Eugene Atchison,
7B, Central Grammar.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas is here
Bringing the toys all so dear
Bring the Christmas joys
Bringing all the children toys
He does not know what to bring
We hear the bells begin to ring
We hear the sound of a horn
Christmas night Christ was born.

Luther Colvin,
Dubach Grammar School.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas time is here at last;
The reindeer bells are ringing past.
It makes the children laugh and cheer
To think of Santa Claus being near.

CECIL HIGGINS,
Dubach, La.
Grammar School.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Now that Christmas is almost here
The streets and stores are filled, with Christmas shoppers buying toys, presents and decorations for friends and relatives.
There are many out of town buyers.
The merchants are glad that it is time for Christmas shopping, because they must always make a big amount of money.

Ruth McAllister.

A HELPER TO THE GOOD FELLOWS

Friday night Miss Armandine Renaud had a delightful dance revue for the Good Fellows. There were two parts in the show. We think everyone enjoyed it. We also hope that the money we made helps someone.

Martha.

GEORGIA TUCKER HONOR ROLL

2nd 6 Weeks Session 1933-34
Grade 3B—Trousdale: Doris Carr, Billy Wilkie, Ernest St. John, Margaret St. John, Billy Ensminger.

Grade 3B—Wilenzieck: Randolph Brown, David Bulb, Prentiss Lenard, Ben Marshall, Dorothy Nell Carmona, Betty Jo Carter, Satchie Cooper, Jean Davis, Kathleen Ellis, Vivian Harper, Bessie Hughes, Elizabeth Humble, Caroline Keelinger, Julia Kern Leibrich, Martha Madden, Betty Jane Masur, Jean McCormick, Alice Patton, Betty Ann Taylor, Mary F. Zeiglin, Irene Ducharme.

Grade 3A—Faye Waltrip, Marjorie Reno, Jo Ann McDuffie, Sue Dickard, Rhonell Morgan, Harry Jordan, Tommy Clement, Gordon Boughton.

Grade 4B—Robert Murray, W. P. Pearce, Eliza Abernathy, Elizabeth Cunliffe, Mary Jane Dickard, Willie Mae Earl, Irma Ensminger, Inez Kirkland, Audie Moore, Virginia Newman.

Grade 4A—Emma Jane Weil, Melba Stevenson, Martha Grafton, Gene Flournoy, Barbara Faulk, Merilyn Bush, Alice Brauer, Hayward John, Jack Atchison.

Grade 5B—Fanchon Hampton, Beverly Jean Lenard, Kathleen Myers, Floye Rhodes.

Grade 5A—Fred Hudson, J. Y. Jones, John E. Hilburn, Nell Hilburn, Charles Shackleford, Laura Flournoy, Juanita Lippin, Beverly Peavy.

Grade 6B—Charles Chambers, Scott De Lee, S. J. Henauer, Armand McHenry, Howard Marx, J. B. Swanson, Emily Codd, Hermone Driskell, Betty Lee Foster, Sydney Marie Loch, Sue McBride, Marilyn Marshall, Joy Pettit.

Grade 6A—Ben Downing.

HURRY, SANTA!

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as gold can be,
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

CHRISTMAS NIGHT

It is time for Santa Claus to come,
So we can have lots of fun.
We will run about and play,
While Santa brings his sleigh.

WITH THE

Published Every Sunday

CHILDREN

Edited by Eve C. Bradford

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The Holy Supper is kept, indeed,
What we share with another's need;
Not what we give, but what we share—
For the gift without the giver is bare;
Who gives himself with his alms feeds three—Himself, his hungering neighbor, and Me.

—LOWELL.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

At last, the long-awaited day has arrived and tonight children all over the world will hang up their stockings with a prayer that Santa Claus will bring the shining treasures they would like to have for their very own. Because dreams die so hard in disappointed children, our sincere wish today is that there will be dolls and toys for every little boy and girl in Monroe on Christmas morning.

Yes, this is certainly the glad time of the year with the house filled with mystery and magic, the sound of snapping scissors and whispering as the gifts are being tied in crimson paper. There is always a hustle and bustle and a sound of scampering feet every time you open a door. And you never mind how much the grown ups whisper at the table because you know that it concerns you and means that something nice is going to happen on Christmas Day!

And now there is left just room enough for us to tuck in our Christmas wish in a free rendering of a jolly old carol:

God bless the master of your house,
And his mistress, also,
And all the little children
That round your table go.

God bless your kin and kinsmen
That dwell both far and near;
I wish you Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year!

Sò, welcome Christmas! And in the words of Tiny Tim, "God bless us, every one."

(The Editor)

HE LIVES

Little girl, little boy, with the questioning eyes,
I believe that he lives today,
Though he may not drive down the midnight skies
With reindeer hitched to a sleigh.
Wise folks will say, as they said to me,
That there's no little man who brings
The wonderful gifts for your Christmas tree—
The dollies and skates and things
You asked him for when your faith held true—
But this, little friends, I know:
That you can not tell when he visits
you,
For the twinkling stars swing low While you are away in the land of dreams,
And the spirit of Christmas joy Comes down to earth for a time, it seems.

To you, little girl, little boy!
If they will,
They have not understood, you see,
That he lives in the laughter of children still,
In the lights on each Christmas tree;
In all of our gifts, in our Christmas cheer.

In the joy that a kindness gives,
In the gladness he brings to the world
each year;
Little girl, little boy, he lives!
—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

—MAY STAMFORD.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Miss Johnnie Lou McCarthy was privileged to celebrate her fifth birthday last Tuesday with games on the lawn and later cutting the beautiful pink and white birthday cake with five tiny candles which was presented to her by her Grandfather McCarthy.

The living room where the little guests assembled for the games, was decorated in the beautiful Christmas colors. Favors were presented to each child from a Christmas tree.

Prizes were won by Bobby Kelly, Jackie James, Barbara Jean Wallace and Barbara Trotter.

Ice cream in pink cones were served with cake. The little hostess was also presented with a nice cake by her Aunt Eloise Miller.

Those present to enjoy the happy occasion were: Bettye Anne Miller, Jimmie Hamilton, Louise Tisdale,
Mary Evelyn Johnson, Bobby Kelly,
Helen and Barbara Anne Trotter, June Griffin, Bobby, Eva Ruth and Neva Beth Kilpatrick, Lydell Wilson, Barbara Jean Wallace, Kathryn Winters, Ronald Petagna, Evon Fisher,
Jackie James and the little hostess.

CHRISTMAS

The little boy hung up his socks.
On the floor he placed a great big box.

Old Santa was coming that very night,
And the little boy's eyes were very bright.

He slipped to one bed to kiss his mother,
Then to the next bed to kiss his brother.

He got on his knees so he could pray.

For on Christmas night he would only pray.

—IDA GALLIEN,
6B Central Grammar.

SANTA CLAUS

I hear Santa Claus coming,
As quiet as a mouse,
As his reindeer pull him,
From house to house.

Over the housetop,
Through the chimney he goes,
Filling the stockings,
From top to toe.

Dolls for the girls,
Cars for the boys,
For baby there's nuts,
Tree top, and toys.

As we hear old Santa,
Drive out of sight,
We hear him hallow,
With all his might.

"Merry Christmas to all,
And to all, a good night."
—HILDA BOND,
5-B Barkdull Faulk School.

MAGIC EARS

Last night I sat by the fire and I looked at a shield I had hanging on the wall. It had a dragon on it. I thought it said, "I will fight for my country." I looked out the window and saw the birds. I thought they said they would sing a song for the dragon. This is what they sang:

The dragon is brave,
He lives in a cave,
The cave is deep,
But he's not asleep.

—DEWEY COTTINGHAM,
Barkdull Faulk.

CHRISTMAS CHEER

Christmas day will soon be here,
Bringing with it Christmas cheer.
All the little girls and boys
Will be happy with their toys.
Think of all the gifts for you and me,
That will hang on the Christmas tree.

Can't you hear the children say?
"Come on out and with us play."
So with a happy, happy shout,
With your toys you will all be out.
—EDNA MAE STONE,
5th Grade, Dubach Grammar School.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Once there was a little boy and girl named Jack and Jane. They had everything they wanted and were not selfish with any of their things. One day as it was very near Christmas they were out shopping and they saw a poor little boy. He was very cold. They saw that he would have no Christmas.
So they went into a store and bought a whole basket of nice things. A week had passed and it was Christmas morning. The little poor boy woke up and found the things and he was very happy.

—BETTY RUTH MEEK,
5A Central Grammar

CHRISTMAS PARTY

December the fifteenth was a happy day for Frances Pryor Baldwin as she reached the interesting age of nine years and was privileged to invite her most cherished friends to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baldwin for a typical Christmas party.
Holly wreaths, sprigs of mistletoe and worlds of red balloons were everywhere in evidence. The merriest games imaginable were introduced for the pleasure of the guests, the merriest of all being the "Spider game. A big spider made of black velvet with a web of silver threads was hung on the wall and every guest permitted to play the game.

The cutting of the gorgeous birthday cake was still another pleasure enjoyed. It was embossed with silvery icing and decorated with silver holly leaves. Candles in red and green rose-bud holders outlined the surface. Little cakes sprinkled with candies, and sweetmeats and fruit was served with hot chocolate.

Miss Virginia Baldwin directed the games which kept everyone happily amused until the hour of departure.
Wishing the little celebrant many happy returns were: Nan Drew, Mary Steward Kellogg, Wharton Brown, Jr., Thelma Callender, Geo. Chatham, Mary Nastasey, Albert Petty, Joe Nas-tasey, Dalton Jean Miller, Chas. Logan Russell, Buddy Miller, Barbara Simmons, Billy Armstrong, Roy Fay
Russell, Opal Cummins, Florence Goza, Doris Cummins, Bobbie Ray Russell,
B. F. Cummins, Dallas Waver, Mattie
Joe Armstrong, Betty Tucker, Bernice
Bernstein, Dorothy Ann Bynum, Sara
Jane Baldwin, Polly Burdew, Dorothy Burdew, Mona Lisa Newman, Annette Jobert, Billy Temple, Rosalie Joan Sarausa, W. G. Mangham, Jr., Mildred Wales, Virginia Baldwin, Naomi Speakman, Kathleen Baldwin, Mrs.
W. B. Temple, Mrs. Geo. Emery,
"Wolf" and "Toughy" Emery.

THE STARRY MESSAGE

By Kate Randle Menefee
The hazy roads are thronged on this old earth,
As eager hearts go homeward—Christmas night
Comes on, to bring a gleaming star to birth.

Swift moments, then warm splendor
if its light;
And men will clasp a tiny, toddling son,
While mother eyes rest always on the pair.

In dreamy thought; and when each
task is done,
Two sing a song, and chant a whispered prayer.

The years have drifted down a misty way
Since Magi came along Judean hills;
But love and loyalty live on today,
Like shining wreaths upon our window sills.

O homing hearts, how tenderly you bring
To earth the starlit message of a King!

—CHRISTOPHER MORLEY.

MY CHRISTMAS DOLL

I sit by the fireplace
Watching the flames go,
And wondering all the time
Where the smoke went.

One day I sat by the fire
Watching the flames go,
I could see the Indians
Dancing around the fire.

I keep sitting by the fire
Watching the flames go
I can see some white
People captured by Indians.
—JOHN PAUL PARSONS,
5A Central Grammar.

SANTA

Some kids believe in Santa Claus,
And some kids think it is false.
But he lives at the far North Pole.
Where there are no rats and moles;
And he helps children with his big bank roll.

But there is a really Santa Claus,
So don't you think he is false.
I hope you have a very jolly time,
I wonder if any of the toys are mine
There are polar bears
And seals and whales live there.

—LENARD GUICE,
6-b, Central Grammar.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas days are here,
We welcome them with right good cheer.
Santa comes with his reindeer bright,
To bring toys to girls and boys at night.

Then we will have fun and cheer,
For Santa has remembered us this year.
But best of all Christ our King
Remembers us each day he brings.
—VERA BROUGHTON,
5th Grade, Dubach Grammar School.

LOOKING AT A CHRISTMAS WINDOW

One day near Christmas I went to town. As I was passing by a window
I noticed it was decorated with holly and holly berries both. It had holly all over the door. We went in and bought a Christmas present. I had a very pleasant day.

—KATHLEEN NORRIS,
Liggin School, 4th grade.

KISSES

I kiss my mother kinda glow
And kiss my daddy quickly
'Cause mother's face is soft you know,
And daddy's face is prickly.

I try to be polite and not
To show how much it tickles
But gee! I'm glad she hasn't got
A kiss that's full of prickles.

—BEVERLY JEAN ENDOM,
4-b grade Central Grammar,
8 years old.

FACTS, AND A WISH

1933 has fled;
1933 is dead;
1934 is here,
I wish all a happy New Year
And, if I am still alive,
Happy 1935.

—MAUDEAN LYONS,
7th Grade, Crosley school.

CHRISTMAS POEM

Christmas comes but once a year,
And when it comes it brings good cheer.
Take out your purse, with a tear,
And help the poor folk that are here.

Christmas is a day of blessing.
When all good folk eat turkey and dressing,
Pies, cakes, peas, turkey, and rice,
It makes you want to fill your plate twice.

Christ was born on Christmas day,
In a stable in Bethlehem,
Which is very far away,
And all good people on their knees do pray.

—ANTHONY MACK,
7-B, Central Grammar School.

ANIMAL CRACKERS

Animal crackers, and cocoa to drink,
That is the finest of suppers, I think;
When I'm grown up and can have what I please.

I think I shall always insist upon these.
What do you choose when you're offered a treat?

When mother says, "What would you like best to eat?"
Is it waffles and syrup, or cinnamon toast?

It's cocoa and animals that I love the most!

The kitchen's the cosiest place that I know;
The kettle is singing, the stove is aglow.

And there in the twilight, how jolly to see
The cocoa and animals waiting for me.

Daddy and mother dine later in state,
With Mary to cook for them, Susan
task is done;
But they don't have nearly as much fun as I.

Who eat in the kitchen with nurse standing by;
And daddy once said he would like to be me
Having cocoa and animals once more for tea!

—CHRISTOPHER MORLEY.

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas, and all was gay,
The cricket with his hand all ready to play.

A mouse in the house was guarding
some cheese, Another standing by asked, "May I have some, please?"

A cat coming down the stair steps
flirt, Looked for a mouse but not a one was in sight.

The Christmas tree that was shabby was trimmed in lace,
And before the night was over was put into place.

The children in bed were going to
dreamland for the night, While outside the moon gave a silvery light.

The children got up in the morning
With the ring of the bells,
And at the sight of the toys
Their hearts did swell.

—JIMMIE BANFIELD,
Central Grammar School.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas day is drawing near,
Soon Santa will be here,
Upon the roof with his reindeer and sled.

When he's sure the children are in bed,
Down the chimney with a baffling noise,
And he laughs when he picks up the toys.

A scooter for Jimmy, a top for Jack,
A toy airplane for Tillie and Mac;
He fills the stockings with nuts and candy.

And many other things that will come in handy;
Then up through the chimney and into the height—
To visit some more children during the night.

—JOHN CSBORNE,
7B, Central Grammar.

CHRISTMAS EVE NIGHT

On Christmas eve night
Old Santa will come
And bring many toys and candy,
yum, yum.

He goes away quickly,
And is soon out of sight,
While the moon is still shining
And the stars are still bright.

—MARGIE ALLBRITTON,
5A Central Grammar school.

CHRISTMAS

The white, white, snow covered the ground,
And just sleeds were sliding around.
The wind was blowing hard,
But that couldn't stop me from bringing in wood from the yard.

The scents from the kitchen smelled very good,
But I couldn't stop getting wood.
That night I was full of joy,
For all I had was one little toy.

—EUGENE ATCHISON,
7B, Central Grammar.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas is here
Bringing the toys all so dear
Bring the Christmas joys
Bringing all the children toys
He does not know what to bring
We hear the bells begin to ring

—LUTHER COLVIN,
Dubach Grammar School.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas time is here at last;
The reindeer bells are ringing past.
It makes the children laugh and cheer
To think of Santa Claus being near.

—CECIL HIGGINS,
Dubach, La.
Grammar School.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Now that Christmas is almost here
the streets and stores are filled, with Christmas shoppers buying toys, presents and decorations for friends and relatives. There are many out of town buyers. The merchants are glad that it is time for Christmas shopping, because they most always make a big amount of money.

—RUTH MCALLISTER.

A HELPER TO THE GOOD FELLOWS

Friday night Miss Armandine Renaud had a delightful dance revue for the Good Fellows. There were two parts in the show. We think everyone enjoyed it. We also hope that the money we made helps someone lots.

—MARtha.

GEORGIA TUCKER HONOR ROLL

2nd 6 Weeks Session 1933-34
Grade 3B—Trousdale: Doris Carr, Billy Wilkie, Ernest St. John, Margaret St. John, Billy Ensminger.

Grade 3B—Wilenzick: Randolph
Brown, David Bubb, Prentiss Lenard, Ben Marshall, Dorothy Nell Carmina,
Betty Jo Carter, Satchie Cooper, Jean
Davis, Kathleen Ellis, Vyvian Harper, Bennie Hughes, Elizabeth Humble, Caroline Keplinger, Julia Kern Leibreich, Martha Madden, Betty Jane Masur, Jean McCormick, Alice Patton, Betty Ann Taylor, Mary F. Zeigin, Irene Ducharme.

Grade 3A—Faye Waldrop, Marjorie Reno, Jo Ann McDuffie, Sue Dick-ard, Rhonell Morgan, Harry Jordan, Tommy Clement, Gordon Boughton.

Grade 4B—Robert Murray, W. P.
Pearce, Eliza Abernathy, Elizabeth
Cunliffe, Mary Jane Dickard, Willie
Mae Earl, Irma Ensminger, Inez Kirkland, Ardrie Moore, Virginia Newman.

Grade 4A—Emma Jane Weil, Melba Stevenson, Martha Grafton, Gene Flournoy, Barbara Faulk, Marilyn Bush, Alice Brauer, Hayward John, Jack Atchison.

Grade 5B—Fanchon Hampton, Beverly Jean Lenard, Kathleen Myers, Flore Rhodes.

Grade 5A—Fred Hudson, J. Y.
Jones, John E. Hilburn, Nell Hilburn, Charles Shackelford, Laura Flournoy, Juanita Lippin, Beverly Peavy.

Grade 6B—Charles Chambers, Seab
De Lee, S. J. Heninger, Armand Mc-
Henry, Howard Marx, J. B. Swanson, Emily Cudd, Hermoine Driskell, Betty Lee Foster, Sydney Marie Loeb, Sue McBride, Marilyn Marshall, Joy
Pettit.

Grade 6A—Ben Downing.

HURRY, SANTA!

Oh, Santa Claus, do hurry up,
I think I've waited long enough.
I've been as good as good can be.
It will be lots of fun for you and me.

Oh, Santa Claus, do not forget,
I am still looking for you yet.
—WARREN COLVIN,
5th grade, Dubach, La.

STEALING

Stealing is a very unlawful thing.
After a holdup the thieves laugh and sing.
Soon they are caught and put in jail.
And don't get out by bail.

Some are taken to Devil's Island to stay,
And it does no good to pray.
When you are there, you are there for good,
And that is to be understood.

When each is in his cell,
He may think of his good little Nell;
But he can no more see her;
If he tries to break out the machine gun shoots with a purr.

—D. C. MLEMORE,
6A, Central Grammar.

MY FATHER

I have the kindest father
And I love him, too.
He makes everyone happy
When they feel blue.

He never says a harmful word
To mar the beauty of the day;
He never forgets to tell us good-bye
When he is going away.

Long's Rule Is Most Costly to Taxpayers

(Continued on Fifth Page)

A Story Told in Figures

(Total tax revenues of Louisiana, as shown by the books of the state auditor, during the administration of Huey P. Long as governor, contrasted with the total tax revenues of the preceding administration):

Fuqua-Simpson, 1921-23 Long-King, 1928-32

1921.....	$ 3,607,028.83	1928.....	$ 35,369,034.81
1922.....	32,299,197.72	1929.....	49,826,377.56
1923.....	33,754,238.19	1930.....	53,374,465.86
1924.....	37,108,199.23	1931.....	86,714,558.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

Increase of Long administration over previous administration.....$ 90,515,383.01

LONG ADMINISTRATION OF GENERAL FUND

Cash surplus, June 30, 1928.....$ 650,914.83

Receipts June 30, 1928, to June 30, 1932.....20,914,549.82

Total amount available for four years.....$21,565,464.65

Expenditures June 30, 1928, to June 30, 1932.....24,755,916.22

Actual deficit, June 30, 1932.....$ 3,190,451.57

Excess legislative appropriations funded into state bonds, 1932.....$ 1,805,378.34

CASH DEFICIT, JUNE 30, 1932.....$ 1,385,073.23

Louisiana's total cash receipts in 1932 were $50,700,121.57.

staggering interest total traceable to the management of Governor Long. While there are no means of comparison at hand, it is not improbable that the expense of the Long administration to Louisiana taxpayers was as great, if not greater, than that of the Kellogg-Warmoth regime. The carpet baggers spent money recklessly but many of their credit obligations were not recognized. Indeed, some of them were repudiated. However, every dollar of fixed debt created by Governor Huey P. Long will have to be met.

During career, bag days of fetid memory, the financial resources of Louisiana were small. There was little actual cash for the reconstruction heads to spend. But Senator Long found plenty of cash in the treasury, and he left nothing but a terrific load of debt. Gov. O. H. Simpson turned him over $600,914.83, with all obligations of his administration provided for. Governor Long left behind him when he quit the executive office a tremendous debt which it will require many years to discharge. Only one in the Democratic history of this state has the retiring governor failed to leave a surplus to his successor. When Ruffin G. Pleasant, of Caddo, succeeded Luther E. Hall, of Ouachita, in 1912, he found a deficit of several hundred thousand dollars. The taxpayers voted a half-cent tax, limited to one year, to discharge this debt. It is going to require many, many years to discharge the obligations created by Governor Long in excess of the state's tremendous resources.

If there are any skeptical persons who may be disposed to question the accuracy of the statements made in this article, they have only to examine the records of the state auditor to confirm the charges. An exhaustive audit of the financial administration of Governor Long, covering every phase of his management, has recently been completed. And it shows that even though the Winfield statesman had recourse to a healthy cash balance left by his predecessor, he ran the state in debt considerably over $4,800,000, or at the rate of $1,200,000 for every year of his stewardship.

Here is the Long balance sheet, omitting the surplus left him by his predecessor:

Expanded from general fund during four years in payment of legislative appropriations regularly made.....$24,755,916.22

Receipts in general fund during same period.....20,914,549.82

Deficit for four years.....$ 3,841,366.50

The deficit is accounted for as follows:

Loans from banks to cover excess appropriations.....$ 1,805,378.34

Overdraft in general fund made possible by using money from other funds.....1,691,775.77

Total, as above.....$ 3,497,154.11

Additional deficit.....$ 3,265,550.90

Money borrowed from fiscal banks for purposes not covered by legislative appropriations, and for repayment of which general fund is obligated.....1,573,575.13

Less amount already repaid.....$ 1,691,775.77

Balance due June 30, 1932.....$1,691,775.77

Recapitulation:

Due banks for loans to meet appropriations.....$1,805,378.34

Due banks for loans for other purposes.....1,691,775.77

Total due banks June 30, 1932.....$3,497,154.11

General fund overdrafts.....1,385,073.23

Total general fund deficit, June 30, 1932.....$4,882,227.34

The general fund overdraft in the first table did not take into consideration the $650,914.83 surplus left by Governor Simpson. Subtracted from the figure, $2,035,988.16, it gives the actual overdraft of $1,385,073.23 in the first recapitulation. In other words, if Governor Long had not been provided with a surplus by his predecessor, his general fund overdraft would have been the first figure instead of the second.

The general fund receipts and expenditures of the Long administration by fiscal years follow:

Receipts Expenditures

1927-28.....	941,846.90	$1,146,625.95
1928-29.....	5,549,308.78	5,546,103.22
1929-30.....	5,781,269.17	5,385,881.31
1930-31.....	4,841,721.67	6,376,064.98
1931-32.....	3,800,403.30	6,301,260.76

20,914,549.82 24,755,916.22

So it will be seen that in only one year of his administration did Governor Long keep the expenses of state government within its revenues. This was the fiscal year 1928-29, his first full year of stewardship. It is a well known fact that the state would have gone on the financial rocks during that year but for the unexpected returns from state oil leases, which greatly exceeded $1,000,000. Anticipated revenues from this source were about $100,000.

Governor Long's financial management of the state, it now develops, was a failure from the start. He managed to pass on to future generations $4,880,000 of his excess debt in the form of constitutional five per cent bonds, but he could not cover. This deficit was handed to his successor. In the minds of some, it explains

Classification Index

MONROE NEWS-STAR

— and —

MORNING WORLD Classified Advertising RATES

PHONE 4800

CLOSING TIME FOR WANT ADS: MORNING WORLD.....8 P. M. NEWS-STAR.....5 P. M.

1 Line.....15¢ per line 1 Time.....15¢ per line 2 Times.....30¢ per line 3 Times.....45¢ per line 4 Times.....60¢ per line 5 Times.....75¢ per line

ALL ADS RUN IN Morning World

News-Star

OR SUNDAY NEWS-STAR-WORLD

MINIMUM CHARGE 40¢

Count five words as the line. PHONE YOUR WANT-ADS

Want-Ads will be accepted over telephone for all classifications except "Situations Wanted." All telephone ads are "accommodation accounts" for the convenience of our customers in transacting business over the telephone, no ledger account is kept on account of the great number of want-ads, therefore, it is necessary to make prompt collections.

The following classifications are arranged alphabetically under group headings and numbered for quick reference.

Legal Notices—1.

Lost, Found, Strayed—2.

Special Notices—3.

BUSINESS SERVICES

Dressmaking, Sewing—4.

Office and Store—5.

Miscellaneous—6.

Radio Repair—7.

Hauling, Storage, Transfer—8.

CONTRACTORS

Carpenters and Contractors—9.

Building Materials—10.

Electric Works and Supplies—11.

Painting and Plumbing—12.

Roofing and Sheet Metal—13.

EMPLOYMENT

Agents, Salesmen—14.

Female Help Wanted—15.

Male Help Wanted—16.

Situations Wanted—17.

MISCELLANEOUS

Household Goods—18.

Machinery and Tools—19.

Seeds and Plants—20.

Dogs, Cats and Pets—21.

Wanted to Purchase—22.

REAL ESTATE

Acres and Farms—23.

Real Estate for Trade—24.

Wanted Real Estate—25.

Real Estate Agents—26.

Automobiles—27.

Automobiles Wanted—28.

Trucks and Trailers—29.

Service and Accessories—30.

Public Forum

(This newspaper publishes all letters addressed to it in the public interest, requests that they be not more than 500 words in length, shorter ones to be given preference. Letters must be original, free from abuse and personal attacks, and the author's name and address must be given. The Editor reserves the right to edit and to delete material deemed unnecessary or irrelevant to the public interest.)

SYDNEY B. CARRAWAY

To the Editor:

It was not my privilege to have known Mr. Carraway but for a short time, though I esteem it to have been a privilege and an inspiration to have felt his courageous spirit in what would have been to most of us almost despair.

A man's friends and loved ones are however his best judges, and we gather from them much that it encourages. A dear one has said of him: His love for children, music and flowers was his consuming passion, he communed with God in the glory of their unfolding beauty.

Still again all testified to the fact that he carried no bitterness in his heart, but forgave and this of course opened the way for him to see and appreciate the beautiful. We also learned from his friends that he was a loyal friend. The pride in which his friends accepted this relationship is a proof of its genuineness.

He who would have friends must prove himself a friend. This requisite was met in every respect and with such qualities, we are reminded of the one who is so often spoken of as the "Friend of Man."

The story of Abou Ben Adam's vision is very fitting to Mr. Carraway, as we remember the first appearance of the angel until him with the "Book of Life." He finds that his name is not among those so included, and the only thing he gives in defense are these words: "Then put me down as one who 'loves his fellow man.'" The next night the angel holding the "Book of Life" again appeared and Ben Adam was surprised to find that his name led all the rest.

We shall admire him for his noble spirit.

We shall honor him because he was deeply impressed us. We shall love him because He was our friend. A little poem which he carried continually with him and which was characteristic of his life is a fitting commentary. I would rather have one little rose from the garden of a friend Than to have the choicest flowers When my stay on earth must end.

I would rather have one pleasant word In kindness said to me, Than flattery when my heart is still And life has ceased to be.

D. W. POOLE.

Poultry

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—(P)—Poultry, live, 13 trucks, steady; hens 1-2-3, 10-12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Classified Section

Classified Business Directory Service by Experts

The firms and individuals represented in this column are ready to serve your needs. Each is an expert in the particular service of which it makes a specialty. You will find them all courteous, reliable and efficient. Use this handy guide to the confidential and business services they offer.

Locksmith

KEYS FOR ANY LOCK. Safe opened and repaired. 1224 W. 12th St. Phone 31. Night phone 107-J. C. C. Lindley.

Mattresses

MATTRESSES RENOVATED—Work guaranteed. Price suit every purse. Phone 2744. Ouachita Mattress Co.

Radio Repair Shop

EXPERT RADIO REPAIR work at reasonable prices. E. C. Cobb, care Home Phone 4040. Philco Headquarters. Phone 4040.

Typewriters

NEW SHIPT FREEDOM ROYAL Carbon, Ribbons, Sales, Repair, Rentals. Phone 175. 1224 JACKSON ST. PETTIT TYPEWRITER SUPPLY CO.

Vulcanizing

We vulcanize your tire and GUARANTEE the job. New and used tires. MONROE TIRE EXCHANGE. 2008 I-55th. Phone 7767.

Washing Machines

FOR HER CHRISTMAS gift give her a Maytag Electric and gasoline models. Ware Sales Co., 437 Desiard St. Phone 600.

Notary Public

E. N. MANSOUR, JR. Notary Public. NEWS-STAR BUILDING OFFICE.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Lost, Found, Strayed 2

LOST—Long navy blue leather coat on Roseland or North Second. Reward. Phone 64.

LOST—Small white and red spotted foxhound pig. Wearing narrow collar with brass buttons. Reward. Mr. Broom, 213 North 4th St.

LOST—Black and white Boston Terrier about 6 months old. Answers to name of "Ace." Call 5146-J.

THE LOSERS' SERVICE BUREAU

TO FINDERS

If you have found a dog, purse, jewelry, fur or any other article that is not advertised in today's News-Star or Morning World, phone 430. Citizens Department. An accurate index is maintained of all lost and found ads appearing in The News-Star—World for the past several weeks which may be of material assistance to locating the owner.

TO LOSERS

When you advertise a lost article of any kind in The News-Star and Morning World your advertisement will receive the benefit of free, quick, in our Losers' Service Bureau. This service is provided without additional cost to our advertisers and facilitates the recovery of lost articles.

Special Notices 3

EARLY BEARING pears, peaches, etc. New catalogue free. Fresh nuts. Buss Pecan Co., Lumberton, Miss.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS

The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Ouachita National Bank will be held Saturday, January 6, 1934, between the hours of 10 and 4 at the office of the bank for the purpose of electing a board of directors and transacting other business as may properly come before the meeting.

OUACHITA COTTON MILLS. Guy Striber, Sec.-Treas.

CHRISTMAS TREES ALL THIS WEEK

50c - 75c - $1.00 DELIVERED

ACROSS FROM PARAMOUNT THEATER, DESIARD STREET

APPLES—FRESH, ONE A DOZEN. ALL KINDS CHRISTMAS FRUITS AND DECORATIONS. BIG-LITTLE MARKET. 1414 AT DESIARD.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of thanking our friends for the kindness and sympathy shown at the time of the death of our mother, Lenora Arnold, also for the beautiful floral tributes.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Arnold and family. Mrs. Albert Mendolia and family. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zagone and family.

MINERAL WELLS CRYSTALS—$1.50 BOX $1.00. MRS. BUTCHER, 491 STONE PHONE 2843-J.

NOTICE

The regular annual meeting of stockholders of The Ouachita National Bank of Monroe will be held on January 9, 1934, at ten o'clock, a.m., in the directors' room of the Ouachita National Bank in Monroe, Louisiana, for the purpose of electing a board of directors for the ensuing year and for the further purposes of receiving, considering and acting upon the annual report of the liquidating committee of said bank to the shareholders and continuing or selecting and instructing the liquidating committee, and generally, of transacting any and all business which may be brought before said meeting with respect to the affairs of the bank, including, expressly, its liquidation and the proper supervision of handling all rights and equities of the bank and its stockholders.

W. C. OLIVER, Cashier.

Monroe, La., Dec. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1933, Jan. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 1934.

KEEP UP-TO-DATE

by reading the down-to-the-minute opportunity news which is offered every day in the Classified Section.

BUSINESS SERVICE

Educational 5

EDUCATION PLUS A TRADE—many young men and young women will be needed within a short period of time by the various industries. Preparation at this time by those desiring to fill the demand will procure better paying positions and a more desirable work. In the printing industry this is made possible by the well maintained Southern School of Printing, 1514-16 South Street, Nashville, Tennessee, where monotype and linotype operating have been successfully taught for more than fourteen years. New handsome catalog and low tuition rates. Write V. C. Garriott for entrance blanks and special terms.

SHORTHAND AND TYPING. NEW CLASSES STARTING. PHONE 1076. MRS. SMITH

SHORTHAND AND TYPING—Private or class instruction. L. L. Lutzberg. Phone 1560W.

CLASSIFIED ADS do even more than the habit of being "early to bed and early to rise" to make you wise.

FURNISHED APARTMENTS—Private bath, garage. 2709 South Grand. Phone 1120.

FOR RENT—SMALL TWO-ROOM FURNISHED APARTMENT. CLOSE IN. REASONABLE. 510 BREARD. PHONE 1645-J.

Boarding Houses 33

ROOMS—EXCELLENT MEALS, HOME SERVED. COURTEOUS TREATMENT. ADDIE SUE DUNN, 707 JACKSON.

Business Purposes 35

SEVERAL NICE newly painted offices. Lights, gas and janitor service furnished. Prices reduced. See A. H. Bates in Kusan building. Phone 461.

Houses for Rent 36

FOR RENT—Six-room house. Modern conveniences. 604 Calypso. Phone 662.

REAL ESTATE

Lots for Sale 43

LOT 50X150—SIX BLOCKS FROM JUNIOR COLLEGE. QUICK SALE. $195.00. CASH. BOX 39, NEWS-STAR.

AUTOMOBILES

Automobiles for Sale 47

WE PAY CASH—For used Ford and Chevrolet cars. Windes Motor Co., Inc. Tel. 182. 505 Trenton street, West Monroe.

MILNER-FULLER, INC. USED CAR BARGAINS

1930 Chevrolet Touring $165

1931 Chevrolet Coach $295

1932 Ford Tudor $365

1930 Ford Fordor $245

1929 Chevrolet Coupe $135

1929 Ford Sedan $175

1930 Chevrolet Coach $185

1929 Chevrolet Sedan $145

1931 Ford Coupe $275

1930 Ford Roadster $135

WE TRADE—TERMS PHONE 1000

ALL BARGAINS

Long's Rule Is Most Costly to Taxpayers

(Continued on Fifth Page)

A Story Told in Figures

(Total tax revenues of Louisiana, as shown by the books of the state auditor, during the administration of Huey P. Long as governor, contrasted with the total tax revenues of the preceding administration):

Fuqua-Simpson, 1921-23 Long-King, 1928-32

1921.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1922.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1923.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Total.....$134,769,353.97 Total.....$225,284,736.98

1924.....$ 31,607,028.83 1928.....$ 35,369,034.81

1925.....32,299,187.72 1929.....49,826,377.56

1926.....33,754,328.19 1930.....53,374,465.86

1927.....37,108,199.23 1931.....56,714,838.75

Classification Index

MONROE NEWS-STAR

and

MORNING WORLD

Classified Advertising

RATES

PHONE 4800

CLOSING TIME FOR WANT ADS

MORNING WORLD.....6 P. M.

NEWS-STAR.....6 A. M.

1 Time.....15c per line

2 Times.....30c per line

3 Times.....45c per line

4 Times.....60c per line

5 Times.....75c per line

6 Times.....90c per line

7 Times.....$1.05 per line

8 Times.....$1.20 per line

9 Times.....$1.35 per line

10 Times.....$1.50 per line

11 Times.....$1.65 per line

12 Times.....$1.80 per line

13 Times.....$1.95 per line

14 Times.....$2.10 per line

15 Times.....$2.25 per line

16 Times.....$2.40 per line

17 Times.....$2.55 per line

18 Times.....$2.70 per line

19 Times.....$2.85 per line

20 Times.....$3.00 per line

21 Times.....$3.15 per line

22 Times.....$3.30 per line

23 Times.....$3.45 per line

24 Times.....$3.60 per line

25 Times.....$3.75 per line

26 Times.....$3.90 per line

27 Times.....$4.05 per line

28 Times.....$4.20 per line

29 Times.....$4.35 per line

30 Times.....$4.50 per line

31 Times.....$4.65 per line

32 Times.....$4.80 per line

33 Times.....$4.95 per line

34 Times.....$5.10 per line

35 Times.....$5.25 per line

36 Times.....$5.40 per line

37 Times.....$5.55 per line

38 Times.....$5.70 per line

39 Times.....$5.85 per line

40 Times.....$6.00 per line

41 Times.....$6.15 per line

42 Times.....$6.30 per line

43 Times.....$6.45 per line

44 Times.....$6.60 per line

45 Times.....$6.75 per line

46 Times.....$6.90 per line

47 Times.....$7.05 per line

48 Times.....$7.20 per line

49 Times.....$7.35 per line

50 Times.....$7.50 per line

51 Times.....$7.65 per line

52 Times.....$7.80 per line

53 Times.....$7.95 per line

54 Times.....$8.10 per line

55 Times.....$8.25 per line

56 Times.....$8.40 per line

57 Times.....$8.55 per line

58 Times.....$8.70 per line

59 Times.....$8.85 per line

60 Times.....$9.00 per line

61 Times.....$9.15 per line

62 Times.....$9.30 per line

63 Times.....$9.45 per line

64 Times.....$9.60 per line

65 Times.....$9.75 per line

66 Times.....$9.90 per line

67 Times.....$10.05 per line

68 Times.....$10.20 per line

69 Times.....$10.35 per line

70 Times.....$10.50 per line

71 Times.....$10.65 per line

72 Times.....$10.80 per line

73 Times.....$10.95 per line

74 Times.....$11.10 per line

75 Times.....$11.25 per line

76 Times.....$11.40 per line

77 Times.....$11.55 per line

78 Times.....$11.70 per line

79 Times.....$11.85 per line

80 Times.....$12.00 per line

81 Times.....$12.15 per line

82 Times.....$12.30 per line

83 Times.....$12.45 per line

84 Times.....$12.60 per line

85 Times.....$12.75 per line

86 Times.....$12.90 per line

87 Times.....$13.05 per line

88 Times.....$13.20 per line

89 Times.....$13.35 per line

90 Times.....$13.50 per line

91 Times.....$13.65 per line

92 Times.....$13.80 per line

93 Times.....$13.95 per line

94 Times.....$14.10 per line

95 Times.....$14.25 per line

96 Times.....$14.40 per line

97 Times.....$14.55 per line

98 Times.....$14.70 per line

99 Times.....$14.85 per line

100 Times.....$15.00 per line

Classified Section

Business Directory

Service by Experts

The firm and individuals represented in this column are ready to serve you every day. Each is an expert in his particular service of which it makes a specialty.

You will find them all courteous, reliable and efficient. Use this handy guide to the professional and business services they offer.

Locksmith

KEYS FOR ANY LOCK. Sales opened and repaired. 114 Walnut. Day phone 121. Night phone 10-1. C. C. Landry.

Mattresses

MATTRESSES RENOVATED - Work guaranteed. Prices to suit every purse. Phone 2744. Quachita Mattress Co.

Radio Repair Shop

EXPERT RADIO REPAIR work at reasonable prices. E. C. Cobb, care Home Furniture Co., Philco headquarters. Phone 3940.

Typewriters

NEW SHIRT FREEDOM ROYAL. Carbons, Ribbons, Sales, Repair, Rentals. PHONE 175. 126 JACKSON ST. PETTIT TYPEWRITER SUPPLY CO.

Vulcanizing

We vulcanize your tires and GUARANTEE the job. New and used tires. MONROE TIRE EXCHANGE. 2008 DeSard. Phone 7781.

Washing Machines

FOR HER CHRISTMAS gift give her a Maytag Electric and gasoline models. Write Sales Co., 437 DeSard St. Phone 890.

Notary Public

E. N. MANDER, JR. NEWS-STAR WORLD OFFICE

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Lost, Found, Strayed 2

LOST-Long navy blue leather coat on DeSard or North Second. Reward. Phone 64.

LOST-Small white and red spotted foxhound dog. Wearing narrow collar with brass buttons. Reward. Mr. Bloom, 213 North 4th St.

LOST-Black and white Boston terrier. About 6 months old. Answers to name of "Ace." Call 2446-J.

THE LOSERS' SERVICE BUREAU

TO FINDERS

If you have found a dog, purse, jewelry, fur or any other article that is not advertised in today's News-Star or Morning World, phone 4300 Classified Department. An accurate index is maintained of all lost and found ads appearing in the News-Star or Morning World for the past several weeks which may be of material assistance to locating the owner.

TO LOSERS

When you advertise a lost article of any kind in the News-Star or Morning World your advertisement will receive the benefit of free listing in our Losers' Service Bureau. This service is provided without additional cost to our advertisers and facilitates the recovery of lost articles.

Special Notices 3

EARLY BEARING papawhite pecans, peach, pear, fig trees, etc. New catalogue free. Fresh nuts. Bass Pecan Co., Lubbock, Texas.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS

The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Quachita Cotton Mills will be held Saturday, January 4, 1934, at 2 o'clock p.m. in the directors' room of the Quachita National Bank in Monroe, Louisiana, for the purpose of electing a board of directors and transacting other business as may properly come before the meeting.

QUACHITA COTTON MILLS.

Guy Stubbs, Sec.-Treas.

CHRISTMAS TREES ALL THIS WEEK

50c - 75c - $1.00 DELIVERED

TATE TEACHERS SEEK IMMEDIATE SPECIAL SESSION

Resolutions Ask Action
to Provide 'Several Million Dollars'

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Louisiana teachers in their annual convention today adopted resolutions demanding an immediate special session of the state legislature to provide "several million dollars" essential to the operation of state schools and the immediate payment of school credits on the books of the state treasury.

In its demands for funds, described as "essential," the association stated "there can be no further economies practiced, unless we are willing to wreck the school system." Overcrowded classrooms and "elimination of essential services" have resulted from the lack of school funds, it was asserted.

"Future tax collections that are dedicated to education should be kept scrupulously segregated from other funds and distributed to the school boards as they are collected," the association recommended.

Recommending that the national congress make available immediately an emergency appropriation "to prevent a collapse of education," the teachers adopted a resolution reading:

"The schools must be properly supported, the children must not be denied their birthright; and so it is our opinion that the federal government should turn its attention to the education of the children of America."

The association unanimously adopted a suggestion that "factual differences" within the organization be laid aside in the "present crisis" in an effort to better conditions in the schools. Teachers' salaries, it was stated, have been lowered to an average of $735 per year.

The association advanced a "permanent plan" of financing for adoption at the next regular session of the legislature. The plan, it was stated, places "the major portion upon the state government" and segregates state funds provided so as to make them available at least monthly to the parishes.

A resolution was passed calling upon Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley, as head of the National Mayors' organization, to petition the government for federal aid for the schools.

PRESIDENT FOLLOWS HYBRID DOLLAR IDEA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today pursued a sort of hybrid bimetallic-commodity dollar idea in search for higher prices.

The capital eagerly sought evidences of any administration moves to carry out his expressed hope for extension of silver stabilization plan to other media of exchange, perhaps gold, and wondered whether last night's secret and hurried meeting of federal reserve board governors was necessitated by developments.

The president expects silver coinage, among other things, to depreciate the dollar in silver-using countries just as gold purchases have done in nations which use that metal as a base.

When that depreciation, both at home and abroad, reaches a level which Mr. Roosevelt considers satisfactory, and when commodity prices suit him, he hopes for stabilization.

He would like to regulate the dollar then so that its purchasing power, in terms of commodities, would be more constant. Constancy, his advisers say, would be achieved through continued control of the value of gold and silver. So the dollar, it is theorized, would be indirectly based on commodities with its purchasing power directed through changes in the price of two basic metals.

Homer to Employ More Men on CWA Projects

HOMER, La., Dec. 23.—(Special)—With projects selected approved, Mayor T. Kinnebrew announced yesterday that employment on local projects conducted by the CWA would be increased from 125 to 250 men within a few days.

The pouring of concrete on the first paving project will begin Tuesday with 50 men on the job, using a small paving machine instead of modern equipment. The project will be completed within 30 days, it is expected. Two sewers under construction will be completed by the first of the week.

A total of $4,000 payroll was issued by the CWA in Claiborne parish this week with $1,500 of the amount being issued in Homer. The week's report also showed that 406 men had been employed here, 40 men employed at Athens, 62 at Haynesville, 22 at Junction City, and 60 on the parish roads. 1,020 applicants were reported Friday.

LEGION CONDEMNS CWA IN JACKSON

Jonesboro Post Alleges
Improper and Inefficient
Handling

JONESBORO, La., Dec. 23.—(Special)—Alleging improper and inefficient administration of the civil works administration and the emergency relief organization in Jackson parish, American Legion post No. 112 of Jonesboro adopted resolutions asking these organizations to vacate buildings previously loaned to them by the Legion post and also stating that these organizations were causing a revolutionary spirit in the parish which probably more than off-sets the good rendered by them.

It was stated that less drastic methods had been resorted to in recent months by the community, but to no avail. In support of the action taken by the Legion, a number of affidavits were said to have been procured, after careful investigation and these affidavits were said to be available upon challenge.

Resolutions adopted were as follows: "Whereas, on or about October 27, 1932, we, Post No. 112 of the American Legion, were requested by the emergency relief administration to extend the use of our building located directly back of the Jackson Parish bank to the emergency relief administration, and

"Whereas, we were desirous of co-operating in the extreme emergency that at that time existed and does now exist, we gladly granted this permission. It was understood that this permission was for a period of six months, and

"Whereas, we are no longer financially able to continue renting, and

"Whereas, the emergency relief administration program has failed to accomplish in this parish the purpose for which it was intended, or at least the purpose for which we understood it was intended, due to general inefficiency of the local office and

"Whereas, three particular cases, among others, have been thoroughly investigated by us here and are found to be in disrepute and dire need of immediate direct relief, and who on making application to the emergency relief administration were treated rudely, uncharitably and without cause therefor in the building, all of which conduct we deplore and condemn as un-American, and

"Whereas, though we recognize that the money that is being distributed through this organization in the parish does aid to some extent, it does not offset the social unrest, and that it is promoting a revolutionary spirit on the part of a great many worthy people who are good citizens.

"Therefore, be it resolved that we, the Matthews-Simonton Post No. 112 of Jonesboro, Louisiana, respectfully request that the emergency relief administration for Jackson parish, of which Mrs. Mary Blalock is parish director, immediately vacate the building and return same to us in as good condition as at the time received.

"Be it further resolved that since the present inefficient local civil works administration, under the direction of Mr. E. Lucky, until recent, is was a part of the emergency relief administration, the above resolution applies to this organization as well, and that he and his organization which now occupies our kitchen be requested to vacate immediately."

"C. R. GRIFFITH, Vice-commander.
"A. V. TAIT, Adjutant."

St. Matthew's Church to Hold Attractive Program

An unusually attractive Christmas program is to be presented at St. Matthew's church at the 9:30 a. m. mass today. A male chorus is to render D. Lorenzo Perosi's mass. This author ranks as one of the greatest of Europe's Italian composers and this will be the first time that this piece has been given in Ouachita parish.

The following will comprise the chorus: first tenor, Julian Brandar, Conrad Cagle, Jr., Charles Bigger; second tenor, Thomas Buttitta, Jr., Henry B. Crawford, H. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Freneau Proppit; bass, Frank Campbell, H. G. Proppit, S. Walker, Edward Brandar, R. J. Goza. The director is to be Philip Bernhardt and the organist is to be Don Breitenmeyer. The mass will be held by Rev. Father John Vandegger and Rev. Father Gremillion will preach the sermon.

At midnight, the usual Christmas mass will be observed with the usual elaborate musical program.

Grace Episcopal church is to hold its midnight service which is also to feature a large choir.

Young Victim of Queer Shooting Laid to Rest

COLUMBIA, Miss., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The victim of a strange accidental shooting, L. D. Saxon, 9, was buried today at Hopedale, Miss., the former home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Saxon.

The child was scuffling with a brother and cousin of near the same age yesterday when he suddenly toppled to the ground, unconscious. His puzzled playmates rushed home and then to a hospital where he was pronounced dead. Examination disclosed a small hole in the back of his head and physicians found a .22 caliber bullet lodged in the brain.

After an inquiry, Sheriff J. L. Foxworth of Marion county and District Attorney Toxey Hall said they believed young Saxon had been hit by a stray bullet in the hands of Fred Fortenberry, 14, who was firing at an old wagon nearly 200 yards from where the Saxon boy was playing.

HOW BOULDER DAM IS RISING

This new view of construction work at Boulder dam shows what progress has been made in the gigantic engineering feat under way in the Black canyon of the Colorado river. Those tiny inmates in the foreground are trucks used to haul materials. (Associated Press Photo)

Y's Men's Christmas Tree Is Declared Huge Success

There is a Santa Claus! If you don't believe it, just ask those 350 underprivileged school children who attended the fourth annual Christmas tree celebration given Friday by the Monroe Y's Men's club.

They would answer emphatically in unison: "There is a Santa! You can't fool us!"

They saw him with their very own eyes at the temporary headquarters of the Y. M. C. A. on South Grand street. Red suit, snow-white hair and beard, red nose, black patent-leather boots and all.

And what provisions he made for them! A large, gaily-decorated Christmas tree illuminated with multi-colored light bulbs; mechanical trains; dolls, games, balls, horns, sewing sets, ironing boards, bags of assorted candies, fruits and nuts, everything, in fact, to delight youthful hearts.

The children, ranging in age from five to 10, were students at the schools of Monroe and West Monroe. Selected by their teachers as youngsters who otherwise would not have been visited by Santa Claus, they were admitted to the Christmas tree by card. Each child received one or more toys and a bag of fruits, nuts and candies.

Distribution of the gifts by "Santa Claus," aided by a large number of Y's Men, began at 2 p. m. and was concluded in 45 minutes.

The throng of youngsters was handled expeditiously, but not hurriedly. The children were given plenty of time to feast their eyes on evidence of the bountiful generosity of old St. Nick. No doubt every one of them carried away a vivid picture of the kindness shown. Throughout their lives, doubtless, they will think the better of humankind for it.

Their wide-eyed awe and unbounded happiness in being remembered when their parents had fortified them with the prediction that Santa would probably be forced to pass them by this year, was almost as much of a source of enjoyment to the members of the club as it was to the youngsters themselves.

The club provided for 400 children. The surplus of toys and bags of assorted fruits, nuts and candies was given to the Good Fellows for distribution by that organization among needy families of Monroe and West Monroe.

O. N. McNeil was general chairman of the Christmas tree event. He was assisted in making the celebration a success by the entire membership of the club, which participated in one phase or another of the preparations. It was financed through the suspension of the organization of its two last dinners of the year.

The Christmas tree project of the Y's Men has not only been praised by residents of Monroe, but has been hailed by the International Association of Y's Men's Clubs as one of the outstanding achievements of chapters within the organization.

Dandridge Will Attend Parents' Anniversary

W. E. Dandridge, city ticket and passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad with offices in Hotel Virginia, left last night for Little Rock, Ark., to attend the 55th wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Dandridge. Mr. Dandridge is 35 years of age, while his mother is 78. The father is found at his desk each day in the office of the secretary of state in Little Rock, and has held a clerical position there for the past seven years.

His life has been a highly active one, having served for 16 years as sheriff in Logan county, Ark., and for some years was postmaster at Paris, Ark. He has also held other political offices.

The aged couple are parents of 11 children and there has not been a death in the family for 55 years. In addition to the 11 children, there will be 25 grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren present to observe the anniversary to be held today.

NEGROES TO CELEBRATE
A city-wide negro Christmas celebration will be held at 4 p. m. today at Martin Temple church, Congo and Adams streets, under the direction of Hayward Jackson and Rotine Sherman Wilson. There are to be 25 singers in the chorus. Many of these participated in the recent rendition of the Oliver-Ziegler Flood Suite chorus. The numbers to be presented this afternoon include, "Gloria In Excelsis," "O Holy Night" and "Praise Ye Lord."

Accused Man Returned Here From Arkansas

Accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Millard Williams was returned to Monroe at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, after being arrested by officers at Hampton, Ark. Friday on the request of Sheriff Milton Coverdale. Williams was returned by the sheriff and Deputy Sheriff Clyde Mitchell, who left here at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Sheriff Coverdale said Williams served a sentence here in 1932 for larceny and once was accused of breaking and entering. The offense for which he was returned here was said to have been committed on December 17.

MACHINE SHOP
"At the Hammer and Anvil Sign"
All Kinds Machinery Repairs
PORTABLE WELDER
James Machine Works
Telephones
Days 904 Nights 342

PEALING OF BELLS HERALDS YULETIDE

Holy Land Observances
Will Reach Their
Climax Tonight

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 24.—(Sunday)—(AP)—The pealing of bells and the bustle of arriving pilgrims early today heralded the Holy Land's Christmas observances that will reach their climax at midnight.

Despite the strained racial and political atmosphere and the decline in the number of visitors because of the depression, the spirit and piety of the worshippers gathering in this cradle of Christianity remained unaltered.

Hundreds of pilgrims, American and European visitors among them, assembled in reverent remembrance of the birth nearly 2,000 years ago of the Christ Child.

For despite the many centuries of change and destruction, and the strife in this land even at this time, the holy city still holds the imagination of mankind and no power has yet been created that can break the spell which binds the world to it.

Early this morning his beatitude, the Latin patriarch, went out in procession from Jerusalem to the Roman Catholic convent situated on the north side of the church of the Holy Nativity, there to spend the day in meditation and prayer.

Tonight he will go into the church of the convent, which communicates with the church of the Holy Nativity, for vespers at 9 o'clock. The service will continue until shortly before midnight.

Promptly at midnight a large star, representing the traditional Star of Bethlehem, will be lighted above the altar in this centuries-old edifice of stone and wooden rafters and at the same time a curtain will be drawn away to reveal the effigy of the Holy Infant. First mass will begin then.

Shortly afterwards, the patriarch, followed by his clergy and notables, will participate in a procession with the Holy Babe to the Grotto where, in the spot of the manger marked by a star, the effigy will be laid reverently.

The Grotto, a hollow chamber under the main altar of the Church of the Holy Nativity, is said to mark the traditional stable where Christ was born.

The spot is the object of adoration by the Greek orthodox, Roman Catholics, Armenians, Protestants, Copts, and others, and there are very strict rules as to the number of lamps each faction is allowed to have.

Another annual ceremony is the special service on the Young Men's Christian association site in the field of the Shepherds, near Bethlehem, where Christians, with Jews and Moslems as onlookers, will gather tonight to sing Carols after partaking of bread and meat at the entrance of the shepherd's cave.

Children of Institutions Enjoying Merry Christmas

A "Merry Christmas" is to be enjoyed by the inmates of the two public institutions of the city of Monroe, the Louisiana Baptist Children's home and the Louisiana Training institute.

The 153 children at the home were given Christmas trees, loaded with candy, fruit, nuts and pressed the six cottages on the ground on Sunday night. They will have a special dinner on Christmas day, the superintendent, L. M. Cole.

At the Louisiana Training institute, where there are 140 boys, a tree program were given in the auditorium, yesterday at 4 p. m., and the were remembrances for all. Christmas day, the boys will be treated to bounteous dinner.

SCHOOLS AT ALEX TO BE REOPENED

Arrangements Are Made
to Secure Finances
for Undertaking

ALEXANDRIA, La., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Opening of the Rapides parish schools on Tuesday, January 2, 1934, was assured today in an announcement by a committee of citizens and members of the school board who have made arrangements to secure finances for the undertaking.

The schools of Alexandria and Pineville have been closed since December 12 when the teachers in the institutions decided to close the schools until finances were secured to pay the salaries of which only a small portion had been paid in cash for the 1933-34 session.

The citizens committee was appointed as follows by R. C. Jarreau, chairman of a mass meeting which he called on December 11 to consider school problems: T. L. James, chairman; M. W. Walker, G. V. Pearce, C. A. Wharton and J. B. Nachman.

The members of the school board who worked on the problem were two new members who were recently appointed to fill vacancies in ward one. These were W. D. Wadley and M. J. Weiss.

The committee announced today that after nearly two weeks spent in conferences on the school problems that arrangements had been made to borrow money to open the schools.

The group also announced that plans were being perfected to cut expenditures so that the board could get on a cash basis. In announcing the cut of expenditures, the committee said that the plans did not provide for a further cut in the teachers' salaries.

Helium gas was discovered in the stars before it was known to be present on the earth.

TO RETURN
Mrs. Rebecca Pierce, who underwent a serious illness at St. Francis sanitarium, 4, will return to her home in Monroe, La., after a visit to Mrs. Pierce formerly lived in

2 di
the mor
Mar
later an's mothe
The after a farm lying more teeth had let fire through Coroner
the girl explained frozen his postponed missing since girl had been years old and talk. He said dead mute frie went out occa
had no reason after with his home Thursday Although admit out a clue to prior to the attack
the theory she mi costed by some o
inability to talk, w gered at her silen rendered her uncon
Dr. LeRoy said he might have been att ing been struck in the

A MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS
AND
A BOUNTIFUL NEW YEAR
IS OUR WISH FOR ALL OF YOU

"707" TIRE SERVICE

"RUFF" TIDWELL

Christmas
Greetings

At this time each year, we forget business momentarily to extend to you of this community the season's greetings . . . and to thank you for the splendid business you have found us worthy to receive. . .

Thus, wholeheartedly, we wish you a very merry Christmas, and a New Year filled to overflowing with happiness and good living. . .

MONROE
FURNITURE CO., LTD.

TO WISH YOU
A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A
HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS
NEW YEAR

Standard Office Supply Company
Phone 519 K. of P. Bldg.

THE HEART OF YULETIDE

is in the simple greeting of fellowship which passes at this season from man to man and from nation to nation . . .

A MERRY CHRISTMAS
-AND-
A HAPPY NEW YEAR

This is the cordial greeting of the Ouachita National Bank to its depositors and to all the Parish.

THE OUACHITA NATIONAL BANK

MEMBER
FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

STATE TEACHERS SEEK IMMEDIATE SPECIAL SESSION

Resolutions Ask Action
to Provide 'Several Million Dollars'

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Louisiana teachers in their annual convention today adopted resolutions demanding an immediate special session of the state legislature to provide "several million dollars" essential to the operation of state schools and the immediate payment of school credits on the books of the state treasury.

In its demands for funds, described as "essential," the association stated "there can be no further economies practiced, unless we are willing to wreck the school system." Overcrowded classrooms and "elimination of essential services" have resulted from the lack of school funds, it was asserted.

"Future tax collections that are dedicated to education should be kept scrupulously segregated from other funds and distributed to the school boards as they are collected," the association recommended.

Recommending that the national congress make available immediately an emergency appropriation "to prevent a collapse of education," the teachers adopted a resolution reading:

"The schools must be properly supported, the children must be denied their birthright; and so it is our opinion that the federal government should turn its attention to the education of the children of America."

The association unanimously adopted a suggestion that "factional differences" within the organization be laid aside in the "present crisis" in an effort to better conditions in the schools. Teachers' salaries, it was stated, have been lowered to an average of $735 per year.

The association advanced a "permanent plan" of financing for adoption at the next regular session of the legislature. The plan, it was stated, places "the major portion upon the state government" and segregates state funds provided so as to make them available at least monthly to the parishes.

A resolution was passed calling upon Mayor T. Semmes Wamsley, as head of the National Mayors' organization, to petition the government for federal aid for the schools.

PRESIDENT FOLLOWS HYBRID DOLLAR IDEA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today pursued a sort of hybrid bimetallic-commodity dollar idea in search for higher prices.

The capital eagerly sought evidences of any administration moves to carry out his expressed hope for extension of silver stabilization plan to other media of exchange, perhaps gold, and wondered whether last night's secret and hurried meeting of federal reserve board governors was necessitated by developments.

The president expects silver coinage, among other things, to depreciate the dollar in silver-using countries just as gold purchases have done in nations which use that metal as a base.

When that depreciation, both at home and abroad, reaches a level which Mr. Roosevelt considers satisfactory, and when commodity prices suit him, he hopes for stabilization.

He would like to regulate the dollar then so that its purchasing power, in terms of commodities, would be more constant. Constancy, his advisers say, would be achieved through continued control of the value of gold and silver. So the dollar, it is theorized, would be indirectly based on commodities with its purchasing power directed through changes in the price of two basic metals.

Homer to Employ More Men on CWA Projects

HOMER, La., Dec. 23.—(Special)—With projects selected approved, Mayor T. Kinnebrew announced yesterday that employment on local projects conducted by the CWA would be increased from 125 to 250 men within a few days.

The pouring of concrete on the first paving project will begin Tuesday with 65 men on the job, using a small paving machine instead of modern equipment. The project will be completed within 30 days, it is expected. Two sewers under construction will be completed by the first of the week.

A total of $4,800 payroll was issued by the CWA in Claiborne parish this week with $1,500 of the amount being issued in Homer. The week's report also showed that 406 men had been employed here, 40 men employed at Athens, 62 at Haynesville, 22 at Junction City, and 60 on the parish roads. 1,020 applicants were reported Friday.

LEGION CONDEMNS CWA IN JACKSON

Jonesboro Post Alleges
Improper and Inefficient
Handling

JONESBORO, La., Dec. 23.—(Special)—Alleging improper and inefficient administration of the civil works administration and the emergency relief organization in Jackson parish, American Legion post No. 112 of Jonesboro adopted resolutions asking these organizations to vacate buildings previously loaned to them by the Legion post and also stating that these organizations were causing a revolutionary spirit in the parish which probably more than off-sets the good rendered by them.

It was stated that less drastic methods had been resorted to in recent months by the community, but to no avail. In support of the action taken by the Legion, a number of affidavits were said to have been procured, after careful investigation and these affidavits were said to be available upon challenge.

Resolutions adopted were as follows: "Whereas, on or about October 27, 1932, we, Post No. 112 of the American Legion, were requested by the emergency relief administration to extend the use of our building located directly back of the Jackson Parish bank to the emergency relief administration, and

"Whereas, we were desirous of co-operating in the extreme emergency that at that time existed and does now exist, we gladly granted this permission. It was understood that this permission was for a period of six months, and

"Whereas, we are no longer financially able to continue renting, and

"Whereas, the emergency relief administration program has failed to accomplish in this parish the purpose for which it was intended, or at least the purpose for which we understood it was intended, due to general inefficiency of the local office, and

"Whereas, three particular cases, among others, have been thoroughly investigated by us here and are found to be in desperate and dire need of immediate direct relief, and who on making application to the emergency relief administration were treated rudely, uncharitably and without cause therefor in the building, all of which conduct we deplore and condemn as un-American, and

"Whereas, though we recognize that the money that is being distributed through this organization in the parish does aid to some extent, it does not off-set the social unrest, and that it is promoting a revolutionary spirit on the part of a great many worthy people who are good citizens.

"Therefore, be it resolved that we, the Matthews-Simonton Post No. 112 of Jonesboro, Louisiana, respectfully request that the emergency relief administration for Jackson parish, of which Mrs. Mary Blalock is parish director, immediately vacate the building and return same to us in as good condition as at the time received.

"Be it further resolved that since the present inefficient local civil works administration, under the direction of Mr. E. Lucky, until recently was a part of the emergency relief administration, the above resolution applies to this organization as well, and that he and his organization which now occupies our kitchen be requested to vacate immediately.

"Be it further resolved that copies of this resolution, and names of cases to which we refer above, be sent to the President of the United States; Hon. H. J. Early, executive director; Mrs. Mary Blalock, parish director; Congressman Riley J. Wilson, the Associated Press and to any others that may be concerned with this action.

"C. R. GRIFFITH,
"Vice-commander,
"A. V. TAIT,
"Adjutant."

St. Matthew's Church to Hold Attractive Program

An unusually attractive Christmas program is to be presented at St. Matthew's church at the 9:30 a. m. mass today. A male chorus is to render D. Lorenzo Perosi's mass. This author ranks as one of the greatest of Europe's Italian composers and this will be the first time that this piece has been given in Ouachita parish.

The following will comprise the chorus: first tenor, Julian Brandt, Conrad Cage, Jr., Charles Bigger; second tenor, Thomas Buttitta, Jr., Henry B. Crawford, H. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Freneau Proffit; bass, Frank Campbell, H. G. Proffit, S. Walker, Edward Brandt, R. J. Goza. The director is to be Philip Bernhardt and the organist is to be Don Breitenmoser. The mass will be held by Rev. Father John Vandegae and Rev. Father Gremillion will preach the sermon.

At midnight, the usual Christmas mass will be observed with the usually elaborate musical program. Grace Episcopal church is to hold its midnight service which is also to feature a large choir.

Young Victim of Queer Shooting Laid to Rest

COLUMBIA, Miss., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The victim of a strange accidental shooting, L. D. Saxon, 9, was buried today at Hopewell, Miss., the former home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Saxon.

The child was scuffling with a brother and cousin of near the same age yesterday when he suddenly toppled to the ground, unconscious. His puzzled playmates rushed him home and then to a hospital where he was pronounced dead. Examination disclosed a small hole in the back of his head and physicians found a .22 caliber bullet lodged in the brain.

After an inquiry, Sheriff J. L. Foxworth of Marion county and District Attorney Toxey Hall said they believed young Saxon had been hit by a stray bullet in the hands of Fred Fortenberry, 14, who was firing at an old wagon nearly 200 yards from where the Saxon boy was playing.

HOW BOULDER DAM IS RISING

This new view of construction work at Boulder dam shows what progress has been made in the gigantic engineering feat under way in the Black canyon of the Colorado river. Those tiny images in the foreground are trucks used to haul materials. (Associated Press Photo)

Y's Men's Christmas Tree Is Declared Huge Success

There is a Santa Claus! If you don't believe it, just ask those 350 underprivileged school children who attended the fourth annual Christmas tree celebration given Friday by the Monroe Y's Men's club.

They would answer emphatically in unison:

"There is a Santa! You can't fool us!"

They saw him with their very own eyes at the temporary headquarters of the Y. M. C. A. on South Grand street. Red suit, snow-white hair and beard, red nose, black patent-leather boots and all.

And what provisions he made for them! A large, gaily-decorated Christmas tree illuminated with multi-colored light bulbs; mechanical trains; dolls, games, balls, horns, sewing sets, ironing boards, bags of assorted candies, fruits and nuts, everything, in fact, to delight youthful hearts.

The children, ranging in age from five to 10, were students at the schools of Monroe and West Monroe. Selected by their teachers as youngsters who otherwise would not have been visited by Santa Claus, they were admitted to the Christmas tree by card. Each child received one or more toys and a bag of fruits, nuts and candies.

Distribution of the gifts by "Santa Claus," aided by a large number of Y's Men, began at 2 p. m. and was concluded in 45 minutes. The throng of youngsters was hand-dled expeditiously, but not hurriedly. The children were given plenty of time to feast their eyes on evidence of the bountiful generosity of old St. Nick. No doubt every one of them carried away a vivid picture of the kindness shown. Throughout their lives, doubtless, they will think the better of humanity for it.

Their wide-eyed awe and unbound happiness in being remembered when their parents had forgotten them with the prediction that Santa would probably be forced to pass them by this year, was almost as much of a source of enjoyment to the members of the club as it was to the youngsters themselves.

The club provided for 400 children. The surplus of toys and bags of assorted fruits, nuts and candies was given to the Good Fellows for distribution by that organization among needy families of Monroe and West Monroe.

O. N. McNeil was general chairman of the Christmas tree event. He was assisted in making the celebration a success by the entire membership of the club, which participated in one phase or another of the preparations. It was financed through the suspension by the organization of its two last dinners of the year.

The Christmas tree project of the Y's Men has not only been praised by residents of Monroe, but has been hailed by the International Association of Y's Men's Clubs as one of the outstanding achievements of chapters within the organization.

Dandridge Will Attend Parents' Anniversary

W. E. Dandridge, city ticket and passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad with offices in Hotel Virginia, left last night for Little Rock, Ark., to attend the 55th wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Dandridge. Mr. Dandridge's father is 85 years of age, while his mother is 78. The father is found at his desk each day in the office of the secretary of state in Little Rock, and has held a clerical position there for the past seven years.

His life has been a highly active one, having served for 16 years as sheriff in Logan county, Ark., and for some years was postmaster at Paris, Ark. He has also held other political offices.

The aged couple are parents of 11 children and there has not been a death in the family for 55 years. In addition to the 11 children, there will be 25 grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren present to observe the anniversary to be held today.

NEGROES TO CELEBRATE
A city-wide negro Christmas celebration will be held at 4 p. m. today at Martin Temple church, Congo and Adams streets, under the direction of Hayward Jackson and Rotine Sherman Wilson. There are to be 25 singers in the chorus. Many of these participated in the recent rendition of the Oliver-Ziegler Flood Suite chorus. The numbers to be presented this afternoon include: "Gloria In Excelsis," "O Holy Night" and "Praise Ye Lord."

Accused Man Returned Here From Arkansas

Accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Millard Williams was returned to Monroe at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, after being arrested by officers at Hampton, Ark. Friday on the request of Sheriff Milton Coverdale. Williams was returned by the sheriff and Deputy Sheriff Clyde Mitchell, who left here at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Sheriff Coverdale said Williams served a sentence here in 1932 for larceny and once was accused of breaking and entering. The offense for which he was returned here was said to have been committed on December 17.

MACHINE SHOP

"At the Hammer and Anvil Sign"

All Kinds Machinery Repairs
PORTABLE WELDER

James Machine Works
Telephones

Days 904 Nights 342

PEALING OF BELLS HERALDS YULETIDE

Holy Land Observances
Will Reach Their
Climax Tonight

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 24.—(Sunday)—(AP)—The pealing of bells and the bustle of arriving pilgrims early today heralded the Holy Land's Christmas observances that will reach their climax at midnight.

Despite the strained racial and political atmosphere and the decline in the number of visitors because of the depression, the spirit and piety of the worshippers gathering in this cradle of Christianity remained unaltered.

Hundreds of pilgrims, American and European visitors among them, assembled in reverent remembrance of the birth nearly 2,000 years ago of the Christ Child.

For despite the many centuries of change and destruction, and the strife in this land even at this time, the holy city still holds the imagination of mankind and no power has yet been created that can break the spell which binds the world to it.

Early this morning his beatitude, the Latin patriarch, went out in procession from Jerusalem to the Roman Catholic convent situated on the north side of the church of the Holy Nativity, there to spend the day in meditation and prayer.

Tonight he will go into the church of the convent, which communicates with the church of the Holy Nativity, for vespers at 9 o'clock. The service will continue until shortly before midnight.

Promptly at midnight a large star, representing the traditional Star of Bethlehem, will be lighted above the altar in this centuries-old edifice of stone and wooden rafters and at the same time a curtain will be drawn away to reveal the effigy of the Holy Infant. High mass will begin then.

Shortly afterwards, the patriarch, followed by his clergy and notables, will participate in a procession with the Holy Babe to the Grotto where, in the spot of the manger marked by a star, the effigy will be laid reverently.

The Grotto, a hollow chamber under the main altar of the Church of the Holy Nativity, is said to mark the traditional stable where Christ was born.

The spot is the object of adoration by the Greek orthodox, Roman Catholics, Armenians, Protestants, Copts, and others, and there are very strict rules as to the number of lamps each faction is allowed to have.

Another annual ceremony is the special service on the Young Men's Christian association site in the field of the Shepherds, near Bethlehem, where Christians, with Jews and Moslems as onlookers, will gather tonight to sing Carols after partaking of bread and meat at the entrance of the shepherd's cave.

Children of Institutions Enjoying Merry Christmas

A "Merry Christmas" is to be enjoyed by the inmates of the two public institutions of the city of Monroe, the Louisiana Baptist Children's home and the Louisiana Training institute.

The 153 children at the home were given Christmas trees loaded with candy, fruit, nuts and presents, the six cottages on the grounds yesterday night. They will have a special dinner on Christmas day, the superintendent, L. M. Cole.

At the Louisiana Training institute where there are 140 boys, a tree program were given in the auditorium, yesterday at 4 p. m., and there were remembrances for all. Christmas day, the boys will be treated to bounteous dinner.

SCHOOLS AT ALEX TO BE REOPENED

Arrangements Are Made
to Secure Finances
for Undertaking

ALEXANDRIA, La., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Opening of the Rapides parish schools on Tuesday, January 2, 1934, was assured today in an announcement by a committee of citizens and members of the school board who have made arrangements to secure finances for the undertaking.

The schools of Alexandria and Pineville have been closed since December 12 when the teachers in the institutions decided to close the schools until finances were secured to pay the salaries of which only a small portion had been paid in cash for the 1933-34 season.

The citizens committee was appointed as follows by R. C. Jarreau, chairman of a mass meeting which he called on December 11 to consider school problems: T. L. James, chairman; M. W. Walker, G. V. Pearce, C. A. Wharton and J. B. Nachman.

The members of the school board who worked on the problem were two new members who were recently appointed to fill vacancies in ward one. These were W. D. Wadley and M. J. Weiss.

The committee announced today that after nearly two weeks spent in conferences on the school problems that arrangements had been made to borrow money to open the schools.

The group also announced that plans were being perfected to cut expenditures so that the board could get on a cash basis. In announcing the cut of expenditures, the committee said that the plans did not provide for a further cut in the teachers' salaries.

Helium gas was discovered in the stars before it was known to be present on the earth.

TO RETURN
Mrs. Rebecca Pierce, who underwent a serious St. Francis sanitarium, 4, will return to her home. Mrs. Pierce formerly lived

XMAS GREETINGS

- and -
HAPPY NEW YEAR
TO ALL

GOOD EATS CAFE
TOM and GUS

THE HEART OF YULETIDE

is in the simple greeting of fellowship which passes at this season from man to man and from nation to nation . . .

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

-AND-

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

This is the cordial greeting of the Ouachita National Bank to its depositors and to all the Parish.

THE OUACHITA NATIONAL BANK

A MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS
AND
A BOUNTIFUL NEW YEAR
IS OUR WISH FOR ALL OF YOU

"707" TIRE SERVICE

"RUFF" TIDWELL

Christmas Greetings ♦♦♦

At this time each year, we forget business momentarily to extend to you of this community the season's greetings . . . and to thank you for the splendid business you have found us worthy to receive. . .

Thus, wholeheartedly, we wish you a very merry Christmas, and a New Year filled to overflowing with happiness and good living. . .

MONROE FURNITURE CO., LTD.

TO WISH YOU
A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A
HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS
NEW YEAR

Standard Office Supply Company

Phone 519 K. of P. Bldg.

THE HEART OF YULETIDE

is in the simple greeting of fellowship which passes at this season from man to man and from nation to nation . . .

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

-AND-

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

This is the cordial greeting of the Ouachita National Bank to its depositors and to all the Parish.

THE OUACHITA NATIONAL BANK

San Francisco Morning World

AND NEWS-STAR

Comics and Magazine

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1933

KNOCKED OUT AND KIDNAPPED BY A HUGE GORILLA, TOMMY IS AT THE MERCY OF THE BEAST--SKEETER IS UNABLE TO RESCUE HIS PAL BECAUSE THE APE, JUGGLING TOMMY AS A CHILD WOULD A DOLL, USES HIM AS A SHIELD EACH TIME THAT SKEETER TRIES TO GET A SHOT AT THE 'KING OF THE MONKS'--MEANWHILE, SKEETER IS CONFRONTED BY A NEW AND UNSEEN MENACE--

Copyright, 1933, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

PROGRESS WAR PLANE'S EARLY BIRDS OF FLIGHT--

CURTIS "WIRELESS" SO CALLED BECAUSE IT HAD NO VISIBLE BRACING CABLES OR WIRES--IT HAD A 100-H.P. MOTOR AND NEVER WAS IN COMBAT--

EARLE OVINGTON AS HE LOOKED IN HIS 1911 HELMET

FIRST AIRMAIL PILOT IN THE WORLD AND STILL FLYING OUT OF SANTA BARBARA, CALIFORNIA-- with probably 60- and Tuesday light to moderate rain or snow tonight and in west-central

75 CENTS

ER

CRASH IG NEAR CAPITOL

orst In Hisee; Probe
ed

IS KILLED

aid Official President
ublie

France count-ter a train wreck came for most of
y of despair.
worst in France's rday night when hour flier tele-coaches of the fog at Lagny, 17
Both trains were
bound passengers,
ded the French
orel, former cab-his wife
ath toll will be is et for many perquished in hospitals sue workers still and splintered

ies set the official f whom 180 lay in Eastern Railway
orary morgue. Of l were unable to orties feared at most seriously into pay the dead

President LeBrun
tion in a tribute at y station.
extremity of sor-
d for Wednesday, de in the hope of ication of bodies,
nting descriptions
kets of those still er and fireman of er are in jail. Their ied up by the po-by gendarmes to mination by gov-who are charged investigation,

eer, Lucien Dau-
zman, Henri Charney had been give signal of a clear road officials, howck night had been

that the fog made er green was alteration. An oc-r, stated that while affects colors, the
made in the oppo-
green would tend but a white fog
a red light to an-

ered likely that the golden cars would ement action to er cars to be made
announced that the l be interpreted in spites on the acci-

MAYOR DOUBTFUL

Rolls to Re-
This Week
releaus

5, Dec. 25.--(P)--The an's triangular may-month was still in

r the office will pit istic forces of Mayinsley and Senator inst each other. The rushed by Francis
dent candidate,
rish registrar of vot-sterday that the reg-id remain open this was previously anould be closed last

ually understood that d be held January
y of the registration
nounced for Decem-
fore the election, as er, chairman of the Democratic commit-

the primary is held registering after De-
it be eligible to vote,
that if the primary 30, they will be al-

will meet on Jan-
date of the election

Sanroes Morning World

AND NEWS-STAR

Comics and Magazine

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1933

KNOCKED OUT AND KIDNAPPED BY A HUGE GORILLA, TOMMY IS AT THE MERCY OF THE BEAST--SKEETER IS UNABLE TO RESCUE HIS PAL BECAUSE THE APE, JUGGLING TOMMY AS A CHILD WOULD A DOLL, USES HIM AS A SHIELD EACH TIME THAT SKEETER TRIES TO GET A SHOT AT THE "KING OF THE MONKS"--- MEANWHILE, SKEETER IS CONFRONTED BY A NEW AND UNSEEN MENACE--

Copyright, 1933, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

PROGRESS WAR PLANES EARLY BIRDS OF FLIGHT--

CURTISS "WIRELESS" SO CALLED BECAUSE IT HAD NO VISIBLE BRACING CABLES OR WIRES--IT HAD A 100-H.P. MOTOR AND NEVER WAS IN COMBAT--

EARLE OVINGTON AS HE LOOKED IN HIS 1911 HELMET

FIRST AIRMAIL PILOT IN THE WORLD AND STILL FLYING OUT OF SANTA BARBARA, CALIFORNIA--

STATE TEACHERS SEEK IMMEDIATE SPECIAL

resolutions As to Provide Million Do

NEW ORLEANS. Louisiana teachers in convention today adopted an immediate resolution of the state legislature "several million" to the operation of the immediate pay credits on the books.

In its demands for a "essential" the as "there can be no fu" practiced, unless we wreck the school s crowded classrooms a of essential services" from the lack of sch asserted.

"Future tax collecti" educated to education. scrupulously segrega funds and distribute boards as they are c association recommende. Recommending th congress make avail an emergency appro even a collapse of teachers adopted a

"The schools must" d, the children this birthright; tion that the fe old turn its atte on of the childr The association ur a suggestion th "aid aside in the " an effort to better schools. Teachers' stated, have been le age of $735 per ye The association ac nent plan" of fina at the next regul legislature. The p places "the major state government" state funds provid them available at l parishes.

A resolution was Mayor T. Semmes of the National M to petition the g general aid for the s

At for to m... sp fo T w C fi h

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1933

FISHER'S HISTORY OF BOXING

12-24

IN 1833
JAMES BURKE
AN ENGLISH
DEAF
MUTE DEFEATED
THE IRISH CHAMPION BYRNE AND DECIDED TO INVADE AMERICA WHERE BOXING WAS ALMOST UNKNOWN.

Dear
letters arriving sakes understo id send locking
I said intend in this I find History
Th MERRY
XMAS
BELIEVE ME

JOE PALOOKA

© 1933, McNaught Syndicate, Inc., N. Y.

By HAM

FISHER'S HISTORY OF BOXING

12-24.

IN 1833
JAMES BURKE
AN ENGLISH
DEAF
MUTE DEFEATED
THE IRISH CHAMPION BYRNE, AND DECIDED TO INVADE
AMERICA WHERE BOXING WAS ALMOST UNKNOWN.

Dear
letters arriving sakes,
understo
I'd send boring
I said w intend to in this pa
I finish
History

MERRY
XMAS
B' LIEVE ME

JOE PALOOKA

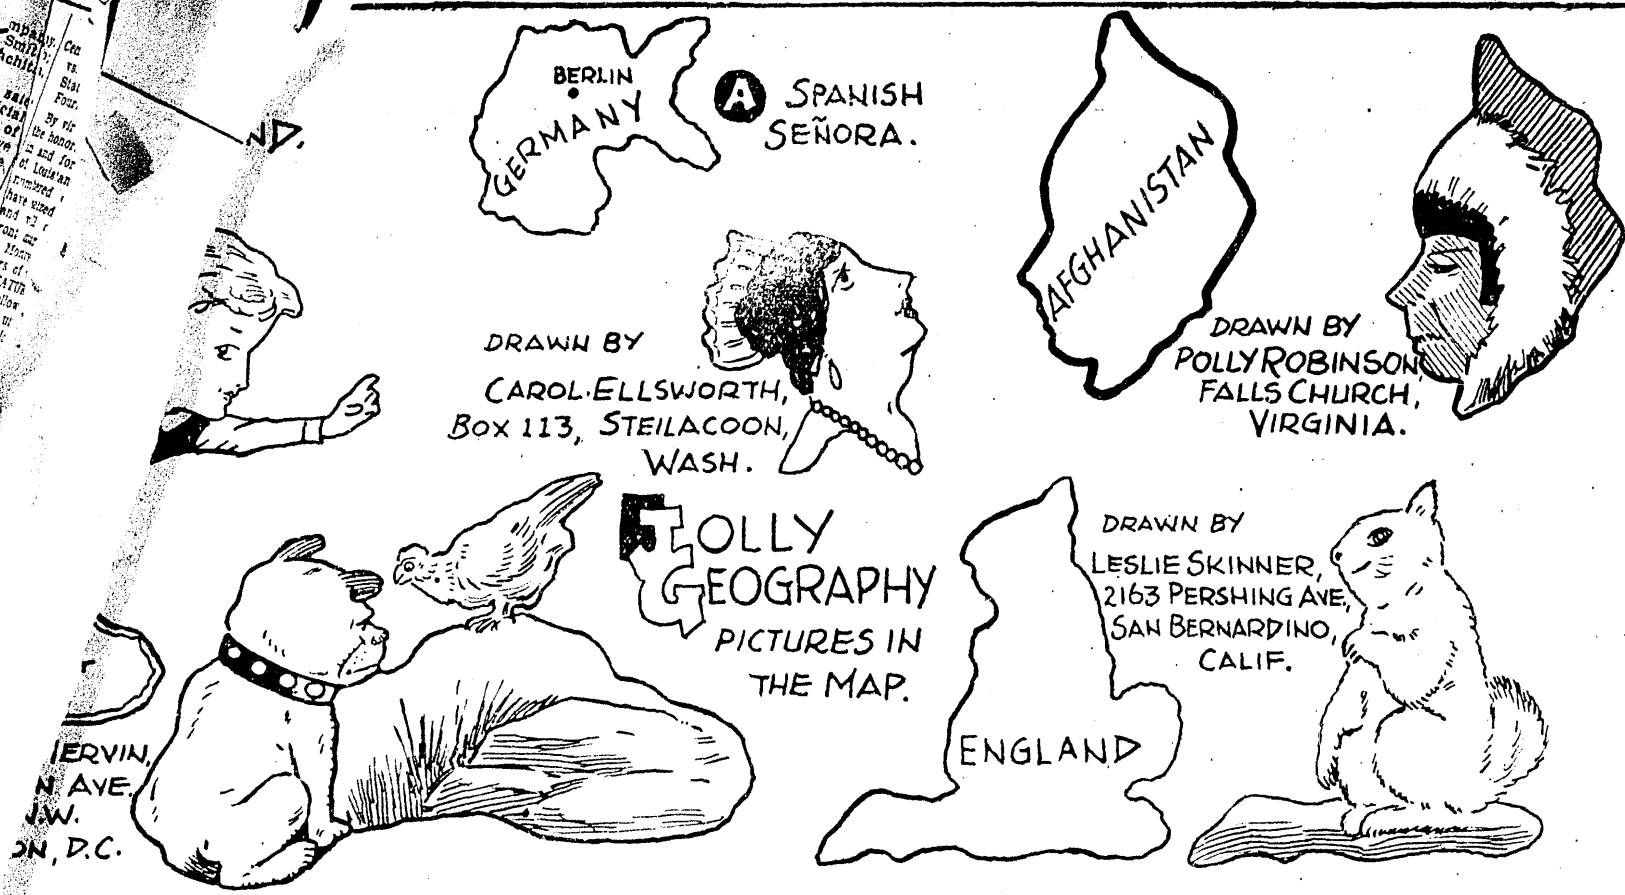

© 1933, McNaught Syndicate, Inc., N. Y.

By HAM

CONGRESSMAN
WEIDEBOTTOM
LAST WEEK
ATTACHED HIMSELF TO JOE AND KNOBBY AND GUARANTEED TO GET THEM AN AUDIENCE WITH THE PRESIDENT.
THE CONGRESSMAN HAD BEEN TRYING TO REACH EVERYONE IN WASHINGTON TO MAKE THE APPOINTMENT.

ODD AND INTERESTING NAMES ON THE MAP

DAZE, ARIZONA.
VALUE, MISSISSIPPI.
PLEASANT HOPE, MO.
TIM, MAINE.
PARSIPPANY, N.J.
SKEDEE, OKLA.
PYMATUNING, PA.
CANDOR, N.C.
BREAKABEEN, N.Y.
HASTY, MINN.
GERMFASK, MICH.
BLUEJACKET, OKLA.
RED JACKET, MICH.
HURRY, MARYLAND.
HIRAM, MAINE.
YELLVILLE, ARK.
PER SE, PA.
GIRDLE TREE, MD.
BUMBLE BEE, ARIZ.
WAPWALLOPEN, PA.

OF HISTORY

The Story Of New France—Part XI

By J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

1665 SAW THE
OF BETTER TIMES
FRANCE. A FORCE OF PS, THE REGIMENT DE
WAS SENT TO PROTECT
NCH-CANADIAN SETTLE-

FURTHER THE FRENCH
URED WESTWARD, THE MORE
WERE AMAZED AT THE VAST OF AMERICA.
ALON, THE ENERGETIC INTENDANT,
ROPOSED TO EXTEND THE POWER
OF THE FRENCH KING TO THE
UTMOST LIMITS OF THE CONTINENT.
IN 1671 HE SENT ST. LUSSON TO
SAULT SAINTE MARIE TO CLAIM ALL
THE LAND NORTH, WEST AND
SOUTH AS PART OF NEW FRANCE.

TWO YEARS LATER PERE MARQUETTE, A JESUIT MISSIONARY, AND JOLIET, AN EXPLORER, MADE THE PASSAGE FROM LAKE MICHIGAN TO THE MISSISSIPPI,
AND WERE THE FIRST FRENCHMEN TO LOOK UPON THE "FATHER OF WATERS".

PUSHING ON, THESE TWO BRAVE MEN DESCENDED THE GREAT RIVER TO THE
MOUTH OF THE ARKANSAS IN THE
LAND OF THE CHICKASAWS, WHO GAVE THEM A FRIENDLY WELCOME.

WHEN THE FRENCHMEN TURNED BACK, JOLIET JOURNEYING TO QUEBEC TO REPORT THEIR DISCOVERY,
MARQUETTE RETURNING TO THE
SHORES OF LAKE MICHIGAN TO PREACH AMONG THE ILLINOIS TRIBES.

IN MAY, 1675, THE HEROIC PRIEST,
WORN OUT BY HIS MISSIONARY
LABORS, FELL ILL AND DIED. TENDER-LY HIS DUSKY CONVERTS LAID HIM TO REST IN A LONELY GRAVE BESIDE
THE MARQUETTE RIVER.

THE TORCH OF EXPLORATION
DROPPED BY MARQUETTE WAS PICKED
UP AND CARRIED ON BY THE CELEBRATED LA SALLE, THEN A
YOUNG OFFICER IN COMMAND AT FORT FRONTENAC (KINGSTON).

AT THIS TIME THE FRENCH HAD NOT EXPLORED THE REGION AROUND
NIAGARA FALLS. IT WAS THE HOME
OF THE WARLIKE IROQUOIS, AND
WHITE EXPLORERS HAD GIVEN IT
A WIDE BERTH.

LA SALLE WAS TOLD BY THE INDIANS
THAT THE IROQUOIS BELIEVED THE SPOT TO BE HAUNTED BY DEMONS, AND
THAT THE GOD OF THUNDER HIMSELF
MADE HIS HOME IN A GREAT, WINDY
CAVERN DIRECTLY BENEATH THE ROAR-ING CATARACT.

HAUNTED BY THESE INDIAN TALES,
LA SALLE IN 1678, WITH HIS LIEUTENANT,
AND THE JESUIT, FATHER HENNE-PEN, PENETRATED THE "HAUNTED" AND DISCOVERED THE MIGHTY

LATER, WHILE LA SALLE WAS AT FORT FRONTENAC GATHERING MEN
AND SUPPLIES FOR AN EXPEDITION
TO THE WEST BY WAY OF LAKE ERIE,
FATHER HENNEPIN BUILT A SMALL
SHIP ON THE NIAGARA RIVER ABOVE
THE FALLS.

LA SALLE REJOINED HENNEPIN, AND
THE LITTLE VESSEL, THE GRIFFON, WAS LAUNCHED IN THE SPRING OF
1679. IT WAS THE FIRST SHIP
UPON THE GREAT LAKES.

ON THIS CLUMSY LITTLE CRAFT
LA SALLE AND HIS MEN SAILED TO GREEN BAY, WISCONSIN,
STOPPING TO TRADE WITH THE INDIANS ALONG THE WAY.

~ TO BE CONTINUED.

ATHER

with probably cost and Tuesday light to moderthe coast.
ty, probably occa-
and rain or snow
orions tonight and ter in west-central

VE CENTS

ER

CRASH
OG NEAR CAPITOL

Worst In History; Probe ted

IS KILLED

Paid Official President
public

France count-
after a train wreck
came for most of
ay of despair.
a worst in France's urday night when ushoung flier tele-on coaches of the a fog at Lagny, 17
Both trains were
bound passengers,
uded the French
dorel, former cab-
his wife.
leath toll will be is yet for many per-injured in hospitals esue workers still led and splintered

ties set the official of whom 180 lay in Eastern Railway
aporary morgue. Of all were unable to borties feared at most seriously in-

l to pay the dead
a President LeBrun
ation in a tribute at ay station.

ceremony of sored for Wednesday.
ade in the hope of fication of bodies,
printing descriptions
nkets of those still per and fireman of er are in jail. Their saled up by the poly by gendarmes to amination by gov-

s who are charged investigation.
neer, Lucien Dau-
reman, Henri Char-
they had been giv-
he signal of a clear road officials, how-ock light had been

that the fog made
er green was al-estimation. An ocey stated that while ffects colors, the
made in the oppo-
green would tend
but a white fog
a red light to an-

ered likely that the wooden cars would ernment action to er cars to be made
announced that the d be interperated in epities on the acci-

MAYOR
DOUBTFUL

1 Rolls to Re-
This Week
Orleans

S. Dec. 25.—(P)—The an's triangular may-
month was still in

er the office will pit
nistic forces of May-amsley and Senator ainst each other. The urnished by Francis
dent candidate.
rish registrar of vota-
sterday that the reg-aid remain open this t was previously anould be closed last

erally understood that ald be held January
g of the registrations
nounced for Decem-
efore the election, as

er, chairman of the Democratic commit-
the primary is held registering after De-
st be eligible to vote,
that if the primary 30, they will be al-

will meet on Jan-
date of the election

DRAWN BY CAROL ELLSWORTH,
Box 113, STEILACCOON,
WASH.

DRAWN BY POLLY ROBINSON, FALLS CHURCH, VIRGINIA.

POLLY GEOGRAPHY PICTURES IN THE MAP.

DRAWN BY LESLIE SKINNER, 2163 PERSHING AVE.,
SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF.

ODD AND INTERESTING NAMES ON THE MAP

DAZE, ARIZONA.
VALUE, MISSISSIPPI.
PLEASANT HOPE, MO.
TIM, MAINE.
PARSIPPANY, N.J.
SKEDEE, OKLA.
PYMATUNING, PA.
CANDOR, N.C.
BREAKABEEN, N.Y.
HASTY, MINN.
GERMFASK, MICH.
BLUEJACKET, OKLA.
RED JACKET, MICH.
HURRY, MARYLAND.
HIRAM, MAINE.
YELLVILLE, ARK.
PER SE, PA.
GIRDLE TREE, MD.
BUMBLE BEE, ARIZ.
WAPWALLOPEN, PA.

OF HISTORY

The Story Of New France—Part XI

By J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

1665 SAW THE
OF BETTER TIMES
FRANCE. A FORCE OF PS, THE REGIMENT DE
WAS SENT TO PROTECT
NCH-CANADIAN SETTLE-

FURTHER THE FRENCH
URED WESTWARD, THE MORE
WERE AMAZED AT THE VAST E OF AMERICA.
ALON, THE ENERGETIC INTENDANT,
ROPOSED TO EXTEND THE POWER
OF THE FRENCH KING TO THE
UTMOST LIMITS OF THE CONTINENT.

IN 1671 HE SENT ST. LUSSON TO
SAULT SAINTE MARIE TO CLAIM ALL
THE LAND NORTH, WEST AND
SOUTH AS PART OF NEW FRANCE.

TWO YEARS LATER PÈRE MARQUETTE,
A JESUIT MISSIONARY, AND JOLIET, AN EXPLORER, MADE THE PASSAGE FROM
LAKE MICHIGAN TO THE MISSISSIPPI,
AND WERE THE FIRST FRENCHMEN TO
LOOK UPON THE "FATHER OF WATERS."

PUSHING ON, THESE TWO BRAVE MEN
DESCENDED THE GREAT RIVER TO THE
MOUTH OF THE ARKANSAS IN THE
LAND OF THE CHICKASAWS, WHO GAVE THEM A FRIENDLY WELCOME.

WHEN THE FRENCHMEN TURNED BACK, JOLIET JOURNEYING TO QUEBEC TO REPORT THEIR DISCOVERY,
MARQUETTE RETURNING TO THE
SHORES OF LAKE MICHIGAN TO PREACH AMONG THE ILLINOIS TRIBES.

IN MAY, 1675, THE HEROIC PRIEST,
WORN OUT BY HIS MISSIONARY
LABORS, FELL ILL AND DIED. TENDER-
LY HIS DUSKY CONVERTS LAID HIM TO REST IN A LONELY GRAVE BESIDE
THE MARQUETTE RIVER.

THE TORCH OF EXPLORATION
DROPPED BY MARQUETTE WAS PICKED
UP AND CARRIED ON BY THE CELEBRATED LA SALLE, THEN A
YOUNG OFFICER IN COMMAND AT FORT FRONTENAC (KINGSTON).

AT THIS TIME THE FRENCH HAD
NOT EXPLORED THE REGION AROUND
NIAGARA FALLS. IT WAS THE HOME
OF THE WARLIKE IROQUOIS, AND
WHITE EXPLORERS HAD GIVEN IT
A WIDE BERTH.

LA SALLE WAS TOLD BY THE INDIANS
THAT THE IROQUOIS BELIEVED THE
SPOT TO BE HAUNTED BY DEMONS, AND
THAT THE GOD OF THUNDER HIMSELF
MADE HIS HOME IN A GREAT, WINDY
CAVERN DIRECTLY BENEATH THE ROAR-ING CATARACT.

HAUNTED BY THESE INDIAN TALES,
LA SALLE IN 1678, WITH HIS LIEUTENANT,
AND THE JESUIT, FATHER HENNE-PIN, PENETRATED THE "HAUNTED"
AND DISCOVERED THE MIGHTY

LATER, WHILE LA SALLE WAS AT
FORT FRONTENAC GATHERING MEN
AND SUPPLIES FOR AN EXPEDITION
TO THE WEST BY WAY OF LAKE ERIE,
FATHER HENNEPIN BUILT A SMALL
SHIP ON THE NIAGARA RIVER ABOVE
THE FALLS.

LA SALLE REJOINED HENNEPIN, AND
THE LITTLE VESSEL, THE GRIFFON,
WAS LAUNCHED IN THE SPRING OF
1679. IT WAS THE FIRST SHIP
UPON THE GREAT LAKES.

IN THIS CLUMSY LITTLE CRAFT
LA SALLE AND HIS MEN SAILED
TO GREEN BAY, WISCONSIN,
STOPPING TO TRADE WITH THE INDIANS ALONG THE WAY.

~ TO BE CONTINUED.

© 1933, J. CARROLL MANSFIELD.

FASHIONS FOR CHRISTMAS W

AT LEFT; this lovely gown combines a black crepe skirt with a pale blue crepe bodice and adds a purple crepe sash with interesting results. The blouse shows the new high draped neckline and dropped shoulders. Simplicity itself is the garnet crepe frock above. Dependent upon its smart lines for distinction, it is without trimming except for three flowers of self-material placed at the high neckline. A simple frock of lustrous black velvet is dressed up with white binding at girdle and neckline. There are dolman sleeves, very tight at the wrist.

AT RIGHT; a charming two-piece model in dull green that combines bengaline and satin in an interesting manner. The satin forms the sleeves and cowl neck, while the bengaline is used for the skirt and to fashion the front of the bodice, where it is attached in a high pointed yoke. A very young frock is the next model of brown velvet, trimmed with narrow white crepe ruffling. The sleeves are puffed a little at the shoulder. Dull crepe, in the new blackberry shade, makes the afternoon frock at the extreme right. It is effectively trimmed with blue grosgrain ribbon folded into two flat bows used on the bodice and again on the sleeves.

Colorful Afternoon Frocks for the Holiday Week

CHRISTMAS is here again, and with it comes a round of festivities that will keep us busy through a long, full week. There are parties for the grown-ups, gay hours with the children, and informal teas to fill days growing all too short.

Now, indeed, the afternoon wardrobe must be at its best. A variety of smart gowns will take us through these merry hours with an easy assurance of being attractively attired.

Velvet is very much in vogue and is fashioning some lovely informal frocks. Black, of course, is always the leading shade in this lustrous fabric, and there is no smarter choice than a simple black velvet gown cut on straight lines for the homey gatherings of the holiday week. Some of the more interesting gowns of black velvet are attractively set off with a touch of white. Black satin, too, is a winter favorite, and its gleaming surface is becoming to all.

However, don't feel that you are limited to any one color or any favored fabric for your holiday frocks. This winter the fashion experts give you a wide choice of colors and fabrics to choose from. Dull crepes, bengaline, fine wool crepes and new ribbed fabrics—all are in use. And there are a variety of colors to please the most fastidious. Youthful reds, dull greens, that lovely new shade of gray called eel, blackberry, brown and certain shades of the blue family—all call for your admiration.

Today's page gives you a representative group of exclusive afternoon frocks that are planned with a view to the needs of the holiday season. Look them over and choose your favorite!

HAM

FINE - FINE
OF COURSE WE'D BE ING AT THE CONGRESSIONAL CAFE.

USE ME
H - IF NO T MEET
RESIDENT - BBE AN ILD BE OF IE HELP

NEVER THRILLED
Y LIFE /
SUS -

WH
DO FIG
MAR JOE

THE
sati
w

MONROE, LOUISIANA, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1933

FASHIONS FOR CHRISTMAS W

AT LEFT; this lovely gown combines a black crepe skirt with a pale blue crepe bodice and adds a purple crepe sash with interesting results. The blouse shows the new high draped neckline and dropped shoulders. Simplicity itself is the garnet crepe frock above. Dependent upon its smart lines for distinction, it is without trimming except for three flowers of self-material placed at the high neckline. A simple frock of lustrous black velvet is dressed up with white binding at girdle and neckline. There are dolman sleeves, very tight at the wrist.

AT RIGHT; a charming two-piece model in dull green that combines bengaline and satin in an interesting manner. The satin forms the sleeves and cowl neck, while the bengaline is used for the skirt and to fashion the front of the bodice, where it is attached in a high pointed yoke. A very young frock is the next model of brown velvet, trimmed with narrow white crepe ruffling. The sleeves are puffed a little at the shoulder. Dull crepe, in the new blackberry shade, makes the afternoon frock at the extreme right. It is effectively trimmed with blue grosgrain ribbon folded into two flat bows used on the bodice and again on the sleeves.

Colorful Afternoon Frocks for the Holiday Week

CHRISTMAS is here again, and with it comes a round of festivities that will keep us busy through a long, full week. There are parties for the grown-ups, gay hours with the children, and informal teas to fill days growing all too short.

Now, indeed, the afternoon wardrobe must be at its best. A variety of smart gowns will take us through these merry hours with an easy assurance of being attractively attired.

Velvet is very much in vogue and is fashioning some lovely informal frocks. Black, of course, is always the leading shade in this lustrous fabric, and there is no smarter choice than a simple black velvet gown cut on straight lines for the homey gatherings of the holiday week. Some of the more interesting gowns of black velvet are attractively set off with a touch of white. Black satin, too, is a Winter favorite, and its gleaming surface is becoming to all.

However, don't feel that you are limited to any one color or any favored fabric for your holiday frocks. This Winter the fashion experts give you a wide choice of colors and fabrics to choose from. Dull crepes, bengaline, fine wool crepes and new ribbed fabrics—all are in use. And there are a variety of colors to please the most fastidious. Youthful reds, dull greens, that lovely new shade of gray called eel, blackberry, brown and certain shades of the blue family—all call for your admiration.

Today's page gives you a representative group of exclusive afternoon frocks that are planned with a view to the needs of the holiday season. Look them over and choose your favorite!

Dear
letters arriving sakes,
understo
I'd send boxing
I said w
intend to
in this pa final History

RY
AS VE ME

HAM

NCY AN

YE
O

FINE - FINE
OF COURSE WE'D BE ING AT TH
CONGRESSION
CAFE.

CUSE ME
OH - IF N'YO ITS T MEET RESIDENT BBE' AN LD BE OF IE HELP

NEVER THRILLED
Y LIFE!
DUS --

WH
DO
FIG
MAR
JOE

TH
sati
wi
Y

Mass Bowl

outh Jackson

ibbs. We do that. a chance on egan to leave, reluctantly. Christmas," she it the day be-me more money, ing it in here to aer. "You might at his kindness, was astonished. She closed the heavy Peanut received her ither was mild, and the lumpy. Melting snow mists of the walks. Sis and her family. George and fat. He was only Mother told Sis every day

Each school day Sis and Edith took the three little ones to the neighborhood free nursery before they went to school, but school was out until after New Year's, and Sis was in full

All looked trustfully to her now, and all the little faces shone with the same rapture that had so oddly disturbed and upset Mr. Phibbs, and made him sharper

Sis drew them gently away and got them started toward home. They crossed a busy thoroughfare, bunched together for safety, turned down a black and came to a narrow stairway that led up above a fur store to the

They crossed a busy thoroughfare, bunched together for safety, turned down a black and came to a narrow stairway that led up above a fur store to the

The beds were made; the rooms were clean and orderly. Late Sis had appreciated Mummie with a new and painful knowledge of her difficulties. Mummie was proud. "This is our home," she told them. "We must keep it as nice as we can."

Mummie rose early and cleaned the loft before she went to work. Mummie came home at night with groceries and cooked them a good supper. Mummie liked their loft. "It's nice here," she told them. "We have it much better than lots of people, and we're never sick. We're lucky, that's what we are!"

Now Sis plopped George down in his high chair, pulled off his sweater and leggings that had once been hers, while the twins and Edith took off their non-descript wraps and hung them on the low hooks. Mummie had scrowed inside the kitchen door. Edith set out the dishes on the oilcloth-covered table, and Sis

George emptied his plate and put it on his head and puffed out his cheeks, and no comedian on earth could ask for an audience more convulsed with mirth. Then, without warning, the little boy laid his cheek on his spoon and went instantly to sleep. Sis picked him up gently, and took him in and put him in his crib. She wiped the molasses from his hair and face with a wet washcloth and covered him warmly, shoes and all. There he would sleep until Mummie came home a little after five.

The little girls busied themselves with the dishes. Sis put two pieces of coal in the range and shut off the dampers, and they went into the front room.

Now the little mother sat down with pencil and paper and confronted the vast problem of thirty-eight cents. It was a tremendous sum, and she had only eight days. Five cents a day she needed. If she could get six! It would be much wiser to count on six cents a day. That would take only seven days, and Sunday Mummie was home. Her mind ranged the neighborhood

For a moment Sis was daunted, thinking of their eleven cents. They could have got Mummie something at the dime store with that. But the vision of the red glass bowl with its gold curlicues came before her eyes and steadied her. They had to do it! It was, most likely, the only Christmas present Mummie would have, and she ought to have something really grand, like the red glass bowl.

There must be some way she could manage it! There must be! She saw that Maggie had tumbled over sideways on the bed, sound asleep. Sis said quietly to Edith and Tillie:

"I'm going downstairs to see Mrs. Hepstein. You two be good, and don't waken Maggie, and you won't have any trouble. And don't let anybody in but me."

"What are you going down there for, Sis?"

"I want to see if she'll let me work for her until Christmas. I could work a while every day."

But Mrs. Hepstein was not hospitable to the idea. It was not unkindness.

"You got enough to do, you baby," she said gently. "You can't take on any more chores."

"It's for a Christmas present for Mummie."

"Your Ma wouldn't want you working extra for any present for her," said Mrs. Hepstein. "She doesn't want any Christmas present from you kids, except for you to be good."

"Of course, she wants a Christmas present," said Sis indignantly. "Everybody wants one, and Mummie loves presents."

"I don't think it's right," said Mrs. Hepstein firmly. "Your Ma pays the rent every month, and she keeps you kids fed and dressed, and that's enough Christmas present for any widow in these hard times. And you go off working and leave them alone, and she'll be throwing water like they did the last time."

Sis looked guiltily at the streak on the stove pipe that went through the ceiling of the store.

On the street, she paused. She creaked an ear up the stairway. All was quiet above, and she ventured to the corner.

"Hey, Spike," she said to the forty-year-old newsboy who had a stand there. "Let me deliver some papers for you, will you?"

She unfolded the plan to him. Spike listened cynically. "Kiss your seven cents good-bye, Sis," he told her. "You'll never see it again. Old Phibbs done you out of it."

Sis was staunch. "You let me deliver papers for you, and see."

"O. K. Half a cent a paper—two papers, every day at noon. I got some customers would like the noon edition in their stores before lunch every day, now they can't get out at noon account of Christmas trade. I'll give you the papers, and six cents after you deliver 'em. But you've got to be here at eleven-thirty sharp, and no missing!"

Sis rushed home, radiant. Her pencil did astonishing things on the paper. She would have to leave out Sunday, when the stores were closed. But the other seven days would give her forty-two cents on the day before Christmas, at noon.

They gave the present to her just as fast as they could get inside the door, all crying shrilly, "Christmas present—Christmas present!"

The three days left of the week added eighteen cents to their collection.

Another four days. On Thursday they would get the bowl and Christmas was Friday.

Sunday was always a happy day for the five little Andersons. Mummie was home all day. Her presence transformed the left

They had many jokes and games, all of them got a good cuddling, things even tasted differently. The Hepsteins were gone. No one cared how much noise they made.

All this particular Sunday there was a delightful air of conspiracy among the children. Screams and hands clapped over their mouths, and that's enough Christmas present for any widow in these hard times. And you go off working and leave them alone, and she'll be throwing water like they did the last time."

Sis looked guiltily at the streak on the stove pipe that went through the ceiling of the store.

On the street, she paused. She creaked an ear up the stairway. All was quiet above, and she ventured to the corner.

"Hey, Spike," she said to the forty-year-old newsboy who had a stand there. "Let me deliver some papers for you, will you?"

She unfolded the plan to him. Spike listened cynically. "Kiss your seven cents good-bye, Sis," he told her. "You'll never see it again. Old Phibbs done you out of it."

Sis was staunch. "You let me deliver papers for you, and see."

"O. K. Half a cent a paper—two papers, every day at noon. I got some customers would like the noon edition in their stores before lunch every day, now they can't get out at noon account of Christmas trade. I'll give you the papers, and six cents after you deliver 'em. But you've got to be here at eleven-thirty sharp, and no missing!"

Sis rushed home, radiant. Her pencil did astonishing things on the paper. She would have to leave out Sunday, when the stores were closed. But the other seven days would give her forty-two cents on the day before Christmas, at noon.

There was no way to manage it, save in a body. So the next day, before half past eleven, the five little Andersons and Peanut, all in a terrific fever of excitement, were at the newsstand. Spike, true to his word, gave Sis the twelve noon editions and a list of the stores where she was to leave them.

It took them an hour to deliver the twelve papers, and Spike gave Sis a nickel and a penny, and they all took it to Mr. Phibbs before they returned home for their lunch. Mr. Phibbs had taken the red glass bowl out of the window and put it on a shelf behind him. There it glowed, like a ruby, and Sis felt that Spike had sadly maligned Mr. Phibbs.

things threatened Mr. Phibbs.

"You come back tomorrow, anyhow," he told her — but Sis saw no good to come of that.

In the street again, she and the little ones lingered, a doubtful group. George, at the expression of Sis's face, puckered up to cry.

Mrs. Hepstein came out of the store next door, and spoke to them, and stooped and patted off George's cheek. Her purse slipped from under her arm, the clasp broke on the walk, and some change rolled out. A quarter wheeled directly toward Sis, by the window, and quicker than that her foot was on it, and she stood staring into the window.

her quick, shallow breath making a fog on the glass. Edith helped Mrs. Hepstein rather un-the money and put it all into her hand, and Mrs. Hepstein gave Edith a penny.

Still Sis stood, face averted, struggling, convulsed. But she could not do it. Reluctantly, slowly, she lifted her foot under which the quarter burned like a hot coal, and moved a little, still gazing into the store front.

If Mrs. Hepstein didn't see it — if she went on without it — then the quarter was complete, and Sis stooped and picked up the quarter and held it out in her hand.

"I guess you didn't see this."

It seemed to Sis that Mrs. Hepstein's black eyes plunged into the depths of her soul, but she only said quietly:

"Thank you, Sis. And here's a penny for you, too."

"No, no, thanks," said Sis, red and shame-faced, and Mrs. Hepstein went on her way down the street.

Sis immediately took Edith's penny away from her and took it in to Mr. Phibbs.

"You come back tomorrow — don't forget," he told her.

That night, after the little ones were asleep, Mummie left Sis and Peanut in charge, with the door safely bolted, and went out. She came back loaded down with burdens. There was something for each of them. A jumping jack and a ball for old fat George, small dolls for the twins, a pencil box and tablet for Edith. There was even a tiny imitation Christmas tree, with some bright balls from the dime store, and popcorn to pop in the skillet and string on red wool.

Mummie hid one package, and Sis knew that was for her! Mummie had spent three round, silver dollars in the cheap stores of the neighborhood, and she had a present for each one, and candy and nuts, and an orange and a banana apiece, and meat for a Christmas pot-roast.

Sis was choked with love and sorrow. How lucky they were to have Mummie! That was their luck, nothing else. And they had no Christmas present for her. Oh, if Sis had not been so wild for the red glass bowl! If she had saved their eleven cents, and added the eighteen cents to it, and the penny from Mrs. Hepstein, it would make thirty cents. They might have bought Mummie a big bottle of perfume with that. It was cruel not to have a gift for the one best of all!

She and Mummie hid the things away until Christmas Eve. Then they would hang up the little ones' stockings. They would fix the tree.

"Edith knows there isn't any Santa, but let's surprise her anyhow, Mummie."

"All right," Mummie agreed, her face shining with pride at the beautiful Christmas she had for her babies.

At noon the next day Mummie came home and found her tribe gone out. This gave her a chance to turn up the hem of the new dress she had for Sis.

Out on the street the five little Andersons pressed their noses against the window of Mr. Phibbs' Cut-Price Jewelry Store. Customers went in and out, and there, in the window, was the red glass bowl, with a card in it on which was printed the word "Sold."

Sis sighed. Edith struggled with tears. The twins were heavy with woe. Old fat George said "tired" in vain, and Peanut sat dejectedly. Mr. Phibbs opened the door, and instinctively the five little Andersons drew back.

Mr. Phibbs beckoned to Sis. His face was shining with pleasure. He grinned at them.

"I was looking for you," he said. "Did you come for your bowl?"

Sis faltered, staring at him hypnotized. The others waited to take their cue from her. Mr. Phibbs plucked Sis by the sleeve. "Come inside, Sis Anderson."

She followed him. The door closed behind her. Mr. Phibbs took the red glass bowl out of the window.

"Everything in the store was marked down, last night," he said shyly. "The bowl is marked down today to twenty-nine cents. Just think of it for a bowl once priced a dollar. Simulated cut glass, and absolutely pure gold leaf decoration. For such a price! A hard bargain you drive with me, young lady — waiting off until I mark the goods down. It's all ready for you, and you got a penny in change. And would you like it wrapped plain, or for a Christmas present?"

"For a present," said Sis weakly, while slowly, incredulously, the light which had become oddly essential to Mr. Phibbs poured its pure color over her small face.

Mr. Phibbs, as happy as Sis herself, put the bowl in a white box and wrapped it around with white tissue-paper and tied it with red baby ribbon. He handed it over the counter to her politely, and with it a brand-new penny that looked like gold.

He "positively," as he would have said, looked like Santa Claus. His great eyebrows thinned and spread on his bald brow in a double arch. Let each man be measured by his son's capacity, and it was Christmas in Mr. Phibbs' wintry heart. Sis and the little Andersons had been too much for him.

Fazely Sis murmured her thanks and walked out of the store spellbound.

NO CHALICE ever was borne more proudly or sacredly through the streets than the red glass bowl. Sis was pigeon-toed and almost cross-eyed with the effort by the time she reached the stairs safely.

Out on the street the five little Andersons pressed their noses against the window of Mr. Phibbs' Cut-Price Jewelry Store. Customers went in and out, and there, in the window, was the red glass bowl, with a card in it on which was printed the word "Sold."

Sis sighed. Edith struggled with tears. The twins were heavy with woe. Old fat George said "tired" in vain, and Peanut sat dejectedly. Mr. Phibbs opened the door, and instinctively the five little Andersons drew back.

Mr. Phibbs beckoned to Sis. His face was shining with pleasure. He grinned at them.

"I was looking for you," he said. "Did you come for your bowl?"

Sis faltered, staring at him hypnotized. The others waited to take their cue from her. Mr. Phibbs plucked Sis by the sleeve. "Come inside, Sis Anderson."

She followed him. The door closed behind her. Mr. Phibbs took the red glass bowl out of the window.

"Everything in the store was marked down, last night," he said shyly. "The bowl is marked down today to twenty-nine cents. Just think of it for a bowl once priced a dollar. Simulated cut glass, and absolutely pure gold leaf decoration. For such a price! A hard bargain you drive with me, young lady — waiting off until I mark the goods down. It's all ready for you, and you got a penny in change. And would you like it wrapped plain, or for a Christmas present?"

"For a present," said Sis weakly, while slowly, incredulously, the light which had become oddly essential to Mr. Phibbs poured its pure color over her small face.

Mr. Phibbs, as happy as Sis herself, put the bowl in a white box and wrapped it around with white tissue-paper and tied it with red baby ribbon. He handed it over the counter to her politely, and with it a brand-new penny that looked like gold.

He "positively," as he would have said, looked like Santa Claus. His great eyebrows thinned and spread on his bald brow in a double arch. Let each man be measured by his son's capacity, and it was Christmas in Mr. Phibbs' wintry heart. Sis and the little Andersons had been too much for him.

EATHER

ty with probably oght and Tuesday
t. Light to moder-
on the coast.
udy, probably occa-
and rain or snow
portions tonight and lder in west-central

IVE CENTS

'ER

CRASH
OG NEAR
S CAPITOL

Worst In His-ance; Probe
rted

V IS KILLED

Paid Official
y President
public

—(P)—France count-
after a train wreck
became for most of
day of despair.
ne worst in France's tuesday night when abouring flier telephone coaches of the a fog at Lagny, 17.

Both trains were
y-bound passengers,
cluded the French
Morel, former cabi-
t his wife.
death toll will be is yet for many per-injured in hospitals
rescue workers still gled and splintered

ities set the official
of whom 160 lay in Eastern Railway
nporary morgue. Of tall were unable to thorities feared at most seriously in-

d to pay the dead
President LeBrun
ation in a tribute at
ay station.
al ceremony of sorned for Wednesday,
made in the hope of
tification of bodies,
printing descriptions
rinks of those still

ner and fireman of yer are in jail. Their ealed up by the pod by gendarmes for amination by gov-rs who are charged investigation.
inner, Lucien Dou-
reman, Henri Char-
they had been giv-
the signal of a clear dread officials, how-look light had been

s that the fog made pear green was al-vestigation. An occurred, stated that white affects colors, the s made in the oppo-sion green would tend w but a white fog
e a red light to an-cares likely that the wooden cars would verment action to ger cars to be made

announced that the
ld be interpreted in deputies on the acci-

MAYOR
DOUBTFUL

n Rolls to Re-
n This Week
Orleans

JS. Dec. 25.—(P)—The can's triangular may-month was still in

er the office will pit
onistic forces of Mayvamsley and Senator against each other. The furnished by Francis
ndent candidate.
arish registrar of vot-esterday that the reg-uld remain open this it was previously anould be closed last

erally understood that uld be held January
g of the registration announced for Decem-
before the election, as ser, chairman of the Democratic commit-

the primary is held registering after De-
ot be eligible to vote, r, that if the primary 30, they will be al-

e will meet on Jane date of the election

outh Jackson

ed his plate and d and puffed out no comedian on had taken the red glass bowl out of the window and put it on a shelf behind him. There it glowed, like a ruby, and Sis felt that Spike had sadly maligned

Mr. Phibbs listened. He looked at the little face from which the transfiguring light was gone. He sucked his lower lip. Strange

Mr. Phibbs listened. He looked at the little face from which the transfiguring light was gone. He sucked his lower lip. Strange have Mummie! That was their luck, nothing else. And they had no Christmas present for her. Oh, if Sis had not been so wild for the red glass bowl! If she had saved their eleven cents and

Mr. Phibbs, as happy as Sis herself, put the bowl in a white box and wrapped it around with Mummie. "It's the nicest present I ever had in my life—my beautiful red glass bowl!"

—O—

(Copyright 1933, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

PUZZLES, TRICKS, GAMES & MAGIC

FUNLAND

EVERYBODY'S PLAYMATE

★ BY A.W. NUGENT
THE WORLD'S LEADING
PUZZLEMAKER

WHEN ALL THESE SINGLE NUMBERS ARE ADDED CORRECTLY THEY WILL TOTAL THE EXACT AMOUNT OF STOPS THAT SANTA CLAUS HAS TO MAKE IN THE TOWN OF FUNLAND. HOW MANY STOPS WILL HE MAKE?

63253924953552

DRAW YOUR LINES STRAIGHT AND WHEN YOU HAVE FINISHED THE SKETCH TRY TO COLOR THE ENTIRE PICTURE.

(© 1933, by The Associated Newspapers)

A.W. NUGENT

Dear Friends:
drawing facing a watch the numbers change to letters.

HERE'S A PICTURE OF TWO HAPPY CHILDREN ON CHRISTMAS MORNING. CAN YOU DISCOVER EIGHT INTENTIONAL MISTAKES IN THE DRAWING?

TWO OR MORE PERSONS CAN PLAY THIS GAME. SEE WHO CAN LEAD SANTA CLAUS TO THE HOUSE BY TAKING THE FEWEST AMOUNT OF STEPS. FOLLOW ALONG THE LINES AND COUNT EACH DOT YOU PASS AS ONE STEP.

BY DRAWING AND CROSSING ONLY THREE STRAIGHT LINES FROM BORDER TO BORDER, WE CAN DIVIDE THE OBLONG INTO SEVEN DIVISIONS AND HAVE ONE TREE IN EACH PART. CAN YOU DO IT? FOR EXAMPLE →

TWO BOYS AND THEIR DAD ARE HIDING HERE.

TRY TO FIND THEM.

IF YOU REARRANGE CORRECTLY, THE INITIALS OF THESE FIVE CHRISTMAS GIFTS YOU WILL SPELL THE FIRST NAME OF THE BOY WHO IS TO RECEIVE THEM. WHAT IS HIS NAME?

DEAR CHILDREN: HERE'S A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR YOU... A TOY TRAIN THAT APPEARS TO MOVE. HOLD THE PAPER ABOUT A FOOT AWAY FROM YOUR FACE... MOVE IT SLOWLY TOWARD AND AWAY FROM YOUR EYES. BY CONTINUING TO DO THIS THE TRAIN WILL APPEAR TO MOVE UP TO THE STATION AND THEN BACK TO ITS ORIGINAL POSITION.

SOLUTIONS TO LAST WEEK'S PUZZLES

THE NOTE TO SANTA CLAUS SHOULD READ FOLLOWS - "PLEASE LEAVE ROLLER SKATES AND RUBBER BOOTS" OR "PLEASE LEAVE RUBBER BOOTS AND ROLLER SKATES"

HOW TO CROSS OUT THREE LINES AND LEAVE TWO COMPLETE TRIANGLES

MISTAKE PICTURE ANSWER - THE SLED SIDE BRACE IS DISCONNECTED AND IT HAS ONLY ONE ROPE HOLE; ONLY THREE WHEELS ON THE TOY LAMB; A BABY CARRIAGE WHEEL IS MISSING; AUTO WHEEL HUB IS OFF CENTER AND ONE HEADLIGHT IS MISSING; THE RIFLE SIGHT SHOULD BE ON TOP OF THE BARREL; THE TRIGGER IS MISSING; THE KIDIE HANDLE IS IN THE WRONG POSITION.

THE HIDDEN HORSE'S HEAD IS BETWEEN THE CAMEL AND THE CAMEL.

HOW TO ARRANGE THE LETTERS TO FORM SIX THREE-LETTER WORDS

PUZZLES,
TRICKS, GAMES & MAGIC

FUNLAND

EVERYBODY'S PLAYMATE

★ BY A.W. NUGENT
THE WORLD'S LEADING
PUZZLEMAKER

WHEN ALL THESE SINGLE NUMBERS ARE ADDED CORRECTLY THEY WILL TOTAL THE EXACT AMOUNT OF STOPS THAT SANTA CLAUS HAS TO MAKE IN THE TOWN OF FUNLAND. HOW MANY STOPS WILL HE MAKE?

A.W. NUGENT

DRAW YOUR LINES STRAIGHT AND WHEN YOU HAVE FINISHED THE SKETCH TRY TO COLOR THE ENTIRE PICTURE.

A.W. NUGENT

63253924953552

TWO OR MORE PERSONS CAN PLAY THIS GAME. SEE WHO CAN LEAD SANTA CLAUS TO THE HOUSE BY TAKING THE FEWEST AMOUNT OF STEPS. FOLLOW ALONG THE LINES AND COUNT EACH DOT YOU PASS AS ONE STEP.

BY DRAWING AND CROSSING ONLY THREE STRAIGHT LINES FROM BORDER TO BORDER, WE CAN DIVIDE THE OBLONG INTO SEVEN DIVISIONS AND HAVE ONE TREE IN EACH PART. CAN YOU DO IT? FOR EXAMPLE

Dear Friends: drawing facing a watch the number change to letters.

HERE'S A PICTURE OF TWO HAPPY CHILDREN ON CHRISTMAS MORNING.

CAN YOU DISCOVER EIGHT INTENTIONAL MISTAKES IN THE DRAWING?

TWO BOYS AND THEIR DAD ARE HIDING HERE.

TRY TO FIND THEM.

A.W. NUGENT

IF YOU REARRANGE CORRECTLY, THE INITIALS OF THESE FIVE CHRISTMAS GIFTS YOU WILL SPELL THE FIRST NAME OF THE BOY WHO IS TO RECEIVE THEM. WHAT IS HIS NAME?

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM THE TWISTERS. TURN THESE HEADS UPSIDE DOWN TO SEE TWO MORE.

SOLUTIONS TO LAST WEEK'S PUZZLES

THE NOTE TO SANTA CLAUS SHOULD READ FOLLOWS - "PLEASE LEAVE ROLLER SKATES AND RUBBER BOOTS" OR "PLEASE LEAVE RUBBER BOOTS AND ROLLER SKATES"

HOW TO CROSS OUT THREE LINES AND LEAVE TWO COMPLETE TRIANGLES

MISTAKE PICTURE ANSWER - THE SLED SIDE BRACE IS DISCONNECTED AND IT HAS ONLY ONE ROPE HOLE; ONLY THREE WHEELS ON THE TOY LAMB; A BABY CARRIAGE WHEEL IS MISSING; AUTO WHEEL HUB IS OFF CENTER AND ONE HEADLIGHT IS MISSING. THE RIFLE SIGHT SHOULD BE ON TOP OF THE BARREL AND THE TRIGGER IS MISSING; THE KID'S HANDLE IS IN THE WRONG POSITION.

THE HIDDEN HORSE'S HEAD IS BETWEEN THE CAMEL AND THE ELEPHANT.

HOW TO ARRANGE THE LETTERS TO FORM SIX THREE-LETTER WORDS

DEAR CHILDREN: HERE'S A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR YOU... A TOY TRAIN THAT APPEARS TO MOVE. HOLD THE PAPER ABOUT A FOOT AWAY FROM YOUR FACE... MOVE IT SLOWLY TOWARD AND AWAY FROM YOUR EYES. BY CONTINUING TO DO THIS THE TRAIN WILL APPEAR TO MOVE UP TO THE STATION AND THEN BACK TO ITS ORIGINAL POSITION.

THE FOLKS THE FOX

"BOY TAYLOR! SHE THROW A LASSO LIKE
NOBODY'S BIZNESS!"

"ME THROW A LASSO OVER THE TOP OF THAT CHIMNEY?
WHY, IT'S EASY!"

"NOW, HOW ARE YA GONNA GET YER LASSO DOWN?"

"I THOUGHT SHE HAD THE LAUGH ON
BUT SHE DON'T KNOW WOT
WE WANNA DO!"

"THAT THING IS FASTENED UP THERE AWFUL TIGHT!"

"HERE COMES THE TROLLEY!
I KNOW WOT
WE CAN DO!"

"WOT D'YOU MEAN BY
STOPPING THIS CAR TO ASK ME WOT TIME
IT IS!"

"NOW SANTA CLAUS HAS A CHANCE TO GET DOWN THAT CHIMNEY!"

LITTLE STANLEY

"O GEE! AUNT EPPIE, THAT'S SWELL!
THANK YOU EVER SO MUCH!"

"I GOTTA TELL MOM THAT
AUNT EPPIE IS GONNA LEMME
HAVE ONE OF HER STOCKINGS TO HANG UP!"

"???"

"I WUNNER IF 'SUITCASE' SIMPSON'S SOCK WOODEN HOLD MORE!"

WEATHER

udy with probably oc-night and Tuesday
ght. Light to moder-
on the coast.
loudy, probably occa-
th and rain or snow
n portions tonight and colder in west-central

FIVE CENTS

IER

CRASH FOG NEAR S CAPITOL

Worst In His-
ance; Probe
arted

N IS KILLED

e Paid Official
y President
epublic

(R)—France county after a train wreck became for most of
iday of despair.
the worst in France's aturday night when trashbous flier tele-den coaches of the n a fog at Lagny, 17
s. Both trains were ay-bound passengers,
cluded the French
Morel, former cabi-
nd his wife.
death toll will be is
yet for many per-
y injured in hospitals
rescue workers still ngled and splintered

nities set the official
of whom 150 lay in d Eastern Railway mopory morgue. Of still were unable to authorities feared at 31, most seriously in-

ed to pay the dead
ith President LeBrun nation in a tribute at way station.
nd ceremony of sor-
fixed for Wednesday, made in the hope of ification of bodies,
printing descriptions
trinkets of those still neer and fireman of lier are in jail. Their sealed up by the po-ed by gendarmes to examination by govers who are charged

l investigation.
gineer, Lucien Dais-fireman, Henri Char-
they had been giv-
the signal of a clear airport officials, how-black night had been es that the fog made ppear green was al-investigation. An oc-ir r, stated that while y affects colors, the e made in the oppoow but a white fog se a red light to an-seared likely that the wooden cars would overment action to iger cars to be made s announced that the

ld be interpreted in deputies on the acci-

MAYOR DOUBTFUL

n Rolls to Re-
n This Week
Orleans

NS, Dec. 25.—(AP)—The lean's triangular may-it month was still in ver the office will pit sonistic forces of May-Walmley and Senator against each other. The furnished by Francis

endent candidate.
parish registrar of votyesterday that the reg-ould remain open this it was previously an-would be closed last

erally understood that ould be held January ng of the registration announced for Decem-before the election, as v.
sser, chairman of the Democratic commit-
f the primary is held e registering after De-not be eligible to vote, or, that if the primary 30, they will be al-

e will meet on Jane date of the election

THE FOLKS THE FOX

"BOYBOY TAYLOR! SHE
THROW A LASSO LIKE
NOBODY'S BIZNESS!"

"I THOUGHT SHE HAD THE LAUGH ON
BUT SHE DON'T KNOW WOT
WE WANNA DO!"

"WOT D'YOU MEAN BY
STOPPING THIS CAR TO ASK ME WOT TIME
IT IS!"

LITTLE STANLEY

"O GEE! AUNT EPPIE, THAT'S SWELL!
THANK YOU EVER SO MUCH!"

"I GOTTA TELL MOM THAT
AUNT EPPIE IS GONNA LEMME
HAVE ONE OF HER STOCKINGS
TO HANG UP!"

DRAW IT Y'SELF

G.B.

DRAW A LINE FROM DOT NO.1 TO DOT NO.2 THEN TO DOT NO.3 AND SO ON

© Gene Byrnes

Dear Santa Claus, I've been thinking about you a lot lately. I hope you're having a good time. I wish you a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year. I'll be good all year long. Love, [Name]

AM

ends: a number of letters

THE

FIN

BE

TH

SSION

RY TO FIND THEM.

A.W. NUGEN

ZZLES

READ

S AND R

LLER SKA

12-24

SLED SIDAR

T HAS ON.

(E TOY LAM)

WHEEL

IS MISS

THE P

DDIE

BETWEEN

LETTERS

BETTER WORD